Kingston Sailing In Doubt

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — At least one alderman here feels there is a strong possibility the next city council may turn down the 1976 sailing Olympics unless the federal government announces it will share in the $3-million cost.

The sailing events are scheduled to be held here while the rest of the Olympics are in Montreal.

Ald. Grant Timmins said some aldermen were worried about the cost, estimated at $3.85 million. The provincial government has indicated it will contribute $500,000 of the total amount, possibly more.

The alderman said if the 1973-74 council isn't told what the cost to the city taxpayers will be, "there's a very good possibility the sailing events in Kingston could be halted."

Silver Lining Behind Finley

by

Maurice Switzer

Sports Editor

Even the Oakland Athletics have a silver lining behind their particular cloud, which set out though precipitation was weak on Tuesday's planned third game of the 1972 World Series.

The A's, who win a pennant once in a blue moon — particularly if his name is Odom — are generally known as the specialty of slightly - w a c k y property of one Charles O. Finley.

There are those who think also O. stands for oddball, due to some of the quirks Mr. Finley has added to the United States national pastime. It was in the bonnet part of this A's, when they were based in Kansas City, that Finley served notice that although baseball was his game, trimmings were very going to be his name.

There was, for instance, the mechanical rabbit that popped up behind home plate with a barrel of fresh baseballs whenever the umpires were about. Critics scoffed at that such gimmicks were necessary to keep the customers from watching the ball players too closely.

In those days, the A's were no last place what paper is to glue.

But Tuesday night, when a donkey meandered around a dining area in Oakland Coliseum, nibbling freely off the tables of unsuspecting or unacclimatized patrons, Charles Finley had come a long way from the days when he could be accused of sensation without representation.

Accompanying the madcap promotions this time around are the odds-on favorite World Series Champions. Many feel Tuesday night's monsoon merely postponed the third straight win in a four - game Oakland sweep of the Cincinnati team that was supposed to steamroll them.

Indeed, those who have been Tube - viewing the World Series and playoff participation of the Amazing A's keep getting brief smatterings that indicate Charlie O. is more than the Phineas T. Barnum of baseball. He is even reported to be warm and gregarious, and, at last report, a human being.

Myths that have been destroyed include that of Charles Finley, tightwad.

When Finley would go to higher than $6,000 for the services of Oy Vey, Baltimore Vida Blue after a plus 20-win, plus 300-strikeout rookie season, the A's owner was branded sport's biggest cheapskate.

But, Finley defended himself, he was already more than tripling Blue's 1971 salary and it was up to the fire-balling southpaw to write he was not just a flash in the pan.

Despite his 6-16 record this season, odds are that Blue will receive a healthy raise again next spring.

And this week, after clutch playoff and Series performances by Gene "Home Run" Tenace, Joe "Foshizzy Play" Rudi, and Mike "Vatnum-glove" Heagan, Finley's generosity of $5,000 "extras" defied baseball's stringent antibonus regulations.

Finley the tyrant?

Well, the A's boss refused to resege on a bonus promise to pitcher Jim "Catfish" Hunter, even after the latter shot two toes off in a hunting accident. One of Hunter's many thank-yous came in the form of a brilliant 2-1 win Sunday as Cincinnati to give the A's a vital 2-0 Series' lead over the Reds.

And how many major league owners would permit their team to take the field looking more like the Grateful Dead than a starting baseball roster. A's management is instructed to pay more attention to how a player copes with a baseball than whether or not he uses moustache wax.

Finley received a brief brush-off this week when a sentimental request to have his maroon-y white - haired wife toss out the first ball of the first World Series game ever played in Oakland was denied by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The honor is to go to Ronald Reagan, the California Governor who brags his constituents guessing as to whether he ever gave up his acting career.

But Finley remains unflappable, exuding the same sort of confidence that enabled him to rise from his bed in a tuberculin hospital and take odds in new lease on life.

"We have made at least $600,000 every year since we moved from Kansas City five years ago," he boasts of profits, a subject that most sports magnates would tuck under their mattresses.

"And we'll make at least $1,300,000 this season."

Now we know where the O. in Charlie O. comes from. He just borrowed one of all those zeros.

On the other hand, the Ottawa Nationals, cellar-dwellers in the rival World Hockey Association's eastern grouping, have at least given their supporters occasional cause for excitement.

The Nats, whose latest acquisition is former NHLer Brian Conacher, have scored 15 times in losing their first three games.

Tackle Too Friendly

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Glen Hyde, University of Pittsburgh's 240-pound defensive tackle, has been ordered not to give any more friendly bear-hugs to his team's quarterbacks.

The order stems from an incident which occurred Saturday in a loss to Notre Dame.

Winniess Pitt scored a touchdown in the third quarter, narrowing the Notre Dame lead to 14-8. Players on the Panther team were jubilant, including alternate quarterback Bob Medwid.

"Medwid was jumping up and down in front of Hyde and Glen Swagged him," said Pitt coach Carl DePasquale.

The result: bruised ribs that sidelined Medwid the rest of the game. Pitt eventually lost 41-16.

"Most unusual," noted DePasquale. "I'm looking for Medwid to go into the game, and he's injured—and he's never even left the bench . . ."

Constellation Counter

Terry Pope of Constellation Carpets heads the puck behind Cassidy Electric goalie Joe Scanlon during Gas House Hockey League action at the Belleville Memorial Arena Tuesday night. Pope's goal helped earn Constellation a 3-2 tie with Cassidy's at the ten-team Gas House League entered its second week of play.

Printers Chop Lumbermen 4-2

The Intelligencer managed to chop Rollins Lumber, but Constellation Carpet on the carpet as the teams battled to a 2-2 draw in Gas House Hockey League action Tuesday.

Bill Janitsch scored two goals to pace the Intell victory with single markers going to Tim Hennessey and Bill Lynch. Chuck Powell, Gary Rutherford, Steve Ling and John Kilpatrick picked up assists in the 4-2 win.

The Rollins' scoring was handled by Murray Bradshaw and Scott McLaren, both unassisted tallies.

Two goals by Cassidy's Ron Fuller offset Constellation scores by Ron Mitchell and Larry Pope as the teams battled to a draw. Gary Serr earned a Cassidy assist, while Bob Tomaso and Steve Gatcum had helpers for Constellation.

There will be a league meeting of the Gas House group tonight at the Recreation Centre beginning at 7.30 p.m.

King Captures Stoco Crown

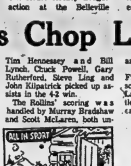
Fred King emerged as the club champion, also teaming with Genny McCabe for the team championship of Sunday's tourney. Art Smith and Edna Ouesnelle won the team net honors.

The low gross title in Sunday's event went to Paul Marlen, while Doug Heith had the low net. The ladies' champion for the season was Stella Quinn.

Brian Mumford was juvenile champion.



Magoo No Track Joke

KINGSTON (Special) — Mr. Magoo has provided horses of a near-sighted cartoon character, but the feature field at Frontenac Downs aren't laughing at Stew Magoo. The pacer will be retired by Joe Hogan, and is considered the favorite in the seven-horse feature tonight.

Chief competition is expected to come from Al Vance's Ruth's Daisy. Vance took the mare to a 2:10.6 win last Sunday and has recorded three wins, a second and two thirds in his last seven Kingston starts. Belleville's Gerry Walsh will also be vying for feature honors with Dominion Lad.

Post time for the 10-race card is 7.45 p.m.

Nicklaus Kaiser Favorite

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Lee Trevino's absence left ambitious Jack Nicklaus 82 the heavy favorite today in a strong field arrayed for the $150,000 Kaiser Open golf tournament.

Trevino, the British Open champion who is second to Nicklaus on the money-winning list, had to withdraw because of illness in his family. His wife has pneumonia and both their children are sick.

Littler, who had been out of action for several months and had undergone surgery on his left arm and shoulder, returned to competition in Japan's Pacific Masters tourney earlier this month and fared well.

Nicklaus already has collected a-record $280,000 in winnings, this season and is seeking to become the first golfer to ever pass the $300,000 mark for a single year.

Imperials Sink Heights

Blake Kerr Imperials coasted to an easy 17-1 win over Fort Henry Heights in their first Quinte - St. Lawrence Hockey League action Tuesday.

Steve Kirby showed the way with three goals while Eric Powell, Mike Crawford and Mark Foster potted two apiece. Mark McKay and John Murphy added single tallies with Peter Crawford drawing four assists.

Mickey Petrow scored in the final period to spoil Belleville's shutout bid by Jeff Berrill, who tended goal the first two periods, and Don Thompson, who played the final frame.

Saints Stomp Bayside Srs.

Quinte Saints continued to dominate the senior division of the Bay of Quinte COSSA football league Tuesday, rolling up a 51-0 win over Bayside Tuesday.

Other teams talk about putting second stringers in the easy games, but our second string defence is our first string defence in our first verse," said head coach Rick Locke. "It still means that we have some pretty good football players in there, no matter how we switch them around."

The Saints rolled up a 34-0 halftime margin against the inexperienced Bayside seniors. Kevin Joudwa and Paul McQuaid paced the winners with two touchdowns apiece, while Stan Brooks, John Masterson and big middle guard Rodney "Bubba" Hinze, on a recovered fumble, added the other majors. Rick Maspero kicked five converts and added a two-point conversion, while Terry Rappel added the other two-pointer.

Hinze, Rappel and Joe Whaler also played well defensively, while Locke noted that "our whole offensive line played well. They did all around."

Paul Gagnon scored two touchdowns for the Bayside Juniors, while Rob Kidd added a major and a pair of two-point conversions. Linemen Arthur Darlow and Keith Robertson were other standouts for the winners.

It helps bring us back . . . the kids were pretty happy," noted Smith who will have a large number of returning players next season.

Rollins Send Petes Reeling

Rollins peewees proved themselves a force to be reckoned with in Ontario Minor Hockey Association exhibition play by scoring a 4-2 win over the perennially tough Peterborough majors Tuesday night.

'Try That on for Size'

Rick Sprague of the McIvroy - Maines bantam minors gets some help in fitting the new team sweaters from fellow players Dave McBride and Peter Hall. The first year Ontario Minor Hockey Association bantam-level entrants play a 22-game schedule this season, are coached by Gordie Bell and managed by Jack McBride. Funds to purchase the new sweaters were raised by means of an exhibition softball game this summer between the Oshawa Terys and the Commercial Softball League all-stars.

Fabulous Fat Man Dead

TORONTO (CP) — The Fabulous Fat Man of another hockey era is dead.

Walter (Turk) Broda died in hospital Tuesday night after suffering a heart attack. He was 59.

Through 45 years with Toronto Maple Leafs, Broda earned esteem as one of the greatest chutch goalkeepers of all time in a National Hockey League era that spawned outstanding goalies such as Bill Durnan, Frank Brimsek, Terry Sawchuk and Jacques Plante.

Broda suffered chest pains Monday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dee Tushingham, but it wasn't until Tuesday, at the insistence of Mrs. Tushingham and another daughter, Mrs. Bruce Walker, that he was persuaded to take his doctor's advice and enter hospital.

He suffered the seizure shortly after being admitted. Doctors inserted a pacemaker to control his heartbeat but he died later in the evening.

Broda was a flashy performer from the time he played junior hockey in his native Brandon, Man., until he decided to retire from the Leafs in 1952. He was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1967.

He had a weight problem throughout most of his career as a Leaf.

Toronto owner Conn Smythe had purchased him from Detroit Red Wings in 1938, a year after he signed his first professional contract, to provide back-up support to aging Hall of Famer George Hainsworth.

TURK BRODA

The Turk alternated with Hainsworth for six games the following season then became a mainstay in the Toronto net until his retirement, except for two seasons out during the Second World War when he was in the Canadian army.

His NHL career included 630 games in which he allowed 1,311 goals, recorded 81 shutouts and had a lifetime goals-against average of 2.56.

But he was at his best in post-season, Stanley Cup games where he permitted only 311 goals in 101 games, had 13 shutouts and had a goals-against mark of 2.08.

Even in the army, Broda made news headlines as military units in Montreal and Toronto claimed his services.

In October, 1942, the day before his draft notice was to expire, he boarded a Montreal-bound train accompanied by a Montreal staff sergeant. En route, the train was stopped and a Mountie took Broda into custody and returned him to Toronto to enlist.

He returned to the Leafs late in the 1945 season. Several years later, in the twilight of his career, he came to loggerheads with Smythe after the Toronto team had lost six straight games.

The crusty Leaf owner told ruddy-cheeked Broda that until he parted the waters off his bulging body he would not play again in a Toronto uniform.

Broda was pushing 200 pounds at the time and knew Smythe wasn't fooling. His crash diet program made front page news and even wound up on the women's pages before he lost the desired poundage after missing just one game.

When his playing days ended in 1952, Broda turned to coaching.

He won the Ontario Junior B title with Weston Dukes, spent a year coaching the senior Oshawa Senators then joined Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series for a 10-year stretch during which he won the Canadian junior championship twice.

He also had coaching stints with Newmarket (Ont.) Juniors, Kitchener-Waterloo Bruins, Charlotte, N.C., of the Eastern League, London Nationals of the OHA Junior A loop, Moncton Beavers in the Maritime Junior A League and Quebec Aces of the American League.

His enthusiasm for sport spread to golf and thoroughbred horses where he had become an owner during his playing years and was a familiar figure around the paddocks and club houses of the Ontario circuit.

Police said Dennis Hextall, Dennis O'Brien, Fred Harvey, Jude Drouin, Gilles Gilbert, Ted Harris and Danny Grant were arrested shortly before midnight Monday. They were released on bonds ranging from $200 to $1,200.

Trial for the seven, originally scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until November.

The National Hockey League team is making its first visit to Atlanta to play Atlanta's new expansion team, the Flames, tonight at the city's new sports facility, the Onl.

Toe Blake Honored At Forum

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens announced Tuesday the National Hockey League club will honor Hector (Toe) Blake in a special ceremony Dec. 6.

The ceremony will be held before the game between Minnesota North Stars and the Canadiens.

Blake, 60, whose career as a player, coach and member of the club's front office spanned 36 years, recently requested that his future duties with the team be strictly in an advisory capacity.

Blake was elected to the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1966 for his feats as a player. As coach of the Canadiens from 1955 to 1968, he led the club to eight Stanley Cup victories, more than any other NHL coach.

Frontenacs Finally Win First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs staged a mild celebration Tuesday night as they won their first game in seven starts in Ontario Hockey Association Provincial Junior A play. They defeated North York Rangers 2-1 at Kingston.

At the other end of the standings, Richmond Hill Rams lost their first game in seven starts, when the visiting Aurora Tigers took a 4-2 victory.

The Tigers took a 3-0 lead on goals by J p m Masin, Cornel Straalkowski and Joe Cowal. Richmond Hill scored twice in the final six minutes with Mike Hartman and Alex Pirus leading the rally.

Canucks Upset Hawks

Stasiuk Master Juggler

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vic Stasiuk, coach, became Vic Stasiuk, master juggler, as Vancouver Canucks came up with a variation in Rochanges that upset Chicago Black Hawks 6-5 in one of the National Hockey League games played Tuesday night.

Stasiuk threw an assortment of line changes at the Hawks that kept the defending West Division champions off balance most of the night and allowed Pittsburgh Penguins, 5-4 winners over New York Raiders earlier in the evening, to claim a share of the West lead.

Pittsburgh moves into Toronto against the Maple Leafs tonight while Chicago's game in Oakland against California Golden Seals has been postponed because of the World Series game there between Oakland Athletics and Cincinnati Reds.

Elsewhere tonight, St. Louis Blues entertain Montreal Canadiens, Boston Bruins visit New York Rangers, Philadelphia Flyers are in Los Angeles to meet the Kings and Atlanta Flames are host to Minnesota North Stars.

Six players shared in the scoring at Vancouver, but it was the line of Don Tannahill and rookies John Wright and Gerry O'Flaherty that proved the biggest thorn in Chicago goaltender Tony Esposito's side.

Tannahill got Richard Lemieux in for one of two third-period goals that sealed the Vancouver victory, Wright engineered an earlier power play goal by captain Orland Kurtenbach, and the trio dogged the Chicago team with their close-checking each time they were on ice.

Don Lever, the Canucks' No. 1 junior draft choice last June, scored the insurance goal past Esposito 30 seconds into the final period. The Black Hawks' goaltender, who had allowed only five goals in his previous three starts, faced 26 shots in the game to 30 by Vancouver's Dunc Wilson.

The win, Vancouver's second of the season, moved them into fourth place in the East, one point ahead of Boston and the Rangers and two behind Montreal and the surprising Buffalo Sabres. Detroit Red Wings are another point in front.

Ken Schinkel had two goals, Eddie Shack added another and Ron Schock picked up three assists while Denis Herron, a 20-year-old newcomer from Trois-Rivieres, Que., turned aside 32 shots in registering his first NHL shutout.

Wicks Trims Bucks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sidney Wicks threw in six vital points in the last two minutes Tuesday night and gave Portland Trail Blazers an upset 111-108 victory over Milwaukee Bucks in the National Basketball Association.

The Bucks, down by 20 points late in the third quarter, at the game at Portland Tuesday night, rallied to go ahead at 108-106 on the 43-point performance of Kareem Abdul Jabbar.

After Jabbar's two free throws put the Bucks ahead Wicks sank a 20-foot jumper and added one from 15 feet out to climax the Blazers' first victory of the season.

Wicks, who finished with 33 points, later converted two free throws to complete the Blazer scoring.

Four points by John Havlicek on a 15-foot jumper and two free throws in the last 90 seconds, gave the unbeaten Boston Celtics a 91-115 victory over Atlanta for their fourth in a row.

New York Knicks whipped Houston 103-95 and Buffalo humbled Philadelphia 122-114 in the other NBA games scheduled.

San Diego defeated Virginia 117-11 3and Dallas tripped the New York Nets 109-104 in two games scheduled in the American Basketball Association.

Blazers Offer Fans Free Skate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For the second time in as many tries, Philadelphia Blazers had their World Hockey Association home opener interrupted by ice problems Tuesday night when Quebec Nordiques were the intended visitors.

Last Friday, New England Whalers and the fans had arrived at the Boston Garden only to discover the ice surface was not able to support the ice-making machine.

But Blazer officials aren't disheartened. They've decided to invite the public to skate free at the Centre this weekend as a preview to what they hope will be their home opener Oct. 26 against Cleveland Crusaders.

In games that were played, the Crusaders extended their unbeaten string to four games by nipping New York Raiders 5-4 in sudden-death overtime.

Skip Krake blasted an eight-foot shot past Gary Kurt at 6:09 of the overtime period at Cleveland to move the Crusaders four points in front of New York and New England in the Eastern Division race.

The winners jumped in front 5-0 on goals by Rich Pumple, Bob Dillabough and Ron Buchanan. The scores by Purple and Dillabough were with New York holding a manpower advantage.

Ron Walters decided the game at Edmonton for 2,556 partisan Albertans with his score at 4:53 of sudden-death overtime. It marked the third win in five starts for the Oilers and moved them since atop the Western Division race, two points ahead of Los Angeles, Houston and Winnipeg.

Los Angeles goalie Russ Gillow dampened the spirits of Jets at St. Paul, doubling off the Fighting Saints until Wayne Connelly's goal at 8:59 of the third period cut into a 3-0 Los Angeles lead.

Springate Coming Back

MONTREAL (CP) — George Springate, football mentor of the Quebec national assembly for Montreal-East, Anne, has decided on a comeback as a place kicker in the Canadian Football League.

Springate, 33, signed a contract with Montreal Alouettes Tuesday in almost identical circumstances that led him to retire from the game in 1970. Grey Cup victory against Calgary Stampeders.

To make room for Springate on the roster, Eastern Football Conference club placed Don Sweet of Vancouver on waivers. Sweet, a graduate of Washington State University, had little success with his soccer-style field goal and convert attempts this season.

Sweet missed two converts and a field-goal try here last Saturday, allowing Hamilton Tiger-Cats a 31-28 win against the Alouettes.

CP News Roundup

Ottawa Planning 1,800 Low Rentals

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The federal government will invest $30 million by the end of the year to build 1,800 low-rental housing units in Ontario, federal Revenue Minister Herb Gray told the 20th Annual Conference on Housing Tuesday.

The minister said the low-rental units will be built in five Ontario centres—1,250 in Toronto, 225 in Windsor, 200 in Hamilton and 25 each in Oshawa and Thunder Bay. He outlined the federal government's involvement in the financing of public housing, which he said totalled $1 billion in capital spending and $59 million in subsidy arrangements in Ontario.

He said the federal government feels public housing is a "crucial element" of the country's housing situation and that "a decent place to live is no longer a privilege but a right."

Recognition has also come of the fact that the social requirements of good housing, including access to parks, risks, community centres and churches are "just as important as the building itself," he said.

The involvement of the tenant is also important, Mr. Gray suggested.

To be "truly a member of the community," he said, the tenant must be able to participate, contribute, to interact with others in decisions that affect his neighborhood and lifestyle.

Tenant Concept Turned Down

Windsor, ont. (CP) — Public housing officials Tuesday overwhelmingly rejected the concept of tenant representation on housing authorities which manage public-housing projects.

A resolution from the City of Sarnia calling for tenants' associations to be given representation on housing authorities was rejected by all but a handful of

Two Liberals Veto Airport

TORONTO (CP) — One Liberal candidate in the Oct. 30 federal election said Monday the Pickering airport may not be built and another called the airport a "mistake."

Robert Kaplan, Liberal candidate for Don Valley, said direct 700 people at an all-candidates meeting for the riding the airport may not be built if other methods of rapid transportation are developed by time.

He said the government is spending thousands of dollars to develop short take-off and landing aircraft and rapid transit trains.

Barney Danson, Liberal candidate for North York said:

"A second airport should have been located halfway between Toronto and Montreal and could have served as a second terminal for both cities," he said. "We now have lost this option."

Bomb Threat

A Conservative party spokesman said later that Chicoutimi police received a warning that a bomb would explode at the college.

About 1,000 students were crowded into a college cafeteria to hear the Conservative leader and his Quebec campaign leader Claude Wagner.

Man Convicted

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A United States district court jury has convicted a Canadian who admitted he planned to use a laser beam to fix harness horse races.

The panel decided Monday that Sollie Viner, 48, of Toronto was guilty of conspiring to promote illegal gambling and of crossing the state line to promote gambling.

Viner did not dispute an accusation that he planned to use the laser beam to sting horses, hoping to cause them to break stride. He claimed, however, he had planned to use the beam in Canada rather than at western New York tracks.

Judge Harold P. Burke set Oct. 24 for sentencing.

Objections Few

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Objections from persons having land expropriated to make way for the new international airport have been "very few," says a subsidiary of Transport spokesman.

David Austen said Monday registered letters were sent Oct. 4 to all persons with a financial interest in the land being expropriated.

The first letter of intention by the government to expropriate the land was sent out March 2 after the airport was announced.

Mr. Austein said his local office was swamped with questions at that time.

"The second and final letter of intent has brought little reaction to us and apparently to the public works department in Ottawa," he said.

Final date for objections is Nov. 7.

Lewis on Election Issues

What do our party leaders really stand for in this election? Behind the up-and-down fever chart of last - minute campaigning, basic issues are clouded.

INTERVIEW WITH
DAVID LEWIS

Q: Mr. Lewis, you have talked a good deal about the condition of private companies in Canada relative to the tax system. You haven't said too much about the foreign ownership aspect of private industry in Canada.

I would like to ask you first, if you would again define your position on foreign ownership relative to the Foreign Ownership Take - over Bill which died on the last parliament.

Second, how you would see a restrictive policy on private companies relative to the towns and cities where our newspapers publish. For example, Barrie, Ontario has 30 branch plants mainly American, and these really are the life blood of this particular city.

In other words, it has a substantially different view about foreign companies relative to jobs and growth and employment in the smaller cities than there is in a large urban area like Toronto or Vancouver.

A: There is no question where industry exists now, that is the basis for jobs, and it doesn't matter if the fellow working whether the industry is foreign-owned or Canadian-owned.

I am aware of that. My party's aware of that. And our thrust is not to interfere with that. No one in his right senses would chuck foreign-owned firms out of Canada. That is not the proposition we have ever made.

What we are saying is that steps must be taken to lessen the degree of foreign control of the economy, which is mainly in the area of resource industries which are almost entirely in foreign hands — mining and gas and oil.

And there is also the question of the branch plant economy being very dangerous for Canada. You never can control what the parent company will do with the branch plant. Whether it will continue operations at the same level, or whether because it finds private ownership of stuff in Hong Kong or Singapore or somewhere more profitable it may not just close down the plant or reduce the operations, as has happened in a good many cases.

I want to make very clear it has never been my intention although should be done to reduce the economic activity anywhere.

On the contrary, and therefore Barrie at the moment to use the example, you gets its work from mostly foreign-owned companies. I regret that we allowed it to happen — 10, 20, 30 years ago we had not been ready to take steps to produce more Canadian-controlled manufacturing.

It would be irresponsible beyond description if any Canadian political party upset the economy of a community like Barrie, or a community like Timmins, or a community anywhere in this province or country.

I don't think that is anyone's intention of any so-called economic nationalists, whether it's myself as leader of the NDP or Walter Gordon as an ex-Liberal or Liberal, I imagine he still is, or Eddie Goodman as a Conservative. I don't think anyone thinks in those terms.

Q: Mr. Lewis, I wonder if I can find out from you what you think of certain political philosophies with the Trudeau government and Liberal governments since the 1940s seem to have absorbed from the old CCF and the New Democratic Party.

The expression they use today of something being "socially useful," scheme such as the LIP and the Opportunities for Youth program, the Prime Minister's use of the expression "participatory democracy" at the beginning of his administration in 1968 and in 1969.

It seems to me much of this comes from the political philosophy of Democratic Socialism, and because the Liberals have mainly ruled federally in this country, they perhaps have taken your political ideas and put them into practical use?

A: Well I think that's trite. If I may say so, somewhat jocularly, to the extent they are useful, they do come from some of our ideas. I think Mr. Trudeau's use of the term "participatory democracy" from 1968 on has been very questionable.

I don't think there has been anything really worthwhile in participatory democracy of this government. It has tended to be a stunt device of the government than an open government, keeping reports which ought to be made public from being public, a concentration of power rather than a dispersal of power. There has been nothing like participatory democracy.

The LIP and the OFY programs were also being jeopardized because of the same tendency of being secret. I'm not too clear about OFY because I think that has been directed too much to those young people who are already in a preferred position at university or at college, compared with those who are not at college or university. We have resented the fact these opportunities for youth are limited to students. If you are going to have any youth - directed program it should be much more universal than limited to students.

I find what the government has done about LIP really unacceptable. There are a good many local initiative program projects which are very good. The idea of letting municipalities and private organizations plan the programs they want has a great deal of merit.

The government has never consulted the provinces enough. They've never consulted the municipalities, nor given them enough time to plan, enough time to plan. All of it gets announced with a big fanfare late in the fall long after any plans can be made.

The result is there's not a whole host of unrelated, unplanned applications in Ottawa. They've done some and they reject some.

I think generally any such plan cannot be run from Ottawa.

Q: Your party has been very successful in the West. You might say in terms of provincial governments, it's almost a "socialist West" with NDP governments in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and more recently in British Columbia.

However, in Quebec, where the New Democratic Party is concerned, the scene is substantially different because of your personal interest in Quebec, and your knowledge of both the cultures, I would like to just preamble a question to you by reminding you of some political scene. For anybody outside the province, it is confusing.

You have two populist trends more or less, one which is separatist, to the left, the Parti Québecois, one which is definitely non-separatist and to the right represented by Mr. Wagner, the new Quebec leader of the Conservatives, and the Créditistes elements. Then you have the party in the middle, provincially, the Liberal party.

Where do you stand on Quebec Mr. Lewis? What anticipations do you have for the New Democratic Party will have more prominence in the House of Commons relative to this confusing and pluralistic scene in that province?

A: You have described the scene very well in Quebec. It is the reason for our difficulties there over the last number of years. Very many Quebecois if they are left-of-centre accept our program socially and economically, but continue to doubt whether the French culture can survive inside Canada.

Because you have so many trends in Quebec, splitting up any kind of protest, we have had difficulty with Quebec becoming an NDP force. I can't tell you with honesty I think we are going to get a large number of NDP candidates elected in Quebec. If we break through in a few constituencies, I think it will make a big difference to Canada as well as to our party.

Once It Was A Rush Hour

What was once a homework - work hub, making Belleville's Four Corners a "bustling activity area, has now been depleted of movement by current municipal service installations. Single pedestrian, glimpsed through kingsize beams seven pipe, presented five o'clock rush yesterday.

County Home for Aged Previewed for Council

By MARGARET HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Prince Edward county councillors received a preview of the proposed new county home for the aged last night when architects displayed sketches and outlined plans for the project.

The provincial government has budgeted $1.3 million for the cost of the 100-bed structure and will pay 50 per cent of this figure.

At the local level, council has set aside $240,000- over a two-year period for the new home for the aged.

Norman McMurrich, an architect with the firm of Somerville, McMurrich and Oxley of Don Mills, told councillors the project is under the jurisdiction of the ministry of community and social services, home for the aged branch and in effect there are two clients to satisfy.

He said the design and plan of the home, it was agreed, should not isolate it from the town of Picton.

The "privacy and dignity" of the residents of the home must be preserved through careful planning.

Mr. McMurrich said this need for privacy is particularly important when bedroom layouts are planned.

The architect explained that the plan now being studied incorporates 46,000 square feet of space.

He said residents would share baths adjacent to their rooms and married couples possibly could enjoy a bedsitting-room layout, whereas if two men or two women share a room, the sitting space would be left in its centre.

Three infirmary beds will be included in the 100-bed home, which will have approximately 50 beds on each of its two floors.

Each 10 beds is equipped with "a sort of family room." One area of the home is single story and includes a community centre and a storage and production area.

Mr. McMurrich said architects have endeavored to make the new county home similar to the centre of a small village.

A barber shop and billiard room have been combined in the plans as well as a beauty parlor.

A conservatory with a glazed roof is sketched in the present drawings for enjoyment by residents. A chapel, administrative office and staff rooms are also planned.

A day care centre, when beds are available, is shown as a place where elderly persons can be brought for a brief visit by relatives caring for them.

A large area has been left in sketches of the home for an activity centre where residents will walk and meet during a normal day. No sitting lounges have been included. This area is spacious enough to accommodate 160 persons for an evening movie or other entertainment.

The dining room and other rooms can be joined for even larger gatherings if necessary.

Mr. McMurrich said each of the 100 bedrooms has an area of 250 square feet and access between the first and second floors will be provided by a pair of elevators and a set of stairs.

Hip roofs will be used in construction of the house to lower costs. The building will not be air conditioned but will be well ventilated.

The site for the new county home is planned directly behind the present building located a short distance from Picton.

Mr. McMurrich was assisted in his presentation by Chester Woods, Belleville, who is a construction management specialist.

'Brief Clark's'

TORONTO (CP) — A Douglas Alkenbrack said today a fellow Progressive Conservative member of the last Parliament was with him when he discussed a report with Warden Donald Clark of Millhaven prison near Kingston, Ont., that claimed the warden had been stripped of his disciplinary powers.

Mr. Alkenbrack, candidate for Frontenac-Lennox-and-Addington in the Oct. 30 federal election, said on Canada A.M., the early-morning show on the CTV network, that he and Elton Woolliams, candidate for Calgary North, talked with Mr. Clark about the report.

The report claims incompetent and inexperienced officials made "control of the inmate population impossible" and had almost completely destroyed the staff morale.

Mr. Alkenbrack said he has "tried to protect Warden Clark as far as possible.

"I don't be afraid of losing his job. But now if they hire him, I'll go to bail for him and so will the whole public of Canada."

Mr. Alkenbrack released the unsigned report at an all-candidates meeting in Napanee, Ont., Monday, and said it was written by Mr. Clark. He said Tuesday the warden had called him that day and denied being the author.

Solicitor - General Jean Pierre Goyer said Tuesday he had been assured Mr. Clark had not written the report and accused Mr. Alkenbrack of "playing with the truth and misleading the public".

Chips Only Loot

City police report a North Front Street service station was broken into Monday but the haul taken by thieves was negligible.

According to police, only four packages of potato chips were taken from Jack Hatfield's station at 35 North Front.

Entry to the building was made through a window on the southeast side of the building. No cash was being kept on the premises.

Candidates' Calendar

The following is a summary of the activities of candidates for the October 30 federal election for tomorrow of which The Intelligencer has been informed.

THURSDAY

Elridge Brethour, the New Democratic candidate in Hastings will be campaigning door-to-door in Dungannon township during the morning and early afternoon before leaving for Belleville and meet the candidates' session for the students at the Ontario School for the Deaf at 4:15 p.m.

Frank Follwell of the Liberals and Conservative candidate Jack Ellis will both be spending the day touring Belleville factories before attending the candidates gathering at OSD. Ellis goes on from there to a get-together with Tweed area voters at the Land O' Lakes Curling Club at 8 p.m.

In Prince Edward-Hastings, Richard Lonn of the HDP will be campaigning door-to-door in Picton during the evening, following his workday in Toronto.

For Liberal George Cunningham, it will be a full day going door-to-door in Sidney township.

Conservative George Hees will be away from the riding, campaigning in Ottawa, Smith Falls, Brockville and Gananoque for candidates in those areas.

Brace Yourself For New Tax Form

Armed with charts, graphs and cartoon slides, Hamilton businessman William Sametz gave a proverbial warning that when it comes to taxes, "the government has done its homework, now you do yours."

Mr. Sametz was guest speaker at the Belleville Sales and Ad Club dinner meeting held in the Legion Tuesday night.

Describing the tax reform bill passed in the house, Mr. Sametz claimed — "it is one of the most complicated pieces of legislation ever passed — it was long overdue and even 90 per cent of the taxpayers relatives in the house would not understand it."

The language is horrendous and unless you know all the implications of the tax legislation you will not be giving yourself a fair deal when it comes time to fill out the forms," he said.

Holding a tax form to be used this year, Mr. Sametz pointed out the change in color from brown to blue and then methodically counted the additional eight pages to be filled out on both sides.

"What are you laughing about. I am crying when I look at it," he said.

You must do your homework and understand this business or you will be in trouble, he said.

"We are continually getting hit over the head with taxes, and we have to face them and do the best we can," said Mr. Sametz.

Mr. Sametz pointed out, "tax revenues to the government have doubled in the nine years following 1960."

Talking quickly, Mr. Sametz outlined steps to lessen the blow of capital gains tax and how to manipulate personal revenue into "tax sheltered" revenue.

The method allows tax to be paid on a capital gain over a period of years rather than in one lump sum.

Mr. Sametz provided a graph last evening that showed if a married couple annually earns a taxable income of $5,000 - $7,000 they would pay 20 per cent of it to tax.

If the annual income is at least $24,000, tax rate will be 50 per cent.

Many present, realizing he was confusing many with his rapid explanations of the tax reforms, simplified matters and showed club members they should find someone who knows the tax business.

He closed his presentation with a side remark, "There are more things to life than money. Hunger, Poverty and Misery."

Missing Girl

Anyone seeing this girl, Jane Landry, age 15, 5 feet, 1 inches in height, brown hair and eyes, last seen wearing green satin jeans, red sweater and striped coat — please contact the city police at 962-3456. Jane and her family from North Bay were visiting friends in the Belleville area this past weekend. She was last seen in the downtown area near a theatre.

food city LOW PRICES!

BEEF SELECTION

At Food City, beef quality is important. Only one steer out of every nine inspected, meets with our high standards and requirements. Our beef buyer is a specialist, responsible for personally selecting every side of beef we buy. He's a very fussy man. He buys on an individual basis rather than buying by the rail, so he's certain of buying the best beef available. Personal selection is just part of the quality control we insist on at Food City. Our beef is our reputation.

BEEF TRIM

At Food City, our "close-to-the-meat" trim is your guarantee of good beef value. You always get more edible meat for your food dollar with Food City beef. Our Meatmen carefully trim steaks and roasts of excess fat and bone. Only the right amount of fat covering is left to flavor the beef. Try Food City and see if it doesn't become a "Natural Favorite" with your family.

Kiwanis Series Begins Nov. 2

The Kiwanis Club of Belleville is presenting its twentieth Travel and Adventure Series which will include six widely known adventurers and explorers who are artists in the travelogue field. They appear on such major platforms as: National Geographic, Washington, D.C.; Town Hall, New York; Orchestra Hall, Chicago; and Town Hall, San Francisco.

Each is a professional photographer with many years' experience in traveling and filming beautiful and interesting places around the world. These personally filmed, all-color motion pictures are especially popular because the man who filmed the picture, appears in person to narrate his film. In addition to the motion pictures and the personal narration, many of the travelogues include a musical background and special sound effects for added enjoyment and realism.

Each member of the family, young and old, enjoys these travelogues for they are wholesome and educational entertainment. Everyone has a the urge to travel but only a few satisfy that desire. By attending the Travel and Adventure Series there is a joy and thrill in visiting those faraway places, such as these included for next season: Hong Kong, Colorado River, Sweden, London, Europe and Ethopia. The Hong Kong film will be presented Thursday, Nov. 2.

A season ticket for all six travelogues is offered for $7.00.

Profit from the series will enable the club to continue its work on community projects.

Mr. Dressup, Friends Coming

Mr. Dressup, popular CBC television personality, will be bringing a touring stage production of his childrens' program to Belleville October 28.

Three special shows titled, Tickle Trunk Plays, will be presented by Mr. Dressup and his program pals, Casey and Finnegha, on the stage of Belleville Collegiate auditorium at 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

$150 Stolen

TRENTON (Staff) — A Monday break - in at the Produce Processing Warehouse on Telephone Road went of Trenton netted thieves a weighty prize.

Brighton OPP this morning reported a total of $150 stolen from the warehouse — $100 in quarters.

Kinsmen Here On Weekend

About 160 delegates attended the event at the Four Seasons Hotel during which Denis Martin, Ville Marie, Que., club, was election vice-governor for the region represented.

Fines totalling $106 — issued by infractions of various club rules — were donated to the Canadian Cancer Society which was simultaneously meeting in the hotel.

Theatre Feature Times

AT THE PARK — In Color — "Hercules" at 7:00 p.m. "Hercules" at 9:00 p.m. The scorching film in English and in color, what is shown in this full length motion picture has never been seen on the screen before. Hercules, the strongest man in the world, is back! Another, even more feature will also excite and entertain "Playgirl Killer". Killer? Innocent or Playgirl? Don't miss this one. Park Theatre, Belleville, Ont. Last complete show times can be seen at 8:25. Restricted to persons 18 years of age and over.

ed by the United Church Women.

Mr. Dressup and his puppet pals have not performed in Belleville since 1968 and their show promises delight for Quinte area children.

Action for the Belleville shows will centre on the Tickle Trunk, a magical repository of costumes and props used as a vehicle to launch various scenes and fantasies on the audience. The trunk will help in the development of a series of short plays, most based on themes developed in the TV show and familiar to the children.

There will be considerable audience participation throughout the performances as stories of pirates, kings, bears, blackbirds and a strange Goldilocks unfold on the stage.

Ernie Coombs, who plays Mr. Dressup, his wife Lynn, their two children, two dogs, a cat and nine guinea pigs reside amid a collection of antique furniture and classic cars at Pickering. The family owns a nursery school in one of the Toronto suburbs.

Tickets Slow For Opener

Curtain rises tonight on the first season production of Arthur Miller's The Price and only 19 seats have been reserved.

Following nights have had similar response with Saturday having the largest of the opening crowds and still not a 50 per cent filled house.

Tickets for the Mr. Dressup shows may be purchased for $1 each at Leslie Shoe Store, Tots 'n' Teens, The Young Canada Shop or the Bridge St. United Church office. They may also be obtained by phoning 968-6429 / 968-4285 or 962-9002.

Organizers are anticipating many will not reserve seats at all and assume seats will be available at the door.

Last night the cast performed for a selected audience of Picton and Ontario School for the Deaf students and is very encouraged about the caliber of the play.

Curtain rises this evening at 8 p.m. Tickets may be reserved by calling 967-1442.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 18

Aries (March 21-April 19): Planning the buck is seldom the best course, but for the early hours of today it pays you valuable time, saves much trouble.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): If there is a way of mixing things up, your friends will find it. New contacts made later in the day are important for the future.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Wherever there is disagreement, be level-headed, and explore the issues in sequence, according to the other fellow's priorities.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Selectivity is the word, as many of those about you care little or nothing for your prosperity or personal goals. Curder helps.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Think twice about what you're getting for your money. Thoughtful listening should show you flaws in most current plans.

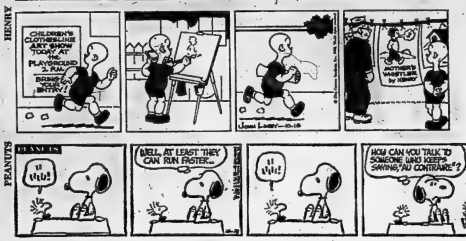
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Double-check your details and appointments, but do make some definite movement, geographic or symbolic, before the day is out.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Most obvious material resources will a little effort. An early start is no help, as everybody else is in a muddle down.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A guide for last minute review of your affairs. Don't overdo the tactful presentation can bring reconciliation, acceptance.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec 21): You have more chances of using other people's ideas than your own. Experience will tell you what is wrong with both sets of ideas.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Stay with your normal round of routine for non-optimum results. Beginnings are the critical stages today. You are too demanding.



Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Explicit advice is available from proper sources in response to reasonable applications. Don't pass it on as your own or anybody else's ideas.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Short journeys, delayed errands are favored, produce extra results. Distant people offer much stimulus, food for thought.

To Your Good Health

Eustachian Tube Plugging Harmful

By G. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You said there's a tube connecting the ear to the throat. Can this become stopped up, cause pressure to build up in the ear and cause one to be hard of hearing?

One doctor said I had a dead nerve and another said my sinus and to put those little windows—he called them—in, but that did not help.

I can yawn, or work my jaws and relieve the pressure, but I can hear reasonably well. Can this be corrected? By whom?—R.H.C.

That tube is the eustachian tube, quite small, and its purpose is to keep the pressure of the air from it pressure builds up on one side, the ear drum can withstand a pretty good blow, cannot transmit sound vibrations as well.

You imply, of course, have some nerve damage which would limit your hearing—but the fact that you hear reasonably well after yawning or working your jaws, swallowing also often helps, indicates that the nerve isn't severely damaged.

You evidently have some obstruction, maybe of the eustachian tubes. In fact, they may be partially closed, so that from time to time they open and then stopped up completely.

Medical examiners can come from various causes. There may be inflammation, and the swelling can reduce the size of the tube through the tubes. You may have a nasal injection that left some scar tissue.

Since you evidently have some sinus trouble, that could likely be part of the picture. Maybe you can clear the throat and the tubes.

But don't lose track of the fact that your yawns help your hearing. The implication is that you probably have lost no nerves and can be helped. For one thing, the tubes often can be dilated. An ear-nose-throat specialist should be able to help you. Be sure to tell him your experience with the yawns.

In addition, the use of appropriate nose drops—the doctor can tell you just how to use them so the drops will get to the opening of the tubes—may help.

Drops containing ephedrine or the antihistamine chlorpheniramine could be helpful.

But I do, primarily, recommend that you tell your story to a nose-throat specialist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As cosmetic surgery is not covered by our insurance, can a businessman be deducted by either a physician or surgeon for his office?—Mrs. E. B.

Rhinoplasty is not regarded by the orthodox surgery in the usual sense of the word—it is not performed purely for the sake of appearance. I've heard of cases of correcting hideous jo the official business of a surgeon, but because of anaesthetic and other technical problems it usually is a hospital procedure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that taking the latex out of the nose could cause cancer. I unintentionally pulled several hairs months ago, and am worried that I may have started a cancerous growth. Is this possible? — J. F. W.

I've never heard of cancer starting from that. However, clipping the hairs with scissors, instead of pulling them out, is the better method because pulling them can let infection start around the hair root. If you have a sense of the word—it is not performed purely for the sake of appearance. I've heard of cases of correcting hideous jo the official business of a surgeon, but because of anaesthetic and other technical problems it usually is a hospital procedure.

Opening lead—ten of hearts.

Here is an interesting hand that occurred in a pair championship. None of the South players succeeded in making three notrump contracts, but later analysis proved that the contract should have been made.

The play was fairly uniform at the various tables. West led a heart, and declarer won East's jack with the queen. After cashing four clubs, declarer led either a spade or a diamond, West taking the ace and returning a heart.

South now have cashed eight tricks, but when he attempted instead to establish a ninth, West took his other ace and set his hearts to put the contract down two.

All the plays seem so natural that it is difficult to see where declarer went wrong. But the fact nonetheless remains that each and every declarer missed a golden opportunity to make the contract.

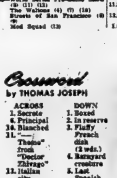
The winning play is to let East win the opening heart lead with the jack! Once declarer does this, he is sure of nine tricks.

Assume East returns a diamond. West takes the ace, but what can he play back? A heart permits South to score the queen and make ten tricks, while any other return gives South nine tricks.

It can be argued that ducking the jack is fine when you are ill cards instead of 26, but actually the play is very easy to support on pure logic.

It is surely reasonable to assume that West has the two missing aces for his overcall. He is also extremely likely to have six hearts, and in any case, this must be assumed—for the contract is unmakable if he has five, whether or not the heart lead is won.

All indications point strongly in one direction The jack of hearts must be ducked.



Tomorrow: Unsafety play.

HERE'S A NEW IDEA

We are going to start a number of new homes for spring, 1973 season. If you are thinking about a new house, let us finish it in our inventory. You can select a lot and a model either our's or yours. We will then build it to your specifications. You can then sell your existing home at your leisure. If you are unable to sell, you aren't out anything as we can sell the new house to someone else. This will solve a lot of problem of — "How can I build a new house when I haven't sold my old one".

CONDOMINIUM IS THE ANSWER

For the active man who wants to confine his activities to the curling rink, the golf course or anywhere else that doesn't involve cutting grass, shovelling snow, painting, etc. This is all done for you.
We have units available for immediate possession. These are located on Prince Charles Drive. Oh yes! Down payments run from $711.to. $986 down.

EAST OR WEST WE HAVE THE HOME

selection of houses in the Quinte area. All in fully serviced subdivisions. All with basements. We have 3 and 4 bedroom models. Let us show you our selection.

Robin Hood to Buy Meat Processor

TRENTON (Staff) — Announcement has been made that Robin Hood Multifoods Ltd., which entered the frozen food business with the opening of a plant here a month ago, is now entering the processed meats and delicatessen food industry.

The company has agreed in principle to purchase all outstanding shares of S. Conrah and Sons Ltd. of Montreal, a leading meat and delicatessen food producer with 1971 sales of more than $13 million.

Logan Brown, Robin Hood president said today from Montreal "the acquisition moves Robin Hood Multifoods far the first time into the fast-growing specialty meat business at both the consumer and institutional levels with an established, well-recognized brand name.

The firm's vice - president and general manager f consumer products called the purchase of Conrah, the company's second major expansion in a year — the first being construction of the plant here.

SMALL MAN

OTTAWA (CP) — Michel Belanger, 24, worked at a variety of jobs before being hired in 1970 by an Ottawa car dealer as a living symbol of the firm's sales pitch. Belanger's small stature, four-feet-three, is said to symbolize the auto dealer's profit margin.

QUESTION: Can you supply any information about Tombstone, Arizona, and just where it is?

ANSWER: Located on U.S. 80 about 75 miles southeast of Tucson, the "Town Too Tough to Die" was perhaps the most famous of Arizona's old mining camps. Ed Schieffelin came to Fort Huachuca with a party of soldiers. When he left them to prospect they told him that he would find only his Tombstone in that area. Remembering this statement, he named his first claim Tombstone; gradually the entire settlement adopted this name. He made his original strike in 1877 and, with two partners, found the Lucky Cuss Mine in 1879. It was the first of three they owned. Rumors of rich strikes spread rapidly and Tombstone soon became a boom town of tents, shacks, saloons and dancehalls. Its days of lawlessness and violence were climaxed by the famous Earp-Clanton battle which was fought near the O.K. Corral.

Active mining lasted only seven years before rising underground waters forced the suspension of operations, but in that time it produced millions of dollars in silver and gold.

Tombstone, with a population of 1,285, boasts cool summers and moderate winters, due to its altitude of 4,540 feet. The town is developing into a year-round health resort.

"Helldorado," a three - day celebration beginning the third Friday in October, recreates the days of the 1880s.

Bird Cage Theatre, 6th and Allen Streets, was built in 1881. This once lusty honkytonk of the Old West remains practically unchanged. Original fixtures, furnishings and interior have been preserved intact; 14 private box seats, suspended from the ceiling, provided exclusive seating for the leading families. Many famous entertainers performed here.

O.K. Corral, between 3rd and 4th on Allen Street, includes the stagecoach office and stables from which the Earp-Clanton gunbattle took place on October 26, 1881. Lifesized figures of the principals in this famous argument are featured.

Underground mine tours of an old silver shaft, 5th and Toughnut Streets, are offered daily.

QUESTION: While spending the next three or four months in the neighborhood of San Diego, California, I would like to do some exploring by car of the Lower (Baja) California peninsula. Are there any special requirements I should meet?

ANSWER: Motoring off the paved roads in Baja California becomes a test of skill and patience, for a lot of the peninsula is true wilderness. However, in the north there are many good highways, particularly in the area around Tijuana and Mexicali.

You will need a passport and a tourist card, necessary if you plan to stay in Baja California for more than 72 hours or wish to proceed south of Mexicali or Mahesandero. Smallpox vaccination certificates are not required unless you have visited countries other than Mexico within 14 days prior to re-entry into the United States or Canada.

As your Canadian driver's licence is valid in Mexico, no international-driving permit is required. You will, however, have to have an automobile insurance policy, issued through a licensed Mexican company. These may be purchased by members of the Ontario Motor League through any office of the AAA Automobile Club of Southern California.

Tourist cards are available free of charge through any Mexican tourist office, or Consular Office and at the Mexican Government border offices at the official points of entry into Mexico.

Money Shortages Bring Bad Choices

OTTAWA (CP) — Shortages of funds available to municipal governments have often led to development decisions that have undesirable social and economic results, says a report prepared for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

The 87-page report, prepared by Thomas . Plunkett, director of the institute of local government at Queen's University, Kingston, says that much-needed money can only be provided through re-allocation of taxing powers and fiscal resources between federal and provincial governments.

The study, released Tuesday, was made for the CMHC's policy planning division, but is not policy of the corporation.

Mr. Plunkett says the revenue structure of municipal government, unchanged in a century, is "excessively rigid."

Municipalities had to depend largely on the yield of real property taxation, but this source of revenue was being tapped to pay for increasing costs of education—"a service over which municipal governments have no control."

Caouette Speaks

RIVIERE AU RENARD, Que. (CP) — Real Caouette, Social Credit leader, predicted Tuesday his party will receive hundreds of thousands of votes in Montreal in the Oct. 30 federal election because, for the first time, his party has candidates there.

The Social Credit leader appealed for the youth vote, telling young people not to vote for the "old things of 100 years such as the two old parties."

Aid Advocated To Fight OMB

TORONTO (CP) — A citizens' action group urged Tuesday that a fund similar to legal aid be set up to assist individuals who wish to appear before the Ontario Municipal Board.

The Confederation of Resident and Ratepayer Associations (CORRA) of Toronto said "many a case that should legitimately go to the OMB will fall by the way for want of money."

"Failing government funding, board hearings may become the exclusive preserve of municipalities and developers, opposed from time to time by some well-to-do individual or organization."

The plea by CORRA, which represents 24 local associations, was made to the select legislature committee studying the function of the board with the view of presenting recommendations to the government before the end of the year.

Confessed Killer Acquitted

MONTREAL (CP) — A Court of Queen's Bench jury Tuesday acquitted Jean-Louis Morin, 30, of a killing to which he had already confessed.

Morin claimed responsibility for the killing of waitress Denise Veuligny, 21, in November, 1970, during the murder trial last June of Claude Dubamel.

Morin's testimony, which was instrumental in Dubamel's acquittal, was given after he requested the protection of the court.

When Morin's murder trial began last week, his previous testimony could not be used and the only incriminating witness the Crown could find was Yvon Perreault, a prison inmate who claimed Dubamel and Morin killed the girl.

Ask Bales Pare Court Backlog

TORONTO (CP) — A group of Toronto trial lawyers say they will ask Attorney-General Dalton Bales to do something about a growing backlog of cases before the Ontario Supreme Court.

Representatives of three lawyers' groups have formed a committee to meet with the attorney-general later this week.

A spokesman for the lawyers said there are about 1,500 non-jury cases ready for trial and waiting to be heard by Ontario Supreme Court judges in the Toronto area. This means a 15-to-18-month waiting period after lawyers for both sides have filed papers that all pre-trial preliminaries have been completed and the case is ready for trial.

Most of the 1,330 cases involve claims under contracts, insurance claims and suits for wrongful dismissal, a court official said.

The delay for non-jury cases has lengthened since last year, when there was a 12-month waiting period, the court official said.

The Ontario Law Reform Commission is studying the administration of courts within the province to try and pinpoint the causes for the continuing backlog.

The commission is looking at the two-month summer vacation that the court trial division takes each year and also is trying to determine whether the delays can be traced to too few lawyers taking too many cases.

On the Ontario Supreme Court's 32-member bench, there are four judges sick, two are on leave of absence and there is one vacancy.

Five Montreal Bandits Get Huge Toronto Haul

$261,900 Cash Taken at Bank

TORONTO (CP) — Police pressed a province-wide search today for five men who participated with commando-type precision and speed in Toronto's largest cash robbery in history — $261,900.

Two armed men stood guard, two grabbed the money and the fifth waited outside in a car. The whole operation took seconds.

The bandits—believed to be from Montreal—got the money, destined for four major payrolls, shortly before 2 p.m. from the Union Station branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on downtown Front Street.

One bandit who spoke during the robbery told people in a French accent to stand still. A senior police official commented that "with all those guns, they didn't have to be told much more."

The getaway car, stolen earlier in the day in Toronto, was found in mid-afternoon by police abandoned on John Street, about three streets away.

Police speculated the bandits had exchanged another car on the nearby Gardiner Expressway which could hustle them out of the city at 56 miles an hour. It was Metropolitan Toronto's bank robbery of the year.

Police described it as a Montreal-type operation, with a group of men striking a carefully-selected target with a high degree of precision.

Police said the four, wearing wigs and Halloween masks covered with silk stockings, also wore long French coats and gloves.

The bandits were so quick that customers in the bank in the station basement concourse were unaware anything was happening until one robber, armed with a machine-gun, stepped forward and ordered everyone to freeze.

Two other men confronted the bank staff with guns while the fourth announced it was a holdup and ordered the half dozen customers to lie on the floor.

Two men jumped over the counter and started removing bundles of money from the vault. They worked rapidly, stuffing larger denomination bills into a black satchel, and left within seconds.

One man who appeared to be the leader, kept his eye on his watch and suddenly announced: "OK, that is it—let's go!"

The vault had just been opened when the bandits waltzed in—an indication, police said, of careful planning. Because of their haste, the bandiers left $24,000 on the floor in front of the bank cashiers' cages.

Inspector Floyd Warmington said a bank audit showed the $261,900 was missing.

Teller Kathleen Flanagan, 22, said she didn't know there was a robbery until one bandit stumbled as he tried to vault the counter. She saw his gun and then heard someone yell: "Stay still, be quiet, don't move."

Miss Flanagan said she tripped an alarm to warn police.

Mother Ready to Quit Her Career as Banker

TORONTO (CP) — Margaret Hirschler, officer in charge of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch robbed of about $250,000 Wednesday, says she is ready to give up her banking career.

In an interview, the mother of three said she was still nervous hours after a gang of armed bandits held up the branch in Toronto's Union Station and scooped up the money being held for area payroll cheques.

"I hope it will never happen again, it's quite a shock. I'm ready to give up banking."

Mrs. Hirschler said she'd never been involved in anything like a bank robbery in her 20 years of banking, and "it was an unbelievable happening, something you read about in magazines and books and see on television . . . and it was such a heist."

She said the staff was just about ready to count the money in the vault when armed men jumped over the counter and began scooping the money up.

"I kept thinking what I should do and then tried to look at them to remember what they looked like but they were covered from head to foot," she said.

It's called an election. And it's where the earthlings choose someone to blame for the mess they are in.

Star Backs PCs; Globe For Grits

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Star said today in an editorial that on the basis of the issues of unemployment and Canadian independence it has withdrawn its support from the Liberals for the first time in 50 years.

"Of the alternatives, both of which are unattractive, we prefer the Conservatives," the editorial said.

The Globe and Mail also announced its election position today, in an editorial that says "the Liberals, as we see it, are the best choice we have." The Globe and Mail also supported the Liberals in the 1968 election although traditionally its record has been to back the Conservatives.

The Star editorial, signed by president and publisher Beland Honderich, said The Star has consistently supported the Liberals since the early 1930s "in the belief that the things this paper has stood for—unemployment insurance, health insurance, Canadian independence and the like—would most likely be achieved through a Liberal government."

"The performance of the Trudeau government over the past four years, particularly in the broad economic area, has forced us to re-examine this traditional performance. We have now concluded, reluctantly, that we must register a strong protest against the government's stand on economic policy and Canadian independence."

War With Britain Over Say Ulstermen

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland backed off from the brink of disaster late Wednesday night with an announcement by Protestant guerrillas that "our war with the British army is over."

Some rioting and gunfire continued late into the night, but on a gradually-decreasing scale until army headquarters reported all quiet soon after midnight Wednesday night.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: No significant change in the weather pictures in forecasts for today or Friday. A mixture of cloud and sun today with showers in a few localities. Another clear and cold night is expected with temperatures again dipping into the 20s and teens. A slight warming trend will begin Friday. Prospects for the weekend look good, with temperatures at or above normal.

'Prejudiced Witness'

TORONTO (CP) — Former prime minister Lester Pearson said Wednesday he would not recommend that a minority government be elected Oct. 30. "But then I'm a prejudiced witness," he said. He headed a Liberal party minority government between 1963 and 1968.

Treaty Called 'Disaster'

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Dave Barrett agreed with a Liberal MLA Wednesday that the Columbia River Treaty signed in 1964 between Canada and the United States was a "disaster" for British Columbia and said he would go to Ottawa to attempt to have the treaty renegotiated.

Making It Clear

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Terry Eugene Culley, 21, has been sentenced to 3,000 years in prison, the longest term ever assessed by a Dallas jury, for the murder of insurance broker Jean Geron. Under state law Culley will be eligible for parole within 20 years. However, the state board of pardons and paroles has indicated that when a jury returns an unusually long sentence it will not grant parole.

Go Slow—Solandt

MONT GABRIEL, Que. (CP) — The pace of development in the North should be careful and controlled but it should not be stopped altogether, Dr. O. M. Solandt said Wednesday. Dr. Solandt is chairman of a special advisory science conference for the federal government.

Farm Population Cut

OTTAWA (CP) — Statistics Canada says in a 1971 farm census report released Wednesday that a quarter of farm residents in 1966 had left the land by last year. Fewer than 1.5 million Canadians lived on farms in 1971, a drop of 24 per cent in five years.

Untidy!

Money lies strewn on the floor as bank employee continues working after holdup at bank in Union Station in Toronto Wednesday afternoon. Four masked men, one carrying a machine gun, escaped with an estimated $250,000. In terms of cash it is believed to be the biggest bank robbery in Toronto's history. (CP Photo)

Trudeau Denies Gagging Auditor

HANMER, Ont. (CP) — For Prime Minister Trudeau, Wednesday on the campaign trail was one long birthday party.

His progress, from Mississauga just outside Toronto in the morning to this nickel mining town near Sudbury at night, was marked by hundreds of congratulatory handshakes and three birthday cakes.

The prime minister, 53 Wednesday, acknowledged the friendly greetings with a pleased smile, and continued his increasingly outspoken defence of his government's record.

At a question-and-answer session attended by an overflow crowd of 2,000 in the Hanmer secondary school auditorium Wednesday night, he strongly denied any attempt by the Liberal government to muzzle Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson.

"That was one of the wildest stories to come out of this Parliament," he told a questioner, referring to the Parliament that was dissolved Sept. 1 when a federal election was called for Oct. 30.

It was "an outright falsehood repeated by the opposition and the press," he said, adding that very few reporters had attempted to ascertain the facts.

"Unless there is a very good reason for a person not taking out citizenship, he is not my kind of person," said the prime minister. He emphasized however that such a person is not breaking any law.

On the same program, he agreed with a caller who suggested the federal government should have a share of jurisdiction in the field of higher education. Under the British North America Act, education is entirely a provincial responsibility.

Stanfield Opens His Stretch Drive

TORONTO (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield today launches the final phase of his election campaign bid to unseat the Liberal government.

Beginning with a speech to the Empire Club here, he will concentrate on policies a Conservative government would carry out, a spokesman said Wednesday.

In his final 10-day campaign stretch, Mr. Stanfield will fly to major centres across Canada, reaching most provinces before election day Oct. 30.

In the first two stages of his campaign, he crossed Canada, emphasizing visits to the 50 "swing" ridings where party strategists feel the Conservatives might pick up additional seats.

There have been frequent visits to shopping centres to meet voters and appearances on open line radio programs.

The final phase will stress large rallies, where the party election program will be outlined.

Mr. Stanfield's charter aircraft has logged 46,000 miles in the first six weeks of the campaign. Party officials say campaign buses probably have covered another 3,000 miles.

Thieu Balks At Coalition

SAIGON (AP) — Henry Kissinger conferred twice today with President Nguyen Van Thieu, and Thieu's information ministry said the president had once again stated his opposition to a coalition government including the Communists."

Thieu's chief foreign policy adviser and the South Vietnamese president reviewed Kissinger's secret peace negotiations in Paris for 2½ hours in the morning at a meeting attended by 13 other high-level U.S. and South Vietnamese officials.

Kissinger and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker returned in the late afternoon for another session with Thieu. It lasted 90 minutes.

There was no official word or leak from the U.S. side of what was being said. Xuan Phuong, spokesman for the South Vietnamese government, Vu Khanh, read this communique on the information ministry's daily news briefing:

"Political observers in Saigon remarked that at the arrival of the American delegation in Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu continues to meet with representatives of the Senate and the lower house, the Supreme Court and various political parties and reasserted our firm position never to accept a tripartite proposal or any other political solution which has not been agreed upon by the people of South Vietnam through democratic means."

Khanh said he did not know why the communique attributed its information to "political observers" instead of an official government agency. But, reporters considered it a device for Thieu to make his position public without breaking any pledge of secrecy he might have given the Americans.

Distinct But Not Opposed

Euromart's Relation to U.S. Studied

PARIS (CP) — The new nine-country European Common Market must remain distinct from the United States but not opposed to it, President Georges Pompidou of France told the opening session today of the enlarged trading bloc's first summit meeting.

The expanded group must remain united in the international monetary and trade negotiations to counter competition, he warned the other government chiefs. Such a common position "will not be a cause for confrontation but a factor of balance," he said.

He added that the Market must also promote economic and technical relations with Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

Pompidou said the group's links with the United States, "his great country, the world's foremost economic power, with which eight of our countries are united within the Atlantis Alliance, are so close that it would be absurd to conceive of a Europe built in opposition to it.

"But the very closeness of these links requires that Europe affirms its individual personality with regard to the United States."

Lewis Deplores Exodus from Farm

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta. (CP) — New Democratic Leader David Lewis found a new focus for his battle against the "corporate rip-off" Wednesday when he said government are paying too little attention to the needs of farmers and too much to the privileges of corporations.

Mr. Lewis, speaking at his second rally of the day in the grain-growing "Peace River" area, accused the federal government of "insensitive insanity," leading to the death of the family farm.

He deplored the fact that the average age of farmers now is in the 50s and that youngsters must seek jobs in cities because they cannot afford to remain on the land.

He predicted the rural population drain would lead to achievement of a government goal within one generation: Farmland would be swallowed up by large corporations and the values of rural life would be gone.

Pound Drops

LONDON (AP) — The pound sterling, hit by persistent inflation in Britain and the threat of a national power strike, dropped a full U.S. cent today to its lowest level in 10 months.

There was a heavy wave of selling from continental points at the opening of London foreign exchange and within an hour the pound was down to $2.3075.

Point Anne Residents Fear for the Future

Residents of Point Anne, fearing a dim future for their community with the closing down next year of Canada Cement plant operations, from Thurlow council, and

J. W. MacLaurin, spokesman for the delegation that attended the regular council session in Carrollton, indicated the company plans to "taper down on the company - owned homes there and close off the company-owned water system that services just under 50 residences in Point Anne.

To the Point Anne residents, the possibility of living in a near-ghost town with no water service to the 25-30 non company homes, no industry and the company houses demolished has become object of major concern.

The wrecking of company homes began last year with the demolition of "foremens' row" several houses' homes.

Councillor Borden Forsyth told the delegation "we tried to save homes then but we got no satisfaction."

However, Reeve Horace Casey told the Point Anne residents that representatives of Thurlow council will go down to the cement plant to talk to the manager in a bid to save residential Point Anne and keep the water flowing in all homes that do survive demolition.

The delegation told council there have been rumors that the old cement plant may be sold to another industry. Indications are that Domtar was interested at one point and the possibility of establishing a senior citizens' complex at Point Anne has been considered.

While people in the community say businessmen and real estate brokers are often down there to look the place over, nothing has materialized.

Delegates requested council itself to save Point Anne if no industry will do it.

"We cannot go it alone and shake a finger at them (Canada Cement)," said Councillor Casey. The reeve said the township would launch talks with Canada Cement to find ways of keeping the water system running in Point Anne.

"Would they sell it for a dollar or would they want 250,000?" he asked.

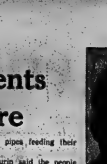
Through the years Canada Cement has supplied free water to the community, but residents have been required to maintain pipes feeding their homes.

MacLaurin said the people of Point Anne realize any solution to the water service question will ultimately lead to them all being billed for water service, but the community does not mind this, if it can only get the water.

Company plans to wreck Canada Cement-owned houses in Point Anne, delegates said, are based on the company feeling the sewerage system is so bad the way it is — with seepage into the bay — that demolition is the only reasonable solution.

Reeve Casey pointed out that the high cost of sewage treatment system for Point Anne may be so costly that building of one could be prohibitive. On some of the company-owned properties conditions are unsuitable for septic tanks.

Council has agreed to do its best to try and save Point Anne — if the cost is not too high.



GEORGE GREER

Greer Will Run Again

TRENTON (Staff) Trenton Councillor George Greer this week announced his candidacy for council in the upcoming Dec. 1 municipal elections.

Councillor Greer is a Trenton, postal employee, three-year member of council and 10-12 year veteran of the school board.

To date, he is the only member of the present council to have announced he is running again.

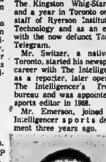
DONALD SOUTTER

MAURICE SWITZER

ERIC EMERSON

Senior Editors Appointed

Three senior editorial staff promotions were announced today by H. Myles Morton, general manager of The Intelligencer.



Donald M. Soutter, managing editor of The Intelligencer for the past six years has been named editor-in-chief; Maurice Switzer, sports editor for the past four years, will succeed Mr. Soutter as managing editor and sports reporter Eric Emerson will become sports editor.

As part of Mr. Soutter's duties he will take a more active interest in the editorial page, joining with present editorial page writer Barry McCullagh to broaden the scope of both local and national comment.

Mr. Soutter joined The Intelligencer after 13 years at The Kingston Whig-Standard and a year in Toronto on the staff of Ryerson Institute of Technology and as an editor with the now defunct Toronto Telegram.

Mr. Switzer, a native of Toronto, started his newspaper career with The Intelligencer as a reporter, later operated The Intelligencer's Trenton bureau and was appointed as sports editor in 1968.

Mr. Emerson, joined The Intelligencer's sports department three years ago.

GERRY O'CONNOR

O'Connor Association President

Belleville Public Utilities commissioner Gerry O'Connor yesterday was named president of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Water Association, today said he would stand for civic re-election in December.

Mr. O'Connor first successfully campaigned for the city's utilities' commission, entering office in 1970. The following year he served as commission chairman.

EOMWA represents about 25 municipal water - utility groups in south east - central Ontario — an area reaching from Whitby in the Quebec border. It acts as a liaison organization between the local - government groups and their senior government supervising agency, the Department of the Environment.

Teachers, Librarians Working Together

Librarians from elementary and secondary schools in the county are developing working relationships with the staff of Belleville Public Library through joint discussion sessions at Loyalist College.

In the last week, one such gathering tilled, Co-operation between school and public libraries, drew 30 school system librarians, who concluded working together with the public library can only lead to better service in the schools.

Other meetings will follow in the weeks ahead and the possibility of establishing a teacher - library association will be investigated.

The program is expected to lead to greater co-ordination of school programs with library resources. Additionally, teachers will be kept better informed on new acquisitions made by the central public library.

Woman Killed At Foxboro Intersection

A two-car accident Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Highways 14 and 62 claimed the life of a Hastings woman and sent another to hospital with serious injuries.

Mrs. Evelyn DuSomme, 78, passenger in a car driven by her husband Clare, died at Belleville General Hospital after the vehicle they were in was in collision with another car driven by Harry Van Volkenburgh of Belleville.

Mr. DuSomme is being treated at BGH for shoulder injury, broken ribs and lacerations received in the mishap. Van Volkenburg was not injured.

Pile-up Cost Tops $2,000

"I guess it doesn't pay to be courteous."

That was the initial reaction of 2 - 0 Constable Ken Leslie Drive after his car, which stopped at a Pinnacle St. crosswalk to allow pedestrians to cross, was struck from behind in a four-vehicle chain reaction pile-up.

The accident sent two people to Belleville General Hospital for treatment of minor injuries and resulted in $2,200 damages to three cars and a Belleville Transit Commission bus.

Two cars, one driven by Carl Latchford, 41, of Shannonville, and the other by John Sales, 30, of Scarborough, Ont., stopped behind the Jevord car.

However, the city bus, driven by Thomas Taylor, 61, of Belleville hit the Sales vehicle, pushing it into the Latchford auto which, in turn, struck Jevord car.

Calse and Latchford have been released from BGH.

SMITH — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Lawrence Smith, Parish who passed away October 19th, 1970.

The hour was grand, the deed so sweet.
Gone
Only those that have lost can tell.
The pain of parting without a farewell.
You would not wish for sorrow,
You would not wish for tears,
But just to be remembered
With a few kind words and prayers.
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Ruth, daughter Ruth, son-in-law Ronald, grandchildren Randy, Rhonda, Debbie.

FOX — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Lloyd Fox, who passed away October 19, 1970.

Hymn Sing Sunday

Old-time hymns are the link between the past and present in an evening of all area church communities for a special event at Bridge Street United Church Sunday.

Familiar melodies, which have been a tradition of Christian congregational church music, have been selected for the hymn sing which marks the closing of the United Church's Church Week.

The program will also feature selections by the church choir under the direction of choir master Robert H. Reid, with organist S. Alec Gordon.

Deer in Algonquin Said Threatened

A Bancroft man who represents the Ontario deer preservation committee in the area, maintains that if controls are not placed on the number of wolves in Algonquin Park, there will be no more deer in the park in another few years.

David Callaghan also contends the rapid decline in the deer population there will also seriously deplete the park's stock of beaver and ultimately wolves themselves as their supply of food is cut.

Armed with statistics that indicate there were about 30,000 deer in the park in 1959, Callaghan says department of natural resources figures show there are now only 6,695 deer in the entire Pembroke district that includes the park.

He says wolves have been protected in the park since 1959 when the park became a centre of research on the timber wolf. This research has now ended there but the protection of wolves continues.

Callaghan states that the deer population has been depleted to the extent that the diet of the wolves is changing. He says in 1965 beaver composed about seven per cent of the food of wolves but now it amounts to about 40 per cent.

The committee will be pressing the provincial government to take action. He says a report by the ministry of natural resources (but not published) substantiates their case and that copies of this will be made available to all members of the provincial parliament by the committee.

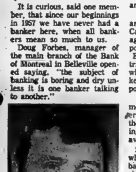
Youthful Trentonians Face Charges

TRENTON (Staff) — A series of incidents between Oct. 5 and Oct. 16 has resulted in the arrest of 4 Trenton youth and three Trenton juveniles in connection with several car thefts plus a hit-and-run accident in Oshawa.

To stand trial on Nov. 1 in Trenton provincial court is Paul Douglas McFarland, 19, of Trenton. He is charged with three counts of theft over $200 and leaving the scene of an accident in connection with an Oshawa hit-and-run several days ago.



One juvenile is charged with four counts of theft over $200, the other two face one charge each of theft over $200. They will appear in Juvenile Court soon.

Banker Tells Builders Belleville Is Booming

The Quinte Home Builders Association hit a milestone last night when they invited a banker to be their guest speaker.

It is curious, said one member, that since our beginnings in 1957 we have never had a banker here, when all bankers mean so much to us.

Doug Forbes, manager of the main branch of the Bank of Montreal in Belleville opened saying, "the subject of banking is boring and dry unless it is one banker talking to another."

GRANT YOUNG, Reg. N., B. Sc(F), has replaced the Ontario Society for Crippled Children at its Belleville district office, 14 Bridge St. West. Formerly with the Society's Timmins office, Mr. Young will now be responsible for the provision of Easter Seal nursing services in the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington. Mr. Young will work in close co-operation with local health agencies and all community services and will provide professional guidance as needed for the Rotary Easter Seal service clubs of Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Napanee and Sterling, Madoc Kiwanis and Bancroft Lions.

Mr. Forbes, keeping his comments short, spent his time discussing the mortgage system, interest rates and the controversy of "tight" and "easy" money.

These two financial climates are created when the Bank of Canada fluctuates the percentage reserve it wants on deposit in its own bank.

Each bank in Canada contributes to the national bank, whose responsibility it is to keep a reserve fund on deposit.

It is possible that if tight money is preferred, the federal government can increase the amount of reserve, lowering the amount of money available.

Sidestepping questions on who controls the Canadian banks, Mr. Forbes claimed simply it was "the responsibility of the federal government to control the Canadian economy."

Mr. Forbes replied, "what do you think?" when asked privately if the federal government uses this as an election technique.

He continued to say mortgage money is adequate and available now and reserve percentages have not been changed in the past number of years.

For Belleville, the growth picture looks very good, with business booming.

On a national scale, the bank is required to release no more than eight per cent of its funds to mortgage bands.

Mr. Forbes has released 12 per cent, claiming growth in this area has made these funds necessary and Belleville is actually drawing mortgage money from all across the country.

He could make no predictions on future interest rates applying to loans but felt money would remain available during the next year.

Mayor Scott At Meeting

Mayor J. Russell Scott left for Winnipeg Wednesday to attend a two-day session of the joint municipal commission on intergovernmental relations.

Approximately 25 persons from all across Canada will be attending the conference at which position papers for urban and rural municipalities will be completed for presentation at an upcoming tri - level conference.

Mayor Scott will represent urban municipalities in Ontario at the meeting. Position papers on six categories, including transportation, finances and recreation will be considered at the Winnipeg conference.

Heating System Tenders Called

The Ontario ministry of government services is calling tenders for the installation of new individual boilers for the buildings in Prince Edward Heights at Picton.

Purpose of the installation is to provide for each building a fully automatic efficient operation and to eliminate excessive costs of maintaining the existing high pressure steam plant and underground piping distribution system. Cost of the project is estimated at $110,000.

Prince Edward Heights is a provincially owned facility for the mentally retarded on part of the former Canadian Armed Forces Camp Picton, purchased from the federal government two years ago.

Municipal Developments

There are interesting developments on the municipal election scene in Ontario these days. Locally Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott has announced he is going to stand again. This pits him against Alderman Robin Jeffrey who announced her intention of running some time ago and has been campaigning since.

Meanwhile the new city of Cambridge (comprising Galt, Preston, Hespeler and some smaller municipalities) has come into being, and its first mayor is Mrs. Claudette Millar. Mayor of Preston for three years, the 37-year-old Mrs. Millar scored a stunning win over veteran Galt Mayor Gordon Rouse and Galt Alderman D. W. Hancock.

Mrs. Millar polled 10,171 votes to Mayor Rouse's 8,377 and Ald. Hancock's 4,753. Ironically, while Mayor Rouse took Galt with 6,979 votes to only 3,523 for Mrs. Millar, the latter polled more than both her opponents together in Hespeler and in Preston she defeated Mayor Rouse almost four to one — 4,954 votes to his 1,024.

Also in western Ontario, Mayor Sid McLennan has been re-elected chief magistrate of Kitchener, defeating Waller N. Suits with 18,166 votes to 8,298.

Closer to home there is a surprise in Kingston with Mayor K. Wainis' health decision not to seek re-election in the December 4 election. Even more of a shock to Kingstonians is his decision to leave politics forever.*

An energetic mayor, the 40-year-old lawyer has been responsible for many progressive moves in the city's life since he took office in 1958, including Tercentenary Year preparations and the selection of Kingston as the site of the 1976 Olympic sailing events. Now he says he is "tired, just plain tired."

It is not often that a man in political life, especially one as camparatively young as Mayor Swain, will admit to this, but we find it eminently understandable. Political life, at whatever level, imposes a tremendous strain and as the Kingston mayor explains, it has involved separation from family and friends as well as substantial financial loss.

But Mayor Swain has left a legacy of positive government and achievement. He has served his city well and deserves this opportunity to return to private practice and private life.

Queen's Experience

The Quéen has faced many an ugly situation during her 20-year reign — in Ghana some years ago there were rumors of trouble before she undertook a tour there, here in Canada — during her visit to Quebec — and in recent days, the incident involving students at Stirling University in Scotland.

We can view such behavior only with dismay. In Ghana, during the republican convention, there was a similar disregard for civilized behavior, as when a group of demonstrators descended on a delegate trying to protect his two children and one screamed the little girl's face, "Murderer . . . murderer."

There are elements of mental instability in such situations and the fact that, as at Stirling, it manifests itself in our universities is all the more cause for alarm and condemnation.

Drug Crackdown

Drug abuse, particularly that involving hard drugs, has become a problem of major concern in Canada and all over the Western world in recent years.

There is a feeling of helplessness as Canadians have contemplated the dire consequences of addiction as it affects many of our young people, not to mention adults.

So there has always been alcohol — true, but drugs are something else again. Alcohol in moderation amounts to being quite acceptable and relatively harmless. With drugs there is often no road back, only ruin and wasted lives.

The big country-wide crackdown on pushers by the RCMP is timely. We hope it will put a dent in trafficking of drugs, but given its extent and the efficiency of the underworld networks, it may be no more than just a dent. The authorities must maintain their pressure on the pushers if any semblance of control over this evil traffic is to be achieved.

PM Gets Advice But He Makes the Decisions

Public Relations Plays Big Role In Politics

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — National politics have been quietly developing a very special breed of public relations men of their own.

Back only a few elections ago, perhaps as far as the advent of the Diefenbaker years, when professional public relations operators first moved openly into the field, the drive was for the "hard sell."

The political leader, said these experts, must be properly packaged before he could be sold on the market of public opinion.

At the same time there was something of an outcry against this "packaging" of the politician as if he were a box of soap flakes or a can of soup.

And the PR types, relatively new, then, to the political field, discovered that by far the most difficult of all public relations is in national politics.

The mechanics of mass communication in commercial and political public relations are the same, but the approach has to be different.

In business and industry, once the management makes the policy decisions with its "community" image in mind, the PR staff does what it can to cultivate a positive public attitude of acceptance.

But in politics, the PR types discovered, the party leader had to be his own public relations expert, deciding what policies will be most acceptable.

The "selling" has to come before the policy decisions.

Another difference: in selling soap, controversy must be avoided and no section of the market no matter how small, turned off . . . but in selling a political leader, controversy is essential because mass acceptance of the "product" simply is not possible.

Controversy becomes the very essence of electioneering.

The prime aim: attack the opposition on issues time to make changes

The political public relations expert, apart from polls which are not all that reliable, never knows for sure what is happening until either the roof falls in or they start passing the champagne election night.

So there is nothing that can take the place of the leader as his own PR man, with his instinct for sensing how things are going.

He gets all kinds of advice, from his PR staff and everyone else within earshot, but he alone must make the decisions.

He calls the shots. He picks the men around him, decides the policies and determines, as far as he can, the issues.

Prime Minister Trudeau is the government's PR man, surrounded by other PR men, but alone the ode to make the decisions.

His the decisions on first the timing and then the pacing of the campaign.

His to decide whether, when and how to respond to the attacks of Conservative Leader Stanfield, David Lewis and Real Caouette.

His the responsibility of changing policies and promises when and where in the campaign.

To a large extent his success or failure election day has to depend on his ability to skillfully handle the enormous communicative arts and artifices of political public relations.

Contrary to both the cynics and the intellectuals, good government is good public relations.

For while the public is usually too busy earning a living, paying taxes, worrying about the cost of living and the day to day problems of home and family to pay close attention to what is going on in Ottawa. . . it usually does find time to catch up with the politicians and the government during an election campaign.

So it is now, in these weeks of electioneering when the leaders are practising their public relations' skill that they have to talk the kind of talk people can understand.

And as political public relations — this accounting to the taxpayers — helps make it easier to weed the unfit from the fit, the incompetent from the able, the undesirable from the reassuring, the negative from the positive.

Ontario's Little-Known Bargain in Education

By DON O'HEARN
from The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

It is a bargain you cannot beat. It has to be. It is top quality. And the price could not be more right.

It is ten to one you do not know this. Perhaps a hundred to one. Even a thousand to one. Less than one of the best kept secrets in education by mail, actually the best education, period, in the world is available to you. Free. Or not a cent — except the cost of the stamps to write in and make your application.

For this price which cannot be beat you can complete your secondary school education di home, finish elementary, if you do not have it, or take courses such as performing arts, art, drafting or accounting, for self-improvement or just plain entertainment.

And not only get the courses free, courses which cost $250 to $300 from private correspondence schools, but also the loan of all necessary text books (with the exception of grade 13) and drafting kits, artists kits, chemistry kits, biology and geology kits in courses where such kits are needed.

You do not know about this little bonanza because the government does practically nothing at all to tell you about it, and quite intentionally it seems.

There has been a correspondence course branch in the Ontario Department of Education for about 50 years.

It has been a waif of government.

It was originally started to give children in isolated communities, particularly in the north, an opportunity for an education.

The quality of education given by it from the start has been top.

To regular class-room education, however, no correspondence course education can be any good. They are snobs about it. And they have dominated government education.

So the correspondence division has been a very poor relation.

Buried in cellars remote from the main stream of the department, forgotten for funds, and hardly allowed to talk, let alone promote itself.

But despite this it has flourished.

Last year it had more than 50,000 students taking its courses. It had 191 full-time employees and 675 teachers working for it on a part-time basis. And provided more than 100 courses.

Today in Egypt, India, Brazil and other distant spots throughout the world children are taking these Ontario correspondence courses.

The rest of the 5,000 covers the spectrum.

There are men and women in their seventies, taking courses as a hobby. Plant workers, nursing assistants, fire-men, policemen secretaries out to improve their positions.

Then elementary school dropouts, who need more education to qualify for retraining.

There are several hundred students in penitentiaries and reformatories. (If they are taking chemistry courses they do not get kits.)

Finally, an unknown percentage which is just out for self-improvement or leisure-time activity.

Whatever the purpose, all, as has been noted, are getting high quality education.

Top teachers have designed all the courses. They actually work with the Ontario curriculum and ideas are good for credits.

There are 20 lessons to most courses. And every lesson is assessed by a regular teacher. (the government even pays for the stamps) who not only marks the lessons but give their personal comments and advice on ups, papers.

As testimony to this quality, the 1971 Ontario Medal list of teachers for this work. And last year in grade 13 the courses produced 12 Ontario scholars (which means they got over 80 per cent in their examinations).

The taxpayer, of course, probably gets the best buy of all out of this program.

This contrasts to an average of $1,750 in community colleges (and even more, of course, in universities).

Actually there perhaps are a good many people going to community colleges who do not even know these correspondence courses exist and well might take them if they did.

It is true that they do not offer such exotic courses as winemaking, astrology and modelling, which community colleges offer today — and which our educators and politicians sometimes seem to justify as a proper expense for the state.

But there are plenty of courses for those looking for incidental learning.

Take Theory, Arts TA300: history of drama, basic movements in acting, characterization, mood and feeling, stage design, set design, costumes, lighting and sound effects.

With the educators we can understand why. They tend to be pretty right and conformist.

But the politicians? Why wouldn't they see that a program such as this which could benefit so many people is not better known?

And then there are no big buildings involved. And no local boards of governors, or regents, or management to which appointments can be made.

These are the glamor food of education. Big buildings to show off. And appointments to pay off.

So the politicians have not had much interest.

However, if you have an interest, and a good many of you probably do, just write the address.

There almost certainly is something in the branch's line up of courses which will fit in for you.

Aid Plan

Cobourg Sentinel Star

Chris and Dave Stewart have returned to Cobourg, after spending a year working in an orphan's village and another settlement for mothers with their children in the Lake American country of Honduras, to carry on their work here.

Outlining their year of activities in Honduras with slides and talk at St. Michael's School auditorium the Stewarts said they feel their efforts should now be turned to organizing financial and practical assistance for the Honduran people.

In Honduras, only 25 per cent of the people are married; three out of five children die before they reach the age of five years and over 60 per cent of the population is illiterate.

Many children, when still infants, are given away or sold because economic conditions are such that a mother cannot support her children, and she has no legal recourse against a father or a child.

During their year in Honduras the Stewarts said they used the $5000 sent to them from Canada to buy shoes, food stuffs, basic tools to be used in the construction of a new playground for orphans, baby supplies and other basic necessities.

Core Of Planning

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

News that Belleville's official Plan must now await a plan for the whole Quinte planning board region is not an unexpected development. What is the City and suburban area have refused in the past to plan together.

Serious possibilities are posed for Belleville where lack of such a plan presents an embarrassing situation caused by haphazard development.

The city is no more stop-over but a major traffic artery. Approximately 34,200 which has experienced rapid expansion in recent years and will so continue.

Council and the Planning Board have been estimating and researching for years. Why we can only wonder. Thousands of dollars have been spent for Consultants fees.

Is not Belleville the heart of the Quinte development area, and is that not the correct starting point? The city's pattern of civic development needs no avail definition during one of its most critical periods of growth.

Self interest, conflict of interest, political back scratching, all these and will since it is assumed that the taxpayers get the short end.

Surely the citizens now and in the future are entitled to consistent and qualified consideration.

Election Musings

The lady consumers — male and female — agitate for cheap food and though they may wish for the genuine they want at the same price as fake — as consumers the demand of Conservative party.

What a Party! a far cry from that of Sir Robert Borden who allowed farmers a fair — or partly — price for food, but not to that of MacKenzie King, the urbane democrat.

The Liberal appears to be of a neutral gender hoping to please the Lady Consumers, right or left to retain seats and prestige!

OMB Appointment

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I find myself diametrically opposite to the statement by Mr. Don O'Hearn that the appointment of Mr. H. I. Palmer as chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board — grade — "has to be judged as a highly unfortunate appointment."

I cannot recall the specific first-visit to the Department of Municipal Affairs for which I was referred to the office of Mr. Palmer, but in this and subsequent meetings with him, I can only recall vividly, his sincerity and purpose for which there is no substitute.

He could perhaps qualify as being the most competent technologist of municipal affairs as the result of his dedication to his position.

His decisions will, in my estimation, as always be the result of a painstaking study of, each case, and be given in the kindness and consideration his wonderful personality is endowed with.

Think Big.

We finally did it.

For openers, open the door.

And Wham-O.

"What's a nice big interior like you doing inside a Volkswagen?"

There's plenty of leg room up front.

There's lots of head room.

The windshield is curved and pushed owayfrom your nose. It's 42% larger. (That's the windshield, not your nose.)

The padded dash is completely redesigned and easier to read (for those of you who like to read dashes).

The seats are more comfortable, curved and contoured to your body.

And wonder of wonders, it is now much easier for passengers to get to the back of the Bug.

With all the newfound room, we had to find a new ventilation system. Which we did. And it's so good that, now, even the side windows can be ventilated and defogged.

As for outside improvements, they're mostly hidden. (Although the taillights are nearly twice as large as ever before.)

Altogether we made 20 improvements in the Super Beetle for 1973.

But without a doubt, the biggest improvement of all is the feeling you get when you get inside.

Take it for a test sit today.

Ann Landers

Reader Disagrees with Comments

Dear Ann Landers: Sorry, I can't agree with your comments to the wife who informed her husband that she quit the most out of their lovemaking when the girlfriends he's someone else. You said everyone hesitates to a certain degree and it's nothing to become troubled about. It's the same as daydreaming at times.

If a wife has to think about Ryan O'Neal when she's with her husband the least she can do is to keep her mouth shut. I would not be flattered if I discovered the reason my husband was flexing such a great physique was because he was pretending I was somebody else. If she continued such a thing to me I'd tell him that if I wasn't exciting enough he could go find someone who was.

We hear too much these days about weirdos, switch-hitters, wife-swapping, peep shows, naked men in cenotrefolds, and hooky new gyrations. What we need in this country is a champion for decency and morality. I hope I would be he/she. Yours, Landers. Sorry you let me down.—No Substitutes Nee'ed

Dear No Sub: The human mind is such an intricate piece of machinery that no one can say exactly how it operates, particularly in the area of sexual response. What turns a person on to a mysterious mix of surprises he never saw, read, heard and dreamed about, plus assorted bits and pieces, so-private that they are shared with no one. Not everyone can tolerate complete openness and frank talk. So, I agree with you, honey, some people should keep their mouths shut.

Dear Ann Landers: Three years ago I clipped my favorite column and carried it in my wallet until it is just barely legible. You called it How To Get Through the Day, and it helped me more than anything I have ever read in my life. Will you please print it again, Sam? Linda

Dear Linda: With pleasure.

Just for today I will live through the next 12 hours and not tackle my whole life problem at once.

Just for today I will improve my mind. I will learn something useful. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look my best, speak in a well modulated voice, be courteous and considerate.

Just for today I will not find fault with friend, relative or colleague. I will not try to change or improve anyone but myself.

Just for today I will have a program. I might not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two enemies—hurry and indecision.

Just for today I will exercise my character in three ways. I will do a good turn and keep it a secret.

If anyone finds out, it won't count.

Just for today I will do two things I don't want to do, just for exercise.

Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially will I be unafraid to enjoy what is beautiful and believe that as I give to the world, the world will give to me.

Many Obligations in Owning A Dog

By DORIS CLARK

Buying a dog should never be a spur of the moment decision! The dog owner has too much responsibility to himself, to the dog, and to the neighbors to take the whole matter lightly.

It isn't fair to the dog to be unwilling or unable to give him the care and companionship he needs.

It isn't fair to the neighbors to have an untrained dog who will bark in the night, yap when left alone, dig in gardens, or plunder garbage cans. The dog owner has many friends and his neighborhood unless he is prepared to train his dog and keep it under control.

Fully fenced on the least or a fully fenced garden are simply "musts".

Obedience Training helps tremendously, and there are classes in most cities and towns. Such training makes the dog a better citizen and a better, more reliable companion. It puts a bond between dog and master which makes for a great friendship — and for the respect of the community. — Dorothy Turpstra.

Dear Doris: I have a friend who is 18 and could very well be on the verge of alcoholism. He is drinking incessantly and is experimenting with marijuana weed. He won't let anyone talk to him.

He comes from a strictly religious family. I consider he has been deprived of his identity all his years and has received second best love from his parents. They don't praise him as they do the oldest. I can't see why because he is a fine friend and talented person.

I like him but I don't know if I like him enough to become his best girl friend. It seems he is in love so I'd like to try. I'd have to reach him. Then he might quit if he knew how much he hurt me to see him injuring himself by taking pot. — Pot-Pourri of Trouble.

Dear Pot-Pourri: I'g oalong with your diagnosis. He needs admiration and praise from his parents—not comparisons with his other brother—who has had the edge on him ever since he was born. It happens all too often this way when parents can't see what it is they are doing in downgrading one second one. Bobby Burns was right when he penned: "O wad some power the giftie gie us to see ourselves as others see us".

Don't sacrifice yourself on the altar of friendship. Find ways to give him a bulldog if you can, but keep heart-price and stand by ready to give moral support.

If he has been brought up strictly, as well as in the discouraging shadow of his brother, the key to victory is to encourage him in activities which will persuade him that he is worth something after all.

Club Activities

Tweed Senior Citizens' Club No. 239

An interesting meeting of the Tweed Senior Citizens' Club No. 239 was held at St. James Anglican Church Hall on October 11. There were 45 members in attendance.

A beautiful 50th wedding anniversary cake was on hand, for Mr. and Mrs. Albert McTaggart. It was purchased at the close of the business meeting and good wishes were offered to the popular couple.

Tweed Club received two new members at this meeting, bringing the total membership to 163, the largest club in the entire area, with the exception of Belleville.

Mr. Harris Jenkins opened the meeting with prayer. He also gave a brief humorous reading previous to the meeting.

A conference will be held at the McMaster University in Hamilton, in regard to "Staying Young" on May 6th. Get Up and Mrs. Olive Wallof, a member of the club will be in attendance at this conference, on November 2 and 3 as a representative of the Senior Citizens' Club No. 239.

Four persons were celebrating October birthdays and they were dealt with in the usual humorous manner.

Mrs. V. Burns read the treasurer's report which was seconded by Mrs. Irene Genore.

Mrs. Jennie Moffat gave her report on the sick committee's activities, and she stressed that cards be sent to Mr. Hall, 77 Sills of Roslin, who is very ill in the Belleville General Hospital and is a member of Tweed Club.

It was decided to have a pot-luck supper in St. James' Hall, on Friday, Nov. 3, the day celebrating the 3rd birthday of the club. There will be cards and entertainment following the meal.

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONWELL

Can a wife be happy with a dreamer?

YES, provided she loves her husband and is not simply deluded by the candies in the air that he builds for them. This doesn't mean a wife should make her husband dreams or/if dreams that can come true. It is just that a wife should love her husband the same, whether he is down-to-earth or a dreamer. Then, when and if one of his dreams falls apart, a wife will only want to help him put it together again.

Does everyone research a 'know job'?

NO; not if it is an obvious case in which the person being factored knows precisely what the factorer is up to and who runs. This defines one common impediment, though, when he thinks his factory is "going over big." Even if the person being factored in such a situation doesn't know the purpose of the factory, he can easily assume that he is being taken, and he resents anyone who would think he is that easy a mark.

Is a beautiful child all that lucky?

NO, not if "all that lucky" means the attractive child will get that extra measure of love which will prevent him from having personality or emotional problems because of his good looks. If he is perfectly adjusted, fine. But let him be spoiled by attention and he is in trouble. Or worse, let him suffer from the doubts and insecurity that can afflict almost any youngster, and no one will believe the beautiful child has a problem.

Crowd of Patrons at Sales Tables

Manor Bazaar Well Attended

Hastings Manor's 15th annbazaar, the largest bazaar in Belleville area was again a huge success with an abundance of baked goods and handmade crafts for all to purchase. More than 500 patrons from the area attended Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yorke, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitehead and Mrs. Orland Bertrand greeted guests at the door. Ticket receivers were: Percy Irwin and Ray Van Allen.

The heaping baked goods tables generously supplied by the Hastings Manor Auxiliary dwindled as fast as they were replaced.

Bake table convener, Mrs. Esther Barkely remarked: "There are so many women who have helped at this table including making and selling these baked goods." Mrs. Eleanor Copeland and Mrs. Helen McGarvin were on hand from the Hastings Manor Auxiliary.

The craft room displays under the supervision of Mrs. Donna Yates and Mrs. Dorothy Kerr (adjacent) in the boys auditorium were arranged on booths which were laden with many artistic handicrafts made by the residents. Even early Christmas shoppers had a delightful choice between festive decorations and gifts.

Quickly sized granny dolls with glasses and maple leaf quilts were a new feature this year. Colorful bird cage ornaments in realistic sizes and bright colors fastened to a rack at the front of the room sold rapidly.

The manor residents have shown how their time is limited with the large quantity of items they've presented. Milling shoppers had a huge assortment to choose from.

Bed care patients made their contribution also with knitted children's clothes.

After making as many purchases as the wallet could afford at the crafts booths, one could move on to the tea room for a rest from the packed auditorium. Mrs. Daisy Bongard and Mrs. Sadie Kellar had decorated the room in colorful autumnal decor.

Mrs. Marguerite Wessels, convener for the annual Hastings Manor tea and bazaar and president of the manor's auxiliary, greeted all at the door to the tea room. Mrs. Annis Dickens, tea room convener was assisted by Mrs. Daisy Bongard.

Hostesses, Mrs. Maud Ray, Mrs. Joanna Harsden, Mrs. Jean Locklin and Mrs. Jean Kilburn directed guests to the tables. Mrs. Lill Hurley, Mrs. Nellie Ketcheson, Mrs. Hazel Juby and Mrs. Kay Garland replenished the tea room favors.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Mrs. Carmen Gibson, Mrs. Russell, Scott, Mrs. Elmer Sanderock, Mrs. R. J. Potter, Mrs. E. N. Payne and Mrs. Dawson Maclean. Members of the auxiliary served.

Mrs. Dorothy Maclean was in charge of the tea room tickets. Those receiving tickets at the door were Mrs. Florence Morris, Mrs. Olive Mayell, Mrs. Agnes Elliot and Mrs. Anna Gillmor.

The draw tickets were in charge of Mrs. Pearl Holmes with helpers, Mrs. Jean Kilburn and Mrs. Nellie Ketcheson.

Market Nursery Run in Nigeria

TORONTO (CP) — Nigerian children who used to run unattended in the streets while their mothers worked in outdoor markets now attend nursery school, delegates to the fifth continental assembly of the North American Baptist Women's Union were told Tuesday.

Afinuke Samijoko, chairman of the nursery school department of the Nigerian National Council of Women's Societies, addressed the assembly as past president of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union in Nigeria.

She said the market nursery school project offers play and learning to children from four to six years. Every other week, volunteer council women, doctors and nurses visit the school to give free medical care.

The schools, charging a small fee, are one of several self-help projects established and subsidized by the council, composed of 1,000 organizations including church groups of all denominations.

Mrs. Samijoko said in an interview that education for women ranks high on the council list of priorities.

"Education is our No. 1 weapon to get more women in government and professional jobs," she said.

The council has organized adult literacy classes in church halls and mosques.

Asians Arrive In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Sixty-one Asian refugees from Uganda arrived here Wednesday and the first worry for most was trying to find a place to stay before looking for jobs.

Most complained of the cold—it was about 40 degrees after getting off a train from Montreal.

"I love it here already but it really is cold," said nurse Shahnaz Pirani Karim. Jan Mohamed. "But I'll get used to that."

Shahnaz, 32, was met at the train by an orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Donald A. Gibson, who did research work in a hospital in Uganda where she was a nurse. She will stay at the Gibson home and will work at the Hospital for Sick Children here. Her parents, two brothers and a sister are still in Africa.

She is one of 1,003 Asian-Ugandans admitted to Canada since President Idi Amin ordered 50,000 of them to get out.

Surgeons Reverse Vasectomies

NEW YORK (AP) — The birth-control surgery that makes men sterile can apparently be reversed so they could father babies again, a surgeon reported Wednesday.

The operation, known as vasectomy, cuts the tubes, the vas deferens, through which spermatozoa pass. Once performed, it has been considered to make men sterile forever.

But the tubes can be rejoined in surgery performed under a microscope, Dr. Julius H. Jacobson of Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York told a conference in Vienna, Austria.

The microscope vision makes the tiny severed tubes appear 25 times larger than they actually are, so the surgeon can sew the ends together again and make sure the tubes are open once more, he said.

Speaking to the International Symposium of Microsurgery, Dr. Jacobson said he has done the reversal operation on 19 men. Eighteen of them became able to produce motive or active sperm on ejaculation, he said. The other man had suffered damage to his testes during the vasectomy, and did not produce sperm.

All 19 had undergone vasectomies two to 13 years earlier.

'The Pill' for Men Works for Full Year

NEW YORK (AP) — New methods of birth control, including year-long pills for men, were described Wednesday to visiting doctors from China, whose own scientists have pioneered methods to put a lid on the population explosion.

The Chinese are experimenting with a once-a-month injection for women to prevent conception. And the Chinese also developed the technique of suction devices to produce abortions, a method widely used now in the United States and other countries.

U.S. and Russia Sign Trade Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union signed Wednesday a break-through trade agreement designed to settle Second World War lend-lease debts, reduce tariff barriers, grant credits and triple the volume of trade in the next three years.

The agreement follows by five months President Nixon's Moscow summit meetings which set the negotiations in motion.

As outlined by Nixon administration spokesmen, the major provisions of the agreement include:

—Settlement for $722 million of the Soviet debt of $11.1 billion in lend-lease aid extended by the United States during the Second World War.

—Granting of most-favored-nation treatment to the Soviet Union. If approved by Congress, this step would remove discriminatory trade barriers and put Moscow on the same footing as free-world nations.

—Make the Soviet Union eligible for Export-Import Bank credits. These credits could be used by the Soviets to purchase products mentioned in the agreement, including machinery, plant equipment, agricultural goods, industrial products and consumer goods.

The United States will, in turn, import increased volumes of Soviet raw materials. The agreement states that the goal is to triple to a three-year total of $1.5 billion the volume of trade between the two countries.

'Checkerboard' Buyers Told to Check Titles

TORONTO (CP) — Persons who innocently bought rural land through a subdividing scheme aimed at circumventing the Ontario Planning Act should have their property titles examined by a lawyer, Attorney-General Dalton Bales said Wednesday.

The Supreme Court of Canada upheld last week the intent of the planning act to prevent multiple division of land tracts into building lots without government decision, a practice sometimes referred to as "checkerboarding."

Mr. Bales said in an interview that legislation might be pushed to validate the deeds already registered, but he said such a proposal probably would not be presented to the Ontario legislature until next spring.

Mr. David Brown, Stoney Creek, Ont.

"Even without any adjustment on it, the picture's terrific and the color's terrific. And of course we love the cabinet."
Mrs. Florence Ashbaim, Winnipeg, Man.

"We had a black and white Electrohome portable, and we had good service from it. And another reason for choosing Electrohome—it might sound corny —but just because it's Canadian."
Mrs. Gordon Hansen, Kelowna, B.C.

"I read about the color sets which I considered to be in the top five, and Electrohome seemed to be one of the best for the money..."
Mr. Terry Peirson, Edmonton, Alta.

"Up to now, my color TV set has more than satisfied me. There's no need to adjust it, with its automatic fine tuning."

THE LOBLAWS PROMISE.

MORE THAN THE PRICE IS RIGHT.

Price is a very important consideration when you're shopping. You know it. And Loblaws know it. And we're doing something about it.

We promise that our prices are as low, or lower, than our major competition to help you save more than ever before.

But we know that every supermarket in town is telling you low price. So we know we have to give you more.

Like personal attention. We promise more staff per customer than any other supermarket. A friendly, courteous staff that will take the time to show you where things are.

And with more staff Loblaws can give you quicker and more efficient check-out and parcelling service.

We promise the widest, most complete selection of any supermarket. With the freshest fruit and vegetables. And the very finest quality meats.

We also promise you top quality and value in national brands, as well as in our own Loblaws brands.

And then, beyond our own low prices, Loblaws promise you the best values in weekly specials. To save you even more.

And while all this may seem easy for us to say, it's also easy for you to check out.

Just shop at Loblaws once.

You'll find we think a promise is worth keeping.

Hydro Strike Being Studied

TORONTO (CP) — Both sides in the 15-week strike involving 13,000 Ontario Hydro employees held separate talks Wednesday but neither the company nor the union appear to have come up with a solution to end the dispute.

Hydro negotiators and representatives of Local 1000, Canadian Union of Public Employees, both maintained that the subjects of their separate talks were confidential.

However, both the company and the union indicate their individual meetings would continue today.

The two sides have been at an impasse since Oct. 10, when strikers voted 53 per cent in favor of rejecting a company wage proposal. At the time, a hydro spokesman said the public utility "can see no immediate solution to the impasse."

Also preventing settlement of the province-wide strike is a Hydro proposal for a mutual protection clause to safeguard union members who have crossed picket lines during the three disputes. During the Oct. 10 balloting, union members rejected the clause by a vote of 75 per cent.

Got Attention

CAYUGA, Ont. (CP) — Harold Zimmerman, 38, of Dunnville, Ont., who said he set four fires to attract his wife's attention, was sentenced Wednesday to a nine-month definite and nine-month indefinite jail term.

Zimmerman had pleaded guilty to setting the fires, including one at his own house, during last July and August.

In a written statement admitted to provincial court, Zimmerman said the emotional strain of his wife leaving him led to his actions. He said he wanted to draw his wife's attention to the fact he was sick and needed help.

Mrs. Zimmerman testified that marital problems had been resolved and she had returned to her husband.

Water Safe

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP) — The town's water supply was officially declared safe to drink Wednesday and residents were notified that boiling water first no longer is necessary.

Ugandans Here

MONTREAL (CP) — The total number of Ugandan refugees brought to Canada topped 7,000 Wednesday night with the arrival of 353 more at Montreal International Airport.

Compensated For Late Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Kenneth Eaton, a labor department economist, has become the first federal public servant to successfully sue the government for being late with his salary.

The Federal Court of Appeal Tuesday upheld a lower-court ruling ordering the government to pay him $50 for damages.

Dr. Eaton was one of many civil servants who received retroactive pay raises in 1969 but who did not get their cheques within the 90-day legal limit.

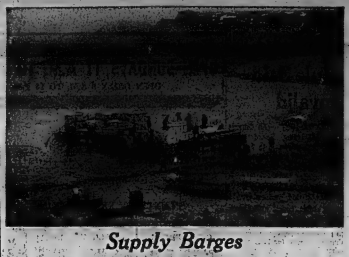
Thus, the pay raise put him in a higher tax bracket for the year and he had to pay increased income tax before he actually received the increased pay. That was the reason for the $50 award.

Appointments

TORONTO (CP) — Two newcomers and two veterans were appointed parliamentary assistants to four Ontario cabinet ministers in changes announced Wednesday by Premier William Davis.

All backbenchers, they are John Smith, 34, who represents Hamilton Mountain; Leonard Reilly, 31, Toronto Eglinton; Frank Miller, 45, Muskoka, and Donald Irvine, 49, Greenville-Dundas.

Need Permits



MONTREAL (CP) — New legislation requiring snowmobile operators to obtain driving permits goes into effect Dec. 1, Marcel Lamarche, information officer for the department of transport, said Wednesday.

Prize Awarded

STOCKHOLM (Reuter) — The 1972 Nobel Prize for literature was awarded today to Heinrich Boell of West Germany.

Chief Wounded

NAPIERVILLE, Que. (CP) — Rene Babeaux, chief of the Napierville police force, was injured slightly Wednesday while trying to apprehend two men who robbed the Bank of Montreal branch here and escaped with between $12,000 and $15,000. Chief Babeux was released from hospital after he was treated for a bullet wound on the left side. A credit union in this community 30 miles southeast of Montreal also was held up Wednesday by three armed men who fled with about $20,000.

UN to Receive Report On Environment Meet

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Maurice Strong of Canada will formally present the recommendations of the Stockholm environment conference to the UN today but the Soviet Union has already expressed grumblings of displeasure.

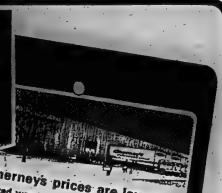
The report of the UN Conference of the Human Environment, held in Stockholm June 5-16, will go first to the General Assembly's economic committee. Strong served as secretary-general of the meeting and will report on its recommendations for new international machinery to fight pollution throughout the world.

Although Strong's report today will mark the first time the Stockholm conference has come up before the UN itself, the report already came briefly Tuesday before the UN's economical and social council and it was there the Russians noted their displeasure with parts of the meetings' results.

The Soviet bloc boycotted Stockholm because East Germany was barred from taking part on an equal basis with West Germany. The Soviet speech to the economic and social council confirmed earlier fears that the East European would react coolly to the conference recommendations because they had no part in drafting the results.

'Customer' Protests

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — A man who didn't like the price of two welding machines at a supply company pulled a revolver Tuesday, got a clerk to load the machines into his car and sped off.



The clerk said the man acted like a customer and was interested in a machine valued at $565.

He asked for a better price if he purchased two machines but the clerk said they already were on sale.

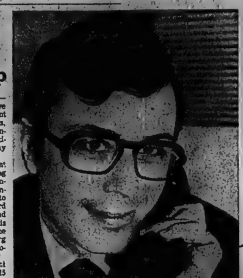
Hees Sees Bid to Kill Farm Group

TELLSONBURG, Ont. (CP) — George Hees, Conservative member in the last Parliament for Prince Edward-Hastings, spoke to a Progressive Conservative gathering of approximately 150 here Wednesday night.



"The Trudeau government seems to be dedicated to killing one of our most important industries, namely the tobacco industry," he said, referring to the tobacco marketing board which is attempting to find markets but which he said is getting no assistance from the government. The Tillsonburg area is the chief producer of tobacco in Canada.

Referring to government farming policy he said that 15 per cent of farming population has quit farming because they have been forced to sell.

He advocated a revision of the farm credit corporation to include loans to qualified young men interested in starting farming. He said that a Conservative government in power would not charge interest on farm loans for the first three years.

Still Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Striking United Auto Workers have informed Massey-Ferguson Industries Ltd. that striking union members again have rejected a proposed wage agreement.

Watchdog

New watchdog on chain-like pyramid selling promotions is Paul Brown, Ontario's registrar of pyramid schemes. Ontario's new legislation, effective June 15, requires all pyramid-style operations to register with Mr. Brown and comply with the regulations he enforces. (CP Photo)

Marketing Rule Said Invalid

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ontario Milk Marketing Board regulation that allows it to set, reduce or take away quotas on dairy producers is beyond its constitutional powers and must be set aside, the Supreme Court of Canada said Wednesday.

The high court also struck down a board regulation giving it the power to refuse licences to persons to engage in the producing of milk for financial or other reasons.

However the nine Supreme Court judges rejected a challenge that the Milk Commission of Ontario, to which the board is responsible, is itself unconstitutional.

Brant Dairy Co., of Brantford, Ont., and Walkerton Dairies Ltd., both small producers with their own herds of cattle and engaged in producing, processing and distributing of milk, challenged the regulations of the milk board.

But the court threw out their main challenge—that it was illegal to require them to sell their milk to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board and unlawful to oblige them to buy milk from the board for processing and distribution to customers.

They also failed in their challenge of board regulations which say only persons the board appoints shall transport milk.

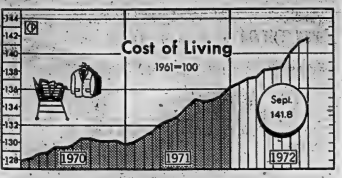
Caouette Is Asking For Whip



MATANE, Que. (CP) — Parliament is like a horse pulling a cart, Real Caouette, Social Credit leader, said Wednesday.

"The horse is the power, and the cart is all of us.

"Give us the balance of power, the whip, and you will see how we will make the horse move," he told 30 persons during a campaign stop in this community 220 miles northwest of Quebec City.

He advocated Social Credit policy of allowing provinces to borrow from the Bank of Canada instead of going to the United States for money.

He also resisted party policy calling for a 20-per-cent discount on purchases of Canadian-made goods.

Cost of Living Climbs

The consumer price index reversed its usual September trend and rose again instead of falling, Statistics Canada reported today. With increases in clothing and food leading the way the index climbed to 141.8 from 141.3 in August. The index, based on 1961 prices equalling 100, was 134.7 in September last year (CP Newsfile).

Dief Defends Grants to Industries

CALGARY (CP) — The New Democratic Party campaign against "corporate welfare bums" goes against a practice common in the Western world, John Diefenbaker said Wednesday.

Tax concessions have been given to businesses by nearly all governments, including those of Britain and Sweden.

The former prime minister said the NDP looks to the British Labor party for inspiration and leadership but in Britain the government is spending $802 million this year as incentives to industry.

"Canadian business is being attacked as a scapegoat" by NDP Leader David Lewis.

Dishonesty is being ascribed indiscriminately to business and "profits are decried as piratical gains."

A company providing jobs is entitled to a reasonable return, If Canada raises taxes as advocated by the NDP, investment and the creation of jobs would be slowed with resulting adverse effects, the former Progressive Conservative leader said.

PM's Relations With God Good

WINGHAM, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Wednesday he has good relations with the Almighty and talks to Him in a familiar tone.

He was answering a question on an open-line television program on station CKNX-TV.

The caller noted that earlier in the federal election campaign in Regina, Mr. Trudeau was asked what has happened to "the just society"—a slogan he used in the 1968 election campaign.

The prime minister had replied by suggesting that his questioner ask Jesus Christ what happened to the just society that Christ had promised 2,000 years ago.

Was this an intelligent and Christian response, asked the caller on Wednesday's open-line show.

"I think it was reasonably intelligent," said Mr. Trudeau. "As to whether it was Christian I don't know what your relations to God are, but mine are rather good and I can talk to Him in a familiar tone, and He hasn't objected so far.

"Each has his own way of talking to Him."

The NDP plan is to "bamboozle" the voters who otherwise might find out Mr. Lewis and his party have no policy in the field except to take over a few big businesses.

Jobless Payments Climb During August

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment insurance benefit payments went up by 13 per cent in August, at a time when the number of claimants went down significantly.

Statistics Canada reported Wednesday the total funds disbursed rose to $143.8 million in August from $127.1 million in July. But the number of claimants on file at the end of the month was down five per cent at 721,759 for August, compared with 762,433 in July.

Unemployment Insurance Commission officials set to work immediately to try to explain the apparent paradox. One reason they gave was that August this year had five Tuesdays, while July had the usual four.

Tuesday is the commission's biggest day for issuing unemployment insurance benefit cheques. That could explain perhaps $13 million or $14 million of the increase, but the August increase was $16.8 million.

Another factor is that the number of claimants on the commission's books at the end of each month is overstated by 20 to 25 per cent, and this figure could vary.

The commission normally keeps all claimants' files in the active category for a period of five weeks after each claim for a benefit cheque is made. In that time, a claimant could find another job and stop drawing benefits, but his file would not be immediately transferred to the inactive category.

The $143.8 million paid out in August brought the cumulative total to more than $1.1 billion for the first eight months of 1972, under the new scale of higher benefits and more comprehensive coverage which started Jan. 1.

This $1.3 billion has been paid out of both the funds that employers and employees contribute to the unemployment insurance account, and the extra money the federal treasury has been putting into it.

Employer-employee contributions are supposed to be sufficient to cover payouts when unemployment runs to less than four per cent of the labor force. The general treasury pays the extra amount needed when unemployment runs to more than four per cent.

Unemployment this year has been running in excess of six per cent. It rose to a seasonally adjusted rate of 7.1 per cent in September, though the estimated number of jobless declined by 44,000 that month.

Postal Board Is Urged To Study Job Security

OTTAWA (CP) — A conciliation board set up to deal with a dispute between postal workers seeking a new contract and the government has been advised to devote some time to job security—a matter not within the terms of reference of the board.

The suggestion was made Wednesday by Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board, as he set out matters the conciliation board can and cannot deal with.

The three-man conciliation board, headed by Owen Shime of Toronto, met Wednesday for the first time. Under federal law the board reports to Mr. Finkelman.

In the statement, Mr. Finkelman said the issue of job security "will undoubtedly hang like a pall over the deliberations of the board in this dispute."

Plans for automation in the post office have raised fears in the 28,000-member Council of Postal Unions that jobs will be lost or there will be layoffs. The government has said that no existing employees will lose jobs or pay as the changes are made.

Under federal law, conciliation board reports cannot contain recommendations relating to appointment, promotion, demotion, transfer, layoff or release of employees. Mr. Finkelman said, however, it would be unrealistic to say the conciliation board is forbidden to discuss the problems of technological change.

Ottawa Plans

Kraft Fined $5,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Kraft Foods Ltd. was fined $5,000 in Court of Queen's Bench Wednesday for false advertising in its "Explore Canada 79" contest.

Mr. Justice Claude Vallerand, who found the company guilty of the charge Oct. 4, gave Kraft Foods 30 days to pay the fine.

"The infraction would have been more serious if a purchase had been necessary to participate in the contest," said the judge, "but you did treat thousands of Canadians as though they were imbeciles."

The contest sponsored by the company offered participants "15 big chances to win" a plane trip to any Canadian city, free use of a vehicle, $1,000 spending money and a set of luggage.

Crown prosecutor Louis-Philippe Landry said no contest had "15 big chances to win" and 220,900 of the 271,000 entrants had simply wasted a stamp.

He told the court that of the 26,856 Albertans who entered the contest only 324 had entered the contest before the one prize for that region had been awarded.

Court Orders Payment to Adult Child

OTTAWA (CP) — Courts have the authority to order maintenance costs for adult children in divorce proceedings, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled Wednesday.

In a unanimous judgment, the court said that judges are not bound by any age barriers in granting maintenance costs for children.

The issue arose in the Supreme Court of British Columbia which ruled it had no jurisdiction to hear an application for continuance of maintenance payments for 19-year-old Penelope Jackson to Maureen Jackson, divorced wife of George Jackson.

The trial judge ruled that because Penelope had reached the age of majority in the province, he had no jurisdiction to hear the application.

Mrs. Jackson sought continuance of maintenance for Penelope while she attended a teacher assistance program at the Vancouver City College.

The B.C. Court of Appeal agreed that the trial judge had no jurisdiction and Mrs. Jackson then appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Farmer Allowed To Move Grain

OTTAWA (CP) — A farmer may grow grain in one Prairie province and transport it to a second province to feed his own cattle, the Supreme Court of Canada said today.

In a 4-to-1 judgment, the court ruled that the Canadian Wheat Board Act does not prohibit such transactions.

In the case before it, said the high court, there was no trading in grain and no commercial transaction. The farmer in question dealt with his own grain and did not deal with anyone else.

Silas Boyd Sommerville, who has a farm in the district of Manitaria in Saskatchewan, transported 4,328 bushels of grain from his farm to a feed mill in Medicine Hat and from there to cattle farms operated by himself and his father at Lethbridge and Coaldale, Alta.

Food Prices Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Food prices rose strongly last month in Toronto, Thunder Bay, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Calgary, Statistics Canada reported Wednesday. The only cities in which there were declines were St. John's, Nfld., and Halifax.

The bureau's consumer price indexes for various cities reflect the changes in living costs within each city. They cannot be used to compare living costs between one city and another because of variations that exist when the bureau started to compile the figures.

Based on 1961 consumer prices equalling 100, the all-items index rose by nearly one per cent in Winnipeg while food prices rose there by 2.4 per cent. Food prices rose 2.2 per cent in Edmonton and Calgary and 1.5 per cent in Toronto and Thunder Bay, Ont.

The over-all index of prices of all consumer goods and services rose seven-tenths of one per cent in Edmonton and Calgary.

Wilson Retains Post

LONDON (Reuter) — British Opposition Leader Harold Wilson, who has pledged to renegotiate Britain's entry terms into the European Common Market, was re-elected unopposed Wednesday as head of the Labor party.

Children Stuck In Elevator

The children were rescued by the head of a non-union elevator servicing firm.

One of those trapped was an eight-year-old boy suffering from claustrophobia (fear of enclosed places) according to his father, who refused to let his surname be used.

"Shawn was scared and shaking a bit," said his sister Robbie, 13, who was also on the elevator with a teenage neighbor and a nine-year-old boy.

FEEL FINE, LOOK LOVELY — Sophia Delza

Good health is the basis for anyone's beauty regime. This book is a dancer's collection of 99 simple, scientific exercises. You don't have to be a gymnast or physical education instructor to follow the directions, they are given, not to be read but to be enacted. There are no terrifying squats or push-ups, just ordinary gestures made dynamic and purposeful.

TEEN - AGE GUIDE TO HEALTHY SKIN AND HAIR — Irwin L. Lubow, MD.

Dr. Lubowe, a dermatologist, has presented an unusually readable guide for health, beauty and good grooming for teens and young adults. This is the complete book of plain talk and expert practical advice super - easy to use, problems, causes, and treatment are charted in a clear simple form for instant reference.

THE KYLURE WAY OF MAKE-UP — David and Eric Aylott

Once you have mastered the basics of good looks with exercise and skin and hair care, the next step is the proper application of make - up. The Kylure Way of Make-up is a book for every woman, whatever her age, whatever her coloring. It tells you how to use the wonderful new ranges of cosmetics to make the very best of your face. It teaches you how to "analyze" your face, to recognize the good facial features that every woman has and how to accentuate them by the proper us e of make-up.

HERE'S EGG ON YOUR FACE or HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN COSMETICS— Beatrice Traven

If you are the adventurous type, or a member of the Back to Nature Movement, you will find this guide a fascinating and economical way to cosmetic cookery. From early Egyptian eras onward, housewifery know-how h a s abounded with dark h i n t s about magical beauty formulas. The author of this how-to book merged her curiosity as a cosmetic user and buyer with the skills of a renowned cosmetic chemist. The result is a delightfully written, yet eminently useful, cookbook for making your own cosmetics.

THE TEEN-AGER'S MENU COOKBOOK — Charlotte Adams

When you have finished whipping up your own suntan lotion or moisture cream what about cooking a meal for the family or a pizza for a party? Charlotte Adams h a s been food editor of the Associated Press, Look, Collier's a n d Charm Magazines. This is her first cookbook for young people and she brings to it her cooking knowledge and her admiration and understanding for youth. It covers everything from snacks through daily meals to dinner parties and foreign meals. Each menu includes the times of preparation, cooking and serving of the food and easy-to-follow recipes.

THE NEW SEVENTEEN BOOK OF ETIQUETTE AND YOUNG LIVING — Enid A. Haupt

Young people equipped with the guidelines in this book can go anywhere, meet any situation, public or private, with poise and confidence based on the knowledge that they know precisely what to do and why. The New Seventeen Book of Etiquette and Young Living assumes that young people want intelligent guidance for conventional life friendship, and school. In addition, it provides help on how to be effective and at ease in the new life situations young people are bound to meet.

TAKE IT FROM EVE — Eve Nelson

More than a beauty book, this is a philosophy of beauty and life. Mrs. Nelson's approach encompasses the current concept of beauty, gives and makes it a part of every woman's tomorrow. Complete with illustrated how-to's for wig and hair care, coloring and styling, make - up techniques and figure control.

Take it From Eve is unorthodoxy it is fascinating it is full of fun, and it is practical and professional.

Liberals To Parade

PICTON (Staff) — Party workers will strike up the band for Liberal candidate for Prince Edward-Hastings, George Cunningham, on Friday night, Oct. 20 with a gala parade and cider fest.

Campaign manager Hugh O'Neil said the parade will leave Picton fairgrounds at 7 p.m., proceed through Main Street and end at the mall where a cider fest will follow.

Efforts have been made to bring a party minister or senator here for this special event.

Reds Get First Win in Twilight Zone

OAKLAND (AP) — Cincinnati Reds and Oakland Athletics entered the Twilight zone again tonight for the fourth game of the 1972 World Series.

And because of it, both teams looked forward to another low-scoring game following Cincinnati's 1-0 triumph Wednesday night that cut Oakland's lead in the best-of-seven series to 3-1.

The twilight made the difference for me," said winning pitcher Jack Billingham after gaining the victory with ninth-inning help from Clay Carroll.

"Maybe the rest will be one-run games too," said Oakland manager Dick Williams.

The first two games were played in Cincinnati last week-end, but the 3-2 and 3-1 Oakland successes were fashioned without any assistance from nature.

When the Series switched to the Oakland Coliseum this week, the starting time for the contest in California was 5:30 p.m. That's the worst time for a hitter because of the fast-fading light.

Cincinnati slugger Johnny Bench, who spent 9-for-a-Wednesday night and struck out three times, had been apprehensive about the conditions.

"I hate to hit in the twilight in Oakland," he had said.

But while it hurt the major leagues' top home-run hitter, it also didn't do too much for the Oakland team.

"I don't usually strike out that many batters," said Billingham, who fanned seven Athletics. "The twilight no doubt helped me."

The journeyman right-hander, who gave up three hits through eight innings, started the ninth by throwing three straight balls to Mike Epstein while the crowd of 49,401 at the Coliseum cheered.

Anderson then decided that Billingham had gone far enough.

Carroll then came in to preserve that shaky lead by getting Epstein on a bouncer, Sal Bando on a soft line drive and George Hendericok on an easy hit to the mound.

"Jack was tired," said Anderson. "I should have taken him out when he went 2-0, not 3-0.

Billingham agreed.

"I had pitched eight strong innings already and I didn't want to come out of the game," said Billingham. "You never like to leave in a situation like that."

But while he was in there, the right-hander who has an unspectacular 500 lifetime record led the Athletics a steady diet of sinker balls and allowed only three flies during his tenure.

"They took a lot of strikes low and away," he said. "They were taking an awful lot of them."

His only jam came in the sixth inning, when the Athletics had men on first and third with none out, and the bases loaded with one man gone. But Billingham got Pete Rando on a rally-killing double play.

John (Blue Moon) Odom was equally good for Oakland, striking out 11 before running into trouble in the seventh inning, when the Reds scored the game's only run.

Tony Perez singled and was sacrificed to second base by Denis Menke. Cesar Geronimo, hitless in his first nine World Series appearances, then laced a single to centre field.

Perez rounded third, slipped and fell on a field made soggy by 19 straight days of rain. But he picked himself up and scored the winning run when Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris made no relay throw.

"I didn't see him fall down," said Anderson, "but that's the way things have been going for us in this Series before tonight."

Williams has tapped Ken Holtzman to face Gullett in a matchup of hard-throwing southpaws tonight. The fifth game will also be played here Friday afternoon and the sixth and seventh, if necessary, in Cincinnati Saturday and Sunday.

Perez Quick on Feet?

OAKLAND (AP) — Big, lumbering Tony Perez laughingly credited his "great quickness" Wednesday night with assuring the Cincinnati Reds' victory in the tense third World Series game.

Perez slipped and fell hard as he rounded third after Cesar Geronimo's single in the seventh inning, but he jumped up, lumbered toward home plate and slid in safely.

"I just slipped," Perez said in the quietly happy Reds' dressing room.

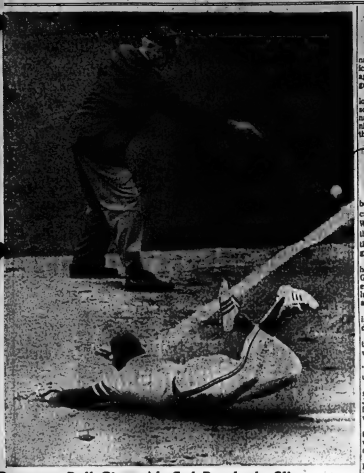
"It was a wet spot or something," he said. "I thought they would get me, as I went down."

Perez smiled slyly, and said: "But I'm very quick, and I get up quick and run."

"I never saw him go down," said Geronimo, who lashed John (Blue Moon) Odom's high fast ball into centrefield for the winning hi.

The throw from centre went to shortstop Bert Campaneris, who didn't see Perez fall, and didn't make a throw home.

Geronimo said he thought as Perez slid home that the lone run would be enough.



"Billingham was pitching so well at the time," said Geronimo, who came to Cincinnati from Houston last winter in a controversial trade that also brought Joe Morgan, Denis Menke and others to the Reds.

"I didn't see Tony fall," he said. "I heard the crowd screaming, and saw him getting up.

"Then I saw him score, and thought that would be enough."

"Who's tryin' to bribe anyone wit' this $500 watch? We just want a accurate count in case Joey goes down?"

Isaac Favored For Pole

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP)— Bobby Isaac, who holds the world's closed-course speed mark for stock cars, did a one-mile lap at 138 miles an hour Wednesday and became a favorite for the pole position in the $105,000 American 500 race Sunday at North Carolina Motor Speedway. Driving a new Chevrolet, Isaac's unofficial time for his fastest trip around the heavily banked oval was only about one-half second off the official world mark for that distance.

Sterner, Brown Staying Home

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish hockey player Ulf Sterner will stay in his homeland and play with his amateur team, Farjestad of Karlstad, this season, it was announced Wednesday. Sterner, a key player in the Swedish team which lost one game and played to a tie against Team Canada here a month ago, recently returned from the training camps of Chicago Cougars of the new World Hockey Association. He was released by the Cougars after a dispute with the management. He says he also turned down an offer from Quebec Nordiques.

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Arnie Brown, a veteran defenseman, has been suspended indefinitely by New York Islanders for leaving the National Hockey League club late Monday. Brown, recently acquired in a trade with Detroit Red Wings, left the club for personal reasons, a club spokesman said Tuesday. Brown returned to his home in suburban Detroit.

Some Heat Off Hadfield

By LIN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Harry Sinden, whose position as executive manager of Boston Bruins makes him the No. 1 decision-maker on the National Hockey League club, told a Toronto press reception this week his second-best published book, Hockey Showdown, "may take some of the heat off Hadfield."

Sinden, who coached Team Canada in its record-shattering hockey series with the Soviet Union, collaborated with Boston writer Will McDonough on the book encompassing Team Canada from its training camp to the conclusive final game in Moscow.

New York Ranger's Vic Hadfield jumped the team in Moscow and returned home amid speculation as to his reasoning and decision.

Much has been made of the incident and the ranger winger added fuel to the discussions back home by insinuating Sinden didn't know how to handle his conglomerate of NHL stars.

He probably still had that in the back of his mind Wednesday night when he scored the game's first goal en route to a 7-1 New York victory over Sinden's Bruins in the first meeting of the year between the two East Division giants.

Elsewhere, Toronto Maple Leafs edged Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3, Philadelphia Flyers nipped Los Angeles Kings 4-3, Minnesota North Stars blanked Atlanta Flames 5-0 and Montreal Canadiens earned a 4-4 tie with St. Louis Blueson Frank Mahovlich's last-minute goal.

"They can forget this game now," declared Boston centre Phil Esposito in the dressing room after the defending Stanley Cup champions regained their composure at New York.

"I'm tempted to say 'No comment'," observed Boston coach Tom Johnson, "but bluntly we played a lousy game."

The Rangers jumped into a 5-1 lead and gave goaltender Gilles Villemure an easy cushion to work on as they threw up a near airtight defence that allowed Boston only 23 shots.

Bill Fairbairn and Rod Seiling led the attack with two goals each on veteran Ed Johnston in a game that spawned 11 trelling from the opening whistle.

The NHL's leading goal scorer, Bob Berry, notched his 13th of the season and Butch Goring, with less than five minutes remaining, had enabled the Kings to overcome a 2-1 deficit entering the final period.

Dennis Hextall, one of seven North Stars arrested the previous night in an Atlanta lounge, spearheaded Minnesota's offence with two goals and two assists and Cesar Maniago turned aside 24 shots in registering the West Division club's first shutout of the year.

Frank Mahovlich, skating past the goalmouth, nudged-in the goal at St. Louis that salvaged the tie for Montreal and stretched their unbeaten string this season to five games.

VIC HADFIELD

Fred O'Donnell of Boston paired off in the first period with Boston's Mike Walton took a game misconduct for intervening. Then in the second Gene Carr was assessed a double minor and major for his fight with Boston's Garnet Bailey.

Norm Ullman and Denis Dupere took advantage of an injury to Pittsburgh goalie Jim Rutherford to score goals 22 seconds apart in the second period that enabled Toronto to pull out the victory at home.

NEW YORK (CP) — Paul Henderson, Toronto Maple Leaf forward who scored the winning goal in three of Team Canada's four victories over the Soviet Union team, has been picked as Life Saver of the Month for September.

Webster Leads Whalers

HOUSTON (AP) — New England Whalers, behind the three goals of Tom Webster, defeated Houston Aeros 4-1 in a World Hockey Association game Wednesday night.

Webster scored two goals in the second period and a single goal in the third period, his first goals of the season.

Houston took the lead in the first period as Ted Taylor scored on a power play from an assist by Gordon Labossiere with just 2:22 gone in the game.

New England tied the game at 1-1 on Webster's first goal at 4:19 as he connected from the slot in front of the net.

The Whalers took the lead for good on Webster's second goal at 2:01 of the second when the former Detroit player connected on a breakaway.

Napanee Devours Fullbacks

It would be understandable if there weren't too many candidates for fullback on the Napanee senior football team. The bike - and - gold squad won a Bay of Quinte COSSA football game yesterday, but lost fullback D'Arcy McKittrick, third one this season forced out by injury.

McKittrick's absence didn't slow down Napanee Wednesday, however, as they recorded a 26-0 win over Picton. "We're just getting things down now," said Bartlett. "We've just about the kind of shape we should have been at the start of the season." Napanee now has a 2-3 record in league competition.

Doug Scott paced the winners with a pair of touchdowns, while Tim Griffin and Terry Peters counted the other Napanee Majors. Dan Muckle and Bill Oitkirk were two.

Defensive lineman Stewart Murdock set the tone for Albert College's 34-6 win over Picton juniors when he scooped up a fumble on the second play of the game and raced 65-yards for a touchdown. Murdock was one of the winners' individual stars playing both offence and defence.

Other Albert standouts were Gary Mudawarie who logged three major scores and Paul McLeod who had a pair of touchdowns. Coach Bill Mathieson's juniors now boast a 3-2 record for the season.

Turning Trick on Turner

Belleville Bobcats' goalie Bob Moore turns aside the scoring attempt to teammate Neil Turner during a Junior B practice session Wednesday. The two hockies have been among the major causes for the Bobcats' 2-0 record in Toronto Metro Junior B hockey competition this season. Belleville, currently in a three - way tie for second place face the Toronto Young Nationals in a 9 p.m. game Friday at the Belleville Memorial Arena. Moore allowed only five goals last weekend as the Bobcats won their first two games in the Metro League.

Senior Coach Won't Really Be Swearing

"Van Dam!"

Senior A hockey patrons at the Belleville Memorial Arena may hear coach Wayne Brown uttering those words a few times this season. No, "Weiner" hasn't come up with a new form of Dutch profanity, he would simply be calling upon the services of Gord Van Dam.

The centre-left winger participated in the Belleville Quintes' Wednesday night practice, after attending Ottawa Nationals' training camp this season. The 21-year-old, 175-pounder is attempting to catch a Quintes berth. Van Dam won't be in uniform for this weekend's meetings with the Brantford Foresters, but will continue to attend Senior A practices. He played Intermediate hockey in Cobourg last season.

One "new" face that the Quintes will be viewing this weekend, however, is that of Mike Corbett. The former all-star defenceman with Orillia Terriers and Gall Hornets will be in the line - up for Brantford's Friday night home meeting with Belleville. He was recently dealt to the first-year senior team for an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Foresters are one of five teams currently tied with the Quintes for third place in the OHA Senior A standings. Belleville will be looking to improve upon their 2-2 season record when they travel to Brantford tomorrow night and face the Foresters again Sunday.

The Quinte's Sunday home game at the Memorial Arena will get under way at 7:30 p.m. with ticket gates opening at 7:15 p.m.

Bobcat 'Mice' Let Out Roar

Team manager Russ Scale calls them "the mice" because of their helter skelter skating styles. Toronto Metro Junior B opponents will probably call them worse names than that for the very same reason.

Belleville Bobcats' coach Moe Hunter simply states that Rob Foster and Rick Meagher "have been playing great hockey for us. Penalty killing has been one of our strong points so far this season."

The Belleville bench boss is still looking for a right winger to compliment the two Bobcat speedsters, and managed to come up with one for Friday's game — Rob Foster. The Western Tire juvenile graduate, who saw junior action in last season's playoffs will be shifted from the point side to right wing. Foster's spot will be filled by Mark Coates, on loan from the juvenile all-stars.

The Belleville coach also lists goaltending as a key to his team's 2-0 season record to date. "Bobby (Moore) has been giving us good goaltending, in fact he might have picked up a couple of shutouts in those weekend games." The games referred to were a 4-3 victory over Bramalea Friday and a 3-2 Sunday decision against Markham in which Moore lost his shutout bid with just 23 seconds remaining to play.

Of the over-all team picture, Hunter feels that, "we don't have the same polish that we had last season, but we've got a lot of hustle on this team. We're going to lose a few games, but we're going to win our share too. I'd say we've got a good shot at finishing in the top half of the league.

In a three-way tie for second in the 12-team grouping, tied with St. Michael's and Peterborough behind league - leading Oshawa.

Friday, they are scheduled to face the Toronto Young Nationals in a 9 p.m. bout at the Belleville Memorial Arena.

Coville Drives Triple

KINGSTON (Special) — Not many racing fans have heard of driver Orville Coville's home town of Stone's Corners, but they know where he made his home Wednesday night in the winner's circle.

Coville scored three wins in last night's card at Frontenac Downs, the first time that the feat has been recorded this season on the Kingston track.

Al Vance took Ruth's Daisy to a second place finish in the featured ninth race won by Bonded Stock in 2:08.3. Another local driver, Larry Zbukee took the show position in the tenth race with Rolf Ron Betsy. Allie Ben won that race.

The crowd of 702 wagered a total of $29,024.

JACK ELLIS
HASTINGS RIDING PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

A Progressive Conservative federal government will establish a national income floor for individuals and families who have no earned income because of physical disability or other valid reasons.

Together with the provinces it will institute an Income Development program, consolidating many of the duplicated and wasteful existing social security and public assistance programs.

Its Income Development plan will include provisions to ensure that individuals or families below the poverty line who are capable of earning income will be entitled to retain a specified amount of this earned income without any reduction in public assistance. Of course, as the amount of earned income increases, the proportion of public assistance will be reduced.

Soviets Keep Soccer Hopes Alive

By REUTER

The Soviet Union kept alive its hopes of qualifying for the 1974 World Cup soccer finals by beating the Irish republic 3-1 in Dublin Wednesday night.

The Russians had to win to have any hope of qualifying after losing 1-0 to France last week in their opening Group 3 match. Fedorov and Kolovov scored for the Russians before Conway netted for the Irish.

Bulgaria opened its Group 6 campaign with a 3-0 victory over Northern Ireland in a bruising match in Sofia. Northern Ireland's star forward George Best was sent off eight minutes from the end for a foul tackle which climaxed a violent match.

Hristo Bonev scored two Bulgarian goals, both from the penalty spot. Kiley was the other marksman. Portugal leads Group 6 with two victories over Cyprus.

Scotland, which has not qualified for the World Cup finals since 1958, made an impressive start in Group 8 by whipping Denmark 4-1 in Copenhagen.

Yugoslavia meets Spain in Las Palmas today in the most intriguing of this week's six World Cup qualifying matches. Yugoslavia is expected to field the team which drew 1-1 with England in a friendly match last week.

Group 7 will be in the spotlight during the weekend when Italy, runnerup to Brazil in the 1970 World Cup, plays Switzerland and Turkey faces Luxembourg.

Qualifying competition continues until the end of next year. The 14 survivors will join cup holder Brazil and host West Germany in the 16-nation finals the following year.

Frazier Told To Fight

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The World Boxing Commission handed down a 48-hour ultimatum Wednesday night to champion Joe Frazier and George Foreman to set a date for a heavyweight title fight.

Disregarding the ultimatum would jeopardize Foreman's status as the No. 1 challenger while enhancing the position of Muhammad Ali, the former champion.

Frazier has rejected Foreman's views on the financial aspects of the fight. But the WBC declared that Frazier must risk his crown, not having done so with a recognized challenger in over a year.

Colt Shuffle Benches Unitas

BALTIMORE (AP) — The proposed youth movement of Baltimore Colts won't be accomplished overnight, but the National Football League team's oldest player will feel its effects first.

When coach Don McCafferty was fired Monday, general manager Joe Thomas said Baltimore youngsters would be given much more playing time during the remainder of the season.

In Sunday's game against New York Jets, however, 38-year-old quarterback Johnny Unitas will be the only player actually bumped out of his job so far.

Taking over for Unitas—arrived to the Jets' Joe Namath in the AFC with 1,994 yards passing this season—will be Marty Domres, who spent four seasons as a back-up signal caller at San Diego before being acquired in a trade by Thomas.

Rookie Glenn Doughty also will start at wide receiver, replacing rookie Colden Speyrer, who is injured, and second-year players Don Nottingham and Don McCauley will start in the backfield for the second straight week while veterans Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich nurse injuries.

It was McCafferty's refusal to bench Unitas which helped lead to his dismissal after the Colts lost to Dallas Cowboys last Sunday for their fourth loss in five starts, with defensive tea coach John Sandusky taking over.

Unitas declined to comment on his benching or his future with the club after he finishes his 17th season. This is the last year of a three-year contract at $135,000 a season.

Unitas also signed a 10-year "personal services" contract with former Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom, which would take effect after his playing days are over.

Jones' Gross Barcovan Best

Barcovan Golfers couldn't keep up with the Jones', at least not Bob Jones who took low gross honors in the closing tournament Saturday.

Steve Hardy finished second in the low gross event with Blackie Simpson taking low net honors and Pat Brown placing second in that category. The most honest golfer award went to Harold Walker.

In an East Northumberland High School Tournament Friday in which 41 students participated it was Brighton's Bill Mound taking first class honors.

OMB Power to Revoke Councils' Acts Opposed

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Board's power to overrule decisions of municipal councils should be revoked, an Ontario legislature committee was told Wednesday.

Instead, the OMB should be empowered only to hear objections of groups or individuals with its recommendations going to councils for a final decision.

The proposals drastically to curb the board's powers were made in a lengthy brief by the regional municipality of York, north of Toronto.

York said that the board, an appointed body, should not have the right to take away the decision-making powers of councils, elected representatives of the people.

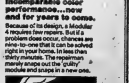
"The placing of power in the hands of appointed officials and the separation of power and responsibility is bad in principle and not in accordance with the theory of government generally accepted in democratic countries."

The board, which has been the subject of an exhaustive review by the committee since last June, acts as a watchdog over municipal spending with power to disallow projects considered economically unsound or in violation of majority rights.

In addition, responsibility for implementing board decisions rests with the councils and not the OMB.

"If matters do not work out satisfactorily it is then council, not the board, that will have to find solutions and that will be held responsible by the electorate if it fails to do so."

The issue of keeping all decision-making powers in the hands of elected officials also came up in a brief from the Ontario branch of the Canadian Bar Association which suggested board appeals be made to divisional courts, rather than to the cabinet.



Frank Miller (PC—Muskoka) argued that both decisions, re-flected government policy, and final resolution of these matters should rest with elected officials, not the courts.

TOWNE FURNITURE
Presents MODULAR 4 Color TV

Introducing the first color TV to use space age circuitry for down-to-earth reliability.

THE BEAUMONT
The cabinet is built to last. End panels are three-quarters of an inch thick; look at the subtle touches that add so much to the quality of a fine piece of furniture. The new Modular 4 chassis with built-in dependability. Cabinet of hardwood solids and genuine walnut veneers finished in natural walnut.
The breakthrough that's revolutionized the future of color television.
The modular concept. Now Philips engineers have taken the guesswork out of servicing. It's color television. The idea was to eliminate the cagelike tube wiring and complicated circuitry of conventional color TV sets by condensing them into four independent snap-in modules. We call it Modular 4. Some advanced color TV you can buy.
The result: quality-controlled reliability every step of the way.
Because less can go wrong, the Modular 4 manages better to the rigours of commercial full-time viewing. Philips engineers have also added another refinement. The engineers can check it efficiently. And before it leaves our factory, the engineer who tested it signs his name on the highest fired engraving on the front. And we back it up. During the first year all parts and labour are absolutely free.
Incomparable color performance... now and for years to come.
Because of its design, a Modular 4 requires few repairs. But if a problem does occur, chances are you're one that can be solved right in your home. In less than an hour, a Philips technician merely snaps out the "guilty" module and snaps in a new one.

A Bash for UNICEF

Ernie Shipton, principal of Moira Secondary School, gets in the first clout with the sledge hammer as members of the school student council stage a Car Bash in aid of UNICEF. The bash got under way on the school parking lot Wednesday afternoon with the vengeful auto wreckers being charged 25 cents for each three clouts. The bash raised $31.00 and the car is a writeoff.

Pogey Collectors Irk Administrator

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward welfare administrator Nevada LaGroix this week reported to county council that certain welfare applicants should have been employed this summer instead of collecting unemployment insurance.

She observed it was "rather surprising and a bit annoying" to discover that several persons in the county could find no one to harvest field produce at a time when some persons now applying for welfare were not working.

Mrs. LaGroix said that in the last week four welfare applicants who drew unemployment insurance all summer have come to her office. They had come to live in the county last fall, as recipients of UIC benefits.

The administrator suggested these persons could have saved their unemployment benefits until the winter months by working as field laborers this summer.

She commented the welfare department should have a method for learning when men and women receiving unemployment insurance arrive in the county so they could be encouraged to take summer jobs.

The administrator said the Canada Manpower office is not required to send unemployed persons to a job that is not in their particular field.

Sophiasburg reeve, George Foster, who complained at council's September meeting because he could not hire tomato pickers, noted that Jack Frost had done the job.

Separate Board Approves Professional Development

St. Gregory's Parish Hall, Picton, was the locale Tuesday night for the October meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Separate School Board.

Policy of the school board this year is to hold alternate meetings at points outside Belleville. Last night's Picton meeting was the fourth such meeting, the others having been held at Trenton, Tweed and at Whitney.

At last night's meeting in Picton, board members approved a policy of early dismissal of schools on one day each month to allow time for a teachers' professional in-service program.

Also approved was a policy of extended school use for community programs in the north of the school district.

The case in point was to provide for after - school use for the day nursery at Bancroft for special community or private programs.

During the meeting, an outline was given of the work carried out during the past year under the winter works program.

Included in the work completed was an addition to the board office in Belleville, painting of most of the board's 18 schools, improvements to accoustics in the gymnasium of five schools and provision of new lights in the classrooms of two schools.

Gas Company Letter Puzzles Town Council

TRENTON (Staff) — A proposed increase in rates by Northern and Central Gas Corporation throughout many Ontario municipalities, has left Trenton council wondering exactly what the gas company's position is.

When a letter advising council of a Nov. 27 Ontario Energy Board Toronto hearing of the gas company's application for rate increases was read, several councillors felt further explanation was necessary.

Councillor Stan Ketcheson proposed Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott, as chairman of the Municipalities Association of Ontario be contacted to learn that association's stand on the proposed "revised rates and other charges charged for gas by the applicant," as stated in the letter from the energy board.

Councillor Peter Aziz felt, with more than 2,000 gas company customers in Trenton, an office and staff should be located here, especially if rates increase.

"Two thousand customers in any business is good representation," he noted, further stating he stands opposed to an increase unless an office is located here.

Council will seek further details regarding the upcoming hearing plus the exact amount involved if rates change.

These local municipalities notified of the hearing include: Trenton, Belleville, Cobourg, Napanee, and the townships of Cramahe, Murray, Sidney and Thurlow.

Brief Received At Queen's Park

PICTON (Staff) — A brief for the design and development of Prince Edward County has been received and acknowledged by John White, minister of industry and tourism.

County councillors were told Tuesday night by George Vincent, reeve of Hallowell and chairman of the economic development committee, that a copy of the brief will be forwarded by Mr. White to the business development branch of his ministry.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

THURSDAY, OCT. 19

Aries (March 21-April 19): A temporary overload is typical. Those around you mean well, but lack the means to carry their share of the work. Bitterness is wasteful.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Being sociable, making political or community amenities turns out interesting, perhaps experience over short periods.

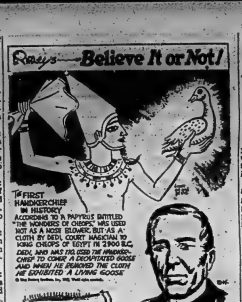
Gemini (May 21-June 20): It seems you have more than one set of chores to attend, some of them in conflict within your hourly program. Ration your attention.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Being fleeting has its merits, generally speaking, but watch for those who seek undue advantages from knowing all the details.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): The world and its material values intrude on your efforts to live your own life. Protect your loved ones from needless concern.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Almost any close relationship needs readjusting today. Build up tensions come into the open and have to be resolved.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Everybody is intent on his own affairs, and in being so preoccupied are not as receptive as you'd like to your plans.



Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Pursue your own pet hobbies and sports. The welfare of other people should concern you enough that you do something to improve matters.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Think about the gladness of those you care about. Ask good questions on their prospects, think of ways you can help them.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Proceed mainly on your own steam, with as little interruption or connection with others as circumstances permit.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Balancing between many points of view should be exploited toward divide-and-rule tactics. It's more a matter of listening.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Home and family come first despite strong claims for your time elsewhere. Set priorities and direct your attention to your needs.

To Your Good Health

Warts Virus-bred But Cause Puzzle

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 8-year-old daughter had three verucous burned off her feet three weeks ago. Now another is starting in a different area.

She does a lot of swimming and I figured that is where she got them, but I have heard of people can do clean up a pool for a year and I wonder how they got theirs.

Are they catching as I've always been led to believe? If so, a pool can a distributor of something kill the germs? Or are verrucas caused by a virus, which I've also been told?

Our doctor says there is nothing you can do except burn them out, and I wonder if other remedies have been found.—Mrs. E. R. G.

Verruca is a technical name for wart. Its as baffling under either name.

You are correct that they are caused by a virus of some sort, but nobody has been able to put his own exactly what virus it is, or how to prevent it from spreading. I don't know of any valid of remedies for a couple of years, and the sure cure is the one they happen to be using when the wart, in their own sweet time, decide to go away.

One simple procedure is to scrub the wart gently with a nail brush everyday. Rubbing with a shiny quarter has had good results—they say. Maybe the rubbing action helps re-establish immunity.

Castor oil or linseed oil applied to the wart is supposed to work. It never did for me, though. Ditto for slice of onion, potato or other edible.

These are more sophisticated methods, of course. Injection with vitamin A, and use of ultrasound have their advocates. Simply shaving the thickened tissue or burning off the wart with salicylic or trichloracetic acid are used by some physicians. Or various other old-fashioned methods.

Removal by electro-cautery, electric needle, is an accepted method. X-ray has been used in the past, but isn't recommended, today. No better than other methods, and it has a tendency to cause keratitis unless necessary.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that green potatoes are poisonous. Would it be all right to eat them after the green part has been pared away?—Mrs. C.H.

When part of a potato is green it can be poisonous, containing an atropine-like substance. Cut away the green part and, the rest of the potato is safe.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes Bell's Palsy? Is a Pap test mean? What should be done?—L.J.

It means everything was normal, and nothing needs to be done. Just have the routine test when it comes up next. In six to 12 months, on whatever schedule you follow.

HERE'S A NEW IDEA
We are going to start a number of new homes for spring possession. If you are thinking about a new home, let us include it in our inventory. You can select a lot and a model either one's or your's. We will then build it to your specifications. You can then sell your existing home at your leisure. If you are unable to sell, you aren't out anything as we can sell the new house to someone else. This will solve the old problem of — "How can I build a new house when I haven't sold my old one".

CONDOMINIUM IS THE ANSWER
For the active man who wants to confine his activities to the curling rink, the golf course or anywhere else that doesn't involve cutting grass, shovelling snow, painting, etc. This is all done for you.
We have units available for immediate possession. Units are located on Prince of Wales Drive. On yer! Down payments run from $711. to $886 down.

EAST OR WEST WE HAVE THE BEST selection of houses in the Quinte area. All in fully serviced subdivisions. All close to schools. We have 3 and 4 bedroom models. Let us show you our selection.

NDP Regime Is Assailed

VICTORIA (CP) — A non-confidence motion aimed at British Columbia's 33-day-old New Democratic Party government for its failure to introduce job-creating legislation was introduced Wednesday in the B.C. legislature.

James Chabot (SC—Columbia River) initiated the non-confidence action by moving an amendment to a motion accepting the throne speech read Tuesday by Lt.-Gov. John Nicholson.

Debate on the non-confidence motion was adjourned at the end of the day's sittings and is scheduled to resume today.

The government's 38 members are expected to defeat the amendment. Social Credit has 10 members in the house, Liberals four, and Progressive Conservatives two.

The four-hour afternoon Wednesday sitting saw all three opposition parties lash out at the government for: "Its intention of taking over B.C. Telephone Co.; its economic policies; its alleged failure to introduce job-creating legislation, and its failure to do enough for senior citizens.

Liberal Leader David Anderson, making his maiden speech in the B.C. house, accused Premier Dave Barrett of "carelessness and ignorance" in making premature statements about the nationalization of B.C. Telephone and other firms.

Mr. Anderson said Mr Barrett's "ill-conceived and ill-thought of" statements had created a "climate of uncertainty" in the province which could result in some of the top business minds of corporations going elsewhere.

Political Pressure Suggested

FREDERICTON (CP) — Defence lawyer Donald Gillis suggested Wednesday that political pressure by Liberal Senator Charles McElman of New Brunswick was behind the anti-combines "raids" at Irving newspapers that led to conspiracy charges being tried.

Combines investigator William Lindsay of Ottawa, who supervised the search for incriminating documents in Saint John, Fredericton and Moncton, N.B., denied he ever took any instructions from Senator McElman.

Mr. Justice Albany M. Robichaud of the New Brunswick Supreme Court commented: "They're cuter than that in Ottawa."

These exchanges followed the second day in the trial of K. C. Irving Ltd. and three publishing companies alleged to have created a daily newspaper monopoly in New Brunswick.

Combines officers who worked under Mr. Lindsay said they took their search and seize orders from David H. W. Henry, federal director of combines investigations and research.

However, Mr. Gillis saw significance in the fact that the first searches took place in 1969 after a McElman speech criticizing Irving newspaper operations. More searches were made three weeks after another McElman speech in March, 1971.

Papers involved in the subsequent monopoly charges are the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and Times-Globe, the Moncton Times and Transcript and the Fredericton Gleaner. They came under Irving control between 1944 and 1958.

The court heard a statement by industrialist K. C. Irving, former president of K. C. Irving Ltd., that the greatest threat to the press comes from governments and politicians.

This observation was part of additional testimony given by Mr. Irving in Bermuda and entered as evidence at the trial Wednesday. Mr. Irving was not present.

As an example of political interference he reported a threat by Michael Wardell, former publisher of The Gleaner, by Liberal Premier Louis J. Robichaud, now Canadian section chairman of the International Joint Commission.

Mr. Irving testified that Premier Robichaud in 1969 told Mr. Wardell "he'd tear his insides out and . . . ruin him financially too if he could."

Nickel Seen Possible Cancer-causing Agent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cancer may be caused by the element nickel, transmitted by such common items as cigarette smoking and five-cent coins, a scientist says.

"The feasability of continuing the use of nickel coins should be carefully considered," Dr. F. William Sunderman doctor of the Institute of Clinical Science at Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, said Tuesday.

A gaseous combination of nickel and carbon monoxide is found in burning cigarettes and in quantities equalling less than a pack of cigarettes a day has produced cancer in rats within a year, Dr. Sunderman said.

"Tobacco smoke provides a ready means for transporting an active form of nickel into the respiratory system," he told the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

Sunderman estimated that five per cent of all cases of cancers, a common blistering skin rash, are caused by contact with nickel and nickel coin pounds.

Perspiration can leach nickel out of such metal objects as costume jewelry, watches, eyeglass frames and hair clips, he said, adding that certain household detergents also contain the metal.

Youth Gets 15-minute Jail Term

WINNIPEG (CP) — A 19-year-old Winnipeg man Wednesday was sentenced to 15 minutes in jail when he pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to charges of fraud.

Court was told Roger Eustace Gingras was receiving $111 monthly from the provincial department of health and social development as a high-school retraining allowance but cashed three cheques after he had dropped out of school.

Court was told Gingras was replacing the money.

Noting that the department kept sending Gingras the cheques after he had quit school, Magistrate Mike Baryluk sentenced him to 15 minutes in jail.

"That means you go in and you go out," he said.

Hydro Strike Over

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro's 12,000 union employees began filing back to work across the province today, ending a 122-day strike and beginning the task of sorting out a backlog of work.

The strike ended Thursday when Hydro and Local 1000, Canadian Union of Public Employees, agreed to submit their unresolved contract issues to a three-man board of arbitration.

A Hydro spokesman said today that all electricians will be back to work at once. But there would be staggered returns in various work categories at thermal coal-fired stations and nuclear plants.

He said that all 12,000 who went on strike should be back to work by Tuesday afternoon. The 1,200 supervisors who had been shifted across the province to run the system during the walkout must be returned to their home posts.

Office workers at Ontario Hydro's eastern regional office in Belleville will not return to work until Monday.

Other personnel were back on the job at the usual starting times.

Reason for the delay in getting regional office personnel back to work is the time needed for recall of supervisors who have been spread throughout the region in field work during the 122-day strike, said the official.

Workers at area branch offices in Picton, Trenton and Frankford were back on the job as usual today.

The decision to submit the 13 major unresolved issues to arbitration came after both sides held a series of meetings which started Wednesday.

They had been at an impasse in negotiations since Oct. 10 when strikers voted 52 per cent in favor of rejecting the company wage proposal. A Hydro spokesman at the time said he could "see no immediate solution to the impasse."

William Vincze, president of Local 1,000, said Thursday night the decision to accept arbitration was taken reluctantly, but the union felt no negotiated solution was possible on key issues.

Now, That's Pass Coverage!

Moira Secondary School quarterback Glen Shaw believed that his chances for a pass completion were excellent when he lofted a pass towards a trio of Trojan pass receivers. Things became a little complicated, however, with the arrival of three Trenton defenders who joined the Moira receivers in a six-man aerial battle for the incoming pigskin. Somehow, Trenton's Eldon Garrett managed to maintain possession of the ball for an interception which halted the Moira scoring drive. Shaw had his revenge later as he kicked the winnig point in 14-13 Trojan victory. For story see Page 11.

Ballard Given Three Years In Kingston Penitentiary

TORONTO (CP) — Harold Edwin Ballard, president of Maple Leaf Gardens and a governor of the National Hockey League, was sentenced today to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

Ballard, 69, was sentenced to three years on each of two counts—one of theft and one of fraud—involving 47 individual charges.

The president of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey club will serve a total of three years since the sentences run concurrently.

In passing sentence, Judge Harry Deyman said that while he was impressed with the testimony of seven character witnesses who appeared on Ballard's behalf today, he also had to take into consideration the Crown's submission that Ballard had violated a position of trust.

Stud, As in Collar Bird, As in Nest

TORONTO (CP) — Liberals here are somewhat perturbed about certain supporting Prime Minister Trudeau that were designed by a former Indian army captain.

Anant Singh paid for 2,000 posters urging Asians in Canada to vote Liberal Oct. 30 because they "have reason to be grateful" for what Mr. Trudeau has done for them.

But the message winds up with the slogan in red letters ing: "A stud in hand is worth two under the bed."

Mr. Singh said he received a call Wednesday from Joseph Cruden, president of the Ontario Liberal Association, who told him the last line would likely be misunderstood.

Mr. Singh explained that in India "a cuffink is called a stud" and the slogan is similar to the expression "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Mr. Singh, who came here two years ago and is not eligible to cast a ballot, said he spent more than $200 on the printing and design of the poster which were "fully self-inspired."

Stanfield Unveils Tax Credit Plan

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield Thursday presented an economic package a Conservative government would offer to deal with unemployment, rising food prices and regional disparity.

In Toronto and Charlottetown, the Conservative leader said he would attempt to boost employment by encouraging Canadians to invest in Canadian-owned small businesses through an incentive tax credit.

Mr. Stanfield unveiled the program to crowds of 1,400 at an Empire Club meeting in Toronto and 1,000 in a local high school here.

The Conservative leader said that he would continue tax-deferral programs for large corporations, though he would aim at improving administration to curb abuses.

But relying on direct government subsidies "will inevitably make burns out of all of us, corporation or otherwise," he said.

Small business employed more people than large corporations but government programs had been aimed at big business.

He proposed a personal income-tax credit which would amount to 50 per cent of investments in small business to a maximum investment of $5,000 a year.

The maximum tax credit would be $2,500 whether $5,000 was invested or $100,000.

"The individual investor would have to pay tax on the amount credited to him after he had sold his small-business holding.

Turner Backs Small Business

CALGARY (CP) — Control of the country's fiscal policies by big government, labor and business must be altered to give small business a voice, Finance Minister John Turner said Thursday.

He told a news conference the government has helped small business by tax cuts and loans and could announce new benefits by next week.

He defended the Liberal government's policy of industrial incentives against the "sloganeering" of NDP Leader David Lewis with the "corporate welfare-bum" charge.

The NDP leader has challenged the country's basic tax structure. Mr. Turner said in Calgary. A reinstatement of the three per cent rebate on the income tax rate next year would not depress the economy because consumer demand is still high.

Earlier Mr. Turner said Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield's proposal to extend the three-per-cent reduction in personal income tax through 1973 and his other tax-cutting plans added up to $1.5 billion.

"He owes it to tell Canadians where he's going to get the money."

McGovern Frustrated

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — George McGovern, Democratic presidential nominee, appears increasingly frustrated at President Nixon's refusal to debate him or respond in detail to his allegations of corrup ion and political sabotage by the Nixon administration.

McGovern is apparently spoiling for a knock-down-drag-out fight with the president, but Nixon seems equally determined to avoid any confrontation with the Democratic leader.

Instead of tax relief to the middle-income bracket, the government's last budget gave an incentive to companies to improve Canada's competitive position in the world market, he said.

This was a long-range move that would take time to be felt but it was important because 22 cent of every dollar earned in Canada could be attributed to exports.

He derided Mr. Lewis's concern about a Mackenzie Valley pipeline bakrupting Canada, saying it reflected the NDP leader's pessimistic outlook on the country's economy.

Saigon Studies Partial Truce

French Envoy Dies

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Susini, the French diplomat injured during the U.S. bombing on Hanoi Oct. 11, died in a Paris hospital Thursday night. Susini, who suffered extensive severe burns, arrived in Paris on Tuesday.

Five Indochinese employees of the mission were killed in the raid, one was wounded and the mission headquarters was destroyed.

President Georges Pompidou called the bombing a "deplorable act," and the French government protested to Washington.

President Nixon sent a letter of regret to Pompidou.

Hanoi's diplomatic quarter in the centre of the city was hit during an American attack on a rail yard several miles to the northeast.

Susini, 59, was buried over 60 per cent of his body. His son is a physician and flew to Hanoi with a medical team, then brought his father back to Paris.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Temperatures dipped into the low 30s for the third consecutive night across southern Ontario. However, warmer air is slowly making its way from the Prairies to the Great Lakes, carrying with it a promise of some Indian Summer weather. Today will continue on the cool side but milder air will invade southern Ontario tonight. Temperatures will still dip to near freezing tonight but a rise to the 50s and 60s is expected on Saturday. The cold weather will remain over southern Ontario throughout Sunday with a return to cooler conditions over central and northern sections of the province.

Kissinger Sees Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — Henry Kissinger and President Nguyen Van Thieu conferred for nearly four hours today amid reports that a partial ceasefire was being discussed.

It was the third meeting in two days between President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser and the leader of the South Vietnamese government.

There was no immediate word on Kissinger's next move, but some sources indicated he would remain in Saigon at least through Saturday and most likely would see Thieu again.

Kissinger was accompanied to the meeting today by U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, Deputy Ambassador Charles Whitehouse and Gen. Creighton Abrams, the U.S. Army chief of staff.

South Vietnamese sources who reported that a ceasefire proposal was figuring in the talks said it probably called for only a partial truce as a "good will" gesture that could lead to further agreements.

It is possible to have any ceasefire that could be enforced by an international body," said one South Vietnamese official.

"It might mean an end to bombing and mining of the North and perhaps an exchange of prisoners, but it would be impossible to guarantee any kind of a ceasefire in the South where the fighting is going on."

The chief stumbling block to a ceasefire agreement has been Thieu's rejection of the Communist condition that he resign and give way to a three-faction coalition government including the Communists.

There has been widespread speculation that Kissinger is trying to persuade Thieu to step down. The South Vietnamese information ministry in a communique Thursday said the president had reserved his vow "never to accept" a coalition regime.

The U.S. state department disclosed Thursday night that a veteran of the Paris peace talks and of the U.S. embassy in Saigon, Philip Habib, arrived in Saigon on Wednesday to consult with Kissinger. New ambassador to South Korea, he was a member of the U.S. team in Paris from the start of the talks in 1968 until 1971.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Howard Frank Sampson of Lambeth, Ont., was charged today with non-capital murder in the death of Brenda Reesbeen, 13, also of Lambeth. Sampson, about 46, worked as a janitor at the Lambeth school the teen-ager attended. Brenda's body was found in the bush in the Dingman Creek conservation area Saturday.

Three Detained

TORONTO (CP) — Of the 121 passengers from Ecuador and Haiti taken off a Montreal-bound flight at Toronto International Airport Tuesday night, 118 were judged by immigration officials to be "bona fide visitors." Three were detained under bond because their status of visitors was suspected.

U.S. Sweeps Prizes

STOCKHOLM (AP) — United States scientists made a clean sweep today of the 1972 Nobel Prizes for physics and chemistry. Three Americans, Dr. Christian Anfinsen of the National Institute of Health of Bethesda, Md., and Drs. Stanford Moore and William Stein of Rockefeller University in New York won the 1972 chemistry prize. John Bardeen, Leon Cooper and John Robert Schrieffer won the prize for physics.

Jap Survivor Slain

TOKYO (Reuter) — A Philippine police patrol opened fire on two men believed to be Japanese army survivors of the Second World War, killing one of them, the Japanese foreign Ministry said today. A spokesman said the Japanese embassy in Manila reported the second man fled into mountains on the small island of Lubang after the shooting Thursday.

Ulsterman Says 1,000 Will Die

BELFAST (CP) — A warlike speech by a top Northern Ireland Protest commander predicting 1,000 more deaths by Christmas sent a wave of dismay through British and Irish political circles today and even shocked some of his hardline supporters.

William Craig, leader of the right-wing Protestant Vanguard Movement, told a meeting of right-wing Conservatives in London Thursday night that civil war was about to erupt in Ulster and forecast 1,000 more persons would be added to Northern Ireland's death toll of more than 600 in the next two months.

"We are going to war in Ulster," Craig said. He and his supporters are prepared to "fight to the death" to preserve Northern Ireland's British heritage.

"Our decisions will not be by ballots but by bullets.

"I can tell you without boasting that I can mobilize tomorrow 80,000 men who will not see any compromise in Ulster.

"We are set on a course of civil war so horrible that you and I can hardly understand it."

Bitter reaction to Craig's speech came from his former cabinet colleague, Roy Bradford, who also is a prominent member of Vanguard.

Follwell Favors Bayshore Park

Liberal candidate for Hastings Frank Follwell announced today he will press for inclusion of the Bay of Quinte area in the federal government's proposed Trent River National Park.

Follwell said he feels inclusion of the bay is logical and that federal funds could be put to good use in safeguarding the waterway and stimulating tourism.

He emphasizes that, by his plan to press for federal action, he is in no way advocating that residential strip development along the shore be removed, but he says the time has come that public access to the bay should be insured for future generations.

The candidate suggests that monies from the department of Indian and northern affairs (responsible for national parks) may be secured for the cleaning up of the waterway, if national park status can be secured. He also indicates he will try to secure funds for improving marina facilities and securing public rights-of-way to the Bay of Quinte.

The candidate said all indications point to a return to power of the present government, adding a member of parliament on the government side of the house would increase the voice of Hastings in Ottawa.

Follwell says his intentions to press for inclusion of bayshore Hastings in the federal park' scheme is the first of five proposals he will be making to the people of Hastings in the next few days.

Last night, speaking on a local radio program, he expressed personal confidence that the federal government will not reimpose the three per cent income tax surcharge.

The surcharge was removed by the Liberal government but the period of this removal was limited — due to terminate at the end of 1972. On January 1, 1973 the three per cent supplement to income tax would be added again, if efforts are not made to extend its removal period.

A formal government position on the surcharge's future has not been announced.

Addressing an audience in Calgary last night finance minister John Turner indicated he favors reimposition of the surtax.

Fire Levels New House

CONSECON (Staff) — Fire razed a new Consecon home to the ground early yesterday morning causing an estimated $40,000 to $50,000 damage.

The house, owned by Hugh Clark, was unoccupied when the blaze was alerted. Mr. Clark family had not yet moved to their newly built residence.

Two dark hunters sighted the blaze broke out at 4:15 a.m. and alerted Consecon fire fighters were alerted.

The loss will be covered partially by insurance.

the testimony of Harry Foster, an Oakville, Ont., advertising executive who said that he had known the guilty man for more than 40 years and admired him for his charity, courage and compassion.

When sentence was passed, Ballard was escorted from the courtroom immediately, pausing only to shake hands with his two sons.

His son, William, appointed a director of Maple Leaf Gardens Thursday, left the courtroom in tears and threatened photographers with an upraised fist as he left the building.

Filling the stairs are 18 Jewish children enrolled in Hebrew School in the Sons of Jacob Synagogue, and (centre) George Zegouras, chairman of the United Appeal campaign. The children went door to door in the Jewish community raising funds to add to the campaign. With them at top of stairs is their teacher and spiritual leader, Meyer H. Sharoni.

Planning Board Defectors Are Ordered Back In

It is now official—Brighton, Trenton, Brighton and Murray townships will not be allowed to withdraw from Quinte Planning Board.

The four municipalities that broke away from QPB this spring have now received letters from Charles MacNaugh 2 nd, minister of treasury, economics and intergovernmental affairs, ordering them to stay in.

The letters have been on hand in the municipalities for well over a week but there was no mention of the all important communication at Trenton town council Monday night when all letters are customarily read and released to the press.

MacNaughton tells them QPB "must stay together" because it is a "rather obvious community." Officials of the ministry have not hidden their feeling since the break-away that Quinte is a viable socio - economic unit.

The letter says that a split of QPB may have proved detrimental to the municipalities involved."

The minister says he can now advise Quinte that plans for a reorganization of local government east of Metropolitan Toronto will be announced in the next few weeks and will not directly affect this area, however, he hints that a reorganization of local governments in the QPB area may follow.

Quinte planning board chairman Jack Bush said today provincial proposals for revamping local government in Quinte may come as early as next year.

One question that remains unanswered is whether three of the maverick municipalities will be forced to pay their levies to QPB. Payments from Brighton and the two townships stopped at the end of April and their total bill is about $12,900.

Brighton township $3,276 and Murray township $4,000.

Trenton has paid all its bills for planning service and has been actively participating in regional planning matters for at least two months.

Rink Not Suited To Summer Use

Acting on the advice of the engineers who designed the facility, the Belleville Recreation Advisory Committee will not go to a summer ice program at the Dick Ellis Rink.

Instead, the committee will recommend to city council that any future rinks built in the city should be designed with the view to possible summer ice programs.

The problem of a summer ice program in a rink not planned for it is that the expenses can result in greater frost penetration into the ground with possible structural damage to the rink's floor and refrigeration piping.

However, an early September ice program as was approved for the west end rink is within the design specifications for the building, according to engineers. The original intention for the rink was for an ice season lasting from October 1 to April 1.

The possibility of a summer ice program at the Dick Ellis Rink was considered early this year as result of Alberta College offering a summer hockey school in conjunction with the Tam O'Shanter Club in Toronto.

The college sought use of the Belleville rink for the program conducted during the past summer but the request was tabled pending a report from engineers.

OSD Students Ready to Vote

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

New concerns and decisions have been an integral part of the education scene for a select band of students at the Ontario School for the Deaf in recent weeks.

Most may have been resolved yesterday when the candidates came calling.

Barbara Murray is 18, from Thunder Bay, and is concerned about the job situation.

David knew weeks ago who he would vote for. Barbara decided yesterday — after the three politicians seeking election in Hastings riding visited the school.

The votes to be gleaned are a handful — David and Barbara are among 30 students enumerated at the OSD for the first time ever — but the candidates responded as seriously to the event as the students.

With the assistance of a teacher using sign language, the candidates— Liberal Frank Followell, Progressive Conservative Jack Ellis and Elridge Bredbour, New Democratic Party — outlined party policies and answered questions.

For the students it was a peak in weeks of preparation leading up to Oct. 30 when they will cast their ballots at a nearby poll.

Teachers have taken time out to insert special periods into the daily education schedule to inform the new voters on parties, policies and political terminology. The aim has been to give them a background for reference when following the election in newspaper reports or campaign literature.

The student voters have taken a strong interest in the campaign, say teachers, avidly discussing the election among themselves and with instructors.

Come election day they'll be driven to the poll by school staff while a teacher will remain outside to help with any questions they may have.

The seriousness of having the franchise was emphasized to the students as the candidates were introduced outings at the school's auditorium yesterday.

"Listen carefully," cautioned a teacher, ". . . then decide which man you want to vote for."

And without recalling it they may have answered some questions the students never asked.

"Being deaf," said one teacher in the auditorium at the time, "they can see things others don't. Others hear a voice. They have to concentrate on the face to get right into your character."

Youth Vote Imponderable But They Are Interested

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Youth spells buoyancy — a trait not to be confused with hot air.

That's only part of the message youth itself is spelling out as the federal election campaign quietly peaks in the Quinte ridings.

Any expectations that the more first - time presence of teenage voters would automatically swell the campaign with fad and furor have been deflated.

Indications are the youth bloc — suddenly matured to national electoral responsibility with the franchise down to 18 years — is taking the process seriously.

More than that, it may be the start of a whole new political outlook.

Even the politicians agree: The secure days when party loyalty was part of the family heritage are waning with the newly - enfranchised teens.

"They're very probing — and more realistic," says George Cunningham, Liberal candidate in Prince Edward-Hastings as he emerges from a campaign quiz session at Bayside Secondary School.

Says Ian Reilly, Belleville-area view Democratic Party organizer: "We've got kids working for us whose families are Conservative or Liberal— and I'm sure the other political parties find the same thing is happening."

The new vote could be a crucial factor in the Quinte constituencies.

There are close to 8,000 new votes each in both Hastings and Prince Edward-Hastings this election, and a high enough percentage of that could swing an incumbency.

What preoccupies the politicians is how many — and for whom — the majority will be cast. Thus the high school auditorium — with candidates facing the student electorate — has become as routine a political rendezvous as the corner coffee party.

Only Oct. 30 will reveal how youth has decided. Meantime, they've been busy asking questions.

"Most certainly they believe certain things," says Cunningham. "But they'll ask you a question and they'll listen to your answer. As long as you don't talk all the way around it. They want a straightforward answer. They don't want a sermon."

Reilly agrees with the nonsense attitude.

"They're thinking. Because this is their first exposure they're looking at the issues and trying to decide whose doing what."

This demands different campaign techniques.

"The fact you give them a toy balloon or a ham sandwich or put a hat on them —the kind of stuff our generation used to do — isn't going to impress these people," warns the political organizer.

Such serious reasoning will produce voters more open to change, to switch parties if campaign promises and expectations are not filled, he says.

"Once, when we in the old guard made up our mind, it took a lot to shake or change us. These new voters aren't going to be like that."

The change also means a twilight to the times when a voter cast his ballot for one party the family supported— perhaps for generations. Such a pattern has been a tradition of politics for many Quinte voters in the past.

As one of the new voters, Frank Haines believes such a shift is evident this election. "A lot of them figure they want to vote for more than one choice instead of the family routine—the way their mothers and fathers voted. They want to look over the whole situation. They don't want to be led."

The student voter — who says he still has yet to make his ballot choice — is convinced his fellow newcomers to the electoral process are taking their politics more seriously than their elders. For one thing, older voters show established voting patterns.

"But the younger people now are tring to form their own ideas — to find the person they think is best for the job."

He believes interest is high among the new voters. A canvass at Moira surprised him with the response.

"I didn't think that many would be interested," he says.

Apples Still OK

FICTON (Staff) — Although heavy frosts this week hit the Quinte area, at least two major apple growers in Prince Edward reported little damage to their crops.

James Hughes, RR 4, Picton of Hughes Orchards said apples growing at his Wautoo farm were frozen lightly but pickers were able to start work at noon Wednesday.

Mrs. Keith Ostrander, also a Wautoona grower remarked that apples from on her trees but the crop was not harmed.

She said no damage is done if the apples are not touched when frozen.

Mr. Hughes agreed, "They can freeze a little and if you don't touch them it's all right."

Fruit and vegetable specialist Robert Cobbledick said the apple crop in Prince Edward basically was unharmed by this week's cold temperatures.

Apples can generally withstand freezing to approximately 26 or 21 degrees if the temperature falls below this mark, the fruit is spoiled.

Mr. Cobbledick said frost had out harmed the apple harvest, but a delay in picking forced by cold weather could lead to a loss in the yield in delicious and spice.

The McIntosh harvest, representing one-half the apple crop in Prince Edward is almost completed but a quantity of spice and delicious remains on the trees.

Youngsters Hurt

Two Belleville youngsters received injuries when struck by cars on city streets last night.

Kelly Sweet, 12, of 329 North Front St. was admitted to Belleville General Hospital for possible fractures after she was struck by a car driven by William Hodge, 22, of 24 Greer St. while she crossed a busy stretch of North Front Street near her home about 7:30 p.m.

Mark Ryan, 10, of 71 South Front St., escaped with bruises and scrapes when he was hit by a car driven by Allan Richardson, 30, of 116 Bridge St. W., about 8:55 p.m. he did not require medical attention following the mishap at the Church St. - Victoria Ave. intersection.

That's A Hole?

Standing 16 by 11 by 22 feet high, this $22,000 cement monolith is a manhole. The largest in the city, it will house the flow metering equipment responsible for monitoring the work load of the sanitary sewer lining the Moira River through the city. Once completed, it will be covered by 10 earth and a cosmetic stone case, leaving only the cover exposed to public view.

Social Needs

A poll by the Community Planning Association of Canada suggests that social issues are largely ignored in community planning.

As of now the CPAC has not elaborated on this theme. Reportedly, about 40 per cent of those polled simply replied "No" without further comment when asked whether social aspects were properly considered in community planning. The association, however, is planning to submit a brief to the federal government based on findings of the survey.

Where to begin in any such endeavor? Consider housing as a basic need. Construction is proceeding space here and it is becoming easier for most income groups to find accommodation. As for recreation, its availability here compares favorably with other centres of this size, both as to parks and beaches and sports facilities. At the same time we believe there are large numbers of young people who are not involved in any recreational activity, whose relaxation may consist simply of coffee and a cigarette.

Consider also the street hockey games — are there not facilities enough and involvement enough in hockey that the kids have to take to the streets?

There are the school programs in the evenings for adults and there was that survey recently of senior citizens' needs. So what is missing? It will be interesting to have the CPAC findings in this sphere. We might mention also that with increased shopping facilities in the city a great deal of time is spent by citizens in this activity.

Meanwhile we have the Quinte Planning Board's projection is for a population of about 70,500 in Belleville by the turn of the next century. In other words, double the present population. As the population grows the social needs naturally increase too. There is food here for a lot of thought.

Boast for Economy

Elections are a time when Governments attempt to put their best face forward and whatever may be thought of David Lewis' "corporate welfare bum" allegations remember that private enterprise and government did toward it are still the mainsprings of industrial and national progress in this country. Without this kind of initiative the economy would stagnate and unemployment would be even worse than it is today.

There have been two examples emanating from Ottawa of late. First there was Urban Affairs Minister, Ron Basford's announcement of a major railway relocation program designed to move rail lines from city centres. Along with this program, estimated to cost $10 million in the first year, the minister said the government intends to double contributions under the railway grade crossing fund to $40 million annually. Additional funds are also envisaged for construction of bridges and tunnels.

Then in recent days we have had word of a new phase of life for Canada's air-frame industry — an $80 million federal project for development of a short-take-off-and landing aircraft by de Havilland Aircraft of Canada.

The aircraft will be a four-winged, 48-passenger plane capable of operating from a 2,000-foot runway. Two prototypes are scheduled for completion by the spring of 1975, and Trade Minister Pepin estimates sales for the following five years at from 150 to 500 planes. . . .

The latter figure clearly makes allowance for a considerable spread so far as sales are concerned. Thus it will be up to de Havilland and the Government to boost sales as much as possible. If 500 or more are sold this will certainly be more satisfactory than a mere 150.

The project reportedly will provide about 1,500 jobs during the development period of 1973-75, and create about 3,000 when full-scale production begins.

These are projects that can be viewed with satisfaction, given the number of Canadians out of work. Still, it must be realized this is only a drop in the ocean. Canada needs many more projects to stimulate the economy and provide jobs. We have a long way to go yet.

Experiment Under Way

Rough Going For Government Proposals On Bankruptcy

By FARMER TISSINGTON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Some time ago this column drew attention to the high cost of going broke and declaring personal bankruptcy and the fact the government was experimenting with a new plan in three cities in an effort to make it cheaper and easier for people in work their way out of a financial mess. The column has brought an interesting response from Lloyd L. Young, a chartered accountant and a licensed trustee in bankruptcy from Guelph, Ont.

Mr. Young makes it clear he is far from enamoured over the proposals and describes them as "another example of people building in government. The experiment is being undertaken by the department of consumer and corporate affairs and a trustee to handle each estate will be provided by the government for a cost of only $50. The government claims that at present a bankrupt must raise several hundred dollars to meet the cost of engaging a private trustee.

But Mr. Young makes the point that these trustees' costs either come out of the assets of bankrupt estates or are paid to trustees by interested third parties to guarantee fees. The federal government receives a two-per-cent levy on all money paid out of such estates and this offsets the cost of administration on the entire system across Canada.

Until about 1967, the money paid to the government by private trustees exceeded the federal administrative expenses. It is only in the last few years, since the enlargement of the bankruptcy division, that a deficit level has been incurred.

"I would emphasize that the old system put the costs of administration where they belonged, either out of the pockets of bankrupts themselves, or their relatives, or as a minor levy against the dividends received by creditors," Mr. Young writes. "This to me appears reasonable since the creditors are the ones who were benefiting by the over-all supervision."

He contends the actual cost to the government of handling each bankrupt estate will be closer to $700 or $800 and the government will need to open new offices and employ a larger staff to operate the proposed new system. Under the present system, offices of private trustees are self-supporting and there is no cost to the government—the taxpayer—other than minor supervision.

"Under the new system it is going to become very easy for anyone to go into bankruptcy and the entire moral obligation implicit in credit granting will gradually deteriorate," Mr. Young argues.

He is also concerned that the department of consumer and corporate affairs seems to be able to expand its operations in this way without some budget approval from Parliament. Large amounts of money are being spent by the bankruptcy division and these expenditures are being approved without much knowledge or consent on the part of MP's.

If Mr. Young's points are valid, it looks like another move by the bureaucracy into an area that has been handled reasonably well in the past by private agencies and initiative.

Oil Is Political Pawn in Some Lands

By JOHN HARRISON
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Much is written these days about the approaching era of nuclear power when so-called "fossil fuels" like petroleum and coal will be replaced by "cleaner" and less-expensive sources, like nuclear energy.

The result of this is speculation. Oil is—and will continue to be for many years—the chief lubricant of our world, capitalist and communist.

But the control of it will largely be in the hands of neither capitalistic nor communistic countries who are greater users than producers, but of those politically-active, Third World oil states who know what power they wield.

In 1980 some of the major oil-producing nations formed OPEC, Organization of Oil Producing Countries. Initially, the big user-countries looked down their noses at OPEC. But no longer.

U.S. petroleum economists and State Department experts estimate that these Middle Eastern, Latin American and Asian countries with the vast political leverage their oil deposits give them, will be receiving about half a trillion dollars annually in oil revenues by 1990.

The same worrisid U.S. experts are quick to point out this sum is equivalent to one the present gross national product of the United States. The full membership of the OPEC after 12 years includes Saudi Arabia, Iran, Iraq Venezuela, Indonesia, Qatar, Abu Dhabi, Algeria, and Nigeria.

As political forces on their own, several of these countries, for example Indonesia, Venezuela and Nigeria, represent large Third World national societies with distinct political, social and economic views and are clashing with the industrialized states.

When they apply these to oil-export policy, chiefly through charging the royalty percentages more and more in favor of the state, the power they wield is obvious.

The major pressure and future sources of world oil are in the Middle East and in countries whose leadership is so volatile and charismatic that one shudders to assess the future power they could hold over the industrialized communities which are their major customers.

The middle East on an acre more than South East Asia, Africa or Latin America, has continued to be the potential political powder keg of post-war world, thanks largely to the Arab-Israeli hatreds. For most of the years since the Constitution of Israel in 1948, the United States and Britain, the largest consumers of petroleum products, have sided with Israel.

Libya with about 25 per cent of presently-estimated global oil reserves, is fanatically anti-Israel, anti-capitalistic, even though about 90 per cent of her revenues are from petroleum installations until recently operated by the oil giants.

Colonel Qaddafi, Libya's fundamentalist and emotional Moslem military president, squanders his funds on expensive Russian and French military hardware, financial assistance to the toughest guerrilla movements of our times, including the Palestinian Liberation Movement and Northern Ireland's killer provisional IRA.

The Shah of Iran is trying mightily to forestall social revolution in his feudal kingdom by spending fortunes on social programs, education and forced-draft industrialization.

One way or another oil not nuclear nor electrical power, remains the predominant source of industrial power for the West and of political power and immense potential for blackmail from Third World oil-bearing countries.

The initials OPEC and the hard-bargaining sheikhs, emirs, top officers and nationalist oilmen behind it, is a little-known organization the entire world must watch.

On Writing To The Editor

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The unwarranted criticism lodged against the Editor and Mr. William C. Hockley is most disconcerting. Admittedly, Mr. Hockley has the tenacity to express his views on controversial subjects, showing full well when he does so he is inviting public reaction.

On occasions I have disagreed with his views but said then and repeat, he performs an invaluable service when he raises provocative topics for public scrutiny and invites debate to find solutions.

My sincere hope is your newspaper will avoid the pitfall, because of this undeserved criticism, of limiting publication to those letters which are non-controversial in nature. Also, that Mr. Hockley will not suffer discouragement as a result of it. Should this happen your readers are the deserved losers.

PCs: Who Did Them Wrong?

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The matter of the rash of election warfare on the local level manifested by a reported removal of a large number of Conservative Jack Ellis signs, gives rise to speculation as to the party responsible, presuming that it was the act of some maliciously-motivated party member.

I think one can discard right off the bat any suggestion that the Liberal Party did it because of the sophistication of the electorate which certainly would not believe that the Liberal Party would be so stupid as to do this because of hostile public reaction to such obviously unfair play.

An electorate which was reared upon the politics of the Second World War will immediately assume it was a Conservative Party which took down its own signs to provoke the wrath of the public against the Liberals just as Hitler staged a phony invasion of East Germany from Poland by dressing a large number of criminals in Polish Army uniforms and shooting them just inside the German Border from Poland.

The art of dissimilation however has advanced greatly, throughout the Eisenhower and Nixon years of politics, and certainly I think one today would lend therefore to believe that the public would assume that in fact the signs were taken down by the Liberals in the belief that the public would assume that the Conservatives took them down in an attempt to discredit the Liberals.

I have however, after due consideration settled upon the view that the Conservatives in fact took them down, relying upon the superior intelligence of our Belleville electorate as having achieved the next level of political sophistication. In the belief that the public will feel that in fact the Liberals took them down, believing that the public would believe that the Conservatives took them down, believing that the public would believe that the Liberals took them down.

I call this the Nixon — Vietnam — triple twist.

How do you view the world?

Dunnville Gets New Wine Plant

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau

Ontario has a new winery.

Records are a bit vague, but so far as can be discovered in a quick check this is the first new winery licence to be granted in almost 30 years, except for one minor licence in 1961.

The Ontario winery interests have tried to obtain a licence for many years.

But all have been turned down, generally without any reason. Although it is known that there has been plenty of capacity in existing wineries.

Now suddenly a licence has been granted to Baron Wines Limited to build a new wine plant in Dunnville.

There perhaps, even probably, is nothing wrong with this.

Baron is to produce a fine apple wine. This can provide a market for apples.

Fine apple wine, so called, apparently has been going over very big in both Quebec and the U.S.

"So-called" because perhaps a "wine" is not the right word but here we have always known an apple product as "cider."

But in the perspective of our political history in the province there perhaps is room for cynicism, if not suspicion, in the timing of the announcement that died.

For wine at times has been an exceedingly hot Ontario political issue.

One noted case some years ago was when Andrew Peller of Hamilton tried to get authority to start a winery.

He was turned down (And ended up buying an existing company).

Then the Caponi interests of B.C. tried to get started in Ontario, without any luck.

In the light of the controversy over these and other incidents the government, Premier Robert Clement, the new minister of consumer and commercial relations and responsible for liquor administration, gave this new licence some thought.

Mr. Clement's announcement did say that one purpose was provided as an outlet for our grape-growing industry so eventually might this new winery provide a good market for apples. Also he noted that the new winery would be limited to non-grape wine production.

However there was in the release a lack of recognition of the importance of the new government policy that this involved.

"Follets" At PEI Theatre

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Our clipping service has forwarded a copy of your editorial of September 23rd entitled "The Arts Scene" in which you make mention of FEUX FOLLETS and suggest that the dance company may now be defunct.

May I hasten to assure you and your readers that FEUX FOLLETS is very much alive and well and living in Charlottetown as part of the Charlottetown Festival.

The Festival, which operates from Confederation Centre, acquired FEUX FOLLETS this past summer and presented a new production termed by Toronto Star critic Urje Kaarna "a roaring success."

The production delighted a series of sell-out audiences here in Charlottetown during the Festival season, and is currently on tour in Ontario. Unfortunately, we were unable to arrange a booking in Belleville, but the tour will wind up at the National Arts Centre in Ottawa on 26, 27 and 28.

It would be appreciated if some contact could be made with the Arts Council with a view to arranging a booking for us during some future tour. It is a superb production and I know your citizens' response would be favorable to it.

JACK McANDREW,
Producer.

Sex and The Single Astronaut

Montreal Star

Heaven forbid, but then one must acknowledge the fact that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration usually way the answer to what goes on these days in extra terrestrial affairs. If one is to believe with Norman Mailer, Woody Allen and other sages that the moon is the ultimate phallic symbol of our time, then it becomes appropriate for space complicate the precise verbal calculations of lengthy space flights.

NASA's medical men are convinced that the problems of normal heterosexual relations on voyages lasting a year or more would jeopardize the stability of an all-male crew. They are therefore considering the formation of male-female teams to avert the loneliness of the long-distance orbiter. This can produce its own problems, as students of the Star Trek TV series realize. But that is no reason why planetary travellers should be deprived of earthier pleasures in their journeys through the infinite.

Let's hope, though, that Russ Meyer doesn't hear about it. The moon, that solitary maiden, already has a Sea of Rains, Ocean of Storms and Lake of Dreams. It hardly needs a Valley of the Dolls.

Loyalist Meeting Was Inconclusive

Yet another in the series of all-candidate debates was held in Loyalist College Wednesday afternoon.

While all three federal hopefuls sat at one end of the school basketball court, a small audience of students and faculty sat at the other end.

During the warmup session, ing remarks, all three stuck to quiet issues, spending most of their time applauding their respective national leader.

Elridge Brethour, the federal NDP candidate could not be present for the debate and was replaced by Rick Williams of Loyalist College staff.

The listeners, more interested in tripping up the candidates than in pinpointing issues on policy, confined themselves to personal questions of opinion.

After all three candidates fielded the question of legalization of marijuana, one student called from the seats "if grass (marijuana) is so bad why is the Drug Research Council paying $75 a week for people to smoke it."

Liberal candidate Frank Folwell said he "knew nothing of it and would investigate."

Earlier Mr. Folwell had supported both policies and theories that marijuana was both illegal and possibly harmful and would lead perhaps to harder drugs.

Calls from about the auditorium were censurable.

A faculty member, moderating the exercise, after hearing about the pay for smoking exclaimed, "Gee, they didn't advertise around here," breaking the ice for further comment.

Jack Ellis, Progressive Conservative candidate for Hastings was grilled on marijuana being asked if he smoked anything; drank (coffee) or if he used aspirin.

After assuring the audience he didn't smoke marijuana, he answered no, no, no to inquiries of cigarettes and coffee.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm not a puritan," he said after answering.

In the closing minutes of the debate the question, the first of its kind, was asked, "what are the local issues?"

Mr. Folwell described the prime local issue as being the health and welfare of the youngsters in the county while Mr. Ellis said local issues could not be divorced from national issues.

Carrying the NDP flag in Mr. Brethour's absence, Mr. Williams agreed with both candidates.

Park Needs Co-operation

TRENTON (Staff) — Members of the Carrying Place Recreation Association have approached Murray Township Council for financial assistance in developing a 20-acre park site near the intersection of Highway 33 and Prince Edward County Road 64. Their land, given to them by a local residents in Ameliasburg Township.

Wednesday night, township council learned from clerk Ken Rose, that under government assistance programs, a total of 50 per cent of the cost of developing the park would be borne by the province. However, it would require $1per - township co-operation between Murray and Ameliasburg.

He reported that Ameliasburg has expressed willingness to extend $3,000 for the project.

The municipal act provides for grants to aid municipalities in ventures such as this, but stipulates that assistance be on a municipal level. This would require the recreation association to become a committee of council, under its direct supervision.

Councillor Stanley Down will confer with the recreation committee and report back to council.

Young People's Pumpkin Patch

Bearers were Wayne McGarvey, Barry McGarvey, Ron Rollins, Mike Aquafreddo, Bill Lucas and Gary Thibeault.

Mrs. Millard rested at the John R. Bush Funeral Home from Monday until Tuesday when she was taken to the Kingston funeral home.

Council Seeks LIP Grant

TRENTON (Staff) — Murray Township Council Wednesday night agreed to seek a $30,000 Local Initiatives Program (LIP) grant from the federal government for the 1972-73 season.

Under the LIP program, organization of private persons or municipalities can receive grants of up to $200,000 to create at least 15 man-months of work.

The workers must be registered with Canada Manpower or Welfare before they can be hired under this federal government make-work program.

Council will apply for the $30,000 grant to be used towards improvement of the environment. Last year, they hired between five and seven men, for a grant in excess of $10,00 0, to clear dead elm trees from the township.

They have in mind similar jobs, plus improvement of local parkland. The annual projects draw to a close on May 31.

A Popular Season for Weddings

MR. AND MRS. PAUL R. McDONALD

McDonald – Theuerkauf

College Hill United Church, Belleville was the setting on Saturday, October 7, when marriage vows were exchanged between Cheryl Joann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Theuerkauf and Paul Ronald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. McDonald, all of Belleville. Rev. R. Vessey officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Robert Leslie.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of brocaded satin with set-in bodice and rounded neckline. Her shoulder length scalloped veil was held in place by a cluster of rosettes, satin ribbon and lily-of-the valley. She carried a cascading bouquet of pumpkin tinted carnations.

Best man was James Boyd and ushers were Robert McIlvein, and Kelly Theuerkauf.

The bride's mother was attired in a rose colored rye silk A-line dress with beaded key-hole neckline with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige polyester knit dress featuring a stand up collar, long sleeves and A-line style complemented by brown accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Mr. John Foster, uncle of the bride was master of ceremonies. Dinner was served at College Hill United Church Hall and later a reception was held at the home of the brides parents on Ann Street. The guest book was circulated by Lisa and Robin McDonald, sisters of the bridegroom.

For the honeymoon trip, the bride donned a burgundy velvet dress with an embroidered bodice featuring short rounded neckline and a gathered empire waistline complemented by white accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 17 Woodward Avenue, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

Women's Institutes

QUEENSBORO W. I.

QUEENSBORO — Mrs. Carl Gordon was hostess for the October meeting of the Queensboro branch of the Women's Institute which was held in the W.I. hall on Wednesday evening, October 13. The president, Mrs. Roy Rollins opened the meeting with a poem on autumn and welcomed the 16 members and 4 guests present from Harts-Riggs.

Mrs. O'Rourke, public relations officer, was in charge of the program. Mrs. Arthur Holmes sang a song she had composed in honor of the Women's Institute's 75th wedding anniversary.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Barbar the district president was introduced by Mrs. O'Rourke. The guest speaker spoke on brunch institute work silute work and the proper way of displaying and flying the Canadian flag.

A lively sing-song followed led by Mrs. Allan Frank from Harts-Riggs. Miss Hazel Thompson told of someof her experiences on the trips she had taken to the east coast and Newfoundland recenaly.

The second guest speaker, Mr. Art Gough showed slides and told the group of interesting places he visited on the west coast in the summer. Both speakers were presented with a gift by Mrs. O'Rourke.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time was enjoyed by all.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY HITCHON

Hitchon – Cunningham

Rev. William Belch officiated at the October 7 candlelight wedding ceremony in Bethel Chapel of Janice Lee Cunningham and Terrance Gene Hitchon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Cunningham, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs Harry Hitchon Sr. of Belleville also. William Connor, as organist, provided traditional wedding music to the accompaniment of the soloist, Hugh Johnson of Ottawa.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father. She selected a full length white velvet bridal gown enhanced by a full cathedral train which was caught at the sides and back. Mother-of-pearl corded sequins trimmed the neck and wrist length bell sleeves of her semi - empire gown. A silk illusion cathedral length mantilla veil fell from the pill box headpiece which was accented with mother-of-pearls. The bride carried a cascade of yellow sweetheart roses interspersed with ivy and baby's breath.

Miss Annis Culloden, as the maid of honor was attired in an autumn gold polyester crepe gown styled identically to the bride's except with short sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white mums entwined with autumn gold dress material. A matching single bow adorned her hair. Kathy Laird, Miss Karen Kukor and Miss Mary Hitchon, sister of the bridegroom, wore similarly styled gowns in fall shades of burnt amber, olive green and bittersweet respectively. They carried matching bouquets also which were complemented by matching single bow headresses.

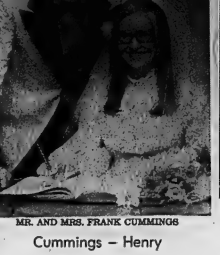
For the reception held at the Four Seasons Hotel, Sagonaska Room, the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a floor length French velvet gown in rusty green, featuring a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Matching accessories and a corsage of ivory cymbidium orchids completed her dress.



The bridegroom's mother was attired in a long pure silk dress in muted shades of blue-on-blue accented by an empire waist and long sleeves. Her gown was enhanced by a corsage of white cymbidium orchids with mauve thorax and matching accessories.

For the honeymoon to Niagara Falls and northern United States, the bride chose a white double-knit wool skirt and jacket ensemble which was highlighted by a sky-blue ruffled blouse and white accessories. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses touched with blue spray complemented her outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hitchon will reside at 9 Harvest Clrsc, Belleville.

Prior to her recent marriage, Mrs. Terry Hitchon (nee Janice Cunningham) was entertained at a Bethel Chapel congregation shower. A miscellaneous shower was given in the home of Kay Kokesh with Jo Campbell and Adrian Hiles co-hosting. A presentation was made by the bride's co-workers at the Hastings County Board of Education. A dinner party was held at the Four Seasons Hotel for the bride and hosted by Miss Annis Culloden.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK CUMMINGS

Cummings – Henry

Previous to her recent marriage, Mrs. Franklin Cummings (nee Sharon Henry) was honored at a miscellaneous shower held in the home of Mrs. Marsha Fordham, Belleville. A party and gift presentation was given at the home of Miss Sandy Joy, Belleville. Miss Pauline McCrory, of Belleville, held a miscellaneous shower. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Cummings gave a rehearsal party. Fellow employees of the Housekeeping Department, Belleville General Hospital, presented the bride with several gifts. The bridegroom was also presented with several gifts by fellow employees at Northern Electric.

Rev. Alexander McDowell performed the October 6 double-ring wedding ceremony in Eastminster United Church of Sharon Ann Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jamster Harold Henry, Belleville and Franklin David Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe James Cummings, Belleville. The organist, George Shaw, rendered traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line empire waisted bridal gown with Bishop sleeves and a full ruffle at the hem. A band of French lace trimmed her scalloped satin gown at the neck, along the empire waistline and also between the ruffle and skirt. Her satin and lace headpiece which was attached to a tiered elbow length veil matched the gown. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, daisies and white carnations intermingled with baby's breath.

Miss Mary Ellen Morrison, as maid of honor, was attired in an emerald green empire waisted gown. The deluxed satin skirt was accented by a full ruffle and the sleeves and Bishop sleeves were made of matching floral crepe. In her hair she wore a soft bow which matched her dress. The maid of honor carried a colorful bouquet of white and yellow daisies. baby's breath, and a yellow satin bow.

The bridegroom's mother wore a rose polyester crimp double knit dress in the princess style. Her dress was accented with brown accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip to points east, the bride donned a two-piece rust, green and white checked suit, with scarlet white collar and cuffs. Rust accessories and a corsage of butterscotch daisies and baby's breath completed her outfit.

Diamond Is Chosen; The Girl Is Thrilled

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Thank you for your encouragement about choosing a diamond. Despite my former feelings about diamonds I'm really thrilled now that we've chosen it, because we looked so good when we walked out of the store, after trying it on with matching wedding bands for husband and wife.

His wants to give it to me Christmas Eve and we plan to go to matrimonial bliss in early our engagement-off night.

Main reason for writing is to request leaflets about wedding, trousseau, what to do ahead; an enclosing two dollars and if it is too much you could always throw in a couple more that may help concerning life in general. — Happy

Dear Happy: I'm not sure what I said about diamonds, but this one seems to be your best friend! At least it is the token it should be, and has brought the whole relationship into focus for both of you. I'm delighted with your second paragraph. Obviously with you the engagement is a serious commitment.

For the extra money I'm sending extra leaflets called: What is Love?; Sex, Marriage and Birth Control: As long as You Both Shall Live; On Being Taken For Granted; and a Combined List of Available Leaflets; in case you see others you would like.

Dear Doris: Does the mother of the bride always wear white gloves? I am sure I read that some place but can't see the point. Why bother to get shoes dyed to match your dress and a hat to match and then wear white gloves?

Also regarding the uninvited guests: Should the usher offer his arm and escort them to their seats? — A Faithful Reader.

Dear Faithful: White gloves are popular but not essential. Pick the shade which will go with your dress — but avoiding black.

Neighbors who slip into the church to see the ceremony but are not wedding guests, seat themselves in the unreserved portion at the back of the church.

Dear Doris: I am 56 years old, born in Canada, find married a European 30 years ago. My husband has retired and been employed here for over 30 years. Will we be eligible for Old Age Pension? — Anxious To Know.

Dear Anxious To Know: To claim the Old Age Security pension: (1) You must have resided in Canada for 10 years just before the date on which your application is approved, or (2) you must have resided in Canada after reaching age 18 for a total of 20 years before the date on which your application is approved. At time of application you may then be living where you please.

If you continue to live in Canada until you are 65 (and can make your application), you will be eligible. If you were to move to another country before that, you could draw the pension, but your husband would need another 10 years here to qualify for a pension-in-absence.

(Leaflets mentioned by Doris are available to readers for 10 cents and a large eight-cent-stamped, self - addressed envelope, unless otherwise specified.)

WEDDINGS

GENEREAUX — DERUSHA

Rev. Dean Baker performed the recent wedding ceremony in St. Carthagh's Church Tweed, when Donna Marie Derusha exchanged vows with Brian Raymond Genereaux. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Derusha of Belleville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Genereaux of Tweed. Sister Shirley rendered organ music and accompanied soloist Ronald Gallant.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a floor length creation of satin and lace which featured a wedding band collar. Long tight fitted sleeves and an empire bodice of Chantilly Venia lace in a swirl pattern. A fine border of lace trimmed the cuffs. Her fingertip waistline which was accented by a lace border entwined with velvet ribbon and antique satin. A shoulder length bouffant veil of silk illusion trimmed the same as the gown fell from the Elizabethan designed headpiece with edging to match the gown. She also carried a bouquet of red roses with baby roses cascading down the front.

Miss Carol Derusha, as maid of honor, wore a floor length gown in mint green chiffon over taffeta. Her collar was trimmed with yellow daisies and white petals. Matching daisies adorned the wrists of her long sheer sleeves. The set designed mini green headpiece was designed in a saucer-shaped flower. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow daisies.

For the dinner held at the LOL Hall, Belleville, following the wedding, the bride's mother was attired in an ivory corded silk A-line dress. Silver and black accessories accented by a corsage of maize carnations sprayed with silver enhanced her dress.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, N.Y., and Niagara Falls, the bride donned a forest green crepe dress with a matching lace coat complemented by white accessories, and a corsage of peach roses with matching ribbon.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Genereaux will reside at 2793 Foster Ave., Belleville.

Ann Landers

An Embarrassing Dilemma

Dear Ann Landers: I am willing this during my break at work. I'm a waitress. Several girls are standing around telling me to be sure and send this because they want to know your answer. Here's the situation:

A large party comes in, 10 or 12 people. The check is a big one—drinks before dinner, and wine. A man whispers in my ear, "Give me the check." As I serve the coffee a second man pulls me aside and says, "I want the check." I tell him the other man asked first. He says, "Under no condition should you give the check to him. I want it."

What am I supposed to do? I'm in trouble either way.

"I've tried dropping the check in the middle of the table but then they both get mad at me. So whats the answer?—Tera Two Ways

Dear Tera: When a gentleman asks for the check at the beginning of the meal, that should settle it. Anyone who tries to grab it after that is cold.

"I'm sorry, but the check has already been paid for and I promised to respect that gentleman's wishes." If he argues, say, "Sorry but you'll have to take it up with the other gentleman."

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl returned from answering a call. I am tired, angry, and hurt all over. I feel I must write to you now because one of my buddies is in the hospital with his teeth knocked out and his nose and jaw broken. Why? Because some stupid motorist got impatient and ran over the fire hose that was lying across the street.

If this doesn't make sense to you, let me explain. The motorist and the hose knocked the hose out of his hand and it hit him in the face. If you still don't get it, imagine holding a limp garden hose and someone suddenly turning it on—and remember that the pressure of a fire hose is about 100 times more powerful than a garden hose. Now you know why my buddy is in the hospital.

Here are some rules for the average citizen to follow and I hope to God you will print them in your column:

1. You must follow a fire truck, stay at least 300 feet behind.

2. Never ask a fireman if you can help. The average person knows nothing about fire fighting. You can help best by staying out of the way.

3. Never run over a fire hose even if you are sure the water has been turned off.

Do not call the fire department to get rid of rats, weeds, trash and little confrontations that you can extinguish yourself. Such calls are as much a nuisance as false alarms.

When calling the fire department, keep calm and tell them what kind of fire it is so they'll know what to expect and whether to notify other firefighters.

Teach your small children how to behave at a fire. Always have the phone number handy by the telephone.

Wehn your place of business is being inspected and you are told to make certain changes, don't think they are trying to hassle you. Spend the money and make the changes. It could be a matter of life and death.

Thanks a million, Ann. You've done your good deed for today. —Weary and Bent

Dear Friend: And you've done yours. Thanks for writing and God bless you and your thousands of colleagues for risking your lives every day of the year for me and millions of other strangers.

Women's Institutes

Camilton - Corbyville W.I.

Mrs. Nelson Welsh, agriculture convener was in charge of the October meeting of Camilton - Corbyville W.I. at the W.I. hall. Members of four neighboring institutes were guests. All joined in singing a gay song on the agriculture theme, with Mrs. Earl Ross at the piano. Mrs. Welsh read a modern version of The Little Red Hen.

Mrs. Welsh introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Grant Ketcheson of Madoc. Mr. Ketcheson was a recipient of The Nuffield Scholarship, on the strength of his activities in W.I. club work as well as several agricultural activities. Only a Canadian receives this award each year. Mr. Ketcheson spent three and one half months in 1971, touring the British Isles. He lived with several families and observed the farm customs. He read slides he had taken showing the large barns, farm buildings and beautiful countryside. Mr. Ketcheson's commentary was enlightning and interesting with touches of humor. Mrs. Welsh presented Mr. Ketcheson with a token of thanks.

Mrs. K. Bowers, vice president, chaired the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Avey. The meeting opened in the usual manner with 14 members and 25 visitors present. Mrs. P. Meale gave a report of the district area meeting. There was discussion regarding the bus trip to Peterboro on Oct. 24. The members voted in favor of the two resolutions to be presented. Mrs. C. Eggleton informed the members that a host and certificate has been awarded by the ball team which was sponsored by the Camilton-Corbyville branch.

Mrs. J. Latchford, the hostess and several assistants served lunch, and a social time was enjoyed.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Do fans prefer close games?

As a rule, yes, give real sports buffs a close game nearly everytime; the lopsided scores are for those who like to walk over the opposition. Yet, some football fans (baseball ones, too) secretly hope that their team will either win by a big margin or lose by one. The close games are too full of "what might have been," so are overwrached sports fan who's afraid of being torn apart by tension enjoys the experience of a "safe" game.

Should two marriages be compared?

OF COURSE NOT. Aside from the idiocy of comparing two marriages by using material possessions as standards, there is also the trap that is halted with comparisons based on other values. For instance, a man will often defend his behavior or attitude by saying, "At least, I am home while Joe next door hangs out at a bar." A wife is not attracted to a husband that she is not married to some other man; she wants to be happy with her husband.

Can parents embarrass children?

YES, of course. Children are very sensitive and keenly aware of the weaknesses of older children. When parents provide the neighbors' children with "material" for snickers, their own youngsters can literally be embarrassed to tears. The consequences can be more long-lasting and damaging than when some children embarrass their parents. Children of older adults. At least the grownups' "personality" is established before their children can embarrass them.

Uganda Unlikely To Draw Censure Of Commonwealth

OTTAWA (CP) — While thousands of Ugandan Asian refugees continued to line up Thursday at the immigration desks of prospective new homelands, government spokesmen in Ottawa said there is little chance the East African government will be censured for its' actions by the 30 other Commonwealth countries.

A proposal to hold a conference on the situation in Uganda was rejected by several Commonwealth countries in August, shortly after President Idi Amin's original announcement of the expulsion. This was done on the grounds it would serve only to rock the boat, both in Uganda and in countries where policies concerning Asian residents already are unsteady.

One observer said, "Censure may make the censurers feel better but it isn't likely to help the situation on the ground."

In Kampala, Canadian officials continue to process a possible 6,000 Asians who have elected to come to Canada.

There already are 1,200 in Canada with 3,500 so far ready to come. Officials in all departments involved—health, defence, manpower and immigration and external affairs—say they are yet unable to say how many finally will enter Canada.

The government sent four more armed forces medical people Thursday to assist between 15 and 20 forces and health department doctors and technicians giving medical tests to prospective immigrants in Kampala.

Separatism Is Handy Weapon For Politicians Electioneering

While apparently not a live-wire issue in English Canada, where there is perhaps a tendency to believe that the problem died with the resolution of the terrorist kidnap episode of 1970, it has boiled its way into the front lines in Quebec.

In part, this is due to the anti-campaign being run by the separatist Parti Quebecois under Rene Levesque. The PQ contention is that voting federally is a waste of time for Quebec because its only real future lies outside the Canadian national fabric.

But the real opening shot was fired by Claude Wagner, former Liberal provincial minister, and Quebec campaign leader for the conservatives this time.

About midway in the campaign for the Oct. 30 election, Mr. Wagner went to Toronto and attacked the federalism of Prime Minister Trudeau.

The sequel, also in Toronto, was an attack on Mr. Wagner by Marc Lalonde, former top aide to Prime Minister Trudeau and himself a candidate in the election. He accused Mr. Wagner of courting the separatist vote and questioned his federalist credentials.

This turn brought an angry rebuttal from Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, who called Mr. Lalonde a Liberal hired gun and a personal hatchetman for the prime minister.

Mr. Trudeau uses the separatist issue in speeches outside Quebec, saying the Liberal party is the only one that doesn't want the separatist vote in Quebec. He also accuses the Conservatives of dragging their feet on bilingualism and not wanting to make real progress. Quebecers won't wait for another 100 years on this question because they have "other options," he says in an obvious reference to separation.

Mr. Wagner, in turn, says society was sick when separatist terrorists kidnapped and killed Pierre Laporte, Quebec labor minister, and that the sickness is apparent again now. He expresses doubt there will be a complete Canada left if Mr. Trudeau is re-elected for another term.

Mr. Wagner offered there some scope when he said in the Gaspe peninsula Oct. 4 he would be in solidarity with Quebec independence if a pro-separatist government was democratically elected in Quebec.

But Mr. Stanfield has said several times that Quebec alone has not the right to decide for secession. Confederation involves a contract (unwritten) of 11 which can't be dissolved by one party acting alone.

The leaders of all four major parties, including Mr. Stanfield, have made clear they would not recognize the election of a separatist party in Quebec by itself as sufficient mandate for secession.

All have spoken vaguely about the possibility of a referendum to ascertain the people's views more clearly. But there is no consensus on whether such a vote should take place only in Quebec or throughout Canada.

Mr. Caouette, for instance, holds it is a matter for Quebecers only to decide, while the clear import of Mr. Stanfield's statements is that any referendum should be a Canada-wide affair.

Mr. Trudeau came close to taking the same position when he said on a Montreal open-line radio program that his parliamentary secretary, Barnett Danson of Toronto, had "expressed his own opinion" when he stated earlier that any eventual referendum should be limited to Quebecers.

He pointedly declined, at a Quebec City news conference, to give an assurance that his government would never use force to prevent secession.

But he did say he would never accept Quebec independence. If it ever came about, he would go back to his native province and lead a return-to-the-fold federalist movement.

Solution

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — Real Caouette, Social Credit leader, said Thursday Canada's bilingual problems could be solved in five years if bota official languages are taught from the first year of schooling.

Fast Mail Service Is Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office soon will introduce a mail courier service that a postal official says will be more expensive than first-class mail but will be "very fast."

R. D. Byers, director of market development, revealed the proposal for the service at a postal users' conference here Thursday.

He told delegates the post office hopes to have the courier service working in about six months.

As envisaged, the plan would take the form of a messenger service, within a city and between cities, operating from and co-ordinated by the post office.

Commonwealth PMs To Meet in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commonwealth secretariat formally announced Thursday that Commonwealth prime ministers will meet in Ottawa next year.

The reservations of British entry into the European Economic Community are expected to form a major item on the agenda. The only firm discussion topic, however, is an exchange of views on technological of government.

Formal acceptance of a Canadian invitation to hold the 1973 meeting in Ottawa came during a closed meeting to top officials from Commonwealth countries.

No date has been fixed for the meeting, but it is expected to be held during the summer.

New Dodge. For the quieter life.
It's a noisy world.
So Dodge decided that no matter what size car you choose to drive, your ears deserve a break.
It's called "Chrysler Quiet Ride".
The combination of torsion-bar suspension, unitized construction, extra padding and other sound deadening materials that goes into the ride of Dodge Monaco and Polara has been installed in our '73 Coronets and Chargers.
Front and rear suspension systems are completely isolated from the body by huge rubber mounts.
Rubber Iso-clamps around rear springs reduce transmission of vibrations, road harshness, and axle noise. Up in the living room there are new silencing devices all over the place. New seals, new padding.
In fact from the hood pad to the trunk liner there is so much sound insulation, your life is bound to be a lot quieter.
DODGE BUILDS IN THE SOLID DIFFERENCE
If you really have a bug about quietness, Charger SE (that stands for Special Edition) has a standard package that in anybody's language could only be called 'super-quiet'.
We've built quietness into every Dodge.
But that's not all.
We've come up with a pretty impressive list of standard features too.
Consider the new Dodge Electronic Ignition System (except Colt).
There are no points or condenser to replace.
And front disc brakes (except Dart with 6 cylinder engines), unibody construction, new emission control systems and stronger, tougher front and rear bumpers that can really take it.
Innovative engineering plus extra care in the way we put a car together make us believe that your new Dodge is the best Dodge we've ever built.

Umpires Agree Consistency Most Important Aspect of Job

OAKLAND (AP) — Does the difference between a ball and a strike in the 1972 baseball World Series depend on whether an American or National League umpire is behind the plate?

Umpires working the series concede there might be a slight variance because of different techniques, but insist it is so slight the players should be able to adjust.

Umpire Jim Honochick of the American League put it this way:

"Basically we wear outside chest protectors and work directly over the catcher. The National League umpire wears the inside protector and works between the hitter and the catcher in the open hole. We stand up and they crouch. The difference is strictly human judgment."

"There aren't two pair of eyes that see the same pitch the same. We have 34 men and if you put six in a line to call a pitch, the judgment will vary a degree or more, maybe two to three inches. It's simply reaction."

Bob Honochick and Pelekoudas agreed that the National League umpire had a better look at low pitches because of the difference in position. They said the most important element was consistency in calling the same pitch the same way each time.

The strike zone, as defined by the Official Baseball Rules, "is that space over home plate which is between the batter's armpits and the top of his knees when he assumes his natural stance. The umpire shall determine the strike zone according to the batter's usual stance when he swings at a pitch."

Pinch-Hitters Give Oakland Big 3-1 Bulge

The dramatic base hit through a drawn-in infield capped a two-run rally in the last of the ninth inning as Oakland beat Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and took a solid 3-1 lead in the 1972 World Series.

"I prayed that the ball would go through," said Mangual after driving in Gene Tenace from third base with the winning run.

Three pinch-hitters came through for Williams in that remarkable ninth after the Oakland appeared to be finished.

Pedro Borbon, who had pitched in the eighth in relief of Cincinnati starter Don Gullett, was sitting on a 2-1 lead when Ike Athletic's came up in the last inning. The Reds' right-hander got the first out of the inning, a harmless grounder to

SPARKY ANDERSON

Tenace Homers Labelled

OAKLAND (AP) — "All three had Sparky's name on them," said usually mild-mannered Gene Tenace, displaying the meaning of his given first name—Fury.

Tenace, the Oakland Athletics' catcher whose home run and single helped the Athletics take a 3-1 lead over Cincinnati Reds in the 1972 World Series, ripped manager Sparky Anderson and his National League champion Reds.

"I don't feel that that clap over there has any respect for us," said Tenace, whose "all three" referred to the trio of home runs he has hit so far in the series.

After Tenace's two homers won the first game of the series in Cincinnati, Anderson was quoted as saying: "That kid hasn't done much before."

That stung Tenace, said the Tenace. "I know I-hit only five home runs during the season but that's not an indication of how I hit.

"I played against Sparky in the minors and hit pretty good. He upset me during that way."

"Well, your trotter just came in. Want to wait for the rally and driver?"

Mike Hegan.

When Borbon went in a 2-1 count on Norm Miller, Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson thought it was time for his best reliever, Clay Carroll.

"Pedro was getting careless," Anderson explained afterward.

"He was rushing his pitches and getting them up high. So I went to Carroll because Carroll's a sinker-ball pitcher."

Carroll threw one of his sinker balls to Tenace and the Oakland catcher hit it through the infield to let, just beyond the reach of shortstop Dave Concepcion for a single that sent pinch-runner Allen Lewis to second.

"He threw a good sinker to Tenace," said Anderson. "It was just a routine ground ball that got through."

Oakland fans, meanwhile, saw the possibilities of a comeback and began to rock the park with cheers.

Williams next called on Don Mincher to pinch-hit, telling the veteran first baseman: "Go up swinging." Mincher brought the crowd to its feet with a single to right field that scored Lewis with the tying run.

Oakland pennants sprouted in the stands and wriggled furiously as the noise from the crowd became ear-splitting.

"I've just been hanging around, cheering," said Mincher, a title-used player during the season who made his first appearance in this best-of-seven series a big one.

Sal with runners on first and cal with runners on first and third and one out. He jumped on Carroll's first offering—a fastball "right over the plate"—and hit it to the right side of the infield. Second baseman Joe Morgan stretched for it, but it was a couple of feet beyond his reach.

Tenace came in with the winning run to the wild cheers and an exploding scoreboard in center field. Fireworks went off as the Oakland catcher jumped on home plate and headed for a knot of happy team-mates running from the dugout.

"The man upstairs has been good to me in this Series," said Tenace, who got his first home run in the fifth inning to break a 20-inning Oakland scoring drought.

Tenace's third home run of the Series gave the Athletics a 1-0 lead off Cincinnati's Don Gullett. That small margin held until the Reds rallied for two runs in the eighth inning.

Concepcion singled off Oakland starter Ken Holtzman and went to second on Julian Javier's sacrifice. A bouncer by Pete Rose moved Concepcion to third and at this juncture, Williams brought in Vida Blue to pitch to Morgan.

Morgan walked on a 3-2 count, then Bobby Tolan ripped a line-drive double into the right field corner to give the National League champions a 2-1 lead over the American League title-winners.

That lit kept the hometown crowd subdued until the wild, ninth-inning finish. Rollie Fingers finished up and got his first World Series victory, protecting the Athletics with the type of airtight pitching that has muffled Cincinnati's tough hitters.

The Reds, who rode to the National League flag on speed and power, didn't hit a home run in the first four games—all decided by one run.

Their usually-lethal first three batters—Pete Rose, Morgan and Tolan—have collected only four base hits in 44 appearances. And the Reds' top sluggers, Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, haven't hit a home run or driven in a run between them.

"I'd have to say," said Anderson, "that the A's have as good a pitching staff as any team I've seen."

The A's tried to nail down the series with Jim ('Catfish') Hunter against Cincinnati's Jim McGlothlin today.

'You Take the High Road . . .'

Cesar Geronimo, right, of the Cincinnati Reds is safe at first in the fifth inning when A's first sacker Mike Epstein fielded Geronimo's ground ball and then threw wild past second baseman Dick Green, second from right, who was covering the base. The error allowed Denis Menke, who had gotten on with a walk, to advance to third. Umpire Frank Umont calls the play. (AP Wirephoto)

Carroll Changes from Hero to Goat

OAKLAND (AP) — Clay Carroll slumped sadly in his locker room chair, recalling the glories of a record year and then sadly apologizing for failing his team.

"I blew the lead," said the big right-handed relief pitcher who allowed Oakland two runs in the ninth inning of the A's 3-1 victory over Carroll's Cincinnati Reds Thursday night.

Carroll fashioned a National League-record 37 saves during the past season but the A's had did him with a string of four consecutive singles.

"I feel real bad," said Carroll, a slow-talking country boy from Clanton, Ala. "I just blew the lead, and with the way we were coming back like that, I think I feel worse than anybody. Blowing a while we were ahead," he mumbled in a small knot of writers.

"But I'm not going to hold my head down," Carroll said. "I'll be back out there tomorrow, you can't do anything about it."

Manager Sparky Anderson sat glumly in a small office, both shoes off, a beer in his hand.

He shook his head as if in disbelief of the rally that saw Oakland erase a one-run lead in the ninth inning against the Reds' most reliable pitcher.

"Well, we're just not hitting," Anderson said. "You get the first man out in the ninth, then you don't want to lose, let it's over now and you can't do anything about it."

Anderson admitted the obvious, that the Reds are in deep trouble with a 3-1 series deficit in the best-of-seven affair.

"We've lost three games by one run, and we've just scored one run."

Tony Perez, the big first baseman who had two hits but was picked off first in an abortive steal attempt in the ninth, said Cincinnati still could come back.

"We're not out of it yet," Perez said. "We just can't get the breaks. It wouldn't be the first time we won three games in a row. "We just need to get

Swinging Only Way In Pinch

OAKLAND (AP) — Don Mincher and Angel Mangual, who were both wondering whether they'd watch baseball's World Series from Oakland Athletics' dugout, weren't about to stand around and watch pitches when called on in the ninth inning Thursday night.

The two pinch-hitters ended the fourth Series game against Cincinnati Reds quickly. Mincher took one ball before drilling the game-tying single off reliever Clay Carroll. Mangual rapped Carroll's next pitch over right field to score Gene Tenace with the run that made the final score 3-2.

"When you don't get a chance to play, you see a good pitch and you have to hit it," Mangual explained.

Mincher, who described his role in the first three Series games by saying, "I've been hanging around cheering," was thinking the same way.

A's Manager Dick Williams recalled that Mincher, in his last at-bat for the team, had taken three straight called strikes in an American League playoff loss to Detroit last week.

"I just said to Don tonight, 'Go up swinging,'" Williams said.

Mincher said: "I honestly don't remember any conversation. But Dick should know me better than that. I don't do that (take strikes) very often."

Williams was 3-for-3 with his pinch hitters in the contest's ninth. Gonzalo Marquez opened the rally by singling as a batter for starting center fielder George Hendrick.

The clutch-hitting saved Williams from a barrage of second-guessing that would have hit him had the Reds' 2-1 lead stood up. A's starter Ken Holtzman was lifted in the eighth inning for Vida Blue, who promptly gave up a two-run double to Bobby Tolan.

Sabres Blank Canucks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

One thing standing in the way of Buffalo Sabres and a playoff berth in the National Hockey League the last two seasons has been a porous defence.

Last year they had big Gil Perreault and Rick Martin racking up goals and points and little Roger Crozier performing superbly under less than ideal conditions.

New coach Joe Crozier prescribed the right formula this year, stressing defence by manager Punch Imlach's manipulations—veteran Tim Horton and Jim Schoenfeld, six-foot-two and 200 pounds, in the junior draft.

To add a little versatility up front, Rene Robert, a two-way performer, has been a regular with Perreault and Martin and the Sabres have emerged as a serious playoff threat in only their third year.

Thursday night they clinched to the top of the East Division for the first time, thumping Vancouver Canucks 6-0 in the only scheduled game to stretch their unbeaten string to five games—four wins and a tie.

Tonight's only meeting has Philadelphia Flyers in Oakland against California Golden Seals. Perreault, Martin and Robert picked up 10 scoring points against Vancouver. Perreault scored after only 34 seconds to play unassisted then added three assists. He moved into the NHL scoring lead with 12 points.

Martin, last year's record-setting rookie with 44 goals and 94 points, had two goals and, Robert had a goal and three assists.

Imlach claimed in 1970, the Sabres first year, Buffalo would be the first expansion club to win the Stanley Cup. He held the dual title of coach-general manager until mid-way into last season when he suffered a heart attack.

Crozier came on to coach and during Buffalo's training camp expressed optimism that perhaps the Sabres were ready.

"It all depends on how our kids turn out and I'm not wishing them ill," Crozier said. "We have some real, good kids.

"They may not be quite ready, but we'll find this out.

In addition to Horton and Schoenfeld, new faces in the Buffalo lineup include defenceman Larry Carriere, a 6-foot-1 190-pounder from Montreal's Loyola College.

Crozier, meanwhile, like his long-time buddy Imlach, continues to stress hard work and discipline as the key to a successful team.

"Hockey players have to be told what to do and they have to be shown how to do it. . . They have more respect for a coach with a checkered past than for an easy-going guy who lets them get away with everything."

Tennis Giants Meet

VANCOUVER (CP) — The tennis heavyweights surface in the $50,000 international tennis tournament today when John Newcombe and Roy Emerson face each other in the singles quarter finals.

Newcombe plowed through Frank Froehling and Jeff Borowiak, both of the United States, to reach the quarter finals. Emerson got a bye into the second round when Nikki Pilic didn't show for the tournament and then beat Graham Stilwell of Great Britain to earn a shot at Newcombe.

In Thursday's play, Bob Lutz of the U.S. defeated South African Rob Maud 6-2, 6-0. Mark Cox of England played almost errorless tennis to beat Australia's Phil Dent 6-3, 6-4 and Newcombe had to play catch-up tennis to beat Jeff Borowiak of the U.S. 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

In the doubles quarter finals, Newcombe and Australian Fred Stolle beat Gerald Battrick of Great Britain and Ray Moore of the U.S. 7-5, 6-3, and Borowiak and Haroon Rahim of Pakistan defeated Australia Terry Addison and Bob Carmichael 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Knudson Shares Lead

NAPA, Calif. (CP-AP) — George Knudson, recognizable by the crew - pressed dark sunglasses despite dull, overcast skies, shared the lead with veteran Arnold Palmer going into today's second round of the $150,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

The Toronto pro carded a 33-37—66, five under par to take a one stroke lead with Palmer over Grier Jones, the other stroke back at 68 were Jim Wiechers, Gay Smith, Bobb Mitchell and Budd Allin.

While Knudson was at the head of the pack, another Toronto pro, Al Bowerman, was at the other end, after disappointing rounds of 41 and 37 for an 80 total. The low half of the field after today's 11 holes survive for championship rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Knudson didn't miss a fairway in his near perfect round, hit every green and didn't make a bogey. He had birdie putts of 25 and 40 feet, two others in the 10-to 12-foot range and sprigs from short left him two others from about five feet.

Now That's A Sore Loser!

Local fans in Palma de Mallorca didn't like it when Manuel Severiano, the Cleveland Indians' Cuban pitcher, beat Luis Tiant, a native of Palma de Mallorca, 5-0 in the Caribbean World Series.

Severiano, who was pitching for Caracas, Venezuela, was booed when he left the game in the seventh inning after giving up a single to Tiant.

Then, when Severiano returned to the dugout, he was greeted by a shower of beer cans and bottles.

Ottawa Nats Finally Put Scoring to Best Use

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Doug Michel's Ottawa Nationals could never be accused of being able to score. The trouble is, in their first three WHA Eastern Hockey Conference games, the opposition proved even more prolific.

The Nats finally put it together for coach Billy Harris Thursday night and thrashed visiting Chicago Cougars 6-2 in a relatively tame inter-division game.

It was the first win of the season for Ottawa against three earlier setbacks. They've scored 21 goals, co-leaders in the WHA department with New York Raiders.

Their average of 5.2 goals a game, however, was offset by a horrendous defensive mark in which they have allowed a league-leading 24 goals.

Elsewhere Thursday, Cleveland Crusaders stretched their win string to five with a 7-1 win over the Raiders. Houston Aeros dumped Minnesota Fighting Saints 5-1, Quebec Les Nordiques nudged New England Whalers 4-3 and Los Angeles Sharks handed Philadelphia Blazers their third straight loss, 4-2.

The Blazers move into Edmonton tonight against Alberta Oilers and Winnipeg Jets entertain Minnesota in the only two scheduled games.

Ron Clinkie, with two, Wayne Carleton, John Donnelly, Tom Martin and Guy Trottier tallied for Ottawa in front of only 1,520 in the 9,500-seat Civic Centre. Rosaire Paiement and Jim Provenzal scored for the Cougars, winless in four season opening games.

Shii Krake's goal at 8:05 of the second period in New York broke up a 1-1 tie set up by Clevelan's Bich Pumple and Norm Ferguson of New York.

Krake then nailed down the victory for goaltender Gerry Cheevers when he set Garry Jarrett in the clear for the insurance tally late in the game before 5,296 fans.

Gord Labossiere sent 3,476 Houston fans home satisfied with his first three-goal game of the season. Duke Harris scored the other two Aeros goals while Mike Antonovich broke Houston goalie Don McLeod's shutout in the second period to narrow the score to 5-1.

Renald Leclere's consecutive goals in the third period climaxed Les Nordiques' comefrom-behind win before 10,469 at Boston. His second goal with Whalers' Rick Jordan in the penalty box, was the winner.

Larry Pleau of the Whalers had Jean Guy Gendron of Quebec exchanged second period goals after a scoreless first period. Rick Ley and Tom Webster put New England up 2-1 before Bob Guindon launched the Nordiques' comeback at 6:12.

The Sharks opened a 3-0 lead after two periods on goals by Gerry Meehan, Bill Young and Veneruzo again in the fight-marred contest at Los Angeles Sports Arena before 4,013.

Blalock Bogeys Case

READING, Pa. (AP) — Pro golfer Jane Blalock of Portsmouth, N.H., says she stopped bogey Thursday as a Berks County jury ruled against her in a $40,000 damage suit she had lodged.

Miss Blalock claimed her entry into the tour was set back a year when she was struck in the face by a piece of flint flung by a rotary lawn mower as she passed on a farm near nearby Fleetwood, Pa., in July 1968.

She said the flint pulled up her eye so badly it impaired the strength even though she won the New England Amateur two weeks later.

The jury ruled, however, that she was nothing negligent in the way the Kenzil Schlegel family was operating the mower.

Chenier Deadly Bullet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Phil Chenier scored 24 points and Elvin Hayes added 23 to pace Baltimore Bullets to a 104-100 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings Thursday night.

The Bullets throttled the Kings' attack after the first quarter and overcame an 11-point deficit.

Sunday Stakes Richest

TORONTO (CP) — Droll Role and Duhasoff are the favorites for the $75,000-added Canadian International Championship Stakes at Woodbine race track Sunday.

If an expected field of 13 goes to the starting gate, the gross value will be $91,350, richest thoroughbred race in Canada. The high of $80,360 was set at the 1970 Queen's Plate.

Droll Role, a three-year-old with earnings of $319,900, will probably rule as the favorite under the European rules in force for weights in which three-year-olds carry 117 pounds.

Older horses carry 126 pounds, fillies and mares getting a three-pound weight allowance. Under North American regulations, three-year-olds would carry 121 pounds.

The Duke of Wellington will present the trophy to the winner of the one-mile five furlong test on grass.

Droll Role, third in his last start—is the richest of the foreign invaders which include Mezzanine, the first ever European challenger, expected to arrive here by plane from London today.

Equestrians In Running

HARRISBURG, Pa. (CP) — Although the United States equestrian team is still ahead in international equestrian jumping at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show, the Canadian team made a determined bid for points in Thursday night's fault and out class.

Calgary's 23-year-old Barbara Koch on Australia had the course in a sweep of the first three places in the event, amassing 36 points in 53.4 seconds.

Koch's fault and out competition, points are given instead of faults—two points for each fence jump and one point for each obstacle knocked down.

Second in the fault and out was Moffat Dunlap, 31, of Newtown, Mont., aboard Grand Nouvel with 24 points in 51.5 seconds.

Jane Hall-Holland, a 21-year-old student from London, Ont., also had 24 points but a slower time of 52.5 aboard RSVP for third place.

Two Leafs Out

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League said Thursday centreman Norm Ullman will be sidelined for a minimum of three weeks with torn knee ligaments and that winger Pierre Jarry may be a non-starter in this weekend's home-and-home series against Detroit Red Wings because of a pulled tendon in his leg. Both players were injured Wednesday night in a game against Pittsburgh Penguins, which the Leafs won 4-3.

Trojan Turnovers Not Fatal In Comeback Upset of Trenton

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Coughing up footballs usually proves to be a fatal disease for football teams — but not always.

Moira Senior Trojans coughed up the ball six times on fumbles and interceptions but were alive, kicking and very much elated at the finish of Thursday's 14 - 13 win over the powerful Trenton Tigers.

The Trojans further proved that turnovers can be overcome... by fumbling the ball away three times in the final quarter, but still over-hauling a 13-1 Trenton lead during that same space of time. It was undoubtedly the most exciting game of the Bay of Quinte COSSA season to date.

"It's incredible . . . great . . . that's the first time we've ever been able to come back like that," bemoaned second-year Moira coach Hugh Cook.

Quarterback Glen Shaw, whose right passing arm had been erratic throughout the afternoon, showed that there was nothing wrong with his right foot, kicking the convert that produced the Trojans' winning point.

Moira's winning drive was set up by, of all things, a Trenton fumble. Kevin Reddick recovered the Trenton miscue as the Trojans kicked off following Rutherford's first touchdown of the game. A 10-yard sweep by Rutherford and a three-yard plunge by Peter Stalkovich set up the tying major.

Rutherford was superb throughout the game, rolling up 227 yards rushing, scoring both Moira touchdowns and filling in at linebacker and safety in crucial defensive situations. The Trojan speedster came close to adding a third major score when he broke an 80-yard off-tackle run on the final play of the first half only to be pulled down on the one-yard line by Darryl Donnelly's saving tackle.

"Dave's a fine ball player, university material. He can run, catch and he's a real per cent student," praised the Moira Coach. While Rutherford's exploits were obvious to everyone, Cook reminded: "Don't overlook that number 31 (Peter Stalkovich). He was making the key block on those sweeps. It's a tough one and he was making it all afternoon." Stalkovich and Glen Kirby both gave fine performances in the Trojan's Wishbone-T offense.

The Tigers touchdowns that enabled them to build the 13-1 lead came from Donnelly's 30-yard sprint with a swing pass in the second quarter, and Peter Purcell's two-yard sweep. Steve Mitts kicked a Trenton convert, while Shaw accounted for Moira's lone point in the first half with a 30-yard single.

The Trenton coaching staff was somewhat displeased with their team's effort. "We played sloppy football in the first half," said head coach Tom Nigro) and entirely disenchanted with the work of the game's officials.

"I don't mind losing to a better football team, but I don't think that it was the team that beat us. The officiating was pretty bad. Moira had two men off-side on the kick-off play that they recovered our fumble," said Nigro.

"The refereeing wasn't bad. It was incompetent!", fumed assistant coach Vince Steiner. "I've got a simple question in physics to ask them. How does a 205-pound lineman stop himself in mid-air?" he asked in disputing a rough play call against the Tigers, when a Trenton lineman crashed into Shaw on a passing play.

Both teams had been sore by injuries, the Tigers missing eight players and Moira without the services of star lineman Jim Stathers who was injured in a motorcycle accident last week.

Thursday's epic battle sets the stage for a return engagement between the two teams who will meet again in the semi-finals. The Trojans clinched the Eastern Division crown by running their record to 5-0 while Trenton's 4-2 record is good enough for second place in the western section. Play-off dates have not yet been determined.

Footloose and Home Free

Moira Secondary School halfback Dave Rutherford displays some fancy footwork as he breaks loose for a long gainer in Thursday's Bay of Quinte COSSA senior game against Trenton. Rutherford totalled over 200 yards rushing on plays like this and scored both Moira touchdowns as the Trojans squeezed out a 14-13 win over Trenton. The Trojan halfback scored the game's tying touchdown with only three minutes left to play in the game, when he swept around the right end from three yards out, to even the score at 13-13.

Tigers Sew Up Division Title

TRENTON (Special) — It was a battle of "strength against strength" in Thursday's Bay of Quinte COSSA junior football game, and the Trenton Tigers proved to be just a little stronger.

The defending league champions completed their second successive undefeated system by nipping Moira Trojans 26-20. It gave Trenton a perfect 6-0 record for the season, while Moira is now 4-1.

The battle was primarily between Trenton's tough defensive unit and the Trojans high-powered attack. "I thought our defence played really well," said winning coach Lee Di-Cresse. "Moira had two touchdowns called back on penalties and we managed to contain them both times after that. I think they gave our offensive unit a lift to get rolling again in the fourth quarter."

Moira's Dave Snedden admitted that he was disappointed in his teams' effort," they wanted to win it but a little bit more than we did."

Fullback Mark Petrie's third touchdown of the game proved to be the winner when he scored on an eight - yard run early in the fourth quarter. Petrie also had a 60-yard touchdown gallop to his credit. John Wynne scored the other Trenton major.

Blaine Rittinger, Jim MacDonald, Ray Pattison and Stu Smith were defensive standouts for the Tigers. Rick North scored on runs of 70 and 40 yards for Moira, while Dan Gutoski added a 5-yard scoring run and Ralph Kollars a two-point conversion. Gutoski was a two-way star at middle guard and fullback for the losers.

Minado Sets Good Pace

PETERBOROUGH (Special) — Minado changed tracks, but not his winning ways, racing to a 2:10.4 victory at Kawartha Downs.

The win gives the brown, six - year - old gelding a record of three wins in four starts this season, with his previous victories coming at Kingston's Frontenac Downs. Minado is owned by Carolyn Jarrell and driven by Fred Jarrell.

Imperials Edged 3-2

Blake Kerr Imperials spread their scoring a little too thin Thursday night as they absorbed a 3-2 loss to Trenton in their second regular season game of the St. Lawrence - Quinte Minor Hockey League schedule.

Goalie Jeff Merrill gave an outstanding performance for the losers, missing his Trenton breakaways, but Mark McKay and Steve Kirby were the only Belleville players to provide scoring support. Mark Crawford added two assists for the Imperials who now sport a 1-1 record.

Tigers Tumbled

Peter Stalkovich of the Moira seniors jars the ball from Trenton fullback Ron Armstrong in Bay of Quinte COSSA football action Thursday. Stalkovich was a two - way star for the Trojans, who had to overcome some fumbles of their own to squeeze out a 14-13 win over Trenton. The two teams will meet next week in the semi - final playoff series.

Reid's Remain Undefeated

Reid's Dairy remained the only unbeaten team in the Quinte Hockey League by tripping the Teachers 3-1 Thursday night. In the other game played last night, old rivals Belvedere Hotel and Central Tool battled to a 6-6 draw.

Reid's tallied three times in the final three minutes to erase a 1-0 Teachers' lead that had held up since 17.20 of the first period when Al Mott converted passes from Paul Paddon and Bruce Rackon.

Don Tompkins, Ron Pointer and Reid, Mallory scored for Reids, who drew nine of the game's 18 penalties.

A third period hat trick by Steve Moore helped Central to their 6-6 deadlock with last score. For Belvedere it was Frank Pinder with two goals and singles by John "Shaker" Baker, Elmer Cain, Macklin and Gerry Jones. The Taxidermen were assessed seven of the game's 11 penalties.

OMB Chief Would Cut Board Power

TORONTO (CP) — J. A. Kennedy, who retires Oct. 31 as chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board, suggested Thursday that municipalities could be given back certain powers that now rest with the board.

Mr. Kennedy told a legislature committee studying the board's operations that he does "not believe that in this day of enlightenment and increased sophistication it is necessary to bend over every municipal council like a headmaster correcting their homework."

He suggested that the board's approval should not be necessary for municipal zoning bylaws when there are no objections.

This would mean that only those 3 per cent of bylaws passed by councils would require OMB approval, he said.

This also would cut the board's paperwork by 75 per cent.

Mr. Kennedy also suggested that municipalities and school boards could delete the board's approval for capital budgets at the beginning of the year.

The local council and school board then could spend as it wished as long as the quota was not surpassed, he said. Only if there is an objection to a specific project would the matter come before the board.

With respect to capital budgets, Mr. Kennedy said the board's sole jurisdiction should be in considering whether the budget is within the financial competence of the municipality and whether the rates charged will cause a undue burden on those obliged to pay.

Foreign Ownership Cuts Jobs -- Waffle

TORONTO (CP) — Foreign ownership creates an economic structure in Canada that destroys rather than creates jobs, Waffle spokesman Mel Watkins said Thursday.

Mr. Watkins, founder of the nationalist Waffle movement, told students at York University that "none of the political parties in the current federal election campaign is prepared to "make this point and risk having to present a real alternative of a Canadian economy owned and controlled by the Canadian people themselves."

Urban Problem

EDMONTON (CP) — Urbanization is leading to political imbalances and could cause Canada to become a fragmented nation, Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island said Thursday.

Mr. Watkins was speaking for the Ontario Waffle Movement for an Independent Socialist Canada which has been conducting a separate campaign to raise issues it says are not being dealt with by Canada's political parties.

The Wafflers are holding what they describe as a major conference here Sunday on class struggle and layoffs.

"A study by the Waffle using daily press reports shows that in the 15-month period from July, 1971, to September, 1972, there were 161 per cent foreign-controlled, were affected by shutdowns and indefinite layoffs. In this period, 18,872 workers lost their jobs.

Food Poisoning Common in Land

OTTAWA (CP) — Between 90,000 and 360,000 Canadians each year probably suffer some form of food poisoning, Dr. A. S. Morrison, assistant deputy minister in charge of the federal government's health protection branch, said Thursday.

Although standards of food and water quality have improved vastly, health officials still need to be concerned about the problems of food-borne infections, he told almost 400 delegates at the opening of a two-day seminar on the subject.

"We've come a long way since the times when cholera killed more than 1,800 persons in the Kingston area ... 135 years ago," he said, "but there is much to do."

Poisoning seldom occurs in foods from the big processing plants, which must meet quality control standards set by the government, he said.

The most common instances of food poisonings usually were the result of careless food handling or poor catering practices, such as lack of refrigeration of salads prepared for a large picnic.

Bilingual Target Date Stays

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is holding to its 1973 target date for a bilingual public service and Treasury Board President C. M. Drury says a study suggesting this is unrealistic was based on out-of-date information.

Mr. Drury jumped into the sensitive issue Thursday after the Montreal newspaper La Presse published internal-use-only studies which appeared to show serious doubts on the effectiveness of the government's program to create a "functional bilingual" public service by 1973.

The studies refer to the fact that about 1,200 public servants had completed language-training courses, but this related to 1970, he said.

... By the end of August, 1972, the public service commission had certified close to 4,000 of these having taken language training in meeting the bilingual requirements of their occupational category. It is anticipated that this figure will rise to more than 5,000 by August, 1973. This increase will accelerate as the language training program bears fruit."

Mafia Foiled in Nightclub Invasion

OTTAWA (CP) — The immigration department said Thursday an attempt by a U.S. crime syndicate to take over night clubs in Vancouver, and eventually expand to Calgary and Edmonton, has been thwarted.

A spokesman said the move has failed after the British Columbia Liquor Commission cancelled the liquor licence of a night club leased by the syndicate and the immigration department made it clear it would do everything possible to keep top "front men" of the Seattle-based group from obtaining landed immigrant status.

The spokesman said the actual head of the syndicate is a night club owner with a string of convictions for such offences as blackmail, contributing to juvenile delinquency and transporting gambling equipment across state lines.

He said the man never visited Canada himself, but sent others to Vancouver in 1970 where they incorporated a holding company and leased a night club for a five-year period. Negotiations were also started to buy a second club.

Vancouver police, the RCMP and immigration officials were alerted by U.S. authorities. They placed the group under surveillance and began investigating their backgrounds, he said.

By late 1971, the department had learned that the group planned to buy many of the "known clubs and cabarets" in Vancouver and eventually control the prostitution and drug trades from these locations.

Both Vancouver police and immigration officials now are satisfied the syndicate has given up efforts, for the time being, to move into Western Canada, he said.

Stanfield States Platform

What do our party leaders really stand for in the election? Behind the up-and-down fever chart of their wisecracks campaigning, basic issues are clouded.

INTERVIEW WITH MR. STANFIELD

HARBRON STANFIELD

Q: Mr. Stanfield, one of the main thrusts of your campaign is that the present government has been its economic policy. If you were Prime Minister, what is its speculative, said Dr. Arthur Smith, Deputy Minister of Finance, how could you bring unemployment down to about one or two per cent, while retaining the present international system, interest rates, exchange rates, and so on?

A: First of all I wouldn't regard it as realistic to try to get unemployment down to one or two per cent. I would ask Dr. Gottschalk or Gerwin suggested that we go for a figure a few percents from about 6 1/2 percent level of growth. Then we can take a look at how much below four percent we can get it. This would depend upon what success we had in fighting regional disparity, and dealing with the large pockets of unemployment that exist in the country.

My views with regard to unemployment are realistic. I would like to emphasize I do not subject to the emphasis placed in 1969 upon the method of fighting inflation. I do not believe, therefore, that I should be fought. But I do not think we can fight inflation by creating unemployment.

I'd say we have to drive poverty today towards creating job opportunities, when you have about half a million unemployed at work in the month of August and three hundred thousand Canadians under the age of 25 out of work. I recommend a 6618 keep with the heavy personal income taxation that the present government intends to bring into effect the first of January.

I would recommend a further reduction beyond that.

We cannot operate the economy beyond its optimal level, and food prices, for example, and the trend, increases in the cost of living generate an inflationary psychology spreading through the economy.

Then the answer, as far as I am concerned, is the imposition of temporary price controls.

Q: Relative to this, Mr. Stanfield, is the future economic relationship with the United States. Let me ask you the question in two terms. The American balance of payments is now in serious deficit and this has a negative effect on us in terms of what President Nixon did last summer.

The other side is the Foreign Ownership Take-over Bill which died in Parliament. I would like to ask how you would deal with this if, by the time you became Prime Minister, you had proof that DISC (Domestic International Sales Corporation) was seriously affecting secondary industry in this country.

A: These questions aren't really all that closely related. With regard to DISC I believe that the tax benefits have to be competitive. The Federal Government has got to look for methods that accomplish what they obtained by the DISC program are there in a position to compete. I don't see how the Americans can object to that.

With regard to the take-over bill, I would like to review whether the reviewing should be done through the Senate of the Government. Whereas that bill emphasized the responsibility of a board up, we are concerned about both sides of that question.

We also have board restrictions about the level of the competition. What size investment should be exempted?

I put it very bluntly, I go along with that kind of opposition of imposition of takeovers up to certain figures at least. But I would have to examine the Canadian ownership in the economy.

We was thinking of the possibility of getting a better 1% in connection with take-over that still take place. But I want to supplement any policy such as take-over legislation with a positive program to encourage Canadian participation in Canadian ownership in the economy. Some regulatory measures, for example, on the proportion of directors that would have to be Canadian citizens.

Q: You have said some pretty sharp things in the past what happens to Mr. Benson in his new job (Chairman, Canadian Transportation Commission), if the Conservatives become the next government. Both political and economic commentators lay a lot of blame for the existence of the economic policy — small "c" conservatives that is, of the Trudeau government, to such people as the Governor of the Bank of Canada, Mr. Bouchard, Mr. Reisman (Deputy Finance Minister) and there are probably five or six Liberal senior men who have been on the Ottawa scene now for anywhere from 20 to 30 years. Would you remove individuals of this kind from office with just cause, the first

By JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, OCT. 20

Aries (March 21-April 19): Yesterday's friends and helpers linger to confuse today's effects. Distraction is dangerous when you handle tools—mechanical, verbal.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Investigation; c o m e s alive—keep notes for later reference as you proceed with routines. Strange ones are not to be trusted.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Where it may seem you are getting your point across, be sincere; it may seem that you are succeeding people you need to please.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You have a chance to be helpful by making introductions. Personal affairs get in the way of formal duties despite all efforts.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Letting well enough alone is difficult today, so is just staying put where you have the best chance of creative expression.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Because of your precise planning you prevail where others bog. Most people have contrary opinions. You know what is believe.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Appraisal method—how to spend funds is probable. Your pride goes in your pocket as you settle for long-term economies.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Details can be misleading. Set aside a percentage of any income for savings. Responding to emotional provocation is an error.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Conflicts are rampant. You have a choice yourself, be you what you say or let them altogether.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Discomfort breeds hidden difficulties. Social drought turns out merry experience than anyone had thought. Pause for reflection.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

SPECIAL WEEKEND OFFER

At SHAWANO we offer you the attractive Mallard cottage on a wooded, lakefront lot for only $8,995.

Where else but at Shawano can you get a quality deal such as this?

Our Mallard is a compact, practical cottage. The floor plan has three bedrooms, ample kitchen area and a big living room with two picture windows.

The 101 by 203 ft. lot nestles in a small sheltered bay, and has a mix of hardwood and evergreen trees. It is located on Lost Lake which is restricted to non-power boats. Nice and peaceful.

The price is only $8,995 for lot and cottage.

Shawano is a beautiful, 1,200-acre wilderness vacationland in the fabled Highlands of Haliburton, with first-class, year-round access roads to every site.

This four-season paradise has four lovely lakes for swimming, fishing, boating — and hundreds of acres of unspoiled forest. A Trading Post and Marina sell groceries and gas.

Shawano is only 25 scenic miles north of Madoc on Highway 62. Come soon, and save hundreds of dollars before 1973 price increases become effective.

Antibiotics Fed to Animals May Be Harmful to Humans

OTTAWA (CP) — Antibiotics in livestock feeds do not do much to promote growth of healthy animals and they might have dangerous health consequences for both humans and animals, an Ontario veterinarian said Thursday.

Dr. D. A. Barnum, professor of animal bacteriology at Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, said it is necessary to evaluate the use of antibiotics in feeds and "eliminate unnecessary use."

When antibiotics are used in animal feeds, bacteria become resistant and no longer will be controlled by those antibiotics, he said. This creates a difficulty in providing adequate treatment either for man or animals when the bacteria are resistant.

The extent of the hazard to man is not known," he told about 80 delegates to a health department symposium on food-borne infections.

"But we now are in an era of reflection and we must evaluate the use of antibiotics based on recent knowledge about drug resistant bacteria."

Dr. Barnum did not have figures for Canada, but he said that in the United States about 70 per cent of the meat or meat products comes from animals who have had feeds with the added antibiotics.

In an interview later, he said that as a veterinarian, he did not think antibiotics were necessary as growth stimulants."

He said studies showed that where the animals were healthy, had good nutrient feeds and were kept in well-managed, clean environments, there were no differences in weight gains between those given antibiotic and those non-antibiotic feed.

Other studies have shown that animals did have additional weight gains when fed antibiotic diets.

"As a producer, even a one-per-cent weight gain would convince me it was necessary to give them (antibiotic feeds)."

But he stressed that finding about drug resistance have to be considered and that a time for re-evaluation is at hand.

"I would like to be really sure that these agents have no side effects on health."

Bail Cancelled

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — County Court Judge Bruce J. S. M c D o n a l d cancelled bail Thursday for four of five persons on trial in connection with a $1.2-million bank robbery here last December.

Mr. Macdonald told the jury he felt it was his duty to ensure that none of the accused disappeared in the manner of a sixth man charged in the robbery who has been missing for three weeks.

The failure of William Forgie, 40, of Montreal, to appear for trial caused several delays this month.

Attractive

TORONTO (CP) — Irving Rosen, chairman of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, said Thursday that the Progressive Conservatives' proposal of tax credits for Canadians who invest in small business is "attractive" and "very interesting."

"The Canadian investment tax credit proposed by Mr. Stanfield will provide positive financial assistance to new venture formation and existing small businesses in Canada."

He said the proposal could help hundreds of new labor-intensive ventures get off the ground almost overnight.

Plan Parley

DETROIT (AP) — Government, shipping and union officials from the United States and Canada will attend a two-day conference here next month to consider progress and prospects to lengthen the shipping season on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway.

Asks Extensions

OTTAWA (CP) — W. T. McGrath, executive director of the Canadian Criminology and Corrections Association, has called for a one-year extension of the five-year suspension of most capital punishment.

He told a public meeting Thursday that the "death penalty belongs in the past" but Canadians are not well enough informed to reach a decision whether to abolish it.

Forms Simple

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Free Press says that new personal income tax forms, to be introduced for 1973 but not yet released to tax offices or the public, should not be any more complicated for the majority of Canadians than the old forms.

Probe Asked

QUEBEC (CP) — The Unite-Quebec party Thursday called for a full judicial inquiry into ballot irregularities that led to an annulment of the Oct. 11 byelection in Gatineau riding.

"We have serious doubts and ideas about possible gross manipulation of ballots" Remi Paul, Unite-Quebec member for Maskinonge, said in a statement.

A new byelection has been called for Nov. 15.

Find Fakes

OTTAWA (CP) — A new system for marking money and documents that will permit quick detection of counterfeit attempts has been developed by scientists at the National Research Council.

It calls for the application of a special optical infra-film coating to a part of the document. This coating will change color as it is moved.

Trudeau Invites Kierans To Work in Liberal Party

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau invited former communications minister Eric Kierans Thursday to continue working within the Liberal party for the goals in which he believes.

The invitation was extended when the prime minister replied to a letter in which Mr. Kierans disclosed he would vote for the New Democratic Party Oct. 30 because NDP economic policies were closer to his own views than those of the government.

A constituent in the prime minister's Montreal riding of Mount Royal, Mr. Kierans said he would remain a member of the Liberal party in spite of his decision.

"That I am glad to hear," Mr. Trudeau said in his reply. "I invite you . . . to continue your efforts to work within the Liberal party to seek to persuade any and all to your point of view, but I hope that you ment with your point of view in a given issue as an indication of any less concern for the integrity of Canada than that which you yourself possess."

Fear Nitrates

MONTREAL (CP) — Researchers are concerned that nitrates used as fertilizers and food preservatives might be exposing people to a high cancer risk, the director of research laboratories at the Montreal Cancer Institute said Thursday.

Dr. Roger Daoust told the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of French-Language Doctors the nitrates react with secondary amines, natural substances, during the cooking of meat to form nitrosamines, a powerful carcinogen that can cause cancer.

Weekend Jail

TORONTO (CP) — A man convicted of dangerous driving has been sentenced to spend 89 days in jail, starting today, but he will not finish his sentence until well into 1973.

Otto Bezzina, of nearby Aurora, was sentenced Thursday by Mr. Justice Donald Morand of the Ontario Supreme Court, who ordered him to work out the sentence a week end at a time.

Suspended

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — The Grey County engineer has been suspended pending completion of a provincial police investigation of the road department's records, a county official says.

Back Wolves

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Fund for Animals Inc. has sent letters to Premier Robert Bourassa of Quebec and to the United States interior department urging that Quebec call off "a massive wolf kill."

Saying that the United States has largely eliminated the wolf from the 48 mainland states, the Fund told Bourassa it hopes "that you can profit and learn from our mistakes."

All Must Go

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin announced Thursday that all Asian citizens of Kenya, Tanzania and Zambia must leave Uganda by Nov. 8 deadline given originally for the expulsion of other Asian non-citizens.

New Bishop Says He's Male Chauvinist

TORONTO (CP) — Rt. Rev. L. S. Garnsworthy, 48, elected Thursday as the new diocesan bishop of the Anglican diocese of Toronto, admits he's a true male chauvinist.

He said in an interview after he became the first bishop in the church to be elected to the post unopposed that he could not see any theological reasons against women being ordained.

"But I have all the usual male prejudices against it; As my wife puts it, I'm a true male chauvinist."

He succeeds Rt. Rev. G. B. Snell, who retirde Sept. 30.

The church's general synod is to debate a recommendation in Regina next spring to permit women to be ordained.

The Toronto diocese, largest in the Canadian Anglican church, stretches north of Barrie, east of Peterborough and west to Oakville.

Increasing Canadian Control Needs Co-operative Moves

OTTAWA (CP) — Any effective approach towards increasing Canadian participation and ownership in the economy must be a joint federal-provincial effort, says the latest in a series of policy papers released by the Progressive Conservative party.

"A fundamental criticism of the foreign takeover review legislation which the Trudeau government brought before the last Parliament is that there was no provision for provincial consultation either in connection with decisions or even in connection with guidelines upon which decisions would be based," says the paper.

The resolution of foreign takeovers proposed by the government bill in no way ensured the survival, let alone the expansion, of Canadian companies faced with strong competition from industries in other countries, it added.

Additional regulation of foreign-owned companies was undoubtedly necessary and a Conservative government would set effective guidelines for corporate behavior in Canada by foreign-owned companies.

A Conservative government also would require full financial disclosure from Canadian-based subsidiaries of firms owned in another country.

It would ensure that resident Canadian citizens constitute a majority on the boards of all companies operating in Canada within federal jurisdiction.

A further plan is a realistic Progressive Conservative foreign-ownership policy will be a course of action to ensure that foreign-owned companies operating in Canada are not susceptible to parent country laws and regulations which may be in conflict with Canadian interests," says the paper.

Because of Canadian reliance on foreign trade, the Conservatives would hold an international conference to set guides for all aspects of extraterritoriality, including multinational corporations.

A federal-provincial conference on priorities promised by Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield would be aimed at producing a national development strategy. Part of the process would be identification of ally-additional key sectors of the economy in which foreign investment or takeovers should be limited or not permitted.

Want Houses

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Sid McLennan said Thursday he will ask city council to consider waiving an agreement with Ontario Housing Corp. to provide low-rental houses to some of the 21 Ugandan Asian refugees who have arrived here.

Special Service

TORONTO (CP) — The federal department of national revenue will have a special telephone service to help taxpayers having trouble computing their 1972 income tax forms, Hugh D. R. Barton, director of tax application research research division, said here.

Alkenbrack Firm
Seat Is Staked On 'Pen' Report

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A. Douglas Alkenbrack, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Oct. 30 election, said Thursday he will stake his seat on an unsigned report on conditions at nearby Millhaven prison that he released Monday.

The report which he produced at an all-candidates meeting, said warden Donald Clark's authority in the institution was being usurped by a string of incompetent, higher-ranking officials.

Mr. Alkenbrack originally said warden Clark was the author of the report but, speaking on radio station CKWS Thursday he called it an "internal document."

The 59-year-old businessman from nearby Napanee who represented Frontenac-Lennox and Addington in the last Parliament, said he'll "stake my seat on security."

"If anyone does not approve of what I'm doing, don't vote for me."

He said that the issue is not one of who wrote the report or how he obtained it but "are we going to have security . . . in the prisons."

He challenged Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer to establish his own credibility by disproving the contents of the report.

Mr. Goyer said earlier that the 18-page report was not written by the warden and that Mr. Alkenbrack was misleading the public.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The cold, sunny weather that persisted across Ontario the last few days has ended but the weekend will be dull and wet in most areas. Temperatures, however, will be higher. Rain and some wet snow in northern regions today will end overnight but little clearing is expected on Sunday. In the south, rain will begin in most areas today and continue on and off through tonight and most of Sunday.

NDP Explains How To Become Corporate Bum

MONTREAL (CP) — The New Democratic Party's Quebec wing has published a guide for industrialists—complete with examples and helpful hints—on how to become a good corporate bum.

The guide, unveiled by Raymond Laliberte, the NDP's Quebec leader, advises firms to set up shop "in a province that will set the best conditions" and in an economically depressed zone.

This would permit the company to "ask for aid under the regional development program" which is available to companies which "lay off employees, especially if they make high profits."

Other suggestions in the booklet include a recommendation that companies build "products related to defence" to be eligible for further government aid.

Draft Details Over 3 Years

PARIS (CP) — The nine-country European community has decided to harness itself into a "European union" by 1980 and will spend the next three years trying to define what that union will mean.

This reference to "union" in a 12-page summit declaration that threatened to split the members on political grounds was an obvious phrasing of words to please the Netherlands, which demanded specification leading towards political integration.

President Georges Pompidou of France is strongly opposed to such integration but as the summit unexpectedly dragged into the night Friday, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann told The Canadian Press later that on the touchy political issue, "the summit went beyond my hopes and everybody's expectations."

Pompidou told a news conference that he and fellow leaders were determined to move towards European union "in the broad and complete sense of the word."

The first stage in the process, and the only one defined by the summit, is a report on what union will involve. This will be prepared by the Common Market foreign ministers and the Common Market commission before the end of 1975, when it will be submitted to a new summit whose task will be to set the policies for the community for the rest of the 20th century.

Almost all the leaders expressed satisfaction with the two-day conference, though West German Chancellor Willy Brandt told a reporter as he left the ornate hall that "we didn't get all we want."

Brandt, fighting for survival in West German national elections, had mapped out a huge social program for summit consideration. The leaders agreed that the community, which Britain, Ireland and Denmark will formally enter next January, should be outward-looking and socially progressive. They ordered a series of action plans from their officials to cover environmental and other problems.

But other more definite decisions covered the economic field, with plans to intensify Common Market economic cooperation by 1974 and complete economic integration by 1980.

The concern of some of the smaller countries, such as the Netherlands, is that economic integration will mean greater control by the European Market commission, dominated by the big powers, unless a fully democratic European parliament, in which members are elected by voters in all the countries, is established.

The summit leaders agreed to order a study on how a direct vote could be implemented in a practical way, though they did not commit themselves on full political integration.

Significant for Canada and other major trading countries is that the enlarged Common Market intends to be outward-looking. The communique pledged member countries to undertake specific dialogues with the United States, Canada, Japan and other countries ready to make trading arrangements with them on a basis of reciprocity.

Canada has been seeking to establish consultative channels with the Common Market commission but of all the leaders who spoke in the early stages of the summit only Brandt specifically mentioned Canada as

Reds Lose Censorship Bid in UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The Soviet Union was defeated Friday in its drive for an international convention to establish regulations for direct television transmissions from satellites.

Instead, the General Assembly main political committee voted narrowly in favor of a resolution sponsored by Canada and six other countries which calls only for more study by the UN outer space committee.

Behind the debate was East-West disagreement over the future of satellite TV broadcasts, which are expected to be beamed directly into home sets from space transmissions in the future.

The Soviets said regulations are needed to prevent one country's broadcasting propaganda to another. Most Western countries said such regulations could impede the free flow of information.

Yes, There Are Honest People

Jack Butler owned and operated a drug store in Stirling for 30 years, until his death in 1936.

Yesterday — 36 years later — his son, Frank, of 231 Victoria Ave., received a letter from an Oshawa woman. Enclosed was a money order for $15.

The letter read as follows:

Dear Mr. Butler:

Enclosing $15 for a debt we owe your Dad when he had a store. I think it was $10 or $11, so try to clear it, as we had 12 children and never seemed to pay it.

The student body is divided into "houses," each with its own color. Perched on the front of the white float is school principal "Squire" Billy McKay. Despite sideline efforts, both senior and junior teams lost yesterday. For story see first page, second section.

News Briefs

Mail Refused

TORONTO (CP) — Amid talk of a strong possibility of a national strike by Canada's 27,000 postal workers and letter carriers, Toronto's main postal terminal was reported refusing second-, third-and fourth-class mail Friday night.

Error Admitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon acknowledged Friday that a United States Navy bomb "inadvertently struck" the French mission in Hanoi and killed the mission chief. It blamed "failure of the ordnance to release properly." This was the first formal U.S. government admission of the Oct. 11 incident.

Co-operation Asked

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau called Friday for co-operation among governments and industry to regulate borrowing for resource development and thus prevent the value of the Canadian dollar from skyrocketing.

Laborite Hits Liberal Policy

WINNIPEG (CP) — The federal government's economic policies and its handling of unemployment were sharply criticized today by the executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

Joseph Morris told the annual convention of the Manitoba Federation of Labor the fiscal policies of the Liberal government "are the result of a government policy of intentionally creating unemployment to combat inflation."

The labor movement must demand the rejection of unemployment as an instrument of national policy, he said.

Potter Annoyed

Minority of MDs Fight Medicare

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Richard Potter, Ontario's health minister, said today there still exists "with a minority of the profession" an organized medicine a determination to fight any health program associated with government.

"We even find a small segment still objecting to third-party payment, although for many years they were happy to receive payment from private insurance companies," Dr. Potter said.

"Too many negative attitudes and decisions have been taken by the profession because of fear of future programs and concern for individuality," he told the Medical Society of Toronto.

He said payments to physicians are rising at about nine per cent a year and "at the same time hospital costs are increasing at a rapid rate."

"While much of this cost can be related to increasing utilization and, in some cases, to over-utilization and over-servicing, we must also take a look at administrative costs."

The medical profession must accept much of the responsibility for hospital costs, said Dr. Potter, "because who else determines the size of hospital beds and facilities?"

"And who else is responsible for the average length of stay varying from 12 days or more in some hospitals to six or seven in others?"

He said government attempts to stop rising costs by experimental projects such as home-care programs and self-care units have so far "merely resulted in those becoming additional services, rather than a substitute for costly active treatment beds."

Plan Rejected

SAIGON (AP) — A Saigon newspaper controlled by the presidential palace reported today that President Nguyen Van Thieu and his national security council have rejected any interim Indochina agreement for a limited peace.

Bubble, Bubble, Toil and Trouble
Political Chiefs Experience Varied Woes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister Trudeau went into the Maritimes and spoke of resources under the continental shelf which he insists belong to all Canadians, not the nearest province.

Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield went into a Maine airport so he could campaign in New Brunswick, complaining along the way.

New Democrat Leader David Lewis—whose flight plan from Alberta to the West Coast had been stymied by fog, finally made it to Vancouver Island.

He promptly criticized the Liberal government for its aid to the STOL—short takeoff and landing—aircraft industry when at the same time saying that some aid was necessary.

". . . The way in which these things are done, without consideration of little Canadian companies, here and elsewhere is what I have been objecting to."

Among other salient points Friday, just 18 days from the time when Canadians choose their next federal government, was a statement by John Turner, federal finance minister, that he has trouble with his party's national campaign slogan—The Land is Strong.

"It wasn't my idea," Mr. Turner said when asked in Winnipeg about the party slogan.

"In fact, I have used it only once on the whole campaign and that was to see if I could get it out without breaking up."

He did say, however, that he agreed with the sentiment.

Mr. Trudeau, who has staged a running battle with the provinces as to ultimate control over resources, picked Yarmouth, N.S., for his statement about the wealth that could be harvested from the shelf areas off Canada's coasts.

The Canadian land mass, with all its wealth, continues under the water, sometimes for hundreds of miles. And nowhere in Canada does it extend further or offer greater potential than off the Atlantic provinces."

The excitement in this area, Mr. Trudeau said, arises from the fact that means are at hand to start harvesting these resources, that they aren't just a dream for future gain.

However, he did not stress that the federal government has rejected all provincial claims to revenues from such resources and has insisted that these reside in the federal government.

Besides Mr. Turner snickering at the official party slogan, Marc Lalonde, a former staffer in Mr. Trudeau's office and a candidate this time in Montreal Outremont, was in Winnipeg saying that a guaranteed annual income, something his party has shot down as too expensive, will come in time.

In a speech to University of Manitoba students, Mr. Lalonde said this is coming, "but not tomorrow." Such a guaranteed income has been a major platform plank of the Social Credit party, which claims that it could replace a multiplicity of welfare programs at no additional cost.

On his flight into Maine to reach Grand Falls, N.B., Mr. Stanfield said it was "hardly adequate for a national leader to arrive in this important part of New Brunswick by the use of a United States air base."

"Surely we can do better than that."

Stanfield's campaign machine was forced to change gears Friday when wet, snowy weather ruined plans for an election visit to Newfoundland.

A last-minute change in plans brought the Conservative leader to Toronto where he told a news conference that he would impose an immediate freeze on rail freight rates if a Conservative government is elected.

Residents Protest Power Line

PICTON (Staff) — A 230,000 foot power line proposed by the Ontario Hydro to cross a Long Reach has prompted a group of residents of Prince Edward and Hay Bay to question the need for visual pollution.

Concerned persons have forwarded a brief to Ontario Hydro stating they are not against industrial growth to create jobs, but they do question the necessity "to visually pollute an area in order to provide jobs".

Copies of the brief have been sent to George E. Gathercole, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Premier William Davis, Ontario treasurer Charles MacNaughton and James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox.

The transmission line proposed by the Ontario hydro to speak span Hayward Reach at Thompson Point, north of Picton to accommodate the county's growing power needs. It would probably be constructed in 1976, originating at the Lennox Generating Plant, Bath.

A total of eight wires will be used in the span, if overhead lines are built.

The brief prepared by local residents questions the need for increase in Prince Edward when very little industrial growth has been indicated by the Prince Edward County proposed official plan and the Lake Ontario Regional Development Council.

The Ontario Hydro also has been questioned concerning the amount of power now used in Prince Edward and the amount available.

The questionnaire asks "Assuming that an increase in power is required in the county of Prince Edward for a normal growth of five to eight per cent, A) in order to prevent visual pollution of a beautiful unspoiled area, would it be possible to bring in the required amount on existing transmission towers or additional lines to be constructed along existing easements instead of across Long Reach? B) would it be less costly to expand existing facilities along established routes rather than construct a whole new line as proposed?

"How much of the extra power that may be required could be carried on wooden poles?

"What precise objections had Ontario Hydro to the alternate routes in the vicinity of Carrying Place, under Prince at Massassaga, or along the Moira River bridge (Quinte Skyway) and are these objections valid enough to preclude the use of any of these routes?

"Since their appears to be no immediate need for such a large increased amount of power in the county, would it be possible to delay the construction of the proposed feeder lines across the Long Reach with the hope that Hydro research can find some means of making power available to Prince Edward County without interfering with the enjoyment of one of the finest tourist areas in Canada.?"

The brief also asks if tourists and concerned local residents can be assured by their elected representative and government officials that the value of the environment in the long termt will be weighed against the added cost of underground cables or alternate routes.

Wheels Turning For City Election

The October 30 federal election is now little more than a week away, but just to keep the election pot boiling machinery for the Dec. 4 municipal is now getting into high gear.

City clerk Adam Stalker said Friday the municipal election voters' lists are now out, are posted in the west end and will be up in all parts of the city by early next week.

Once voters' list will be posted in each of the 80 polling subdivisions.

Mr. Stalker said it was important for residents to check the list to see that their names are on and also to determine if their address and school supporter information is correct.

The correct school support information is very important," stressed the city clerk.

Persons whose names have been left off the municipal voters' list, or where their address or school support information is incorrect, are asked to phone the clerk's office at city hall.

Also, residents may determine if their names have been omitted by calling city hall.

A total of 24,334 names are on the city's preliminary voting list. But by the time omissions are corrected and the supplementary lists complete, another 2,000 names are expected to be added.

Voters' list revisions may be made until October 31, and after that date eligible voters can get voting certificates at city hall.

This year, under the new municipal election procedure, there will be no nomination meetings, at least.

Instead, aspirants for public office — city council, school board and public utilities commission — will pick up nomination papers at the clerk's office, have them signed by 10 or more eligible voters and return them to city hall.

Nomination papers will be available Nov. 8 at city hall and will be accepted until 5 o'clock Nov. 17. After this time candidates nominated for more than one position will have until 5 p.m. Nov. 14 to declare for which office they will run.

United Appeal Has Good Start

The United Appeal has gone over the $50,000 mark in its campaign with the majority of funds still to come in.

Organizers are optimistic, claiming the campaign is shaping up "very nicely" because of the aggressiveness and a hard work of the canvassers.

George Zegouras, campaign chairman, said yesterday, "we are getting into areas where we have never been before, with more people helping in elections."

At the same point in last year's campaign, $40,000 had been raised, compared with $51,000 this year.

"This does not mean that Individuals are giving that much more, but they are giving earlier," said Isidore Cooperman, director of the United Community Services and coordinator of the campaign.

"The money was prepared earlier for the campaign, which brought earlier results," he said.

The official goal for this year's campaign has been set at $145,000, which means that better than one third of the funds are in.

With 10 days still remaining in official campaigning time, Mr. Cooperman mentioned "30 per cent of the needed funds will not reach the office by" that time but will come in drifts and drabs before the end of the year."

The funds that are raised during this period will support 13 agencies across the city from minor sports to family counselling.

Budgets for each of these 13 groups have to be set and firm by the middle of December.

Young Couple Dead in Car

NAPANEE (Staff) — A post-mortem was being held this morning to formally determine cause of death of two teenagers — found dead in a parked car near Yarker, about 10 miles north of here.

Identities of the victims — a 17-year-old girl and a young man, 19 — were not immediately released by provincial police who said death presumably had been caused by asphyxiation.

A relative of one of the young victims found them in the car near Varty Lake — west of Yarker — about 9 a.m., after they had failed to show up at their homes.

Frankford Woman Drowns in Car

It was not known today if an inquest would be held into the death of a Frankford woman, trapped after her car crashed into the Trent River last night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Laurence 45 of 48 Main St. Frankford died after her car veered onto its roof in eight feet of water, after it left the road and skidded about a quarter-mile north of Highway 401.

Police said Mrs. Laurence was driving north when the fatal mishap occurred shortly after 10 p.m. The car veered out of control for about 230 feet, striking a mailbox and a hydro pole before plunging down the river embankment.

Provincial police from Brighton called in a scuba diver from the Trenton Flying Frogs club to place a holding cable round the vehicle.

Mrs. Laurence is survived by her husband, Leonard, and three children.

morning the special attension of the community.

The Commonwealth did not get a mention. Prime Minister Heath, who was openly pleased that the summit endorsed his proposal that community aid be channelled into depressed areas of Britain and other member countries, was expected to have told some correspondents privately that his summit was far more important than any Commonwealth meeting of prime ministers. He said the leaders did not just read briefs as was the case in Commonwealth meetings.

Along with seeking dialogues with specific countries, the summit endorsed the Heath idea that the European Market initiate action on world tariff bargaining, starting by mid-1973, with the aim of completing negotiations by the end of 1975.

The summit also endorsed closer commercial relations with Eastern Europe.

They agreed to stick to a policy of fixed "but adjustable" currency parities, using a new 2½ per cent compensation fund to help retain stability through the use of short-term loans to those countries whose currency may be in trouble. This was a clear hint to Britain to repay the pound though Europe and no mention in the communique of a repegging date. Since the pound is to start operating next April, it appeared likely that the sterling rate will be fixed for a year before Britain has expressed hope of doing so by next January.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbours of the Finkle-stein family for their kindness, gifts and best wishes for our Golden Anniversary.
Dr. Irving and Gerald Weeks.

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to our many relatives and friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our brother Tim. A special thanks to Father Lloyd and Father Gerald and Father Cecil for all the comforting words and prayers. Also to the Funeral Director for his kindness and arrangements. Everyone's kindness in any way will never be forgotten.
Frank and Doris Cullens and family.

Trenton Utilities' Finances Good

TRENTON (Staff) — Customers of Trenton's Public Utilities Commission can breath a sigh of relief. According to its manager, rates aren't going to be increased in 1973.

Utilities manager Douglas Meadow Thursday told commissioners, in light of better than expected revenue receipts and lower costs than those budgeted for, rates should remain at their present level.

Charles Hilton, chairman of the PUC, added, "our financial position is a little bit better than expected." He said $55,000 received by the PUC for winter works projects earlier this year had made a definite contribution in keeping costs down.

Mr. Meadow told commissioners the PUC has almost reached the $600,000 mark for sale of electrical and water services.

The commission will again seek a federal government Local Incentives Program (LIP) grant to be used to hire jobless workers. Jobs will include laying of pipes, and replacement of main-to-house piping along portions of Dundas Street East.

Board's Request Is Turned Down

BLOOMFIELD (Staff) — Prince Edward school trustees have been advised by Adam Stalker, secretary of Belleville's traffic committee, that a requested change in a traffic light cannot be made to facilitate buses turning at the intersection of Dundas and Church streets. Buses from the county carry Ameliasburg students to secondary school in Belleville.

In a letter to business administrator E. A. Shortt, Mr. Stalker pointed out the request for an advanced green flasher at this intersection was considered at the September meeting of the traffic committee.

The request was examined by the Belleville police department and the corporation's traffic technician and their reports were forwarded to trustees.

A traffic count did not prove the suggested change warranted.

Mr. Shortt told board members heavy traffic at the intersection makes it difficult for buses to turn and last year a bus driver did have a collision. A study was requested at this time.

Trustee George Flower said the congestion in the area has "compounded the problem" confronted by the bus drivers.

"It's a little annoying that they won't give Ameliasburg a little consideration," declared chairman of the transportation committee Harmon Mostgomery.

Resource Centre Room of Ideas

BLOOMFIELD (Staff) — A teachers' resource centre recently opened at Queen Elizabeth school in Picton is possibly only the third in Ontario.

Special services co-ordinator for Prince Edward County, Russell Williams, last night told trustees the centre is "a room in Queen Elizabeth full of raw materials and ideas".

He said teachers exchange ideas and can make items for their school-class environments.

Education consultants from Region 9 in Kingston will visit the centre periodically.

Mr. Williams observed practical ideas are gained by teachers for their classrooms.

The resource centre is open each Thursday from 3:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. Board members and members of the press were invited to stop at the new facility.

Help Is Available

There's more than employment to a federal job-training program.

The employer also benefits, says Susan Broll, at Belleville's Canada Manpower Centre.

"It gives employers the opportunity to hire and train employees in need for future expansion," says Susan.

Flexible in design, Manpower's Training - on - the - Job Program requires no special facilities or instructors. Corporate size is no criterion. It applies to any business from a one-man operation to the largest corporation.

In the last year the program has trained jobless workers in occupations that range from pasturization, welding, and work on sign culures, says Susan.

Terms call for the government to pay 75 per cent of wage costs during the first half of the training period and 50 per cent for the remaining period.

A parallel project is the Local Initiative Program, directed to community or local government agencies and programmed for community betterment.

Like grants cover cost of wages, facilities, materials and supplies. Qualifications also are broadly defined.

"The main criteria are that the group or organization involved be non-profit making, employ the unemployed and contribute to community betterment," says Mrs. Broll.

Again, no hard definitions have been laid down for qualifying schemes. In the past they have ranged from rehabilitation housing programs, environmental projects and services for children, the elderly or handicapped.

Hydrants Whose?

TRENTON (Staff) — The question of which town department should be held responsible for keeping Trenton's 280 fire hydrants clear of snow in winter, led to a heated debate at Thursday's Public Utilities Commission meeting.

Council has requested the PUC install markers, at a cost of $3 apiece, for a total bill of more than $1,000.

"The responsibility is certainly not ours," PUC chairman Charles Hilton argued. "I think it should come out of the town's capital budget and not the utilities department."

Mayor Duncan McDonald countered, suggesting the fire department should bear the burden of keeping the hydrants cleared.

Commissioner James MacDonald said, adding, "I don't see where the hydrants are and it should be their responsibility to look after them."

Mr. Hilton reminded the commissioners that the town pays rent for the hydrants. He said if the PUC is required to spend $1,000 for markers or the job of clearing snow away from the hydrants the town should expect a rental increase on that basis.

PUC manager Douglas Meadow reminded council of this numerous complaints about buried hydrants. On one occasion last year, a snowplow sheared a hydrant from its base, causing a flood of water. The matter will be dealt with following consideration with the fire department and town council.

Heels Over Head In Fitness

Six Queen Victoria Public School children this morning were presented with Canada Fitness Awards of Excellence after competitions last year. After competing in several gymnastic events, each student to receive the award had to score better than 85 per cent of the rest of Canadian students. The students are Paul Bailey, 99, Rosa Miachenko, 98, Thad Sheetel, Doug Campbell, Karen Adamson and Peter DeLong all with 96. Superintendent of Schools Glenn Watson presented the certificates this morning at a school assembly.

Medical Centre Reports Favorable

MADOC (Special) — The Centre Hastings Medical Centre directors enthusiastically received favorable reports from all committees at this week's meeting.

The legal committee reported that the processing of the charter is nearly completed and should be received in sufficient time to make application in 1972 for designation for income tax purposes as a charitable organization.

The building committee reported that the last hurdle in obtaining the working plans and specifications is being overcome and tenders for construction are being advertised this week.

The financial committee heard that over $20,000 has been raised to date. Substantial contributions have recently been received as follows: the staff and supporters of Kincaid's IGA, Madoc, $1,089; from the Toronto Dominion Bank, $1,000 and from the Madoc Chamber of Commerce, $600.

Considerable funds are still required. The exact amount will not be known until tenders are in. Community-minded citizens are continuing to undertake projects to keep the funds coming in.

Private donations may still be made at the Toronto Dominion Bank, Madoc.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF BOWES AND COCKS LIMITED ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CANADIAN REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION

Mr. William E. Cocks, President of Bowes and Cocks Limited, is pictured congratulating Mr. Albert Plah on Mr. Plah's appointment as president of the Canadian Real Estate Association.

Mr. Albert Plah, vice-president of Bowes and Cocks Limited, was named President of the 27,000 member Canadian Real Estate Association at the CREA congress held in Vancouver on October 3, 1972.

Mr. Plah was formerly President of Albert Plah Real Estate Limited, and his company was acquired by Bowes & Cocks Limited on May 15, 1971.

In a recent issue of the Financial Post, Mr. Plah stated that changes in the National Housing Act easing the mortgage terms have become qualifications for house buyers should boost home ownership.

But it comes with a warning. For the new program to work, the lending institutions must be receptive by making mortgage funds available.

"And there is no reason why they shouldn't, with mortgage insurance provided by the government."

The changes in NHA regulations increase the maximum mortgage loan for new, single-family dwellings to $30,000 from $25,000 and raise the limit on the amount of income used to cover mortgage payments and other debts to 32 per cent from 27%.

"The previous 27% limit was ludicrous," Plah says. Many Canadians are forced to pay up to 40% of their income in rent without building equity.

Plah is not happy about the rising cost of land which makes houses more expensive and requires a greater share of income to carry a purchase.

"Government should buy, hold, subdivide and install services (sewers, etc.) and cheaper than private enterprise. It may appear so, but this is only because the government buries fees, government salaries and interest on the money invested in general expenses.

"Instead of establishing land banks, government should spend some money and energy to speed up the mechanism for approval of subdivisions. This would help keep the supply ahead of the demand. It's the scarcity that is keeping the prices up."

Theatrical Scene

The Pinnacle Playhouse is off to a new start with its presentation of The Price and we hope it is the forerunner of a successful season.

The opening performance drew only a small crowd but this is one of the occupational hazards of the theatrical scene in the smaller communities.

Belleville is growing and if our cultural efforts here are to mean anything we need the stimulus of theatre. Our local performers have done well by the community in the past and they deserve our continuing support now.

Meanwhile we are glad to see that the incomparable Les Feux Follets is alive and well and resident in Charlottetown, at the Festival theatre there; also producer Jack McAndrew's information about the company's new production which has been well received and which he recommends to the Arts Council here as a potentially interesting theatrical event for this area.

We recall the success of Les Feux Follets when the company was last here some years ago, its reputation gained at the Commonwealth Arts Festival in London as well as in performances at home and, if memory serves us, in the United States.

Behind the Curtain

Budapest . . . Prague . . . Warsaw (almost totally rebuilt in its original form) . . . Leningrad . . . Moscow. In Andre de la Varre's film at The Park recently we had one of the most penetrating views in a long while of life behind the iron curtain.

If the term "iron curtain" — coined as we recall by Winston Churchill — seems a little passe in these days of more relaxed east-west relations, we were pulled up abruptly by the sight of barbed wire and watchtowers on the Czech-Austrian frontier. We sensed that even the cameraman was taking a risk in obtaining those photo sequences.

That aside, the remainder of the film transported us into a world which, despite political vicissitudes, still reflects the glories of a great past as well as a fair degree of prosperity in the present. Mr. de la Varre's sense of history, his rapport with both the countries' peasant stock and its young moderns, with the architecture of the past and the glossy new commercial scene — new hotels, departments and the like — are apparent. And all are enhanced — in the Polish segment in particular — by the music of Chopin, played by Mr. de la Varre himself, for he is not only an award-winning film producer but an international concert pianist of note.

Mr. de la Varre's voice was heard also narrating the part dealing with the Soviet Union, the earlier narration being the work of Trevor Smith, the personable and much-travelled young man who also was here earlier this year for another film of the European scene.

Of compelling interest, too were the closeups of citizens going about their business in these historic capitals — unsmiling for the most part but often handsome and not unfriendly. In Leningrad — or was it Moscow — there were the laughing happy faces of the Young Pioneers, the politically-oriented young people's organization of Russia.

And there were the strong faces of the farm folk and the incredibly alive and brilliant young dancers of the various folk dancing troupes and the Moiseyev ballet company which we once saw on the stage overseas. Unlike the western scene there is no preoccupation with the casual and sloppy in appearance, no blurring of the sexes with the frantic pursuit of the hirsute look. Here, simply, are people who, within the strictures of the Communist system, hold their heads high, respect and a straightforward approach to life.

According to narrator Smith we can expect more films from Mr. de la Varre's creative hand, including one or more on Canada. And in passing we might mention that Mr. de la Varre has something in common with Canadian concert pianist Glenn Gould who a year or so ago, as a train buff, narrated a television film about a train ride to Moncton.

Candidates' Man-Killing Schedule

The Long Agonizing Grind of A Parliamentary Election

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The pay is more than comfortable $28,000 with the top $8,000 of it tax-free, and the pension is Instant Easy-Street.

But to get it, your friendly neighborhood candidate has to sweat like never before in his life, and cannot be sure of the jackpot until the last vote is counted.

Perhaps the money is not everything, but it sure has made the competition tougher with more candidates going harder than ever for broke.

With the stakes so much higher, the race is all the tougher.

The candidate's day begins with phone calls even before he is fully awake and out of bed, and the phone is still ringing when he gets to his committee rooms.

There he okays, with misgivings, his campaign advertising for the week, his press releases for the day, a new batch of posters, another printing of cards, more blotters, a letter to his constituency and a radio speech which he has to tape and read for the first time on his way to the studio.

He bolts his lunch, if there is time for any, surrounded by his key workers half of whom swear he cannot lose and the other half that he cannot win.

He runs from coffee party to coffee party, pausing only long enough to gulp a sandwich and shake some 30 to 60 hands at each stop.

If there is a funeral he attends.

If there is a fire, he is a member of the volunteer brigade.

He rushes to the TV studio where his campaign manager hands him a suggested two minute spiel seconds before he goes on camera, with instructions not to look at the text while speaking, to look natural, to talk in an easy, informal way, to sound authoritative and above all, sincere.

After his TV bit he attends another couple of phone calls, one from his wife who thinks he was great and another from a complete stranger who says he had planned to vote for him, but now, having heard him, would not vote him dog-catcher.

He dashes out to drive five or 50 miles to an evening rally where he has to be the main speaker . . . listens for two hours to preliminary speeches and then as people show signs of waiting is told to keep it short, to cut it to no more than 10 minutes.

He is brought on by a chairman who introduces him as one of the best speakers in the province if not all Canada, which is just dandy since the preliminary speeches have gone through all the appropriate jokes and made and underlined every possible campaign point, leaving him with nothing else to say.

He handshakes his way out of the hall, and going at 100 to campaign manager's home for a quiet sandwich and nightcap, finds his committee workers assembled there and anxious to go over the week's plans for tail.

He tries to snooze while somebody drives him home long after midnight, and staggers exhausted through his front door only to find another little group of loyal workers waiting for him.

There is his publicity chairman who says they have to have a statement of some sort for tomorrow's paper.

Then there are the advertisements to approve for the two county weeklies, the community throw-away sheet and that regional farm publication.

And what about tomorrow night's speech . . . better give the newspaper an advance on it . . . no not forget it either to be up and shaking hands at the factory gate by 7 this morning . . . and to prepare a quick look at the script for that 90-second radio plug?

Then as he crawls up the stairs, he hears his chairman, going out to dinner, saying "And next week, we're really got to get to work."

Today's candidate no longer "stands" for election, he runs so hard and fast he is a blur, never still long enough for anyone to get a good look at him or hear what he has to say.

As the late George Nowlan, former finance minister in the Diefenbaker cabinet, and longtime Nova Scotia MP, once put it: "There is some advantage in being a moving target — that way you get to miss the eggs and tomatoes."

A Look at Governments and Their Policies

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The government Monopoly game enters its final phase the bids and strategies of the political players assume familiar patterns.

The government, as usual stands on its record. The opposition, spared the responsibility of the policy and decision-making process, appears on the scene as the specious champion of the oppressed electorate.

Innuendo, charge and counter charge, frequently with scant regard for the truth, become the norm as the political propagandists storm round the ridings.

The present campaign has its share of electoral red herrings. Nevertheless, it will be hard to persuade any intelligent voter that unemployment is the major issue of the day.

The government attacks the problem with grants, Local Initiative Programs and a host of create-work schemes. The opposition relies on the antediluvian "stimulate the economy" philosophy.

The former is inadequate and often unrelated in providing solutions to specific problems — the latter invites contemporary consumer spending power and the economy booms only to stagger to its inevitable bust.

Economist Dian Cohen poses a pertinent question when she says, "Can we afford to maintain a political structure that makes it impossible to deal rationally with our long term economic problems?" The answer is, of course, we cannot.

While we and our fellow-travellers in the free enterprise society elect to pursue outdated short-term economic policies we must expect to act with, and to, the crises of our trading partners.

There is no Liberal government in the U.K., the U.S.A., Italy and other European countries, yet unemployment persists. Even those countries unaffected by increasing unemployment, Russia, China, West Germany, etc. are haunted by the spectre of mounting inflation. There is no Liberal government to blame either.

The present government, recognizing the magnitude of the problem, aggravated as it is by ever increasing automation in this technological age, introduced a much needed and humane piece of legislation in the new Unemployment Insurance Act. Victims of the rapidly changing times can now survive the shock of job loss with reasonable dignity while seeking and planning their future. The opposition, with no viable alternative, suggests (without proof) nationwide abuse of the scheme.

Trying to brainwash the employed voter into believing he is the victim of thousands of unemployed freeloaders, Mr. Stanfield and his team imply, if elected they would cut benefits, increase the waiting period and, ostensibly, move us back into the dole era.

It is unlikely that any perceptive voter will be persuaded along these lines. High unemployment is here to stay until drastic changes are made in our economic and political philosophy. No overnight "stimulate the economy" approach will solve the problem for very long, and, as we move into the world of Alvin Toffler's "Future Shock," political parties must come up with 20th century solutions to 20th century problems.

WILLIAM C. HOCKLEY

Poland's Tumultuous History

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Twice in the 20th century, modern Poland has been recreated by peace treaty and force of arms. Not since the 18th century, has one of the proudest races in Europe been master of its own destiny.

In 1919, Poland which had disappeared in 1791 through multiple partitions of her territory by Prussia, Austria and Russia, was reconstituted as a large, central European state, jutting heavily eastwards into a dismembered and beaten Russia.

In 1945, under Soviet occupation and with East Germany in ruins, Poland was reconstituted again, this time pushed westward at the expense of Germany—returning the former Russian regions to the U.S.S.R.

The 1919 decision gave Poland a small piece of Baltic coastline, no more than 30 miles. The 1945 transitional-decision of people's Republic of Poland was assigned a long stretch of coastline to include the largest German-populated port cities and shipbuilding centres of Danzig and Stettin. Today the German population has long gone. Danzig, styled Gdansk in Polish and Stettin, the even more unpronounceable Szczecin, are among the world's major shipbuilding centres.

Though there isn't much glamour in the People's Republic of Poland, where the Baltic is concerned, the historic Polish role on the sea has been restored.

Not even this suffices in a Poland which has endured a quarter century of Communist domination of both the Polish and Russian varieties. In 1971, the worst riots in the history of postwar Poland, among the largest in Communist Europe, broke out in Gdansk, seat of the shipbuilding industry and predominantly where workers had better pay and living conditions than in the rest of the country.

This could not have been true since the reasons for the riots were food shortages, low pay, growing cost of food and housing. The riots were devastating enough to unseat Wladyslaw Gomulka, the tough Polish Communist party leader and replace him with the more moderate Edward Gierek, a former trade union leader with first hand experience of living in the West and fluent in French.

Gierek put the shipyard strike head-on, promised better pay, lower food prices, promises which he has kept and which in effect, he had to keep.

Unlike her Communist neighbor, East Germany and distant Communist associate Yugoslavia, Poland under communism has never managed to perform economic miracles. In spite of a Stalinism now out-of-date in Poland, the East German regime has produced an industrial and consumer boom equivalent to those in European capitalistic countries. Yugoslavia's wide use of the so-called workers councils as substitutes for the middle management of private enterprise, has also produced unexpected productivity from state-run industries.

While it is true, Soviet occupation and influence have brought forced-draft industrialization to Poland, a country largely agricultural before 1939, as in the U.S.S.R. itself, it has not brought anticipated consumer benefits.

A gray pallor pervades official and daily life in Poland. After 25 years, and the opportunity for the almost total reconstruction of Warsaw, housing is drab and depressing.

More consumer goods have appeared only because the regime feared Gdansk-style riots if they are not introduced — heavily imported and hence costly.

It's proved to be partially self-defeating because so few people in Poland can afford them.

Parks Name Game

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Of our many city organizations, there are few for whom I hold great respect namely the Belleville Horticultural Society and the Belleville Parks Board. Both do so much to beautify our city.

But in reading our local paper and learning that a suggested name for the beautiful garden on Dundas St. West was "Hord-Park" was beyond my powers of comprehension. With the English language and its wide and beautiful vocabulary surely a more fitting name might be given to such a beauty spot in our city.

Why not think again?

CLIFFORD E. TEMPLER

Road Works in City Under Fire

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

It is difficult to believe how differently two government projects can be handled. One need only drive to the western end of Dundas Street in Belleville to find complete chaos in highway reconstruction.

Here can be seen companies causing such disruption that even their own trucks can not move. Ruts are left for the public to level, pot holes are ignored, public traffic is severely threatened and treated as criminal. Cars, lives, and nerves are being ruined due to the inefficiency and independence of the contractors. Their special hatred for anyone who would dare to prefer walking (or who might not have a vehicle) indicates a frantic panic at a job they have undertaken.

But observe the reconstruction between Belleville and Trenton. Here temporary roads are built and cared for, flagmen appreciate their responsibility and don't either forget what they are doing nor abuse their powers. Pot holes are minor and short lived, ruts are not permitted. Graders and workers are out on holidays assuring safe roads at all times. Markers and warning signs are explicit and well attended. What a difference!

Or back into Belleville where streets like Bridge are broken up and then abandoned for days and even weeks without any sign of anything being done. Businesses are left to flounder — with the consequent loss of employment. In such cases we can be expected to find that planning — either in the contractors or the city's offices — must have been omitted.

The City needs someone to show some guts in curbing the incompetence of contractors and the sloppiness of the planners. But then there is an election coming — that should bring forth many promises.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO,

October 21, 1952

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary held their regular monthly meeting at the Nurses' residence with Mrs. A. J. Buchan presiding. Mrs. M. Robb presented the annual treasurer's report and then turned the books over to Mrs. J. Marshall, the new treasurer. Receipts for the year from the Opportunity Shop, Christmas dance, fashion show, spring tea and tag day came to a total of $3,451.60. Expenditures in connection with these affairs totalled $781.15.

A warehouse on Front St. has been a hive of activity, several nights a week for some time now, as members of the Belleville Theatre Guild go about the business of producing their first three-act drama, "Rebecca", by Daphne du Maurier.

The Dominion National "Milk For Britain Fund" was made it possible to allotted shipment of powdered milk even in the initial year of operation. In August of 1941 the National Council of Associated Kinsmen Clubs in Canada agreed to provide two million pounds of milk within a period of 12 months. The plan met with instantaneous response with the result that at the end of the first year of operation, four and a half million pounds of milk had been sent to Great Britain.

The building of the club house at the Bay of Quinte Country Club is nearing completion. After all, it was a simple thing to obtain the building. On the farm as it was purchased, was a large barn which had been built in the shape of the letter O and this building has been utilized. Moved to the desired location, this building has been transformed out of all resemblance to a barn; the frame work sliding and roof raised and dressed up. The outside is being stuccoed, Mr. George K. Graham has generously given much of his time in supervising the remodeling of the building.

Bible Digest

by H. B. DEAN

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." — 2 Timothy 3:16

When you read the Bible in the light of where it came from you will not be apt to take it lightly. The Bible is God's message to man and it will stand up whether man believes it or not. "Heaven and earth shall pass away but My word shall not pass away."

Triumphal Entry of Christ Into Jerusalem Memorable

By Rev. Gordon C. Smyth

Mankind will never be allowed to forget the Triumphal Entry (Luke 19:28-48). Jerusalem was the seat of Judaism. Jesus loved it. It was The city.

The temple was there. It was David's city. The great king had built it.

As only a city can accumulate the feelings and experiences of generations that come and go, the baby city gathered together the memories of the past — defeats and victories, scars and trophies, proud moments and shameful ones. These memories were written on the stones of the city. The hopes of the future, when a nationalistic Messiah would ride in and scatter oppressors, were kept alive in every crooked street and on every gleaming tower.

Our Lord was coming from Galilee, about 150 miles north of Jerusalem, to demonstrate. He did not march, so to speak, because He wanted to, but because He was no fool-smelling, dirty-mouthed pugnacious. He was no off-beat intellectual looking for off-course headlines. He would join nobody else's cause unless it coincided with His own purposes. He simply accept God's interpret His cause. He knew the dangers but did not flinch. The forces against Him were strong.

At the Mount of Olives the excitement of the multitudes of pilgrims began to mount. According to Josephus, the Mount of Olives was associated in Jewish belief with the Messiah's coming.

Moreover, it was customary for pilgrims to dismount if they were fortunate enough to be riding, to walk in reverence the short distance from the Mount of Olives to the holy city. But here was Jesus sending to nearby Bethany for a colt to mount. As He approached Jerusalem, There could be no doubt in the Prophet and Teacher was now demonstrating His right to reign!

The wonder of the story is the demonstrator's silence. He was above praise or inquisition. While the multitude cheered Jesus. He never rose in His deity. Neither could the high priest later force him to put into so many words that He was the Christ, nor could the vassal king Pontius Pilate, the Roman governor.

This was the final affront. By this time, too, the tide of popularity had ebbed as it once flowed. Our Lord could not be the kind of Savior they anticipated. The same people who had shouted "Hosanna" on Palm Sunday roared "crucify Him" on Good Friday. Both voices prevailed.

Human nature has not changed. Ideals and loyalties are not reproduced through genes. Politicians in the wings waiting for a national leader to reign after an election defeat — do they that new? Preachers changing their theological position when they change congregations — is that new? Councils of the Church applying "situation ethics" to the abortion issue, as though the voice of the world in public were inevitably the voice of God — is that new? People watching for signs of approval or disapproval before expressing their own opinions — is that new?

Palm Sunday was a demonstration launched by one man alone. It was a demonstration on behalf of the absolute claim of God on the life of every human being. The late Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, one of the intellectual giants of our century once said, "The longer I live, the more certain I am that individual events count for nothing. All that really matters is the direction of our lives. Some years ago, a cowboy used the story of Jesus' triumphal entry. He exclaimed, "What wonderful hands He must have had!" Those who were present asked in surprise, "Why do you say that?" "Well," replied the cowboy, "anyone who can sit on a colt on which no one ever sat before, and master it, and guide it, and soothe it when people are shrieking 'hosanna' in its ears, and throwing palms before it, and throwing clothes in front of it; that man must have wonderful hands."

Film Distribution Baptists Operate

By RUSS FULLIAM

NEW YORK (AP) — A national Protestant denomination has ventured into the commercial film-distributing business in the United States in an effort to counteract the emphasis on sex and violence in modern movies.

In explaining the unusual move by the 1.5 million-member American Baptist Convention, Rev. Kenneth Curtis, general manager of the church's newly-formed Gateway Films, says:

This is exactly the reason, he adds, for the church to get into that field. Moreover, he says, "the pervasive work of the gospel in society is as powerful a subject as any other for the screen."

Nevertheless, the denomination is the first in the U.S. to enter, the highly-competitive movie arena with professional quality productions, one of them already a success, and the other soon to hit the market.

Gateway Films currently is booking The Cross and the Switchblade in 250 to 300 theatres in the country. The film, starring Pat Boone, already has grossed more than $6 million in more than a year of showing.

The agency this fall also is releasing The Late Liz, a film starring Academy Award winners Peter Ustinov and Jack Albertson,a and has plans for distributing other films with a religious message.

"While the sex-and-violence films are going stronger and stronger, a deeper and deeper backlash is growing against them," says Mr. Curtis.

Herb Gillis,a film distributing executive who was instrumental in marketing of the movie, Love Story, agrees there is a growing, major demand for the type of movie that upholds the value of character and faith.

While Gateway's objective is not to make money, since it is a non-profit organization, it recognizes that its films must attract audiences, or theatres won't show them.

But the initial offering, The Cross and the Switchblade, has demonstrated such reliably-goodly-motivated films can win audiences in the secular marketplace.

The film, based on the true story of country preacher David Wilkerson who became an evangelist among youth gangs, members and drug addicts in New York City's ghettoes, is to be kept on the movie circuit at least another year.

At the same time, Gateway is releasing The Late Liz, which tells the true story of a society girl's conversion into alcoholism and her recovery through conversion to Christianity.

Mr. Curtis says the reaction of these films "has attracted the confidence of several producers, and Gateway Films now has several new films under consideration."

Gateway was formed early this year and obtained the rights to The Cross and the Switchblade, after its original producer and distributor, Dick Ross Associates, went bankrupt.

Mr. Curtis says the firm, whose aim also was to turn out quality movies with a message, had invested too heavily in a second movie before realizing the potential proceeds from the first.

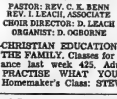
Bible Scholars Gather

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was the biggest gathering of Bible scholars ever held: about 3,000 of them, from 26 countries. They met under the sign of the butterfly—a symbol of humanity's soaring spirit. And they sought to trace its flight.

"The highest ideal," said Roman Catholic theologian Walter Kasper, of Germany's University of Tubingen, "is now no longer the person who possesses himself and who exists in and for himself, but rather existence for the many."

That, he added, is the goal upheld by Jesus.

Jesus' message and life unleashed a love that overcomes the "will to power," and that makes for a "revolution which reaches to the very depth of man's understanding of reality."



It offers the "beginning and the foundation of a new reconciled humanity," he said.

This was a note sounded frequently as the thinkers, representing 15 different associations of specialized scholarship, met in Los Angeles recently for the International Congress of Learned Societies in the Field of Religion, the first of its kind and scope.

It was sponsored by the School of Theology at Claremont, Calif., and the American Council of Learned Societies.

More than 300 papers were presented, many of them academically abstruse, yet pointing insistently to the mounting interdependence of human beings, their preservation hinging on each other, and yet also to their inherent brutalities and limitations.

"The six o'clock news is the most brutal program on television—and we do not even turn it off," said theologian Albert Friedlander, of London. "The fine edge of our sensibilities has been worn away by the monstrosities of our age."

WEDDING

DUNN — BROWN

Rev. Canon E. C. Davey officiated at the September 30 wedding in the Parish of The Holy Cross, Church of England, in Ashton-Keynes, Wiltshire, England, when Marilyn Joanne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Brown, 226 George Street, Belleville, became the bride of Kerry James Dunn, eldest son of Lieutenant Commander R. N. (retired) and Mrs. Robert G. Dunn of Bibury, Warwickshire, England.

The bride entered the beautiful old church, which was built in the year 1120, to the strains of The Wedding Procession from The Sound of Music, played by the church organist. Given in marriage by Lieutenant Richard Tennent, R.N., in the name of her father and mother, the bride wore a floor length gown of white crepe with wide flowing skirt and sleeves, gold maple leaf, and scroll embroidery on the sleeves, midriff, and standup collar. She wore pearl and gold stud earrings and sprays of (Gypsophila) baby's breath in her hair and carried a single peace rose with baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Lois Pritlie of Port Colborne, Ontario and London, England, who wore a long sleeved beige topped dress with floor length Victorian navy printed skirt, holding Ragian asters and mauve freesias.

The best man was Malcolm Howell of Leeds, England. While signing the register the wedding music played was Sunrise-Sunset, Fw: From The Horse I Love and Sabbath Prayer from Fiddler on the Roof, with Mendelssohn's Recessional. The church was decorated with mauve, gold, yellow and orange chrysanthemums.

The reception was held at Drummond House, Ashton-Keynes, home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Cheeseman, sister of the bridegroom.

Guests of the bride, Mrs. B. DeBruyn of Ottawa received the guests. She wore a beige Chanel suit with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of apricot and orange freesias. The bride groom's mother assisted, wearing a turquoise suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow and mauve freesias. Mrs. S. Charlesworth of Manchester gave the toast to the bride.

Guests were present from Portsmouth, Rugby, Manchester, Leeds, Sandhurst and Aston-Keynes, England, and from Toronto and Ottawa, Canada.

The bride and bridegroom have taken up residence at: The Old Rectory, Saxby by Spridlington, near Lincoln, Lincolnshire, England.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY DANIEL

Daniel – Hanson

Rev. Peter Tutt assisted by Father J. McGillivray officiated at the October 7 wedding ceremony in St. Thomas Anglican Church when Miss Jean Hanson of Belleville exchanged vows with Jerry Paul Daniel of Agincourt. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Hanson of Belleville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Daniel of Agincourt. Mr. D. W. Davenport provided organ music during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a floor-length pure silk bridal gown which was accented by an alencon lace yoke, a sheath skirt and a lace trim sheer at the hem and on the empire waistline. Her fly point sleeves which were edged in lace were gathered at the ends by lace medallets. Rows of alencon lace adorned the cathedral length train which was edged with matching lace. The four tier silk illusion veil which was finished in lace fell from an alencon lace headpiece. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Gail Lobsinger of Stratford who attended the bride was the bridesmaids: Muriel Bryant, Port Perry; Judith Ann Daniel, sister of the bridegroom of Agincourt and Joyce Westlake of Whitby were dressed identically in Royal Stewart plaid jumpers with coordinating white crepe blouses. Each bridal attendant carried a colonial bouquet of white mums.

The bride's mother greeted guests at the reception, which was at the Four Seasons Hotel wearing a mass green gown fashioned in a semi empire design with long sleeves and a delustred silk shantung skirt. A corsage of yellow sweetheart roses accented her gown.

The bridegroom's mother received guests wearing a floor length pink crepe gown which was styled in the princess line and enhanced by a pink carnation corsage.

For the honeymoon to Nassau, the bride donned a navy knit jumper with a long sleeved gold blouse and accented by beige and gold accessories. Her ensemble was completed by a red carnation corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel will take up residence at Don Mills.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. PARSONS

Parsons – Burke

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville was the setting for the recent marriage ceremony when Kathleen Adelaide Florence Burke, daughter of Mrs. Ellen Burke Belleville and the late Mr. John Lawrence Burke became the bride of Robert Addison Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons, Belleville. Father James McGillivray officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Grant who also accompanied the soloist Robert Burke, brother of the bride.

Given in marriage by another brother Michael Burke, the bride wore a floor length empire styled sleeveless gown of polyester crepe complemented by a full length lace coat having full sleeves and cuffs of lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Terry Williams, Belleville as matron of honor wore a full length empire styled gown of pink and orange shade polyester crepe featuring long full sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink and white mums. Bridesmaids Miss Cathy Parsons, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Colleen Burke, niece of the bride, both of Belleville, Mrs. Eleanor Hume, Burwash, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Jacqueline Ashbone, Bloomfield, also sister of the bride were all dressed identically to the bride, but in shades of green and orange. Each carried a solitaire orange commercial mum.

Gordon Spry was best man, while the ushers were Kenneth Parsons, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Brett, Ian Hebden and James Burke, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall where the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a floor length empire styled gown of crimplene in mauve and white with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Assisting, the bridegroom's mother wore a floor length gown of pink polyester crepe with pink lace coat and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and white 'mums.

For the wedding trip to New York City, the bride donned a two-piece wool pantsuit of red Buchanan tartan with black accessories and a corsage of white 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will reside at 26A Everett Street, Belleville.

Auxiliary's Coffee Shop to Open

The monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary was held Tuesday at Education Hall with the president, Mrs. J. E. Nelles in the chair. The minutes were read by Mrs. P. M. Tiu, recording secretary; and Mrs. H. W. Aylsworth, treasurer, reported a balance of $8,261.78.

Mrs. Nelles expressed the Association's regrets at the resignation, for personal reasons, of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. G. Burt.

Planning committee chairman of the new Coffee and Gift Shops reported that the official opening has been set for the end of November. The workmen have promised to be finished by October 28. Then come the finishing touches, arranging of furniture, and stock. She expressed appreciation to Robert Joy, the administrative assistant, for his help and cooperation.

The Shop's convener, Mrs. S. B. Bechtel, gave her report. Training sessions have already been started for the 175 volunteers who will man the shops. The Gift Shop training is almost completed and the Coffee Shop training will commence as soon as all equipment is in place. She still needs an additional two volunteers for the gift shop and 18 for the Coffee Shop either as spares or on a regular shift. Volunteers are especially needed between 4.15 - 6.30 and 6.30 - 8.15 on week days and 9.30 - 1.45 Saturday. The stock with the exception of perishables has been priced and ready to be put on display.

The Opportunity Shop, the Auxiliaries' chief money raiser celebrated its 25th birthday this month. It started Oct. 2, 1946. Mrs. C. A. Campbell, convener in presented the monthly cheque noted that the first year the shop made $1,730, the second year and third years each $1,000 for the whole year. And now for the month of September they gave $1,500 to the Auxiliary.

Hallowe'en is approaching and Mrs. Allan Twigg, the holiday treats convener will have many tray favors made by the North East District Girl Guides, Moira Division.

After the meeting, the members had a most interesting and informative tour of the laundry. Lionel Cormier, laundry manager, and his assistant, Mrs. Helen Reid explained the workings of this very modern and up to date department. They process approximately 180,000 pounds of laundry a month. The dirty laundry arrives by laundry chute in the sorting room in the basement. Here it is sorted, placed in large plastic bags and sent monorail to the room above where there are four large washers doing 450 pounds of laundry, and one smaller one. Each washer takes 45 minutes a load. Then, washers are placed in the wall and have openings into two rooms. It goes dirty into one side and is taken out clean on the other. The air pressure is lower in the first room so that the flow of air is always from the clean room to the soiled room.

On the clean laundry side it is again taken by monorail either to the dryer, which again holds 450 pounds and dries in 30 minutes, or direct to the linen ironer and folder. The sheets are the linen placed on the machine goes through roller and then folded, all automatically.

The finished laundry is inspected and mended and then sorted on trolleys for delivery to each floor. In the evening. Each floor receives its daily quota of linen in this manner.

The whole operation is handled by 30 employees, who give one the impression of freshness and competence. It is really a most impressive sight, the white walls, the large blue machinery and the men in spotless white, the girls in fresh yellow smocks.

After the tour tea was served in Education Hall by Mrs. G. G. Fields and her committee.

THE ART OF DRYING FLOWERS

"Of what are you afraid, my child?" inquired the kindly teacher.

"Oh, sir! the flowers — they are wild," replied the timid child.

"Such a collection is in keeping with the revival of the Victorian art of pressed flowers. A hobby I find interesting whereby designs and collages created by 'trial and error' prove endless and absorbing."

However, at this time of year, another complimentary hobby takes precedent — commonly known as the art of drying flowers, about which we enquired, and Mrs. Miller continues:

"I try to take time out when the garden and field flowers are plentiful to dry some of them for winter bouquets."

"Does the color fade from the flowers due to the drying process?"

"Not really. They can be as colorful and fresh-appearing as arrangements made from the blooming season. Just careful drying — is the secret."

"When is the best time to select the flowers?"

"A sunny day which assures least moisture within the flowers, and choice flowers with clear colors — bright yellows, good pinks and lavenders are excellent. Roses, dahlias, chrysanthemums, zinnias and calendulas should be cut when in first bloom.

"Wild grasses, too, look best when cut, having dried naturally."

"How does one go about drying the flowers?"

"Some flowers do not need special treatment other than hanging up-side-down in a warm place for ten days or so. Among these are goldenrod, pompon mums, honesty and chives, nearly everlasting, Chinese lantern, and gerardium leaves, — to mention a few.

"But others need a drying medium, and good results may be expected with silica gel (it gives some of the best results), or a mixture of two-thirds borax and one third corn-meal, fine sand or Kitty Litter. Or any commercial drying mediums which contain silica gel is good."

"How, then, is the medium applied?"

"The method is the same for all. Just put an inch of drying medium in the bottom of a small box — pre-named wall-papering box is splendid. or a shoe-box will do). Add flowers, and sift the drying medium among the petals, adding flowers until the box is filled Then cover the box with the lid, put the box away for a week or ten days."

Successful Living

Can You Admit Your Mistakes?

By DORIS CLARK

Why has the Courage to Admit Mistakes? This is a character value suggested as one that ought to be taught somewhere, by somebody.

Parents should do it," for example, according to me. Mothers and fathers are not know-it-alls; even though they often think they have to act that way. Every time a junior learns a new kind of fact from a pal or a teacher, Father inclines to feel inadequate.

Feeling inadequate is o.k. We all have our moments. But the part that takes courage is the man-to-man confrontation which gives proper credit for finding something out; and admits that our knowledge is obsolete, or incomplete. Or our judgment was wrong.

All too often the senior member of this partnership refuses to indignation or an insistence on being right — and there goes that generation gap again—a little wider!

Children should be taught that it is a mark of courage, honesty and grown-up-ness to acknowledge mistakes and ask forgiveness.

Dear Doris: You answered my questions about the eating of salad bods so nicely that I think you should compile an etiquette book, one that would answer the problems of we plainer folk. I, myself, do not attend big dinners nor do I eat out very often; would just like to feel that I am doing the right thing.

Please send me your 20-cent book list of "Manners and Etiquette". And if you think any one particular book would be more to my advantage, would you kindly mark it on the list? — Not A Big Shot.

Dear Not A: According to me, anybody needing help that I can give is a Very Important Person.

I answer etiquette questions because, as a social worker, I see correct deportment as a part of Successful Living. People worry a lot about what other people think and do; and indeed, we do tend to judge people by their manners. We don't always appreciate the diamond in the rough!

I'd say there are already some dandy books on the market about how to do things. The questions I get are slightly off the beaten path, often, and dreaming them up to put in a book might take some imagination!

Dear Doris: Is there any demand for mature women for modelling? I am 50, am considered attractive and I'm still fit and trim.

Now that my family have all left the nest, I have time on my hands to pursue what has always seemed an interesting career to me. — A Fan of Yours.

Dear Fan: The very time to try it; and I'm told there is a demand for mature models, especially in the larger cities.

Look in the Yellow Pages for a charm school or modelling school where you are. They can give you training and contacts. Good luck!

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONWELL

Can marriage [illegible] love?

NOT if experienced in the usual order. First comes love, then marriage, then the baby carriage after stages is often a futile venture. Looking ahead too quickly to marriage before love comes can also cause love to come a cropper. This can happen when seemingly insurmountable obstacles to marriage overshadow love. Generally, though, if the likelihood of marriage is delayed until the proper sequence, love may develop and then the next logical step child's rest is necessary to his physical and mental health. He is going to want to stay awake; but when he can't right sleep any longer, he wants his parents with him when he does drop off. His mother and father, though, should see that a tot develops good sleep habits. This way he is sure to get his rest and he will develop his self-confidence by being able to overcome the natural fear of almost all young children: going to sleep.

Do con men really outsmart victims?

YES, but they're not always smarter. Con men simply happen to be good students of human nature. They know that a "lapse," for instance, expects that if he is going to get something for nothing, there must be something fishy somewhere. So the victim doesn't check too thoroughly into the scheme offered by the con men; he is afraid he will find some hanky-panky, and yet he [illegible] he would almost be disappointed if he didn't.

Women's Institutes

MOUNTAIN VIEW WI

MOUNTAIN VIEW — The October meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute was held in the form of a tour of the Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville. Mrs. Ken Woodall, convener for education and cultural activities, made the arrangements.

Mr. Kilcher met the women and then introduced Mr. Williams, vice-principal of the Senior School, who acted as guide. The women were then divided in groups and visited the math class and reading class. In the reading classes, the visitors tested ear phones which the students use during class instruction. Other areas visited included the Home economics class, boy's occupational classes and the pool and gymnasium.

Following this interesting tour, the women moved to the home of Mrs. Eleanor Revill, Massassaga where the business meeting was held.

An invitation was accepted from Greenbush Women's Institute for Oct. 18. A bus trip is being planned for the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, on Nov. 15.

Ann Landers

Husband and Pals Ruin Furniture

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is 40 years old and in excellent physical condition, has several young men in his employ. Most of them are in their late teens and early 20s.

They are nice fellows and we have made them feel welcome in our home. The problem is that husband likes to wrestle with those young guys and they have just about torn our house apart. The sofa springs are broken and the stuffing is coming out. The good leather chair in the living room has a big hole in it and our rugs have slits from where the boys have dug in their heels. Every table has been knocked over and the lampshades are bent out of shape.

I'm not a person who places a high value on material things, but I hate to see damage like this. It makes no sense. When I told my husband he couldn't have the young men in the house anymore unless they stopped the wrestling matches he became furious—said it was his house as well as mine and that he didn't need permission to have friends in. The last thing he said was, "I'm going to write to Ann Landers about this."

Did he write to you, Ann? If so, what did you tell him? I've been watching the mails and haven't seen anything from you. Maybe he asked you to write to him at his place of work. Please inform me.—G.L.

Dear G.L.: Sorry, but I never divulge information concerning my correspondence. If you want answers to these questions, ask your husband.

Dear Ann Landers: A rousing wrah rises in me as I write regarding the Wright-wrought monster, reigning in otherwise restful skies, wrecking repose and tranquility. This restlessness resists relief. I pray for regeneration. My zeal is rent at the roar that wrucks reserve as I write, reaching for respite. Is it wrong to be resentful at this repetitious raiding of my rest? I rejoice at the reflection of residential relocation, but my recalcitrant husband resists reality and with rancor.—Raving For Release

Dear Raving: Apparently you are freaked out on R's today, but I managed to break the code. It seems the noise from the planes overhead is driving you bonkers and you want to move away from the airport, but your husband says no.

My advice is to find some attractive homes or apartments and take him to see them. The continuous roar of overhead jets can create havoc with the nervous system.

Dear Ann: How about setting an agreement? My husband and I go round and round about this everytime we attend a funeral.

I say the invitation is an expression of appreciation to those who have taken the time and the trouble, particularly those who come a great distance. Often attending a funeral means the loss of a day's wages. It could also mean skipping breakfast and lunch. "Come back to the house" is a nice way of saying, "Thank you for putting yourself out." Who is right about this, he or I?—Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: You are both right. All your reasons make sense and so do his.

Postal Strike Said Probable

HALIFAX (CP) — An official of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers says there is a strong possibility of a national strike by the 27,000 postal workers and letter carriers.

Don McAvoy, treasurer of the Halifax local, said Friday the big issue in contract talks with the government is job security while wages are a secondary issue.

Mr. McAvoy, former president of the local, said the workers are worried about their jobs in the face of increasing automation.

He said timing of a strike would depend on a conciliation board report being prepared in Ottawa and the government's reaction to the report.

The board report is expected in about 14 days and the postal employees would have to give seven days notification of strike action.

Grants Fall

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario universities will be short millions of dollars in revenue this year because the enrolment increase was one per cent instead of the expected six per cent.

Universities, which get grants from the provincial government on a per-student basis, had set their budgets expecting the higher enrolment figure.

There are 132,853 full-time students in the universities and colleges.

Hoax Charged

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — The Artario 72 art project sponsored by the Ontario Council for the Arts was described Thursday as a "hoax" and a "ripoff" by members of the Lambton County separate school board.

The board purchased the inside gallery in a box for about $200 on the recommendation of a ministry of education art consultant without having seen it.

Deadlock

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — A mistrial was declared Friday in the securities violation case of millionaire Glenn Turner after the foreman of the six-member jury said the jury was hopelessly deadlocked.

Turner was charged with 65 counts of violating the state's Uniform Securities Act by selling unregistered securities and failing to register as a dealer.

Adjourn

FREDERICTON (CP) — The Irving newspaper combines trial has adjourned until Monday with signs that it will not be finished before November. There are even suggestions the case will not end here, but will wind up eventually in the Supreme Court of Canada.

Pork Scarce

CALGARY (CP) — The Alberta hog industry is having difficulty keeping up with the demand for pork, say officials of the Alberta Hog Producers Marketing Board.

Striker Fined

Wayne Zettler, 20, of Kitchener was fined $200 and placed on probation for one year Friday when he was convicted of an assault arising out of an incident at the strikebound Dare Foods Ltd. of Kitchener.

New Bible

LONDON (Reuter) — A new edition of the Bible, intended for joint use by all Christians, was announced Friday by its English-language publishers, Collins.

Called the Common Bible, a revised standard version, it is to be launched Jan. 18 to coincide with the international week of prayer for Christian unity.

Ask Views

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Movement of Quebecers Friday called on all candidates in the Oct. 30 federal election to voice publicly their opinions on the principle of self-determination for Quebec.

"To recognize the right of a people or nation to freely choose their own future does not necessarily signify support for their independence," said movement president Jacques-Yvan Morin in an open letter in Le Devoir.

No Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Democratic Party said Friday that the Liberals have rejected a CBC proposal to hold a televised debate among the four party leaders. In a news release, the NDP said it now is clear that the Liberal party "has chosen to scuttle this opportunity for Canadians." It said the Conservatives and the Social Credit along with the NDP accepted a CBC format for the debate. The Liberals rejected the format without suggesting an alternative.

Heckled

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) — Real Caouette, Social Credit Leader, said Friday night that young people today don't take things seriously and that it is unfortunate they appear to be ready to overthrow everything.

Mr. Caouette, who was heckled at a junior college meeting in Rimouski Thursday said:

"They had the freedom to boo me but in a socialist country they would have been thrown in jail for that. They are too stupid to appreciate their freedom."

Luxury for Truckers

A prototype version of transcontinental truck cab which incorporates several innovations in comfort was shown at recent Commercial Motor Show in London. All the main controls, including radio and radio telephone are grouped around the steering wheel within easy reach of the driver. A wash basin with hot and cold water, a large shaving mirror and electric shaving socket are built into the cab. Two bunks, each with foam mattresses, have their own individual light source, directional face vent and clock. A system of full-width visors and blinds provide the occupants with complete privacy and a combination of sound deadening materials help cut down road noise. (CP Photo)

Escapee Is Found Murdered

MONTREAL (CP) — A man shot to death in a field near St. Louis de Terrebonne, 20 miles north of here, Wednesday was identified Friday as penitentiary escapee Richard Joy, a native of Simcoe, Ont.

Quebec Provincial Police said Joy, who was serving 10 years for armed robbery at the medium security Leclerc Institute, escaped July 22 with Marcel Chartrand and Gilles Roy.

Roy was caught by security guards shortly after the break. He was serving eight years for robbery at the time.

Chartrand, sentenced to 10 years for armed robbery, is still at large.

Close Check On 'Tourists' From Jamaica

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the Immigration department has ordered stringent checks on "tourists" from South America and the Caribbean who come to Canada intending to seek landed immigrant status.

The newspaper says immigration officers at Toronto International Airport have been told to confiscate tickets and passports of arriving tourists they suspect may try to stay on beyond their vacation visa period and ask for cash bonds against departure, if they feel it justified.

Toronto Nats Bring Out the Alley in Cats

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Belleville Alleycats took the measure of the Toronto Young Maoochists Friday in what could be described as a hard hitting hockey game. Of course regarding last night's encounter as "hard hitting hockey" would be much the same as classing the Korean War as an "international debate".

It was unfortunate that a series of second class fights obscured some first class hockey in which the Bobcats bested the Young Nationals 5-3 for their third Toronto Metro Junior B win in as many starts.

Referee Don Ogden had to shoulder some of the blame as he appeared to be a little lax in calling only one minor penalty in the first period. Bodychecks turned to bobs in the second frame as four altercations broke out and again late in the third when another four battles took place.

The Bobcats face the possibility of losing three of their four regular defencemen for one game, when Darryl Cole, Tim Yohn and Neil Turner drew fighting penalties in the game's final five minutes. Manager Jim Matthews was uncertain after the contest whether the threesome would have to sit out Sunday's bout in Wexford or could be reinstated by payment of fines to the league executive.

One Bobcat who showed he'd rather switch than fight was Rob Foster, who was moved from his normal portside position to right wing on a line with centre Rick Meagher and juvenile call-up Mark Coates. Foster responded with a pair of first period goals and added an assist on Meagher's game-winning tally.

"The only difference is that you have to take a lot of passes on your backhand. It doesn't matter whether I play right or left," said Foster of the switch.

Belleville coach Moe Hunter agreed that: "Yes, I guess you could say we were a little aggressive out there," smiling slightly at his understatement. "We made some defensive mistakes by running around in our own end."

Defenceman Tim Yohn drew some words of praise for his Friday night effort. "Tim's been playing really well defensively for us," said Hunter. "He was about the only one hitting out there." The Belleville coach was referring to Yohn's checking abilities, although he also more than managed to hold his own in a third period scrap with hefty Torontonian Warren Holmes.

Another Bobcat who earned Hunter's accolades was goaltender Bob Moore, who held his season goals - against average to 2.67 despite the fact that Belleville was outshot 38-29 in the contest. Moore was particularly sharp in the game's opening minutes when he made key stops on Dave Aitken and Gord Ulman of Toronto.

Rearguard Wally Dalnard showed signs of assuming the "offenceman' role of last year's team captain John Mulvihill as he lugged the puck out of the Belleville end effectively. He was also quick to point out to his teammates that "I only took one penalty tonight." The rookie defenceman had been given the nickname of "Slash" Dalnard after drawing five penalties in last Sunday's 3-2 win over Markham.

Foster opened the game's scoring when he beat Nats' goalie John Sidey from close in after being left unchecked at the right of the Toronto crease.

Peter O'Boyle squared matters at 1-1 with an unassisted effort from a face-off in the Belleville end, but Dave Horwood gave the home team the lead once again by sinking Neil Turner's rebound after the defenceman was sent into the clear by Mike Watt.

Watt later incurred a Charleyhorse that forced him to leave the game, while centre Paul Lavender suffered a pulled groin muscle.

Two quick second period goals by Gord Ulman stalemated the contest at 3-3 until Meagher scored the eventual winner on a 40-foot drive with only 54 seconds remaining in the period. Wayne McGeachy added Belleville's insurance tally in the final frame.

Summary

TORONTO — Goal — Sidey. Assists: Sidey, Horwood. Penalties — Ulman, Turner, Holmes, Tapping, Holmes, Delaney.

FIRST PERIOD

1. Belleville — Foster (Meagher, Cooley) 2.27
2. Toronto — Aitken (unassisted) 10.20
3. Belleville — Horwood (Watt, Lavender) 13.56
4. Toronto — Ulman (Cosens, Fiscelli) 16.18

Kickers Fighting For Zero

BCI and Trenton senior soccer teams will battle it out Monday afternoon to see which of the Bay of Quinte high school teams loses its zero status.

Both teams have wrapped up respective conference titles as the Bay of Quinte season enters its final week of regular-season play, and both put undefeated records on the line in Monday's 3:30 Trenton game.

Other senior playoff positions go right down to the wire, being decided in Macdoc-Moira, and OSD-Centennial matchups later in the week.

In junior action, Centennial carries a three-point western division bulge into the last week's action, but second-place Bayside has two games remaining in their schedule.

Meanwhile, the eastern junior race may be decided on goal averages. BCI and Moira sport identical 4-1-0 records, with the Collegians holding a slight (.3) edge in goal spread.

Quarter Worth $100 To Centennial Coach

How time flies when you're having fun. The final minute of Friday's senior Bay of Quinte OSSAA football meeting between BCI and Centennial appeared to substantiate that statement.

"It seemed like the minute flag was up there for hours," said BCI head coach Bill Miller who watched his team scored eight points in the final minute of the game.

"Time just ran on us. I'd have given a hundred dollars for another quarter," speculated Centennial Pat Carty whose Chargers were attempting a desperate comeback.

Despite the green-and-gold's late scoring heroics, it was BCI who had the final satisfaction, recording a 26-21 victory. The win gives the Collegians a 2-2 season record, while Centennial slipped to 2-3.

"I was pleased with the way that we were able to control the ball. It's something that we haven't been able to do in many of our games," said the winning coach.

Peter LeBaron scored for BCI on a 40-yard run early in the game, but was rested for the remainder after sustaining a minor leg injury. Defensive corner Glenn Gray added another major with a 40-yard return of a recovered fumble, while Keith Wallace caught a 15-yard scoring pass and Rick Bell made a four-yard touchdown run for the winners.

Quarterback Russ Simonds keyed the Junior Collegians' attack, scoring one touchdown himself and tossing scoring passes to ends Larry Wilson and Rick Hounslow as BCI upped their season's record to 3-2.

The Simonds - to - Hounslow connection' collayed 90 yards on the air and ground.

Wemp Leaving Mark On Frontenac Downs

KINGSTON — Hugh Wemp has left his mark on Frontenac Downs over the past few months since the track opened for its second season.

The Centreville driver is the leader in wins, earnings and last Wednesday night slipped back to second place in percentage race.

And Sunday afternoon Wemp will try to leave the mark of Zorro on the feature field at the Downs. Wemp pilots Trenton's Stan Klemenic - owned pacer Zorro Grattan against a field of six in the premier race of the afternoon.

John Renaud has Earle Allan's Mighty Flyer set to go, as are Phillbilie, Earlylace John, Ruth's Daisy, John's Prince and Bonded Stock.

Bonded Stock is fresh from winning in record time (2:08 2-5) last Wednesday and since moving to the John Hanbach stable appears to be back on the winning track.

Post time for the exciting 10-race card will be 1:45 p.m.

Nats' VP Fired

OTTAWA (CP) — Vice-president Bill Page of the Ottawa Nationals was fired Thursday by the World Hockey Association club.

Page, with the team as a marketing authority since its inception earlier this year, said at a news conference after the Ottawa team won Thursday's over Chicago Cougars that "I knew my days were numbered."

"I overestimated what we'd do at the box office as late as 48 hours before the opening game . . . I guess I got carried away with optimism and enthusiasm.

"This is a hockey operation and the hockey will sell it. I'm basically a marketing guy and for what it was worth I think I did help establish some identity for the Nationals."

Not Good for Openers

Belleville Bobcats got off on the wrong foot in Friday night's Metro Junior B League game, with Dave Aitken giving Toronto Nationals a 1-0 lead after only 2.27 of play despite the defensive efforts of goalie Bob Moore and defencemen Dave Flesch. But the Bobcats rebounded to record a 5-3 win, their third straight against no losses to continue their early-season success in their first year of play in the ten-team Metro junior hockey group.

Foresters Right at Home in Senior Hockey

Brantford Foresters won their third home game in as many starts Friday, dumping the visiting Belleville Quinte 6-1 after jumping out to a 4-0 first - period lead.

Belleville goes Owen Sound and Kingston as senior clubs who have taken their lumps before Brantford records as the new league entry pushed their record to 3-2 while dropping the Quintes to 2-3.

"They hustled real well — they did everything we didn't do," was acting Belleville coach Lionel Bolly's synopsis of the game, which Brantford led 1-0 on Dave Johnson's first of three opening period goals after only 2.06 of play.

Jim Reid also scored a first-period goal for the Foresters with Bill Robb and Ted Gerlach rounding out the Brantford scoring 37 seconds apart in the game's dying minutes.

"They're not like a first-year team," Bolly remarked of the Foresters, who make their first appearance in Belleville Memorial Arena Sunday evening in a 7.30 rematch.

"I saw a lot of familiar faces out there," Bolly referred to such senior - experienced performers as all - star defenceman Mike Corbett (Galt, Orillia), John Hall, (Orillia), playing-coach Chuck Kelly (Oakville) Don Fraser (Barrie) and Bob Graham (Woodstock).

The Foresters, who have been trying to get into the OHA Senior loop for the past three seasons, were built around a sturdy Intermediate A hockey nucleus of seven members of the 1970 Ontario champions who lost only four games all season.

Brantford was awarded a senior hockey franchise this summer, when the ailing Woodstock A's finally dropped out of the league after some disastrous seasons at the gate and on the ice.

In their first home game of season the Foresters recorded their first senior hockey win by 2-1 over Owen Sound before over 2,000 fans.

Ticats Narrow Choice

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

While Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers meet tonight at Hamilton in what many believe will be the forerunner of the Canadian Football League final, Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes stage a crucial showdown Sunday at Montreal.

An Ottawa loss could all but upset their bid for first place in the Eastern Conference. They trail the Toats by two points and, after the weekend, have only two scheduled games to Hamilton's one.

The Ticats, meanwhile, are slight favorites against Winnipeg Western Conference leaders, at Ivor Wynne Stadium where the Grey Cup game is set for Dec. 3.

The Ottawa-Montreal game to the Als means an opportunity to pad their third-place standing in the East over Toronto Argonauts. Those late-season rally has left them just two points away from second-place berth.

The Als wind up their season the following Sunday while Toronto has two more chances to close the gap—on Saturday at home with Ottawa and the following Sunday in Hamilton.

Ottawa's complete turnabout over their previous two seasons has earned coach Jack Gotta the CFL's coach of the year award.

The Als, however, are aware of the urgency of the situation and coach Sam Etcheverry took steps Friday to bolster his club. He declared defensive halfback Al Butler on option and added Wes Grant, a defensive end to the lineup.

The 'Riders will also have a new name for their offensive unit. Taster, a 5-foot-8, 285-pound offensive tackle, left of the NFL Washington Redskins and Buffalo Bills, is expected to ease some of the burden on veteran Moe Racine.

"Als have to win to stay alive and they'll be rough," Gotta admitted. He said he hoped Taster would help muzzle the Montreal running game that has been Als big threat in recent games.

The Montreal game will be carried on CTV's eastern network starting at 2 p.m. EDT.

Odom Bumps Ump

John "Blue Moon" Odom of the Oakland A's bumps into Umpire Bob Engel after Odom was called out at the plate in the ninth inning of Friday's World Series game, giving the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory. Campy Campaneris sent a foul ball along first base line, caught by the Reds' Joe Morgan who relayed to the plate to catch Odom coming home for a double play that ended the game. (AP Wirephoto)

Sandusky Gets Fiery Baptism

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Sandusky couldn't have chosen a more opportune—or, perhaps, inopportune—time to make his debut as the head coach of Baltimore's staggering Colts.

Sandusky was a defensive coach under Don McCafferty before the Colts, with only one victory in five games this National Football League season, fired McCafferty.

Sandusky takes his team into New York's Shea Stadium Sunday to face the Jets, a team which blasted the Baltimore defence for 573 yards en route to a 44-34 victory a month ago.

The Jets used a powerful aerial attack in that victory as Joe Namath connected for 496 yards and six touchdowns, three of them to Richard Caster.

Last Sunday, though, New York displayed another side—a crunching ground game—as Emerson Boozer and John Riggins combined for 218 yards and four touchdowns in a 41-13 rout of New England Patriots.

And while the Jets are primarily concerned with catching Miami's unbeaten Dolphins, the Colts are concerned with catching everyone in the American Conference East. The Jets are 3-2 while New England and Buffalo Bills are 2-3.

Sunday's other NFL games have Dallas Cowboys at Washington Redskins, Cincinnati Bengals at Los Angeles Rams, Buffalo at Detroit, Denver Broncos at Oakland Raiders, Atlanta Falcons at Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee, San Diego Chargers at Detroit Lions, St. Louis Cardinals against the Giants in New York, New England at Pittsburgh Steelers, New Orleans Saints at San Francisco 49ers, Philadelphia Eagles at Kansas City Chiefs and Cleveland Browns at Houston Oilers.

Dallas and Washington, both 4-1 in the NFC East, have solid defences.

Dallas hasn't allowed a touchdown in the last six quarters. Washington, in its last eight periods of play.

The Bengals-Rams game features another battle of divisional leaders—but not the same one. Cincinnati, with a mark, leads the American Conference's Central loop while Los Angeles, at 3-1-1, is atop the NFC West.

The Bills will give Miami's Earl Morrall his first full-game test. Morrall replaced Bob Griese, who may miss the rest of the season with a fractured leg and dislocated ankle, last Sunday against San Diego.

Juniors Tuning Up

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Regina Rams, defending Canadian junior football champions, are idle this weekend but there's action aplenty elsewhere leading to the national final at Saskatoon on Nov. 11.

Ottawa Sooners, back in junior ball after competing in the senior classification for a couple of years, surprised Vernon Invictus 30-14 in the first of their two-game total-point series last Sunday.

Second game of the Eastern Canada semi-final playoff if set for Sunday, the winner to go against Hamilton Hurricanes who topped Scarborough Rams 16-3 Friday to take the two game series 21-14. That sudden-death game will be at the home of the Quebec winner.

Calgary Colts stopped Edmonton Huskies 21-13 at Edmonton in the third game of their best-of-three Alberta final to and meet the British Columbia champion Vancouver Meralomas in a sudden-death Western Canada semi-final Sunday in Vancouver.

The winner of that game meets Regina in the western finals. The Rams won the Manitoba Saskatchewan crown last Saturday, drubbing Saskatoon Hilltops 43-8 and 74-33 in their two-game total point round.

Chargers Won't Sell Thomas

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Owner Eugene Klein says San Diego Chargers rejected "a very, very substantial offer" by Houston Oilers to buy reluctant running back Duane Thomas.

After that, said Klein, "they came back with even a better offer and we said we have no interest at all."

The former Dallas Cowboy running back is "absolutely not on the trading block," Klein was quoted Friday in an interview.

Thomas has twice appeared for practice with the National Football League Chargers but is reported to want his $30,000 contract raised manyfold.

Bright Oakland Sunshine Opens Reds' Hitting Eyes

OAKLAND (AP) — A base-ball game in bright sunshine can really open your eyes. Look what it did for Bobby Tolan and the rest of the Cincinnati Reds.

"It's better hitting the ball here in the daytime," said Tolan after driving in two runs to lead the Reds to Oakland 3-4 in the fifth game of World Series Friday at the sun-flooded Oakland Coliseum.

The Reds, who had trouble hitting in the twilight in two previous games at Oakland, cut the Athletics margin in the series to 3-2 with their biggest run production so far.

Friday's afternoon game was made possible by an earlier rainout that had the series moved back to Cincinnati today for game No. 6 at Riverfront Stadium.

Apparently some of the other Reds felt right at home in an afternoon game, too. Pete Rose hit Jim (Catfish) Hunter's first pitch for a home run and Dennis Menke drilled another one into the seats three innings later.

The circuit shots were the first for Cincinnati in this best-of-seven-game series.

"At Cincinnati, we hit the ball at Oakland," said Tolan, referring to the first two low-scoring games of the series which the Reds lost. "Today, we hit like we were supposed to."

Hunter, who allowed just one run for the Reds in eight innings while winning game No. 2, had an idea that things weren't going to be the same today.

The Athletics' 21-game winner had a 4-2 lead going into the fifth inning, but had to leave after Tolan knocked in the Reds' third run with a single. Rollie Fingers, who has pitched in every series game this far, shut off the Reds' threat then, but later gave up the tying run on another base hit by Tolan in the eighth and the winning run on Rose's single in the ninth.

Rose had delivered only one hit in 15 at bats before going 3-for-3 Friday. He also had a single in the third inning.

"I was so happy about today," said the fiery Rose, who also made some spectacular plays in left field.

The Reds appeared on the brink of elimination at Cincinnati's three-run homer—his fourth of the series—in the second inning gave the Athletics a 3-1 lead.

The capacity crowd of 48,410 gave Tenace a standing ovation as he crossed home plate after putting one over the left field fence off Cincinnati starter Jim McGlothlin.

Only four others players in

history have belted four in a World Series—Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Duke Snider and Hank Bauer. No player has hit three homers in a series.

Rose's home run in the first inning did a lot for our dugout until Tenace hit that three-run shot," said Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson.

But the Reds' dugout came to life again—and the partisan crowd quieted down—when the National League champions cut the Oakland lead to 5-4 on Menke's home run down the left field line.

Gonzalo Marquez, who tied a World Series record two-pinch hits with three, gave the home team a 4-3 edge with a run-scoring single in the fourth.

Joe Morgan, Tolan and Rose—three players who hasn't done much in this series—then proved the undoing of the American League champions.

Morgan walked with two out in the fifth inning and came all the way home after getting a big base when Tolan drilled a line-drive single to right-centre. Morgan's speed also paid off again in the eighth when he swallow-slide second and headed home to tie the contest 4-4 on Tolan's base hit.

Al'ay Rose knocked in the winning run in the ninth inning. It was Morgan's arm—not his legs—that saved the game for Cincinnati.

Oakland had runners on first and third with one out on a walk to Tenace and a pinch-hit single by Dave Duncan. Bert Campaneris lifted a dying fly in foul territory along the first base line that Morgan gobbled.

But John (Blue Moon) Odom, who had entered in a third-for-second a chance to score. He raced home, but was cut down on Morgan's throw to catcher Johnny Bench for a double play that ended it, although Morgan slipped on the heavy turf just before making the throw.

"It's a gamble—and we took it," said Oakland manager Dick Williams. "Morgan had to throw a strike—and he did. It was a great play, and we came out on the short end of it."

Williams sent Vida Blue to the mound against the Reds in an attempt to nail down the series today. Anderson planned to go with either Gary Nolan or Ross Grimsley, who was the winner in relief Friday.

Bang-bang Ending Silences A's Coach

OAKLAND (AP) — Irv Noren, third base coach for Oakland Athletics, thought back to the bang-bang ending of the fifth World Series game and said: "I don't want to talk about it."

Later, as the A's packed their bags for Friday night's unwanted trip to Cincinnati, the coach did talk of the play that sent John Odom toward the plate to the game-ending double play in the 5-4 loss to Cincinnati Reds.

"It's a little play we have where both runners tag up. He's (Odom) supposed to go if he thinks he can make it," Noren said.

Pinch runner Odom, who will be the A's starting pitcher Sunday if a seventh game is necessary, had the gambling decision to make—whether to tag up and try for home on Bert Campaneris' foul pop to Reds' second baseman Joe Morgan behind first base.

"I was going all the way," said Odom. "I broke even before I got off."

Morgan slipped on the muddy turf and slammed down to his knee before throwing home to nail Odom. "I don't know who called it," Odom said. "I was safe," said later. "He was dead. It wouldn't even have been close if the guy hadn't slipped."

Bando made a slight slip behind third and a ground ball in the reds' half of the inning when Oakland fielding goofs helped the winning run score.

"Everybody was slipping and sliding," the A's third baseman said.

"We blew it," said Bando.

Morgan Was Ready For Odom

OAKLAND (AP) — Little Joe Morgan said he wasn't surprised when Oakland's John Odom tried to score on the final play of Friday's tense fifth World Series game.

"I've played this game eight years," the Cincinnati second baseman said in the Reds' jubilant clubhouse after the game "and nothing's going to surprise me."

Morgan snagged Bert Campaneris' foul pop behind second base for the second out in the A's ninth, and pinch-runner John Odom, the potential tying run, streaked off third base, drawing a bead on home plate.

"I got the ball and looked around 'and I saw him go," Morgan said. "But I slipped before I threw.

"When I knew, I knew as soon as I let it go that we had him. When I saw where the throw was, I knew he was out."

Odom slammed into Reds catcher Johnny Bench, who was waiting with the ball, and Bench tagged Odom for the final out.

"I saw him leave third in a hurry," Bench said, resting his bruised body on a locker room bench

"When we slipped, I knew it could be close. I knew I had to take the ball to him.

Manager Sparky Anderson, who said before Friday's game he still favored the Reds to win the series in seven games, professed no surprise that Odom was running on the crucial final play.

"I was only hoping that Joe had seen him," Anderson said.

Braves Lose Game Despite Dumping 58 Points in Quarter

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boston Celtics won three quarters and they won the game, but Buffalo Braves won the final period in record fashion.

The Celtics, 5-0 in the young National Basketball Association season, nearly ran the Braves off the court for three quarters, running up a lead of 43 points.

The Braves came back, however, in the fourth period to score 58 points and established a league record for points in a single period.

At the buzzer the Celtics were still on top 136-118 and all the Braves' shotgun scoring had accomplished was to make the final score respectable.

Dave Cowens led the Celtics with 24 points and 15 rebounds while forward Paul Silas had 16 points and 17 rebounds.

Randy Smith paced the Buffalo attack with 27 points, 21 of those coming in the last period.

The previous one-quarter high in the NBA was 54 by the Celtics against San Diego on Feb. 25, 1970.

In other NBA games, New York Knicks beat Cleveland Cavaliers 92-89, Milwaukee Bucks stopped Detroit Pistons 109-86, Houston Rockets whipped Atlanta Hawks 120-106, Golden State Warriors topped Seattle SuperSonics 101-92 and Los Angeles Lakers beat Portland Trail Blazers 126-104.

Walt Frazier hit for 32 points and had seven assists for New York to keep Cleveland without an NBA victory this season.

Bob Dandridge led Milwaukee with 27 points and Dick Cunningham, subbing for ailing Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, hit a career-high 19.

Houston pulled out its victory despite 39 points from Atlanta's Pete Maravich. Jimmy Walker scored 27 points to lead the Rockets.

Jeff Mullins led Golden State with 28 points.

Starting forwards Happy Hairston and Jim McMillian each tallied 20 points for Los Angeles, which had seven players in double figures.

Seals Harm Coach's Health

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Garry Young is not a well man. And it's a guess like Fred Astaire's going to improve the normally placid disposition of the California Golden Seals' coach-general manager.

Young, a soft-spoken 37-year-old who wheeled and dealed last year to make the Seals respectable only to lose several key figures to the rival World Hockey Association, entered the 1972-73 campaign still eager despite still being in the recovery stages of a hiatus hernia and lung operation in July.

The Seals, with only one win in nine in five National Hockey League games, were saved from their fourth loss Friday night when Jerry Johnston and Walt McKechnie scored 20 seconds apart late in the game to salvage a 3-3 tie with Philadelphia Flyers in the league's only scheduled game.

Both clubs are the only idle NHL teams tonight with Detroit Red Wings visit Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Canadiens are at home to Vancouver Canucks, New York rivals Rangers and Islanders meet at the Nassau County Coliseum, Boston Bruins go against the Penguins at Pittsburgh, Chicago Black Hawks visit Los Angeles Kings, Atlanta Flames are in Minnesota against Minnesota North Stars and Buffalo Sabres are in St. Louis against the Blues.

California gets back in action at home Sunday against Chicago while Montreal visits the Rangers, Toronto returns to Detroit, Vancouver is in Boston and Atlanta moves into Buffalo.

Seals opened the scoring on a first-period goal by defenceman Dick Redmond, but the Flyers surged back with three second-period scores by Ros Lonsberry, Rick MacLeish and Bill Flett a sixth goal in six games.

That set the stage for California's rapid recovery by Johnston, at 20:36 of the final period, and McKechnie at 20:56.

Toronto fitness instructor Lloyd Percival has a more-than-passing interest in the Red Wings' visit. Pursuing what he calls the scientific path of Total Tempo, the Detroit team' is away to its fastest start in the club's 47-year-history.

Their 4-0 record leaves them just one point behind Buffalo in the East, and Percival, as fitness consultant, hopes to have them playing 60 minutes full-out hockey in every game this year.

Percival's methods of preparation have been applauded by former Soviet coach Anatoli Tarasov who has credited much of the progress with preparing the Russian national team for its recent series with Team Canada's NHL professionals.

Toronto coach John McLellan said Friday was unalleviated as Jacques Plante is finally going to get a breather—but not right away. The 43-year-old netminder has been in all five Leaf games to date. He'll face Detroit tonight, but it will be rookie Ron Low's turn Sunday.

Knudson Retains Second

NAPA, Calif. (CP—AP) — Toronto's George Knudson, fighting for a spot on next year's exempt list, drifted two strokes off the pace Friday but still held down second place in the $150,000 Kaiser International golf tournament.

The 35-year-old PGA tour veteran fired a 69 to go with Thursday's 66. Arnold Palmer birdied six of the last seven holes for a 67 and the 36-hole lead at 133, 11 under par.

"I can't remember when I started that well," the 43-year-old Palmer said after he played the back nine at the Silverado Country Club course used only 11 strokes on the greens with an old putter.

Knudson, a pro-winner for two years, remained one stroke ahead of Bud Allin, who put together his second 68 and was three back at 136.

Bob Rosburg of Toronto, the only other Canadian here, had a 73 Friday to go with his disastrous 80 on Thursday. His 155 missed the halfway cut.

Billy Casper, grabbing a slump that has plagued him since he won the Masters a year ago, blazed in with a 66 and was tied at 137 with Grier Jones, Jim Colbert, Allen Rissell and Bobby Mitchell.

Jack Nicklaus stumbled around with a 71, including four bogeys and commented: "It was kind of rugged. I just played too many bad holes."

It took a score of 146 or better to make the cut for the final two rounds. Among the casualties were former Masters champ Kermit Zarley, Deane Beman and big George Archer, winner of two titles and some $140,000 already this season.

Castor Oiler Scoring at Goal-a-Game Clip

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Walters' main claim to fame around Edmonton earlier this year was his ability to score goals at a junior there with the Oil Kings.

Four years of minor pro hockey have elapsed since he graduated in 1969, all of it spent in the Detroit Red Wing farm system.

But the 24-year-old native of Castor, Alta., about 100 miles southeast of the Alberta capital, has been going at a goal-a-game clip since he returned with Alberta Oilers of the fledgling World Hockey Association.

He scored three Friday night, giving him six in Alberta's six games, as the Oilers trounced winless Philadelphia Blazers 4-1 to move two points ahead of Los Angeles Sharks and Houston Aeros atop the Western Division race.

In the only other scheduled game, Winnipeg's Joe Daley rod Mike Curran of Minnesota put on an airtight goaltending exhibition as the Jets and Fighting Saints battled to a 1-1 sudden-death tie.

With 4,929 fans in attendance, the Oilers blitzed Philadelphia's defence with 39 shots at goaltender Bernie Parent and sent the Blazers down to their fourth defeat.

Walters' third goal of the night came with 29 seconds remaining in the game and Parent benched in favor of a sixth attacker by playing-coach John McKenzie.

Rusty Patenaude, who scored the other Alberta goal, also picked up two assists for the Oilers who spotted Philadelphia the opening score.

Rocket Retires Even

QUEBEC (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard, former hockey star with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, retired from professional coaching Friday with a 1-1 record.

Richard, who received a standing ovation last week at the first home game of Quebec Les Nordiques of the World Hockey Association, said his attempt to coach the fledgling hockey team was "a challenge which I tried to take on, but in vain."

Richard guided Les Nordiques to a 4-0 victory over Alberta Oilers and to a 2-0 loss to Cleveland Crusaders.

A club spokesman said Richard had resigned in his capacity as coach but suggested he may return in some other capacity.

ROCKET RICHARD

"The two parties want to retain a close relationship," the spokesman said, adding that Richard would remain Bleu-Blanc-Rouge Racine, Les Nordiques president, to discuss his future with the club.

The retirement was predicted in Quebec City and Montreal since last Monday, when the former NHL goal-scoring record-holder took a leave of absence.

Mrs. Richard said earlier this week her husband felt extreme pressure in the unfamiliar role behind the bench. It was his first professional coaching job.

"Coaching is too much for Maurice," she said. "He played the game for 25 years under all that tension and he can't take it!

Richard, who played 18 seasons with the Canadiens, was never more a "Life's too short," I told him."

"But he wanted to try it because he wanted to find out. Now he knows he must have another life, a quiet one."

Richard was elected to hockey's Hall of Fame in 1961 after an 18-year NHL career as a right winger with the Canadiens, during which he scored 544 goals.

Frazier Finally Signs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joe Frazier has signed a contract to defend his world heavyweight boxing championship against George Foreman Jan. 22 in Jamaica. Frazier's manager, Yancey Durham, announced Friday. The World Boxing Council had threatened to withdraw its recognition of Frazier's title and semi-title grams Thursday if Frazier-Durham. Foreman and his manager, Dick Sadler, giving them 48 hours to set a date for the bout.

CRIME LINK WITH UMPS?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Col. Thomas Smith, head of the Maryland state police, said Friday he will turn over to major league baseball officials a report of an investigation into an alleged link between a Baltimore man charged with gambling violations and 11 major league baseball umpires. Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Thursday he was investigating reports that the names of 11 American League umpires were found in an address book of a Baltimore man charged with gambling.

CALGARY (CP) — The Canadian Gymnastic Federation announced Friday that a 16 member team from China will tour Canada next July, providing four gymnastic demonstrations and taking part in a meet against a Canadian squad. Sites and dates for the visit, to begin that tension and he can't take it!

Filion Forges On

COLUMBUS, Ohio (CP) — Herve Filion, the harness-horse driver from Lachute, Que., is dir weeks ahead of his 1971 pace in which he won a record 943 races.

United States Trotting Association figures up to the start of racing last Monday show Filion with 456 victories—a total he did not reach in 1971 until near the end of November.

Filion already has surpassed his 1971 money-earning total of $1,815,945, which was a North American record. Monday's race day his purse winnings totalled $1,859,460.

Filion obliterated all single-season win records at Yonkers Raceway in the second harness meet there, Feb. 11 to Oct. 15, when he won 175 races. Only Gilmour's old mark of 168 set in 1971 during a meeting that was 10 days longer.

Four drivers are competing for runner-up victory honors this year, far behind Filion.

Weekend totals showed Joe Marsh, campaigning mostly in the Chicago area, had 248 wins, Carmine Abbatiello of New York, 236, French-Canadian driver Gilles Gendron 208 and Lou Williams of Ohio champion, 205.

Keith Waples, native of Victoria Harbor, Ont., was eighth at 188 and Ross Curran, from Smiths Falls, Ont., 10th at 178.

In another list based on purse winnings, John Campion of Toronto stood fifth at $846,780, Gilmour seventh at $795,957 and Lucien Faulkner of Montreal ninth at $736,300.

BOBBY ORR

Orr Back On Ice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Boston Bruins should get a much needed lift in the area of defence with the return of Bobby Orr against Pittsburgh tonight.

Orr, the Most Valuable Player in the National Hockey League the last three years, has not played a game this season while recuperating from knee surgery.

Without him, the Stanley Cup champion Bruins have dropped three of their first five games.

"How much Orr plays will depend on how the game goes," said Boston coach Tom Johnson. "The indicator will be Bobby himself, how he feels."

To make room for Orr, the Bruins announced they had returned defenceman Matt Ravlich to Boston in the area of the American Hockey League.

The Bruins also announced another shift in their lineup.

After the Pittsburgh game, the Bruins will return home for a game Sunday night against Vancouver Canucks.

Plane Charter Rules Changed

OTTAWA (CP) — New rules announced Friday by the Canadian transport commission will make it easier to take advantage of low-cost air charter travel across the Atlantic.

When the new rules take effect Jan. 1, there also should be much less danger of being stranded on the other side of the ocean, as many Canadians were this summer when their return charter flights were cancelled.

The new system opens charter flights to anyone, whether a member of an organization or not, who books 90 days in advance and pays 25 per cent of his fare as a deposit.

Existing regulations require passengers to be members of the chartering organization for at least six months before departure of the charter flight.

The existing regulations also require that the chartering organization be formed for purposes other than travel and be an "affinity group"—one where there is a genuine common interest among the passengers.

Starting Jan. 1, however, any organization or no individual can charter a flight and collect passengers. The new system is called Advanced Booking Charters.

A commission spokesman said there is every indication the new Canadian rules will be accepted by European countries.

The ABC rules were announced at the end of a meeting of European and North American Air travel officials.

Representatives of the European Civil Aviation Conference at the Ottawa meeting agreed to recommend approval of the ABC rules to their nations, the commission said.

The commission announcement said conference resolutions are drawing up similar rules for European charters.

United States representatives had agreed in principle to the new system, but their recently-announced relaxation of charter rules was being held up in court battles.

Widespread infringements of existing rules were partly responsible for many incidents this summer of charter passengers being unable to return to Canada by charter.

In some cases, their flights were cancelled when it was discovered some passengers had not been member of the affinity group for six months or were just using the charter flight for one-way travel.

The new system is expected to increase the number of persons taking advantage of charter rates. A typical round-trip charter fare from Montreal to London would be about $200, compared with $300 for a regular airline's excursion rate.

Although detailed regulations are to be announced later, the commission said ABC passengers will have to pay their 25 per-cent deposit at least 90 days before the flight leaves. The deposit would not be refundable if the passenger decides not to go.

Tickets for the round-trip charter flight would not be transferable.

Although the ABC system will come into effect Jan. 1, applications under the affinity rule will continue to be accepted to March 30 to provide a transition period, the commission said.

It also said that it is studying the question of applying the ABC system to charters within Canada.

30 Arrested

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — More than 30 anti-war protesters, including a woman who said she was the mother of world chess champion Bobby Fischer, were taken into custody outside Independence Hall Friday, prior to President Nixon's visit.

A federal judge ordered their release a few hours later and all were freed without being charged.

Permafrost Sample

A core sample of permafrost on the route of the proposed Arctic gas pipeline is removed for detailed study. After spending $25 million on research, most of the data to support the building of the pipeline will be ready by the end of this year, and an application will be filed next year. (CP Photo)

Race Bias Found in Ontario Textbooks

TORONTO (CP) — A review of textbooks used in Ontario schools by an official of the ministry of education found racial and ethnic bias in a variety of books including spelling and texts books on electrical theory.

In a textbook called Principles of Electrical Theory a diagram to illustrate a principle of force shows an Indian rolling rock onto a white man's wagon.

Gordon Nelson, who wrote the review, said the picture was an example of unthinking prejudice.

"With thousands of diagrams possible, we chose this one. The publishers have not shown us much sensitivity as to our Indian population is concerned," he said in the review.

His review formed the groundwork for a textbook committee's report two weeks ago that 370 of the 1,320 books authorized for Ontario classrooms contain some racial or ethnic prejudice.

The review was completed in June, 1970 but many of the books it criticizes were put on the approved list for 1972 by the ministry.

Earlier, Education Minister Thomas Wells would not discuss the names of books containing objectionable material. The ministry made the review available this week.

A primary reader, Out And Away, published by Gage Education Publishing Ltd., shows a child picking up an arrow and saying: "I bet this arrowhead was used to kill a white man."

"It is not a history text and it is not a document. It would be much better to substitute 'Indians' for 'white man.' This is just thoughtlessness but it does create an atmosphere of prejudice," wrote Mr. Nelson.

He was also critical of history texts which indicated Indians were the only people to use savagery in war.

Mr. Nelson uses Canada: An Outline History, published by McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd., as an example.

Evaluators of the textbooks listed 19 objectionable words that appeared 995 times in reference to Indians and Eskimos. The list includes: squaw, half-breed, savage, massacre, torture, wild, primitive, ignorant, murder, dirty, thieving, naked, untrustworthy, drunk, liars, lazy, foul and blood thirsty.

Ballard Holds Court - - in Court

More Bets on Sentence Than for Stanley Cup

TORONTO (CP) — The sentencing Friday of Harold Ballard, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, who received concurrent three-year sentences on theft and fraud charges involving $200,000, spanned a wide range of emotions.

In contrast to the joviality that started the session, there were tears and anger as the drama played out. Ballard was taken to jail immediately afterward. An official of the solicitor-general's department in Ottawa said he would be eligible for parole in a year, upon expiration of one-third of his sentence.

Proceedings started in a near - carnival atmosphere, with Ballard greeting friends and acquaintances as they got off the escalator at the second floor of Toronto's new court house.

Grey-haired court attendants, dressed formally in black jacket and waistcoat, lost a good deal of their dignity as they lugged extra chairs into Courtroom Six and balled to people crowding into the courtroom like ushers at a hockey game.

Defence counsel J. J. Robinette was stopped in the corridor by another lawyer who said: "I'll bet there are more bets and pools on the outcome of this than on the Stanley Cup."

Ballard, 69, was in a jovial mood at the outset, remarking as he entered the crowded courtroom: "We should have sold tickets."

Before court convened, he sat in the prisoner's dock, joking with one of the police officers who had accompanied him.

Decorum was preserved, however, the atmosphere of joviality turned to one of sobriety as witness after witness was called to testify concerning Ballard's character.

During the testimony of Harry Foster, the third witness, Ballard took off his horn-rimmed glasses and dabbed at his eyes with a white handkerchief.

When Mr. Foster, an Oakville advertising executive and long-time friend, began referring to Ballard's "compassion and courage" during his wife's illness with terminal cancer, the Gardens president wept openly.

Things hit a lighter vein again following testimony by Jack Dennett, CFRB racecaster and Hockey Night in Canada commentator.

As Mr. Dennett left the stand, Crown prosecutor Clay Powell stood up and said: "Mr. Dennett, I just want you to know that I've been a fan of yours for years."

Spectators chuckled again when Jim Coleman, sports columnist with Southam News Services, was asked a question by Judge Deyman.

"Mr. Coleman, I've read your column for years. Could you please tell me: Who was Wilbur Maloney?"

Mr. Coleman replied: "Your honor, there was no such person."

Mr. Coleman at one time signed off his columns by making disparaging remarks about the fictional Maloney.

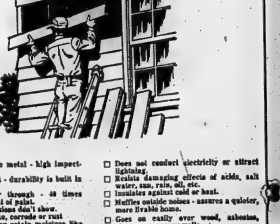
Tension began to build up again as the Crown and defence counsel made their presentence submissions. Mr. Robinette asked Judge Deyman to take Ballard's age, his character and the fact that he had made full restitution into consideration when deciding sentence.

Mr. Powell said Ballard had betrayed a public trust and asked the Judge that a minimum two-year penitentiary term and substantial fine were called for to deter others from doing the same.

Mr. Robinette replied to this request by calling it "sadistic and cruel."

After a 15-minute recess, Judge Deyman asked Ballard to stand and told him that his crime "was not a spur-of-the-moment thing" and had gone on for some time.

Ballard showed no emotion as he heard the three-year sentence handed down.



Once Judge Deyman had passed sentence, Ballard was escorted from the courtroom by police officers, pausing only long enough to shake hands with his two sons, telling them to "take care."

With this, Ballard's son Bill strode from the courtroom wiping away tears. As he left the courthouse, he raised a threatening fist at photographers attempting to take his picture.

Ballard was taken to the basement of the building where he was whisked to the Don jail by police car. He eventually will be transferred to Kingston penitentiary.

Bureaucrats Keep Publicity Flowing Fast

OTTAWA (CP) — Behind the highly-visible national election campaign for the Oct. 30 election, another element at work may be just as influential for voters.

That element is the self-effacing federal bureaucracy—permanent public servants, Crown corporations and departments—which is churning out day by day what amounts to free publicity for Liberal candidates seeking re-election.

By habit unbroken in the face of a general election, these routine mimeographed announcements of grants, loans and contracts—dispatched to news outlets in the communities concerned—emerge in the names of ministers or MPs of the last Parliament.

Literally hundreds of such announcements, involving tens of millions of dollars, have been issued since the election call Sept. 1. A seven-week collection of mostly single-page announcements makes a stock that weighs more than four pounds.

A government official says there has been nothing out of the ordinary since Sept. 1 in the pace, magnitude, distribution and targets of such announcements. Government business must proceed, even during an election, the official adds.

The so-called news handout announcements, usually of special interest primarily to only one community or neighborhood, are in addition to the news-conference spectacular at which such announcements are made by the whitecoat pack in Toronto, redecoration of Ottawa's lower town or—more soon, it is rumored—a multi-million dollar project to restore old Quebec City.

Blurred Image Works Best

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau and former United States president John F. Kennedy fully exploited television as a means to gain votes from right, left and centre, says author Dr. Frederick D. Wilhelmsen.

Dr. Wilhelmsen, professor of philosophy and politics at the University of Dallas, told the Media Club of Canada Thursday that the two politicians kept their images sufficiently blurred to allow viewers to read in whatever feelings and convictions they personally held.

More Grants Planned To Needy Provinces

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party said Friday it will attack regional disparity in Canada by making more unconditional grants to needy provinces if it is elected Oct. 30.

In another of a long series of policy papers leading to the election, the party said it would place less emphasis on shared-cost, federal-provincial programs than the Trudeau government, and dole out more no-strings-attached money on a selective basis.

Apart from upsetting provincial priorities, the paper said, the shared-cost system discriminates against poorer provinces because they often have trouble raising their part of the cost.

Aid Necessary for Decade

Bicycle traffic clogs main street in Dacca, capital of Bangladesh. Observers believe that the young country will continue to need huge doses of foreign aid for at least a decade to recover from last year's war against Pakistan.

Many Premiers Get Into Federal Act

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau's blast last night at Ontario Premier William Davis's participation in the federal election campaign was not the first time the prime minister expressed doubts about premiers sharing political platforms with federal leaders in the campaign.

On the night that he called the Oct. 30 election, Mr. Trudeau said he would not seek help from the three Liberal premiers now in office.

"I don't intend fighting the federal election campaign on provincial issues and I don't want to put myself in a position to tell any of the premiers, you know 'We'll do this if we're elected.'

"If it concerns Canadian jurisdiction we will act in the best interests of all of Canada not of a provincial leader whether he be a Conservative or an NDP or a Liberal," said Mr. Trudeau.

But is the campaign itself, Mr. Trudeau has been given a boost here and there from Liberal premiers and leaders in the provinces.

Premier Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia shared a platform with him in Dartmouth, N.S. Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island has helped with flattering statements at news conferences and elsewhere.

David Anderson, the Liberal leader in British Columbia, also has made public appearances with Mr. Trudeau.

In Edmonton a week ago Mr. Trudeau seroed in on Mr. Davis, saying he hoped the election campaign would place in office a government for all Canada and "not a government for the rich provinces only."

That prompted a quick reply from Mr. Stanfield Sunday. He said it was an appeal "to what used to be at least a prejudice against Ontario to work it against the Conservative party."

Mr. Davis, who has been the busiest of the premiers in the campaign, will step up his appearances next week.

Along with Conservative premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick and Peter Lougheed of Alberta, he will be on stage for a Calgary rally with Mr. Stanfield Sunday night.

Mr. Davis also is scheduled to make an appearance in New Brunswick later in the week.

David Lewis, New Democratic Party leader, also had a show of premier power during perhaps. NDP premiers Ed Schreyer of Manitoba, Allan Blakeney of Saskatchewan and Dave Barrett of B.C. all appeared on the one platform with him.

Mr. Barrett, fresh from victory at the polls, also has been photographed with numerous NDP candidates.

'Gay' Defender Working Hard

EDMONTON (CP) — Six months ago, Michael Roberts said he would never have anything to do with politics.

But as the federal election approaches, Roberts has changed his position and he's become a familiar figure at election meetings, pressing candidates for their views about equal rights for homosexuals.

The 22-year-old native of South Africa, who is a Canadian citizen, isn't afraid to be the candidates and voters know he's a homosexual. His usual attire includes a bright yellow shirt with the words Gay Alliance Toward Equality emblazoned across the back.

As regional co-ordinator of G.A.T.E., he's one of several gay activists who have been after the candidates' views.

Mr. Roberts estimates there are about 720,000 homosexuals of voting age in Canada and the Toronto-based National Gay Election Coalition has sent questionnaires to most candidates concerning homosexual rights. The answers will be tabulated before the election, with various homosexual organizations telling their members where the candidates stand.

What About The People

An Eskimo mother sits with her children outside her home in settlement in the Mackenzie Delta. Although a massive effort is being made to protect the northern ecology from being harmed by proposed highway and gas pipeline, local people are worried about the effect of the developments on the way of life of the native peoples. Ruby Will Stay Retired Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruby Keeler is departing from Broadway in a mood of "amicable animosity."

"That's a beautiful way of putting it," the tap-dancing darling of an earlier showbiz era says of events—"both wonderful and frustrating" that engulfed her through two long comeback seasons.

On Saturday night, Oct. 28, the still-svelte little star sweeps down the grand staircase at the nostalgia fit, No, No, Nanette, for her final performance.

Leaving the musical also that night will be Patsy Kelly. After the departure of the two virtuoge entertainers, the production is scheduled for some elaborate changes.

"They're writing my part out of it, almost," says Miss Keeler. The lady with a relatively minor maid role in the current concept, is being fattened up for takeover by Martha Raye.

The Keeler exit is emphatically intended to be the end of her stage career, although some television work would be okay.

"I'm hanging up the tap shoes—I still don't know how I took them down," remarks the native of Dartmouth, N.S.

And if she never again hears Nanette's big song, I Want to Be Happy, that will be soon enough. Contentment for her lies primarily with being able hereafter to spend plenty of time with her four children, five grandchildren, and maybe cutting her golf handicap back down to 12.

At 62, bright-eyed Miss Keeler has no hang-up about age.

"At my stage of life," she remarks, "you just can't sit still and cry, every day, in a show.

"Put it this way. There are things I want to do, just sit and watch, and be with my family. You can't be stupid about the years, and you have to grab as much as you can."

Her visit to Broadway, which she left for Hollywood in the 1930s, turned out to be a bit longer than she expected.

The original contract was for a year, "and I thought the show would run for only a few months." When the gig set her first week's pay cheque, however, complications set in.

"I didn't have an agent or a lawyer when I signed the contract, and it was my own stupidity I didn't read the small lines. It was a matter of percentage and the box office gross."

When she protested, Cyrus Rubin, the producer, agreed to discussion but urged Miss Keeler to get some professional advice. She did, the stipend was adjusted in exchange she had to accept a contract extension.

Mr. Rubin is a person about whom Miss Keeler speaks with guarded understatement.

"I don't think we've spoken more than 22 words the whole time I've been in the show," Miss Keeler says.

"Evidently, she doesn't like anything I do, or the way I dress or the way I perform."

At Miss Keeler's request, Mrs. Rubin has not been in her dressing room "for a long, long time."

Turning to more happy aspects of the two-year Broadway stint, the star talks of the "very enriching experiencing of meeting a great number of people whom I'd never otherwise have known."

But there was unending trepidation for her each night as she stepped from the wings.

"I'm frustrated every time I go on stage," she says. "It never becomes routine with you, me. I never have time to really relax. I'm never sure. I stand there and think, 'Look, you've done this over 700 times, so what are you getting nervous about?'"

During the engagement, Miss Keeler lived in an apartment a few blocks from the Yorkville section of Manhattan where she grew up. Renewing neighborhood acquaintances provided considerable pleasure.

"I'm sure as I get older," she says, "I'll look back on all of this visit and think, wasn't it marvellous, to have had all that. . . .

TV Replacements Ready in Wings

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As in real warfare, television keeps a steady supply of replacements lined up before the first casualty reports of the season are known.

In the last few months the networks have been busy signing scores of development deals for new shows. Only a handful ever will reach the pilot stage.

A few of the shows will be pressed into service at mid-season, when the first casualties fall by the wayside, but the fate of most of the proposed shows will not be known until the networks draw up next fall's schedules in February or March.

At least one new show, a half-hour comedy called Here We Go Again, is already in production for a mid-season slot on ABC. It stars Larry Hagman, Diane Baker, Dick Gautier and Nita Talbot in a comedy about two couples who exchange spouses.

ABC also has ordered pilot scripts for Indict and Convict, a projected hour drama about the California attorney-general's office. A two-hour pilot movie, starring George Grizzard, has been completed.

By far, most of the shows under development are half-hour situation comedies.

Television has moved away from comedy for several years, but suddenly humor is big on the tube again. Situation comedy has moved away from the gimmicks and the fantasy. You can thank All in the Family, The Mary Tyler Moore Show and Room 222 for that.

Speaking of realism, ABC has another show under development, based on the so-called swingers in the movie Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice.

Unless they rise in the ratings soon, among the most likely casualties are Alias Smith and Jones, The Men, The Birds Bees and Julie Andrews on ABC, The Bold Ones and Banyon on NBC and CBS's Anna and the King. Julie Andrews deserves a better fate. Hopefully the show can be moved to an earlier hour.

A Matter of Time

BLOOMFIELD (Staff) — An air of timelessness still surrounds Wellington Consolidated school as Prince Edward school trustees continue efforts to repair a clock out of order for approximately three years.

Board members corresponded with the village council concerning this problem for several months before a decision was made to put the outdoor clock in running order.

A jeweller was contacted by the maintenance supervisor and with the help of a technician the main clock was removed.

The jeweller is now on vacation and no cost estimate is available for repairs to the clock.

It is only a matter of time, however, until the clock can be put in running order.

Large Two Storey

In East Belleville on a quiet crescent with four extra large bedrooms. You will be delighted with the feeling of space in the home. The full size dining room has patio doors leading to a sun deck overlooking a garden filled with perennial plants. A two piece bathroom at the side entrance and a full open basement is included in your own taste. The owner is leaving the country at the end of the year. Why not start 1971 with a new home?

Brick Bungalow

On a quiet boulevard near hospital, schools, churches and shopping, we have an attractive and well built home with three bedrooms and a large living room. The large basement of this bungalow has a delightful recreation room with fireplace and an additional large area with pool table — laundry and work bench facilities. The garden is fenced — has a shaded patio and a tool shed. Call for an appointment to see through.

Wouldn't It Be Nice

If you could buy a home with some room to move around, not have to worry about the old furnace that is on its last legs, taxes wouldn't it be great! It would be nice to if all bedrooms and a family room on the main floor — a garage and of course you could add a few extra comfortable price in a good area and it should be possible to find such a house. Call us and we will be pleased to show you.

Trudeau Plans Outlined

What do our party leaders really stand for in this election? Behind the up-and-down fever chart of last — the campaigning, basic issues are clouded.

John D. Harbron, Thomson Newspapers' columnist, interviews each major party leader about his party's platform and major election issues.

Q: Mr. Prime Minister, the expression "the grand design of Federalism" has been used. I'm not sure whether you used it. However, if there is a grand design of Federalism it would appear that some of the policies that you were not too articulate about in 1968 nevertheless have come to fruition. I'm thinking of how the foreign policy statement of 1969, the change of priorities, the bilingual program, the concept of the Bill of Rights.

In other words, I put this as a preamble. What have you done, Mr. Prime Minister, between 1968 and 1972, and what is left to do?

A: Well, we've been pursuing four goals and we want to continue to pursue the same four goals. We've had policies, programs which follow from these policies, and we will now want new programs to follow from those. What have we done since 1968?

I'll start with naming the four goals: integrity of the nation; the pursuit of more social justice; economic growth; and individual fulfilment.

Now what have we done since '68 in pursuing those goals and what will we do in the next four years if we form the government?

Under the first heading, the integrity of Canada, we have put several sub-goals. One would be Canadian unity and what we have done, not only with the French-English question but the correction of regional economic disparities, the $1-billion we've spent over the past three years to remedy economic differences.

I would put the integrity of the territory itself, the sovereignty of the land, we serve it by declaring sovereignty in the Arctic, by our legislation extending our control over pollution for a hundred miles out from our coast, extending the territorial sea from three to 12 miles, closing the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the western waters to foreign fleets. We've signed treaties with half a dozen countries that had historic treaty rights in those waters — to phase them out.

We have brought in a policy on foreign ownership both positive and negative. The negative is to introduce legislation on take-overs which as you know, was defeated by the opposition but which we are committed to bring back. On the positive side, we've amended the Income Tax Act in order to create greater incentives for Canadians to invest in Canada.

Q: In 1968 you told me you would probably require 10 years, a decade, hopefully, of legislative programs without too many obstructions from the opposition, without the inevitable hang-ups from international situations, especially where domestic economic policies are concerned. Do you still need a decade, Mr. Prime Minister?

A: I think we've broken the back of the very difficult problems that had been plaguing Canada in the past and up to the present.

I think that we have used the four years well. If I did talk about 10 years, I didn't remember that, but it seems like a fair guess. Because I think we've probably beaten a good half of them, well probably more than half, of the difficult problems which faced the nation after years of minority governments and inefficient governments.

And in foreign relations, we have obviously made the breakthrough in those two areas which were plaguing us, recognizing Peking and our initiatives regarding de-escalation of tensions in Europe and with other relations with the eastern countries.

I don't know if I talked to you about them. But people in 1968 said, when are you going to end up recognizing China, when is the government going to face the capital gains problem? We brought in that legislation. When is the government really going to act on bilingualism? We've done that.

The answer is that we've moved on most of them. We have the foreign policy and defense reviews, a policy paper on Indians, legislation on bilingualism, action in the Arctic, the policy on foreign ownership, the election reform legislation, it wasn't passed, but we are still committed to it. And on things I certainly mentioned in 1968 quite frequently is that we were going to use our social security legislation to help those who needed help most, to be less universal and more selective. And we've acted on that.

Q: Mr. Stanfield has introduced what some feel is an important note in the campaign by suggesting that one of the former Cabinet Ministers, namely Mr. Benson, will be asked to quit his new job if the Conservatives are elected.

Mr. Stanfield has also said that he will look outside help if he becomes Prime Minister. This was in terms of his dissatisfaction with the policies of the Bank of Canada, with the activities of senior public servants, the so-called Mandarins. Are you entirely happy, Mr. Prime Minister, with the economic advice you have received from these men in the last four years? Has it been good enough for you?

A: Well commenting on that question, I think there is something ominous there. It is unfortunate that Mr. Stanfield is for firing Mr. Benson.

You know, I think this is really very poor politics. I think that elected representatives, the Ministers, must take responsibility for the policies. We get advice from every source we can. We get it from our Deputy Ministers. We get it from the Economic Council of Canada, from the academics, and from our own members. We must take the responsibility for our policies.

Mr. Benson was a very able Minister. He did a very tough job. I am father elated that most like that went to remain in the service of Canada. Mr. Benson could find a job with any company that would probably pay more salary than he is going to get as the head of the CTC.

I find it very poor politics to attack personalities like that, trying to capitalize on the fact that Mr. Benson put in some income tax legislation which isn't popular with everybody. It took one million people from the tax rolls and reduced taxes on another five million and that naturally was going to increase taxes for others and for corporations. I think Mr. Stanfield is trying to capitalize on the fact that Mr. Benson did a hard job, including bringing in capital gains tax.

Q: You have just come from Barrie, Ontario.

A: That's correct.

Q: As you may know, Mr. Prime Minister, Barrie's prosperity relates largely to branch plants. There are about 30 in that city. The first one went in in 1946, General Electric, and most of them are United States-owned branch plants.

The concern in the medium or small sized industrial city in Canada is not the one of the tenured professors in the big cities that the take-over will which did not get through the last parliament should be stronger, but rather are there any ways by which we can give government like yours can prevent or pursuade a multinational company that is about not close down a branch plant in one of those cities?

A: Well, it can, and does do a great deal. To give some examples it will give these firms and these corporations, certain privileges if they continue to expand and participate in Canada. In other words, we can give them incentives to ensure they will not become obsolete or close down, or move away.

There was the great danger in the past that foreign capital would invest here, take out a lot of profits, close down and move out.

Governments now are not permitting this to happen.

Cider and Politics

Prince Edward-Hastings Liberals tapped something new in political events last night — a cidering held in Armoury Mall for their candidate George Cunningham (right) joining in toast with Prince Edward County Apples Princess Ingrid Kristalyn and campaign manager Hugh O'Neil. Event was preceded by parade from town fairgrounds.

Britons Talk About Asians

STRANDSHALL, England (CP) — "Asians? Put them 12 in a bag and drop them in the bloody sea," said an Anglo-Irish publican.

"You must extend your love to the British. They have taken you in," said a renowned Indian actor addressing Asian refugees.

"A couple of hundred years ago, we just shot 'em, didn't we. No immigration problems then, were there?" said a slightly-built wiring clerk at Newmarket railway station.

"They (the Asians) deserve very big of help we can give them and more. They can do a hell of a lot for this country," said a part-time British social worker.

These are a few of the pronouncements any visitor may hear on a fairly ordinary day among residents British resettlement camp for Asians expelled from Uganda.

At this abandoned air base near Newmarket, about 40 miles from Cambridge, are 1,500 Asians, all holders of British passports, are waiting for somewhere to find them jobs and permanent homes.

A special commission of the British government has been set up to do just that. But jobs are hard to come by and salaries are low. Besides, up to 40,000 Asians are expected before the Ugandra exodus is complete and many neighborhoods are unwilling to make available scarce housing for "colgreds."

Strandshall itself is a model of cleanliness and order. Most families have small private living accommodation in the red brick buildings. Unmarried occupants sleep in 15-bed dormitories.

English cooks struggle with the baffling mysteries of preparing Indian food and the British social security advice provides about $7.50 a person each week in spending money.

But many of the Asians here are bored and restless. A large number say they plan to seek permission to move to Canada.

Take the case of Nachiked Devkaie, 28, who fled with his wife, a small baby and his father rather than see their neighbors in Uganda were shot by soldiers.

"The troops knocked at our door first," he said. "We didn't answer. Then we heard them go next door. They shot the man of the house dead and seriously wounded his wife and child. We were too frightened to help. The next day we fled to England."

Devkaie has been offered a $38-a-week job in a bank but he turned it down. "It's not enough money." He may take another job as a $50-a-week grocery clerk.

He argues: "I am a British citizen with a British passport and I shouldn't be expected to take just those jobs the British natives don't want."

Asians in East Africa were given the choice of retaining their British passport or adopting that of the new nations which were formed there in the 1960s when British rule was ended. Those now being expelled are persons who kept their British status.

Ratanjee Kumar, a noted Indian actor, visited Strandshall recently and urged the refugees to "embrace the English who in their kindness have accepted you here."

"This is nonsense," said Devkaie. "We have every right to be here and to be treated as full citizens., It's not a question of being grateful or approaching the English on bended knee."

He is confused by the conflicting attitudes he meets.

One nearby pub welcomes the Asians, even providing a free round of beer at times.

But just down the road, an Irish "pay-per" — one that don't tell the Asians he has no room for them, even though his establishment is empty.

Vincent, who was not forthcoming when asked his surname, refused to let a Canadian buy a drink for Devkaie.

"I learned how to handle Wogs during seven years in South Africa, see. They'll get their own pub — me that they'll get something else N they bother me again."

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, OCT. 21

Aries (March 21-April 19): Be as there come to your attention, leaving questions and discrepancies for later consideration.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Confide details of your plans to nobody until the time comes to act. The bright idea that popped into your head today has lasting importance.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Close friends and business do not mix. Much of the advice you get comes from people who mean well but do not know enough.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): It's a bit late for direct enterprise. Try diplomacy and sidestep from controversy while people readjust to changes.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): It is just as well that you have enough to keep you busy. Experiments, speculative ventures are not favored, produce unplanned results.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Stick with what you know from experience, particularly where financial manoeuvres of purchases of unusual items are concerned.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Minister to the needs of older people, leaving questions and discrepancies for later consideration.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Ordinarily useful things may become hazards. Plan alternatives as there is a change your regular connections may not work.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Taking chances may appeal to you, but this isn't the day to indulge in strenuous or unfamiliar activities.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Now is the time to be considerate of others' needs. Your ventures must be re-examined for relevance to present conditions.

Aquarius . Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Expect those near you to be critical no matter what you do. Conditions at the moment yield much opportunity for conflict.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Let wild words go past you half-cocked; you will get a fuller story later. More experienced people have advice, if you ask.

SUNDAY, OCT. 22

Aries (March 21-April 19): Take part in the community exercises for the week-end. Offer apologies or whatever will cover up gaps left open in the last two days.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Sharp, perhaps harsh discussion may be unavoidable as the questions of the times find partial answers. Pray for guidance.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Getting out of the public scene is almost a must. Time spent in reception is an investment in renewed emotional balance.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Early confusions are resolved as you continue with the pursuit of personal happiness. Leave all business out of the picture.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Going along with your neighborhood in a community venture is good if you can avoid the impression you're seeking personal influence.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): End-less discussions go on with small matters settled, but no answers to the difficult questions which need your wisdom.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The closer the relationship, the more vexing the provocation seems. Being difficult in return is not the answer either.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It is a great day for minding your own affairs, leaving business and social commercial activity completely aside for the day.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Compassionate acceptance of others as they are rather than how you think they should be is the key to future happiness.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Put on a smooth surface for strangers. Your best area for self-expression is bringing family history up to date.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take a long look at yourself and your associates...Then forgive them all their imperfections and begin again.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Dispersal is the key word this Sunday, as everybody seems to have something different and special on his mind.

Heston To Attend

STRATFORD, Ont. The festival will close the following Saturday with the North American premiere of the Jackson film, The Harder They Come.

To Your Good Health

Tight Feeling Heart Symptom

By G. C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am forever clearing. "If you have symptoms that seem like a heart attack, get to a doctor and quick!" I am wondering, what are the symptoms that a layman can consider severe enough to get him to a doctor? Is there a lump in it?—F.J.T.

The classic pain associated with the heart attack is more of a sense of severe tightness under the breast bone or upper abdomen. Often it runs to the shoulder or midback area and is accompanied by a shortness of breath and anxiety.

Some sweating is often experienced also.

A sharp pain, often mistaken for a heart attack, is not a classic symptom.

One of the most difficult things in the world to do is to explain a pain adequately, but I read recently a description of a heart attack pain written by a newspaperman:

"The pain . . . stretched across my chest from armpit to armpit. It was becoming crushing, as though my chest was being mashed down by a giant kneeling on me, growing heavier and heavier. I could no longer breathe deeply. I realized I was panting, taking shallow breaths like a tired pup."

This seems to describe the classic symptoms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me if cola drinks are harmful to your health. My son thinks he has to have a bottle the minute he gets up until he goes to bed. He has about three bottles a day.

He is 16 and high-strung and thinks I don't know what I am talking about. He still sneaks cola into the house.

A few months ago we made him quit and for about three weeks he was more calm and you could reason with him. Last year I had convinced him with articles about how harmful to the body, until a high school teacher told his class the article wasn't true, so it was the teacher's word against the parents. Give me your opinion.—Mrs. L.M.M.

My opinion? I think you're making too big a thing of it. The cola drinks contain caffeine, a stimulant, and some people get to the habit of drinking too much, just as some people get to the coffee habit, and drink too much.

Principal risk is that the stimulation makes them jittery.

Likewise dentists have some reservations about too much drinking of sugar or other sugar-sweetened drinks, because they bathe the teeth in the sugary solution too much.

Taken in moderation, there's no physical harm. My advice would be to agree that if your son wants a couple of bottles a day, then we'll free about it. That amount shouldn't harm him at all, and it ought to be worth something to both of you to put an end to the arguments.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 34 and a few weeks ago had a hysterectomy—only the uterus removed. Please explain the effects it can have on one's sexlife. I was told that I could have normal sex life. What effects may it have in latter years? Some people tell me the operation changes a woman's life.—Mrs. L.A.D.

It has no effect on sex life and no effect on menopause, change of life, later on. Only if the ovaries are removed, too, then the change of life occurs at once, although there will be no change in sex life.

The difference caused by the operation is that you no longer can have children. That's

McGovern Hunts For Major Issue

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Although from Nixon in the public opinion polls. These include the debacle over McGovern's first choice of Senator Thomas Eagleton as his running mate.

Even the issue of the Vietnam war, which first gained McGovern national prominence, has turned in President Nixon's favor, Nixon's supporters believe.

Another reason McGovern has been unable to make deep inroads into Nixon's lead apparently is the president's silence.

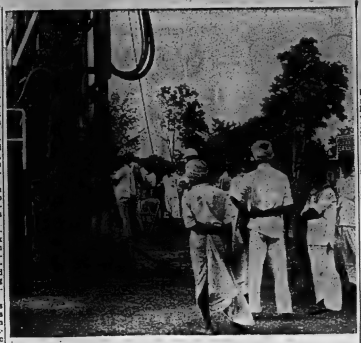
McGovern campaign managers were pleased this week when the president's campaign chief, Clark MacGregor, appeared before reporters to denounce three who have alleged the Republicans are engaging in political sabotage and spying.

The South Dakota senator has recently sharpened his attacks on the Nixon administration over the break-in and attempted bugging of Democratic party headquarters in Washington and other alleged scandals involving the Nixon campaign organization.

But McGovern, in the view of most political observers, has not found an issue that fires the imagination of large numbers of voters and could project him into the White House.

travel-weary Georges McGovern criss-crossed the United States this week in a daunting search for issues and support, while President Nixon remained mostly out of sight in the White House.

The contrast in campaign activities between the Democratic and Republican candidates for the presidency of the United States could not have been more marked.



Mr. McGovern spends his weeks in a blur of rallies, speeches, interviews, television appearances and meetings with potential campaign contributors.

To the growing frustration of the McGovern camp, President Nixon is doing almost no campaigning at all.

McGovern issues another challenge to his rival this week to hold a series of television debates on the major issues facing the country, but the president declined the offer through his press secretary.

Nixon's campaigning has been confined to a few radio speeches and public appearances, such as his visit to Atlanta last week.

Political observers suggest a variety of reasons why McGovern has so far been unable to narrow substantially the wide gap separating him

Committee Head Favors End to Municipal Board

TORONTO (CP) — Public hearings of a legislature committee studying the Ontario Municipal Board ended Friday with committee chairman John MacBeth agreeing with a Scarborough controller that the board should be abolished.

However, Mr. MacBeth, a critic of the board when he was mayor of Etobicoke borough, stressed that his opinion won't necessarily be reflected in the final recommendations of the committee, which was given an Oct. 31 deadline to complete its report.

Mr. MacBeth (PC—Toronto York West) said in an interview the writing of the report will begin next week, but he doesn't expect it will be ready for the deadline.

"We hope now that we'll have a report ready early in the next session of the legislature, probably around the end of next month."

A brief from the City of Windsor, submitted by solicitor J. E. Watson, and calling for a redefined role for the board, was the last to be presented to the committee.

Earlier, K. L. Mallette, Scarborough borough controller, suggested that if the OMB were discontinued, the problems of the municipalities would come more quickly to the attention of the provincial government "and be dealt with more expeditiously."

Operator Is Closing Three Nursing Homes

TORONTO (CP) — Gordon Smith, a Toronto lawyer, said Friday he is closing his three nursing homes, and evicting 133 elderly persons, because of new provincial regulations for such homes.

Nursing home operators cannot stand "the emotional blackmail from the health ministry," he said, adding that he is acting "for spite."

Mr. Smith, who owns nursing homes in Barrie, Galt and Toronto, said operators cannot trust civil servants carrying out policy regarding nursing homes.

The dispute is mainly over a new government regulation that required 80 square feet of floor space for each resident.

He said his homes are comfortable with high ceilings, the kind of places the residents grew up in and lived in. New nursing homes are like motels, he said, which leave the residents with an uncomfortable feeling.

Vietnam Ceasefire Seems More Likely

Priory Parley Sought By PCs

CALGARY (CP) — Planned by three Conservative premiers, Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield offered provinces a new deal Sunday night — a working partnership in a nation building launched by a "Priorities of Tomorrow" conference to be held after the October 30 federal election.

He said the federal-provincial priorities conference would start the long-needed job of devising a national development strategy for the country.

The development strategy would set Canada's house in order, make inventory of the country's resources, identify the areas of greatest potential and provide an assessment of future needs.

The priorities conference would get Canada "off and running."

"It would unleash the creative energy and the best planning minds in our country. It will culminate in Canadians in all parts of the country knowing where we want to go as a nation and with some definite co-ordinated plan as to how we intend to get there."

Speaking to an enthusiastic audience that jammed the 2,700-seat Jubilee Auditorium and its lobbies, Mr. Stanfield said he is offering a deal to all premiers, not just the trio who were standing in support of him on the stage.

These were Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, William Davis of Ontario and Peter Lougheed of Alberta, the greatest collection of provincial leadership support Mr. Stanfield has assembled at one time in the election campaign.

The only Conservative premier missing was Frank Moores of Newfoundland. Conservatives said he had a previous engagement and could not accept an invitation to attend the rally.

Tories' Bank Plan Pleases Caouette

BEAUCEVILLE, Que. (CP) — Real Caouette, leader of the Social Credit party, says he is happy with what he called a Progressive Conservative party decision to create five regional branches of the Bank of Canada if they win the Oct. 30 federal election.

Mr. Caouette told a party rally the Conservatives were finally beginning to understand a policy of regional economic development advocated by the Social Credit the last 10 years.

In a position paper issued Saturday, the Conservatives said a Progressive Conservative government would explore the possibility of establishing five regional Bank of Canada offices across the country.

The Social Credit Party feels the Bank of Canada should be authorized to approve loans to the provinces.

Lewis Hits Auto Firms

Tax Laws Encourage Costly Model Changes

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP) — David Lewis squared off against the "corporate welfare bums" again Sunday, this time taking a poke at the giant U.S.-owned auto makers.

The New Democratic Party leader said federal tax laws encourage the companies to make costly model changes by granting tax deductions for new machinery purchases. The government gives the firms generous tax credits, further easing their tax burden.

"The individual taxpayer is left to shoulder the load of high personal taxes and high car prices, he told a campaign rally here.

He cited a newspaper report showing that Canadian-made cars are cheaper prices in Canada than when exported to the United States.

The figures, contained in a Toronto Globe and Mail article last spring, show that Ford of Canada charged dealers in Buffalo $243 less for a 1972 Torino than it charged Canadian dealers for the same car.

The Canadian customer must pay the difference, he said.

Privy Council Office Now Bilingual

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Saturday government efforts to instil bilingualism in the civil service have achieved a certain measure of success and that the Privy Council office works in both English and French.

"Very considerable exist on this," he said on a television interview taped Saturday for broadcast on the French-language Telemedia network later this week.

Any minister can submit memoranda to the Privy Council office in the language "of his choice," Mr. Trudeau said.

He was commenting on a series of articles published last week in Le Devoir based on confidential government documents which, the newspaper said, showed the government's bilingual reform policy in the civil service was a failure. One of the articles said there was no French-language unit in the Privy Council office.

Irish Rebels Grab 100 Guns

BELFAST (AP) — A platoon of armed guerrillas stormed a British military armory in Lurgan at dawn today and grabbed more than 100 sub-machine-guns and automatic rifles amid growing fears another spasm of bloodshed is looming in Northern Ireland. Part of the cache was recovered later.

The 14-man raiding squad piled 83 automatic rifles and 21 sub-machine-guns with 1,200 rounds of ammunition into an army truck and escaped without firing a shot.

But the army reported that after a massive security dragnet it recovered 61 rifles, eight sub-machine-guns and most of the ammunition hidden on the golf course at Portadown, a predominantly Protestant industrial town 20 miles south of Belfast. A patrol found the army truck abandoned.

The raid, one of the most daring arms-grabbing strikes in the British province since sectarian fighting erupted three years ago, fuelled fears that Protestant and Roman Catholic extremists are squaring for another round of feuding.

It came amid reports the two rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army had moved to set aside their ideological difference to plan to defend Catholic enclaves fearing attack by Protestant extremists.

Militant Protestant organizations, who battled with troops in three nights of bloody rioting last week in Belfast, were reported still in an uglymood despite a shaky truce between the hardline Ulster Defence Association and the army.

The army said the guerrillas who raided the territorial army-military reserve-arms depot told the guards they overpowered they were members of the Ulster Volunteer Force, the most feared of the Protestant vigilant groups.

But there were suspicions they were in fact from either the IRA's diehard Provisional wing or an extremist group from the UDA. The IRA has often made similar raids on army bases to get arms.

The raiders struck at 4:15 a.m. Four men wearing British army uniforms held up two sentries outside the armory. Ten other guerrillas joined them.

The armorer realized what was happening and locked himself inside the arms store. But he was forced to open the metal doors when the guerrillas yelled: "We'll kill the men out here one by one unless you open up."

Hope Small

ATHENS (CP) — Officials said today there is little hope of finding any more survivors of the Olympic Airways plane that crashed into the sea Saturday with 53 persons aboard including a Canadian couple missing and feared drowned.

Pupils Transferred

MONTREAL (CP) — Parents of 90 English-speaking students in suburban Longueil voted Sunday to accept transfer of their children to a French-language school rather than have them miss any more schooling.

Outdoor Opening for Centre

Picnic tables provided the seating for the official opening of the new outdoor educational centre at Plainfield. The facility, a joint venture on the part of the Moira River Conservation Authority and the county board of education, was named The H. R. Frink Outdoor Education Centre, recognizing the man who initiated outdoor education in the Belleville area. For story see Page 2.

Nixon, Thieu Still Differ

By George Esper

SAIGON (AP) — Henry Kissinger left Saigon today after the most intensive peace talks of the Indochina war, and the U.S. embassy said progress had been made toward a settlement. But it indicated that the U.S. and South Vietnamese government still differ on some points.

"We have made progress," said an embassy statement. "Talks will continue between us and the government of Vietnam. It is not in the interest of negotiations to be more specific at this time."

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese government was reported preparing for the eventuality of a ceasefire.

President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser flew home to report to Nixon after six meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu. Asked at the airport if his visit had been productive, Kissinger replied: "It always is when I'm here."

Adding to worldwide optimism for an eventual peace was a disclosure in Saigon that groups of South Vietnamese army officers have been formed to work out details for putting a ceasefire into effect. Reliable military sources said the groups had been urged to begin work immediately.

A high South Vietnamese command officer in contact with the study groups said: "At no point in the history of this conflict have the prospects of peace been more feasible."

But he added a caution: "Those who think peace is around the corner are wrong." He said it might not come until after the U.S. presidential election on Nov. 7, and probably not before the new year.

A Saigon newspaper controlled by the presidential palace said the general impression was that the negotiations be-

Premier Of North Is Mild

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conciliatory-sounding statement by North Vietnam's premier has spurred fresh speculation that a peace deal is near, while leaving open wide questions on whether Hanoi's terms are acceptable to Washington and Saigon.

Premier Pham Van Dong, in a Newsweek magazine interview published Sunday, said the secret negotiations involving presidential adviser Henry Kissinger "are in an extremely important phase" and "we will do nothing to jeopardize a happy conclusion."

Blind May Get Silicone Eyes

JERUSALEM (AP) — The man who developed the artificial kidney reported Sunday that progress is being made toward an artificial eye that could make the blind see.

Prof. Willem Johan Kolff displayed a monocle-sized silicone disk packed with 6,000 minute transistors that would be connected to miniature television cameras on spectacle frames. The Dutch-born University of Utah professor said electrodes from the cameras to the brain would provide vision.

He described the theory after receiving a $35,000 Harvey Prize, named for a $1 million gift from Los Angeles donor Leo Harvey. It was presented by President Zalman Shazar of Israel.

Miners Suffocate

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Thirty-four of 38 miners trapped in a coal mine at Tarneh, northeast of Tehran, after an underground explosion Sunday have died from suffocation, rescuers said today. Attempts to drill an airshaft to the entombed men failed after days-long efforts Sunday.

Ponies Beaten

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two ponies have been killed and 25 others beaten by vandals who invaded a stable and hit the animals with chunks of concrete and a nail-studded board. An official of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said it was the worst single case of brutality he had ever seen.

66 Turks Still Held Hostage

ANKARA (CP — The Turkish government again rejected the demands of four young Turks holding 66 other Turks hostage aboard a hijacked airliner in Sofia, Bulgaria, today, and the hijackers extended their deadline.

The hijackers said they would blow up the Turkish airline's Boeing 707 with all aboard unless the Turkish government freed 13 imprisoned leftists, including one sentenced to death. They first set a deadline of noon (6 a.m. EDT) but then extended it to 7:30 p.m.

They also demanded certain changes in Turkey and removal of "anti-democratic" articles from the Turkish constitution.

BTA, the Bulgarian news agency, said the hijackers wanted political asylum in Bulgaria for themselves and the 13 prisoners whose freedom they demanded.

The Turkish cabinet, after a 12-hour meeting Sunday, rejected their demand for release of the prisoners. But the cabinet was reported to have no objection to Bulgaria giving the hijackers asylum.

The hijackers also demanded repeal of a ban on strikes, improvement in the lives of the peasants and better conditions in the universities.

Educational Facility Named for Principal

A former city public school principal, who more than a decade ago initiated the idea of outdoor recreation for his Belleville pupils was honored Saturday by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The authority named its new outdoor education centre at Plainfield after H. R. Frink who in the late 1950s as principal of Queen Victoria School started taking junior grade pupils on day learning jaunts into the country.

The name of the outdoor learning facility is the H. R. Frink Outdoor Education Centre.

The new centre, comprising close to 300 acres on both sides of the township road east of O'Brien's Bridge and with a wide frontage on the Moira River, was officially opened Saturday with authority and Hastings County Board of Education officials taking part.

Chairman for the opening ceremonies was Wayne Brooks co-ordinator of outdoor education for the county school board, who said that future students would greatly benefit as a result of the interest and initiative of authority and school board members.

He said the centre would provide students with an awareness of nature which now has to be taught to young people who ride, rather than walk, to school.

County school board chairman Donald Williams said the centre was made possible through co-operation between the Moira Authority and the school board.

County residents, he said, owe a big debt of gratitude to authority officials and their unique co-operation with the school board.

This co-operation would save tax dollars and at the same time bring people together.

Belleville Alderman Robin Jeffrey, as chairman of the Authority Education and Information Advisory Board, paid tribute to Mr. Frink and said the co-operative step on the part of the authority and school board in establishing the outdoor education centre would in the future pay off three-fold.

Others, speaking briefly, included Authority chairman James Spry, Eric Runacres, county director of education, and Garnet Denyes, representing Thurlow township council.

The county school board has set up a portable classroom at the centre. The building will be used as on-site headquarters for the briefing of teachers and students in outdoor education.

Following Saturday's official opening the senior home economics class members at Harmony Public School served lunch.

The opening of the outdoor education centre was the third and final event observing the 25th anniversary of formation of the Moira River Conservation Authority.

A color brochure, outlining the authority's quarter century of conservation has been printed as part of the anniversary celebration.

Track Relocation Candidate's Aim

Hastings Liberal candidate Frank Follwell announced today he will press the federal government to have the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks through Belleville relocated, if elected member of parliament next week.

Although municipal representatives have investigated the possibility before, he said this morning now is the time to look into this again in view of a program afoot earlier this month, by which federal funds will be made available for railway relocations.

Follwell said officials of the municipality have said they already selected certain cities that will receive funds and he said he has learned more funds are still available.

"You do not get anything if you don't try, and I feel now is the time to make this effort," he commented.

He stated the basis of the new program is a desire to stimulate urban development where it is now impeded by tracks. Follwell suggests that the portion of East Belleville below the CPR tracks is one area where which a strong case could be made.

"If convincing authorities that getting those tracks out of there would benefit the development of the area, this will not be difficult . . . the advantages are obvious," he said.

As far as the West Hill is concerned, a relocation of the tracks would facilitate the opening up of a parkland belt along the shore from Zwick's Island to the cemetery, he stated.

He said the rail bed could be used for the building of a bayshore drive from Zwick's Island to the city's westerly limits.

Last week, the candidate indicated he would be making announcements of five specific goals he has set for himself. The first was inclusion of Bayshore Hastings in a proposed new National Park, while today's announcement is the second goal.

Meetings This Week

Public and civic meetings this week of which The Intelligencer has been advised are:

MONDAY

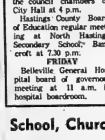
Belleville city council, in the council chambers of City Hall at 4 p.m.

Hastings County Board of Education regular meeting at North Hastings Secondary School: Bancroft at 7.30 p.m.

FRIDAY

Belleville General Hospital board of governors meeting at 11 a.m. in hospital boardroom.

School, Church Broken Into



TRENTON (Staff) — Police here today are investigating into two weekend break-ins.

Sunday night a window in the vice-principal's office in Trenton High School was smashed. Several classroom door windows then were broken and the rooms searched, although there was little damage, said a school spokesman.

Chemistry scales, a record player and tape recorder were all valued at about $1,000 — were stolen.

No money was taken; cash is not kept in school offices overnight.

Friday night, thieves smashed a window at King Street United Church, and broke wall clock and two electric kettles.

Who's in Sign Battle?

TRENTON (Staff) — The blue, red and green of party campaign colors have been mixed up all over the ridings adding their own tones to autumn colors.

The blues of the Conservatives, reds of Liberals and greens of NDPs are well-known, but it would seem that a handful of pranksters and in several cases, "party stalwarts, are doing their utmost to keep these colors changing.

Numerous reports of federal election campaign signs being torn down, covered up and ill-placed flow back and forth between campaign headquarters and town police here.

But when contacted spokesmen for both the Liberals and Conservatives in Prince Edward — Hastings ridings, state emphatically, it is not their intention to play the same political game of "tear down the other guys posters."

A spokesman for George Cunningham, Liberal candidate, said such occurrences are "pretty common at every election," but places most of the problem at the doorstep of enthusiastic youngsters, misguided party helpfuls, and in many instances, "just plain stupidity and vandalism."

The Conservative spokesman for candidate George Hees, believes the actions of these "busheads or misguided souls," are simply pre-Halloween pranks.

However both sides regularly get stronger feelings against those who are tearing down posters . . . some small posters cost about $1, the larger ones $25.

Douglas Whitely, campaign manager for Mr. Hees, reported Friday 90 per cent of their signs were torn down on the west side of Trenton Thursday night.

Both Conservatives and Liberals claim major removals from the Bedenreville Carrying Place Road area, and both claim these rioters are in direct contravention of organizers' campaign policies.

To put up campaign signs, each party must adhere to certain election rules. Utility poles are out (many Hees signs are on the poles), but party spokesmen state they will be removed; driver visions can not be obstructed; no municipal or other government buildings can be posted, and permission of homeowners to post on lawns must be obtained.

While the Liberals and Conservatives are reporting noticeable losses in campaign signs, a spokesman for Richard Laun, NDP candidate in the evening was spent in dancing, followed by lunch.

"We have had problems in Prince Edward County, but none in Trenton."

And for the New Democrats, the loss of any sign is somewhat more expensive than for the other two parties. Volunteers do their own silk screening of small black and white signs. The larger ones are painted by hand.

The signs of the other parties are commercially printed.

A little note of encouragement to midnight sticklers performing the great Canadian sign exchange. Anyone wishing to help campaign organizers by removing signs, is urged to restrain himself until election night.

And then, the signs are fair game, they say. By law, the posters have to be removed anyway.

Party Opens Thurlow Garage

Approximately 150 Thurlow township ratepayers turned out Friday night for the opening of the new $90,000 township garage north of Corbyville.

The event was more or less a social gathering than an official opening. Visitors were welcomed by Reeve Harvey Casey and, after informal inspections of the new facility, were served lunch.

Driver Injured

PICTON (Staff) — A one-car collision on Highway 33 early Sunday morning sent a Picton man to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital with facial injuries, Archie John Kingma, 22, of 79 Bridge Street, driver of the car, was admitted to hospital with lacerations. Damage to the car was estimated at $650.

Kissinger

tween Thieu and Kissinger had been conducted in a very heated atmosphere in the face of the unyielding determination to stand pat on its position."

The paper, Tin Song, added that the South Vietnamese rejected all temporary peace formulas because any prefabricated peace solution is bound to fail to bring about a lasting peace for the Indochinese peoples."

The spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks told journalists today that the present problem is still not settled; the war happens to be prolonged and intensified.

He added that the North Vietnamese position is correct, logical and reasonable," and asked: "Does the Nixon administration really want serious negotiations or does it still engage in manoeuvres aimed at deceiving public opinion?"

Although Newsweek and Time magazines reported that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to a settlement that would include a ceasefire, there was no confirmation from either U.S. or South Vie namese officials in Saigon.

Candidates' Calendar

Following is a summary of the activities of candidates in the October 30 general election for this evening and tomorrow of which The Intelligencer has been informed.

MONDAY

After plant tours in Belleville during the day, Conservative candidate for Hastings Jack Ellis will attend a coffee party from 8 p.m. at the Hillcrest community centre.

Frank Follwell of the Liberals will attend a reception at the township hall in Tweed at 8 p.m. following a day of factory tours.

NDP candidate Elridge Brethour will canvas Bancroft through the day and evening.

The New Democratic candidate in Prince Edward-Hastings, Richard Laun, will attend a farmers' union meeting at 7.30 p.m. tonight in Bloomfield at Avril George Cunningham of the Liberals and Conservative George Hees.

TUESDAY

Jack Ellis of the PCs begins the day with a tour of the senior citizens' housing project on Belleville's Bridge St. W. at 10.30 a.m. before going to Bancroft for a 2 p.m. meeting with North Hastings Secondary School students. Later in the afternoon, he will tour Msdoc industries and stay in the community for a meet the-candidate gathering.

Liberal candidate Frank Follwell will visit homes in Corbyville, Foxboro, Canniffton and Plainfield before going to the Bancroft high school meeting at 2 p.m.

From 2 to 4 p.m. he will be in Bancroft, in Bancroft, then at 6 p.m. attend a dinner and reception at the Bancroft branch of the Canadian Legion.

NDP candidate Elridge Brethour will be spending the entire day campaigning in Tweed.

Prince Edward-Hasting, George Hees of the Conservatives will visit Baiawa School and Hastings Manor through the day, spend supper with a Campbellcroft Church group before going on to a Trenton senior citizens' buffet at the Orange Lodge there at 7:30 p.m.

George Cunningham of the Liberals will be campaigning door - to - door on the west side of Trenton during the morning before spending an full afternoon canvassing Colborne. From 7:30 p.m. he will be meeting visitors to his Brighton committee rooms.

NDP candidate Richard Laun will be at Bayside Secondary School from 11 a.m. in 4 p.m. for two meetings with student voters. He will spend the rest of the day campaigning in Hillcrest township.

I'll Serve You

Liberals streamed in and out of the Robert Temple home all Saturday, meeting with Candidate Frank Follwell, sipping tea and talking politics. Here Mr. Follwell pours tea for party worker of 30 years, Mrs. Janet Gilroy.

℞ FOOLING AROUND IS USUALLY FOOLISH

Especially when you don't feel well. That's when it makes no sense at all to fool around wasting time, trying to make excuses for not seeing — or at least phoning — your doctor. All too often, what may seem to be nothing more than just a "temporary" stomach upset or a "mild" fever can actually be a signal that something is seriously wrong in your system.

The penalties for neglecting such signals can include prolonged confinement at home, lost time (and wages) from work, hospitalization, and, for those penalties can usually be avoided if you will remember to resist "fooling around" and will instead, seek the advice of your doctor whenever you aren't feeling well.

Now Time of Decision For Quinte Graduates

Valedictorian Robin Strahan said it all at her Quinte graduation Saturday night when she claimed "our high school career has given us the audacity to look, indeed, to move forward with few regrets.

"Some of us (graduates) have grown closer, many have drifted apart. The unifying factor removed, forcing each of us to stand on his own, and often deciding for himself in what direction his life will now go."

Not a few have came from the packed Quinte auditorium, through her speech.

She drew applause from the audience when she mentioned "we must acquire the serenity to accept the things we cannot change, to change the things we can and the wisdom to know the difference.

"No one as yet can be sure that he has found what he is looking for. But as we graduate, with our stores of knowledge and our ribboned diplomas, most of us hopefully must realize that we have been encouraged to look further with greater purpose."

Graduates, undergraduates, parents and faculty responded to her address with a standing ovation.

Major prizes and trophies presented after her speech included 10 Ontario Scholarships.

These were awarded in Curtis Nickle, Cameron Pratt, Deborah Pearcey, Carolyn Lewis, Katherine Callahan, Keith Payton, Lesley Edworthy, Michele Lacy, Henrietta Pleitzer and Audrey Danaher.

The Queen's University Anniversary Award was presented to Curtis Nickel and Quinte Secondary School Staff Scholarships were presented to Lesley Edworthy and Kaillegh Pratt.

The Intelligencer Award for English was given to Robert Bourdrea and the Corby Distilleries Prize went to Curtis Nickel in physical sciences and Steven Wilson for chemistry.

The Steinberg's Limited Bursary went to Pamela Stork and the Business and Professional Women's Club - Hilda Collier Memorial Bursary was given to Marlene Smallman.

The Argyll Chapter of the IODE award went to Katherine Callahan and the Belleville Kinsmen Bursary was awarded to Brenda Symons.

Kathryn Suzanne Watson received the Canadian Federation of University Women Scholarship and the Keyette Bursary went to Debbie Callaghan.

The Home and School Association trophy was presented to Donna Brant and Regina Armonas was awarded the Most Outstanding Girl Athlete Award.

Rick Meagher won the Home and School Association Award for male athlete and the Most Outstanding Boy Athlete Award went to Gerald Farrell.

The Principal's Trophy was presented to Curtis Nickel.

Exhaust Fumes Death Cause

NAPANEE (Staff) — Carbon monoxide poisoning has been blamed for the deaths of two teenagers found in a car north of here early Saturday morning.

The bodies of Shirley Babcock, 15, RR 1 Yarker and John Allenbrack, RR 2, Yarker were found in the young man's car by the girl's father and uncle.

Richard Babcock and Clayton Irish went seeking the pair when they failed to return home, and found the two — its motor running — near Varty Lake, west of Yarker, about 10 miles northeast of here, about 2 a.m.

They had been last seen together at one of their parents' homes about 5.30 p.m.

The girl was a school student, Allenbrack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Allenbrack, worked in Kingston.

Crash Victim's Funeral Today

Provincial police were uncertain today if an inquest would be held into the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Laurence, Frankford, mother of three, fatally trapped when her car overturned into the Trent River Friday.

The car crashed off Highway 33, about a quarter-mile north of Highway 401 and rolled on its roof in eight feet of water.

Funeral service for Mrs. Laurence, 45, was scheduled for this afternoon at Weaver Funeral Home with interment in Mount Evergreen Cemetery.

Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, daughter of James Craig and the late Mrs. Craig, she had lived in the Frankford-Trenton area for the past 18 years, previously in New Hampshire.

She is survived by her husband, an employee of the Bata complex at Batawa, three children, John, Craig and Lee, her father and a brother, James Craig, Jr., of Palmerston, New Zealand.

Mrs. Craig was a member of the Anglican Church.

Bearers were Rol Gilbert, Ray McCauley, Robert Cameron, Ron Davis, Lan Gilbert, Jack Kennedy.

Top Scholar Honored

Curtis Nickel was awarded the Principal's Trophy Saturday night by Quinte principal John Hayman, in his first year at Quinte Secondary School, Mr. Nickel averaged 92.8 per cent. He continues this year in Biology at Queen's University. The graduation was special, too, for Mr. Hayman who saw his first class of grade nine students come up through the ranks to graduate that evening. Mr. Hayman began at Quinte the same year as the graduates.

Falcon Is for Real

A bird found by Enterprise Public School children two weeks ago and kept overnight this week by a delegation of naturalists confirming earlier reports that it is a peregrine falcon.

The bird was captured in woodlands after injuring its wing and was brought back to class.

The ministry of natural resources was called in and the bird was transported by car to Belleville where it was treated by the Belleville Animal Hospital.

Somehow the falcon had knocked its wing out of joint and the wing had to be taped to its body.

One week later the bird is doing well, said a spokesman for the Napanee department and is feeding well.

Employees at the office are shooting pigeons on their farms and bringing them down for the bird.

Frank Taylor, spokesman for the ministry said, "he loves them. We throw a whole pigeon in his cage and he is more than adept at destroying them, feathers and all."

Food, including chicken and starving beef is being given to the bird on the end of a wooden paddle, a precaution against its sharp beak.

Several groups of naturalists have visited the office to see the bird that is rarely seen east of the Mississippi River.

Canada's concentration of falcons is found in the extreme western provinces, particularly British Columbia.

The bird has gotten "quite tame" and it will be at least another three weeks before the tape is removed.

If the wing is satisfactory, the bird will be released. If not, it will receive permanent quarters in the area.

Two Injured In Accident

WEST LAKE (Staff) —Two women were admitted to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital with injuries sustained in a one-car accident on West Lake Road.

Injured were the driver, Valerie Hoare, 18, of RR4, Picton, and her passenger, Sue Carrol, whose address was not immediately available.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable R. Boorman investigated the accident which caused about $1,000 damage.

Smoke-eaters Prepare

Fire gutted completely the RR 1 Ameliasburg residence of Eugene McQuaid Sunday night. The blaze reportedly began in the wood stove in the kitchen while one daughter slept on a couch in the living room and two younger children were upstairs in bed. Mr. McQuaid was at a hockey game in Belleville. All escaped safely from the home which was insured at $18,000. Contents were insured for another $4,000. The family will stay in Picton with relatives until another home can be found. Here, members of the Ameliasburg fire department get into breathing equipment, before entering the building.

Curtis Nickel Is Top Scholar

Curtis Nickel, a graduate of Quinte Secondary School, was honored at graduation exercises Saturday night as the school's all-time top scholar.

In Principal J. S. Hayman's address, he said Curtis had achieved an average of better than 90 per cent during his first four years of high school.

In his graduating year (Grade 13) he averaged 92.3 while taking three math courses, physics, chemistry, Biology and English.

During his high school career, Mr. Nickel had been very active in the Rotary Science Fair.

In grade 10 he finished in fourth place in local competition, and in grade 11 finished first.

He did not enter competition in Grade 12 but in his final high school year he finished second locally and placed first in all-Canada competitions in his division.

Using mites, he showed predator prey characteristics.

Quoting other teachers, Mr. Hayman said, "he is a humble, most excellent scholar."

"I don't really know whist to say, or even if I should believe any of those things said about me," said Mr. Nickel.

After his first words, the auditorium rose to give its second standing ovation.

Earlier, valedictorian Robin Strahan was honored similarly.

"These were the best people ever in the class," said Mr. Nickel, "you know unity, the whole bit."

During the summer he was employed by SWEEP, Students Working in an Environmental Enhancement Program, as a technical advisor for conservation projects work.

Mr. Nickel began this year at Queen's University in Biology to continue with medicine.

OPEN LETTER
JOHN N. HARTT, M.D., C.M., C.C.F.P.

My respected Hastings Progressive Conservative Friends:

Many of you have repeatedly offered to me your support in the recent past. I now ask you to believe that I have not compromised my principles, my integrity or my beliefs as I see them, but actually because of these principles I have decided I must change my position and politics to preserve my conscience.

I request that you re-think your principles carefully, consider the records of the available Hastings Candidates for Election and on October 30th vote for Frank Follwell.

I ask you to vote for this man so you can be happy and proud of your decision and ability to stand and be counted against what I feel is bad and for what is good. I would be happy to discuss this in detail with any and all who are interested.

Yours sincerely,
John N. Hartt, M.D.

The space for this letter was purchased by and paid for by Dr. J. N. Hartt.

Fitness Program

Although rather vague as to how such a program will be accomplished, Prime Minister Trudeau's call for a population actively concerned with physical fitness is timely.

It is ironic that while Canada will have hosted three major world athletic competitions by 1978, starting with the Pan American Games in 1967 and continuing with the Olympics in 1976 and the Commonwealth Games two years later, our populace by and large is physically unfit. We are spectators rather than participants.

As the Prime Minister (who works hard and successfully at keeping fit himself) put it: "To drive instead of to walk, to walk instead of to run, and to use our increasing leisure time in passive activities rather than in active ones, is contributing to an increasingly unhealthy population."

"Our aim now," said Mr. Trudeau, "is to increase both our participation in these programs and the effectiveness of that participation"

Beyond this, though, the Prime Minister did not elaborate and we are left pondering just how the Federal Government will finance and find that afflicts so many can be arrested and limited, create a population more finely tuned and less prone to such killers as heart disease and emphysema.

Government money alone will not accomplish this, even if it is made available. In this context, remember the Diefenbaker government's big plan to improve physical fitness. When money became flush it was grounded and we have now progressed to this point, a decade or more later, when more people are driving cars, more young people are smoking and if anything there is less interest ever in the promotion of fitness generally.

We would like to see an expansion of such programs as do exist in the schools and at the Y with emphasis on such basics as jogging and greatly stepped up programs to counter an increasing addiction to tobacco among the young. For as medical authorities long ago have established, this can lead in time to respiratory and other health problems.

Much of what the Prime Minister is talking about lies with the individuals. It is the responsibility of each of us, remembering that the government spends ten per cent of the total federal budget on health and that an improvement of even two per cent in the incidence of heart disease would represent a savings of about $34 million.

A Bad Scene

What an increasingly murky world this is.

From New York comes a report of a 26 per cent jump in the number of murders in the first eight months of this year compared with the same period in 1971. Slayings in the city totalled 1,092.

And from London the word is that girl muggers — usually operating in twos and threes and drawn from prosperous middle-class homes — are becoming part of a new pattern of urban violence haunting British streets.

Drugs, alcohol and yet another phenomenon — what a remand home director describes as hatred of impending womanhood — are all factors in this lamentable trend in Britain, caught up as well with the ugly events in Northern Ireland.

We have our problems here, but nothing like this. Not yet, that is, and let's not be too complacent. There is for one thing a growing element of social alienation.

As Globe and Mail columnist Kenneth Bagnell points out, Education Minister Thomas Wells "is under pressure to rid the classroom of any trappings of faith. Bible readings, prayers, even silent meditations..."

True, these may be private matters, for the individual, usually, but it will be a sorry day if our schools and other institutions disregard entirely the divinity that Shakespeare noted, "shapes our ends."

It is not a big step from obliviousness to the kind of lawlessness that plagues some parts of the world today.

Hymn Locale

Recently we noted that the hill in Mrs. Cecil Frances Alexander's hymn There is a Green Hill Far Away was one seen from her County Londonderry home. Actually Mrs. Alexander's home was in Strabane, County Tyrone, but legend has it that the hill in this famous Easter hymn was one which could then be seen from the Walls of Derry and is now obscured by new housing developments in the notorious Bogside district.

The Lot of A Back-Room-Boy Is Not A Happy One

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Men are of the Back Room Boys?

Interesting characters.

The original "Joes."

Getting little of the credit when the candidate wins because a winner customarily takes all the bows and the loser looks around for somebody else to blame.

You must have at least three or perhaps four Back Room Boys in your area, one for each of the parties.

They are responsible for the campaign mechanics in the one central and the several surrounding constituencies there.

Of course, all four parties have their senior BRB's, lined up, four deep, here in each of the national headquarters.

But they have their counterparts all across the country, the regional BRB's in the Atlantic Provinces, the Prairies, and especially Ontario and British Columbia where the real win-or-lose crunch will come.

For seven weeks now, they have been working their 14-16 hour days, in well-organized confusion of jangling phones, conferences and continuous crisis.

They still have the last few and hardest days to go, and if you ask them, they will probably wonder out loud if they are going to make it.

By election night, like most of the candidates and certainly the party leaders, they will be just about at the end of their rope of physical and even emotional endurance.

What is in it for them?

For the BRB with a loser, little if anything, except the dubious prospect of taking another run at it next time around.

For the BRB with a winner — and he depends on his candidate's place in the party pecking order.

If the candidate is a key man, a sort of regional rallying point, say a cabinet minister, or, in the opposition with potential for cabinet status, there could be something nice in the line of an appointment. A warmly smiling face fronting in the big federal government establishment.

If the candidate is the leader, and a winner, well, name your own ticket — like the Senate — as some top BRB have after other elections.

Even if the candidate is a relative nobody, an undistinguished freshman or second or third term backbencher, the BRB's are "favors," the patronage spoils of jobs and contracts and the strictly local clout that goes with them.

So what does the BRB do?

Something of everything that goes into campaigning. Help plan strategy, dope out travel and speech itineraries, line up coffee parties, develop publicity lines, boss the organization, direct fund - raising, hold the candidate's hand.

The job can vary from advising the candidate on local and even regional or national issues, to picking out the doorsthat-count for him to knock on.

For the local or regional BRB the worst day is when the party leader comes into the area or constituency to campaign.

It means, first, last and always, a crowd . . . bigger than the other party leader had, or if he has not called around yet, so big that he could not possibly match it.

The importance of the size of the crowd was indicated the other day when there a m o screams of anguish from the Prime Minister's BRB's that the nasty, naughty "press" had been deliberately underestimating it.

So it means that the BRB has to bribe and bully everyone in the organization to round up what he has promised in advance will be headlined as a "record Crowd."

It means checking everything from the public address system right up to the second the leader speaks, to ordering flowers for his wife.

It means, in short, all those many, many things, the responsibility for which has been turning the BRB in your area into the most thoroughly exhausted and apprehensive man for miles around.

If you have met him, he has asked you to vote for his man, and if you have given him a word of cheer, even if not intending it, you have done your good turn for the day.

"We weren't too clear on your policy regarding markings on RCMP vehicles and signs, so to play it safe..."

Oct. 23, 1972 ...

First battle of the English Civil War was fought at Edge Hill, Warwickshire 330 years ago today—in 1642. For the first 18 months, the king was winning, owing to superiority in cavalry. The parliamentary army was confined to southeast England and London. Crom well's development of unusual tactics turned the scale by 1646 and the king fled to Scotland. Cromwell then beat the Scots and executed the king was captured and executed in 1649. The House of Lords was abolished and England declared a commonwealth.

1905—Trusteeship over Canadian maritime unions was proclaimed.

1956—Hungarian revolution began.

1958—A military treaty was planned to link Canada and the United States with Europe.

1963—New York Stock Exchange lost $5 billion in paper profits in a day.

N.Z. High Commissioner Fosters Ties with Canada

From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Traditions die hard in the world of diplomacy.

Perhaps because the diplomatic world is one where traditions still play a living role in the day to day relations between countries.

Canada and New Zealand, for example, share more than a taste for lamb chops, primarily because of the Commonwealth connection which often appears to be shrinking in meaning for Canadians.

The connection surfaces visually in the form diplomatic relations between the two nations takes.

With foreign nations, Canada and New Zealand exchange ambassadors.

With each other, and other Commonwealth nations, they exchange High Commissioners.

The current New Zealand High Commissioner, Dean Jack Byrne, says there really isn't anything in his job that distinguishes him from an ambassador. He has the same responsibilities, rights and status.

But ambassadors, traditionally are envoys from one court to another, and Canada is only New Zealand have the same sovereign.

"How could you go as ambassador to your own sovereign?" he said.

In more practical terms, the commonwealth relationship appears to have a relatively small effect on relations between the two countries.

The High Commissioner and his staff of 13 use a series of offices in a downtown Ottawa office building called the Commonwealth Building. The relocommission's work is identical to that of an embassy.

New Zealand, with a population about one-seventh of Canada's, has a happier situation in terms of trade than Canada has with many large nations it trades with. The two countries' import-export balance is in approximate balance, at around $40 million.

However, Canada is largely locked into a raw material supplier role with most of its trading partners. New Zealand trade with Canada has been limited chiefly to agricultural products; lamb and beef.

Mr. Eyre says however that a new diversification in exports to Canada has been developing, in the fields of electronic equipment and components and some light machinery. He also noted proudly that one of Ottawa's leading downtown shops featured New Zealand dinner ware.

(Editor's note: Also available in Belleville.)

Another New Zealand export to Canada has taken the form of a new boy in the field of horse race betting. Mr. Eyre says the country has brought all off-track betting under direct supervision through the Totalizator Agency Board, ensuring fair betting and effectively pulling underworld bookmakers out of business.

The system was studied last year by Ontario as it prepared to draft legislation to control off-track betting.

More recently, New Zealand specialists in Mozel affairs have visited Canada to study our government's methods of dealing with native peoples.

Mr. Eyre, unlike most of the top diplomats in the capital is not a career diplomat. He began his business career as the New Zealand representative for a Canadian manufacturer. He received the High Commission post after a 17-year political career, 13 of them as a cabinet minister.

His many years in Canada, Mr. Eyre has travelled to every province and the territories. In addition to obligatory visits to provincial capitals and major cities, he said he has visited a number of small and medium-sized cities, including tours of the Maritimes, the British Columbia interior, and the North West Territories.

He said he finds strong mutual interests exist between Canadians and New Zealanders, an honorary president, Mrs. Fred Houston; president, Alex Gowans; honorary president, Blanche Dodge; secretary - treasurer, Bessie Gardiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tucker, Trent Rd., have returned home after visiting friends in Peterborough and Colborne.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Salisbury, Cobourg, are guests at the home of William Caldwell, Donald St.

Mrs. C. Dalrymple visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross, Preston.

Is Davis Hogging the Limelight?

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau

There just might eventually be some revolt in the government ranks.

Premier Davis has been showing at least one potential trouble spot.

Davis has had a few problems to date in his tenure.

Some of them, such as the fuss over the Spadina Expressway in Toronto have been through his own actions.

Others, such as the conflict of interest incidents have been out of his making.

None, however, has involved any basic personal shortcoming.

But one crack has been beginning to surface which is personal and could be troublesome.

This is that Davis appears as publicity hog.

In a good government a leader definitely is the leader.

He makes the final decisions and it is clear that he is boss.

But also if he is wise he is careful that this does not impose on his associates, on their dignity and self respect.

There is a fine line involved.

Among the Davis predecessors Bob Roberts and Leslie Frost knew this line and were careful to follow it. They particularly made sure that the men s their cabinets had their share of the limelight.

George Drew didn't. He hogged the show. And he ended up unpopular in his own party.

Davis is showing some of the Drew trait in that he personally has been making practically all important government announcements. (Except when D'Arcy McKeough was in the cabinet. McKeough controlled his flair).

This leaves his ministers in the shade. And inevitably if it continues should lead to unrest.

At the highest level it is at least a good guess that there already is this unrest.

The members of the policy and priorities committee of cabinet, the inner cabinet, are the senior men in the government.

There is little they can say in public.

And the premier would seem to have degraded their stature somewhat by recently elevated George Kerr, who is by no means a senior minister, to a chair there.

There has to be the assumption that Kerr was elevated provincial secretaries Bert Lawrence and Bob Welch, must be hurting badly by now.

Former leadership candidates, they now are in obscurity.

And they would seem to have really only one choice.

Either start using their elbows on the premier or get out, as colleague Al Lawrence has already done.

Mohawk College Reunion

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

We would greatly appreciate your paper's assistance in contacting graduates of three Hamilton area education institutions about a major reunion planned for October 26, 27 and 28.

"Mohawk 25" celebrates the 25th anniversary of the founding of Hamilton's Mohawk College and two institutions which it absorbed — the Provincial Institute of Textiles and the Hamilton Institute of Technology.

Our alumni of the past 25 years are spread across the United States, Canada and some are living in your area.

We would like them to know they are most welcome at the college during the three days. October 26 will mark a day for our alumni and festivities will be highlighted by a commemorative plaque unveiling at 6:30 p.m. with the Honorable Jack Davis, Minister of Colleges and Universities doing the honors.

At about 7:00 p.m., October 26, an alumni pub will open in Mohawk's South Cafeteria giving graduates with three institutions an opportunity to get together and reminisce.

All grads from your area will be most welcome.

President, Mohawk College

Kingston Mayor Stepping Down

Kingston Whig-Standard

The man who has been Mayor of Kingston for the past four years will not seek re-election in the December 4 municipal election, nor will he be a candidate for office at any other level of government. Mayor E. Valerie Swain has announced her decision to leave politics "forever." Despite repeated speculation that the 40-year-old lawyer would not be a candidate this municipal year, her decision lies to be the biggest political surprise in Kingston thus far in 1972.

Elected as an alderman in 1964, Mayor Swain defeated alderman George Webb in the 1968 municipal race by more than 2,500 votes. He was returned by acclamation in 1970. As an alderman and as mayor, he brought an abundance of energy and new ideas to City Hall. The preservation of the Grand Theatre, the one-way streets system, the Tercentenary Year preparations and the selection of Kingston as the site of the 1976 Olympic Sailing events are only some of the undertakings promoted and encouraged by Valerie Swain. Other issues with which the Mayor has been both vocal and persistent include the tax-exempt property situation, and the preservation of Kingston's architectural character. Perhaps, as the Mayor suggests the time has come for Kingston to consider making the office of mayor a full-time job with a salary of at least $21,000. Having won the position of mayor, he said, required an average of 60 working hours a week.

Whatever happens on December 4, the enthusiasm and integrity of Valerie Swain will be missed at City Hall. We have not always agreed with Mayor Swain, but we believe that he has given Kingston sound leadership over the past four years.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD SIMPSON

Simpson – Skinkle

Rev. Canon Wright performed the recent wedding ceremony in Christ Church when Anna June Skinkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Skinkle of RR2, Belleville became the bride of Harold Bruce Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Simpson. John Withers rendered organ music to the accompaniment of the soloist, Miss Nancy Hermiston.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a floor length bridal gown of snow white nylon organza and featuring a wedding band collar and long full sleeves. Vertical rows of lace intermingled with satin ribbon enhanced the A-line skirt, sleeves and bodice. A satin train extended from her empire waistline, while a two-piece shoulder length veil fell from her tiara headpiece. The bride carried a white Bible with red sweetheart roses and ribbon attached.

Miss Susan Mortimore of Belleville as the maid of honour wore a long gown featuring a long-sleeved deep purple velvet bodice and a sheer floral skirt with a mauve underlay. A diamond tiara highlighted her princess style gown. She carried a bouquet of white streamers and white mums tinted mauve.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Bonnie McKeown, of Foxboro, sister of the bride, Mrs. Linda Gummer of Whitby and Miss Marilyn Skinkle, sister of the bride of Smithville were dressed similarly to the maid of honor except in orange, raspberry and kelly green respectively. Each wore diamond tiaras and carried mum bouquets tinted orange, pink and yellow to complement their gowns.

John Skinkle, of Warkworth, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ushers were: Ken McKeown, of Foxboro, brother-in-law of the bride, Norman Gummer of Whitby, cousin of the bridegroom, and Tim Skinkle, of Belleville, brother of the bride.

For the reception held at Ella Lodge, where Samuel Morgan, cousin of the bride, was master of ceremonies, the bride's mother wore a long gown with an orange printed polyester bodice with long sleeves and an orange polyester skirt. A corsage of orange tinted carnation and brown accessories completed her dress.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a mauve, green and blue flowered polyester floor length gown enhanced by a corsage of tinted carnations and beige accessories.

For the wedding trip to points west, the bride wore a mulberry printed polyester skirt and short sleeved jacket accented by black accessories and a red rose corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will reside at 24 Howard St., Apt. 2, Belleville.

WEDDING

WALLACE — DAVID

Rosedale United Church in Toronto was the setting for the recent wedding ceremony of Frances Raye David, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Ira David Stirling, and the late Mr. Ira David, and William Hamilton Wallace, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace of Orangeville. Rev. Ronald Henderson performed the ceremony.

Lauri Potts of Toronto was best man.

For the reception held at Le Provencal Restaurant, Toronto, the bride's mother wore a yellow shantung coat and dress ensemble. Black accessories and a corsage of yellow orchids, rosebuds and heather complemented her outfit.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a gold brocade dress enhanced by bone accessories and a corsage of yellow orchids, yellow rosebuds and heather.

Following their wedding trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will take up residence at 33 Eastmount Ave., Toronto.

SNIDER — PARKS

MADOC — Bethel Pentecostal Church, Kaladar, was the scene of the double ring wedding ceremony on Saturday, October 7, 1972, when Judy Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parks of Kaladar was united in marriage to Bevton Churchill Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Snider of Clyone. Rev. Ronald Orr officiated and wedding music was played by Miss Dawn Thompson, cousin of the bridegroom. Soloist was Mrs. J. Newton, wife of the minister of Northbrook and Kaladar Pentecostal Churches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin organza designed with long sleeves and a wedding ring collar. Wide lace trim and a row of dainty buttons adorned the bodice, while a full-length train fell from the back of the gown. Her shoulder-length veil was gathered in a cluster of dainty rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white mums.

Mrs. Gladys Depeiro was her sister's matron of honor, who wore a green velvet gown with a bodice of light green chiffon and carried a bouquet of yellow and white mums. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Yanch, sister of the bride and Mrs. Cheryl Snider, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Mrs. Yanch wore a blue velvet gown featuring a full blue chiffon bodice and carried white and blue-tinted mums. Mrs. Snider wore a similar gown, but in purple velvet with a bodice in mauve chiffon. She carried mauve and white mums. Little miss Becky Snider, niece of the bridegroom was flower girl. She wore a white satin gown with green velvet trim and carried a basket of yellow and white mums.

Best man was Jackie Wannamaker, of Northbrook, while ushers were Charles Snider and Glenn Yanch.

The buffet-style supper was held in the Community Hall at Kaladar, where the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a dress of green knit with braid trim, black shoes and purse, and yellow ribbon in her hair, all complemented with a corsage of yellow mums. Assisting the bridegroom's mother wore a knit dress in blue and white with a silver thread. She wore silver shoes and carried a blue purse. A corsage of white mums completed her ensemble.

For the wedding trip, the bride donned a two-piece green silk black accessories and a corsage of white mums.

The couple will reside at Oshawa.

Social And Personal

Prior to her recent marriage, Mrs. Harold Simpson, (nee Anna Skinkle) was honored at a kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. Joan Morgan, Belleville, with Mrs. Marlene Morgan as co-hostess. A miscellaneous and personal shower was held at the home of Mrs. Ellen Phillips of Belleville, with Miss Susan Mortimore as the co-hostess. Co-workers at Guaranty Trust in Belleville presented the bride with a gift and also the co-workers at the Bank of Montreal in Campbellford held a bathroom shower in the bridegroom's honor. Miss Jean Boyce held a miscellaneous shower in her home with Mrs. Norma McCleary, Warkworth as her assistant. The rehearsal dinner which was given by the bridegroom's parents, was held in the bride's parents home.

Church Group

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

The fall meeting of St. Peter's W.M.S was held in the Sunday School auditorium which had been decorated in Thanksgiving theme. The president, Mrs. Bailey, presided and welcomed the 32 members and visitors.

The worship service, printed in the October Glad Tidings was used for the devotional period. Miss Marion Robertson was pianist. Mrs. David Blakely and Mrs. Warren Hill participated.

Mrs. Orla Reid introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. J. E. Treleaven of Toronto who spoke about the "Fellowship of the Least Coin." This worldwide fellowship of prayer has grown and flourished, from its beginning in 1956, enabling help to be given to many underprivileged and famine stricken areas. Mrs. Treleaven is a representative for the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Treleaven spoke briefly on the mission study for the coming year which concerns India. The book, "Ask an Indian about India" is a collection of conversations with individual Indians ranging from the prime minister to peasants. A sari, which Mrs. Treleaven had brought with her was modelled by Miss Lamoine Weel.

Mrs. Cecil Woods thanked the speaker and the meeting closed with prayer.

LONDON — Princess Anne in a white openwork straw hat and a boldly-patterned high-collared style, drives away from the Savoy Hotel, London, where she had been a guest of honor at today's Women of the Year luncheon in aid of the Greater London Fund for the Blind. Topic of discussion for British women at the luncheon was freedom. (AP Photo)

MR. AND MRS ROGER WANNAMAKER

Wannamaker – Keller

Rev. Merle Douglas, assisted by Rev. R. Irish performed the recent wedding ceremony in Wesleyan Methodist Church when Sandra Marlene Keller, daughter of Mrs. Lena Keller, of Belleville exchanged vows with Cecil Roger Wannamaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wannamaker, of Belleville. Miss Sharon Reid rendered organ music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Dorothy Cummings.

The bride given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Richard Kane wore a floor length satin gown featuring long sleeves and a flowing train which fell from a high neckline. The taffeta veil was trimmed with scalloped edges. The bride carried a white Bible crested with red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Bonnie Miller, chose a mint green chiffon over taffeta gown, A dark green velvet ribbon enhanced the empire waistline while daisies adorned the sleeves and neckline. She carried a nosegay of assorted flowers and wore daisies in her hair.

Bridesmaid, Miss Carol Lyn Graham was dressed identically to the maid of honor only in yellow. She also carried identical flowers. Miss Dawn Ferguson, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, wore a white satin gown and carried a nosegay of assorted flowers.

Allan Thompson, was best man while Ronald McIntyre, cousin of the bridegroom ushered guests. Burke Keller, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

For the reception held at Parkdale Community Centre, the bride's mother received guests wearing a lilac crimplene street length dress which was trimmed with white lace. Her dress was enhanced by black accessories and a corsage of mauve, yellow and white roses.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a long polyester crepe gown in fall shades of yellow, green and brown. Beige accessories and a corsage of matching roses accented her dress.

For the wedding trip to points west, the bride donned a navy and white pantsuit trimmed with red and gold and completed by a corsage of yellow roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wannamaker will reside at 399 Coleman St., Belleville.

Successful Living

What Is A 'Freak-out'?

By DORIS CLARK

My secretary did some personal research about drug abuse for her church group. She is responsible for the following facts about some bad effects of the drugs. There are "freak-outs and flashbacks." A bummer is a state of anxiety and discomfort of a mild nature; while a freak-out is a more severe state of anxiety and mental disruption.

Six reasons why some of the effects turn out to be disagreeable, uncomfortable, decidedly dangerous:

1. Fatigue. The drug abuser already has a body lacking in resistance.

2. Inexperience — the user takes too much, doesn't know how to handle the drug, or uses it at the wrong time.

3. Unreasonable expectation. He is hoping for a lift, perhaps being already in a state of depression. What he gets is a freak-out.

4. Emotional disturbance at the time of ingestion. He does something desperate because he has had a row.

5. Self-deceit. The user tries to kid himself; but the drug isn't kidding.

6. Unstable immediate environment. Such things as "everybody's doing it", or the depression that goes with the lack of a job, or a feeling that life is without goals and life is without meaning.

We recommend a book (now in paperback) called "The Forgotten Children", written by R. Margaret Cork, a social worker with many years' experience in the Addiction Research Foundation, Toronto. Margaret Cork relates interview with 115 children. All came from homes of alcoholics and have disturbing stories to tell. They fall easy prey to the "pushers".

Dear Doris: Last year at college I fell sorry for a certain boy who was rude. We became good friends and I guess I fell in love with him. He began to act like a man and took a liking to sports.

This was the lull before the storm because he did many mean things to me. He started taking drugs and tried to lead me up. I dropped him.

Later he told me he had changed; had to start acting like a man. I believed him when he said he would come over tonight for supper. It is now 7 o'clock, I am at my apartment, which I got when I took a job. Maybe he changed his mind.

Doris, I like my job but I don't think I could put in another winter like the last one. I have to see him sooner and this hurts me because I gave so much to help him.

Should I move from town? I am 19 and he is 23. — Off My Chest.

Dear Chest: Moving away won't solve your problem. Stay where you like your job but steer clear of that fraud. You will find there will be other boys interested in you.

You are growing more mature and this will help you to show poise when you see him without letting an old heartache throw you off balance. There is something better in store for you.

If you have not received a leaflet requested, it may be that you have neglected to include the necessary eight-cent stamp. Address your letter to Doris Clark, in care of this newspaper.)

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONNELL

Is a wife happy to learn her faults?

NO; she may not be happy to discover what there is about her that annoys or displeases her husband (nor is a husband overly delighted to get a "no punches pulled" assessment of himself). Yet if self-sincerity wants to please her husband, she will accept the truth with a firm resolution to change—even if she learns that that "silly little laugh" of hers that her husband used to say attracted her to him is now one of the things he finds annoying.

Does a neurotic enjoy his neurosis?

NOT as a rule. Sometimes, though, a person will derive some satisfaction from being told he is neurotic. Such a designation can boost—temporarily—his self-image. He lets the items roll off his tongue a few times and he might think he has distinction as a neurotic. Let him get down to specifics, however; let him learn exactly what his trouble is. When he finds what his neurosis is depriving him of, he won't enjoy being called a neurotic.

Can chess alienate father and son?

IT can; but playing chess is also a marvelous opportunity for a father and son to grow more fond of each other and to have greater respect for one another. Chess can also be fun for the two of them. Pop knows his son wants to knock him off, right? So the old boy can play a little recklessly. If some of his daring results in victory, Dad's a Bobby Fischer in his son's eyes; if the father is crushed, his son is gratified.

Agriculturalists Feted

TWEED — On Sunday, October 15, 1972, the Tweed Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs entertained members of the World Federation of Agriculturalists at a coffee party while their bus was passing through the village of Tweed.

The Agriculturalists who came from all over the world had been touring Ontario for two weeks and were met by Kinsmen who escorted them to the Senior School in Tweed. They were welcomed by Tweed Reeve Mrs. Barbara Allen and club members.

Tht Kinette served coffee, tea, fancy breads, cakes and Ontario cheese.

The hall was attractively decorated with two main buffet tables, surrounded by table-clothed tea tables and chairs. Each table was centred with a large bowl of Ontario grown apples.

The Agriculturalists had nothing but praise for this area and hospitality.

Ann Landers

Halloween Treats-a Threat to Kids

Dear Ann Landers: If you print this letter a few days before Halloween, it could save young lives.

We often speak of how the world has changed. The fact that I am writing illustrates one of the most dramatic changes in our society. A person has to be sick to put razor blades, LSD or arsenic in Halloween candy or caramel apples and give them to innocent children who are out for a night of fun.

What a shameful thing that youngsters can no longer safely accept Halloween treats offered by kind neighbors who for many years prepared sacks of goodies, baked cookies and candy for this traditional holiday. But that's the way it is.

This year my children have invited a few friends in. They will play games and we have prizes for the best costume and the funniest pumpkin. We will not allow the children to go trick or treating because it is no longer safe. I hope you will warn other parents who have not yet caught up with the fact that 1972 isn't 1952, or even '62. — Sad Realist

Dear Realist: Here's your letter and my thanks for having written it. I second the motion. Small Halloween parties at home are a splendid idea. Parents who allow their youngsters to go from door to door should instruct them to go only to the neighbors whom they know personally and to accept nothing from strangers.

Dear Ann Landers: My hat is off to you for having the courage to speak out on subjects that most people would just as soon duck. I refer to your column on "funny uncles."

I didn't have a "funny uncle" but I had a step-father who took indecent liberties with me for about four years, starting when I was six. I didn't know what it was all about until I reached my 10th birthday and was put wise by a playmate who was a couple of years older than I was. Her step-father was "funny" with her and she wrote to you about it. You told her to tell him if he came near her again she would go immediately to her mother and ruin him. She took your advice and he never bothered her after that.

I decided to do the same with my step-father although I was scared to death he might give me a beating. Well, Ann, that was the last time he tried to act funny with me. Although this happened eight years ago I think of it nearly every day and I remember you in prayers every night. Please forgive me for not writing to say thanks—but I'm writing now. — Satara

Dear Sat: You aren't crazy. Just human. Self-discipline, plus keeping your distance can be immensely helpful. I recommend both.

Dear One: No apologies are necessary. Your letter gives me another opportunity to tell all my young readers that if a relative, friend or neighbor gets "funny" they should not be afraid to say: "If you come near me again I'll tell my Mom and Dad." Then do it if the warning isn't enough.

Dear Ann: Help! Hurry! What is wrong with a woman who has been married six years, has a wonderful husband and two adorable children and feels herself attracted to another man? I didn't want this to happen but it seems beyond my control. My husband knows nothing about it and I must get myself straightened around before he suspects something.

Am I crazy? Can the solution be found in self-discipline?—Satara

Dear Sat: You aren't crazy. Just human. Self-discipline, plus keeping your distance can be immensely helpful. I recommend both.

Long-time Dream Came True!

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Don and Jean Salter are back from an 11-month, 10,000-mile cruise in their sloop.

To make their long-time dream come true, they sold their home and 37 acres of farm land and Dr. Salter took a year's leave of absence from his job as professor of earth science at the University of Waterloo.

His wife says: "You can do anything in this world if you're willing to sacrifice."

The couple bought their 31-foot sloop in England. They sailed from Falmouth to Spain, to Portugal and the Canary Islands then across the Atlantic to the West Indies, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and the Bahamas.

They carried a short wave radio but no transmitter because they say people should be able to get themselves out of trouble without involving others.

Both can navigate using a sextant.

Their sloop, the Tarnimara, has a main cabin which houses the galley and a corner for navigation work and a forward cabin.

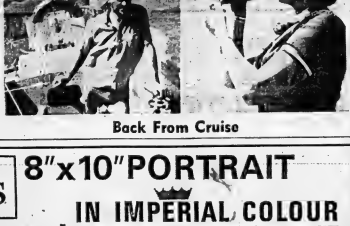
They carried water in an 85-gallon earthenware jug hung in the rigging to keep cool.

Mrs. Salter made bread every other day. They caught fish and carried dried meat, vegetables and fruit, bacon, eggs, butter and milk.

"We coated 12 dozen fresh eggs with vaseline when we left Falmouth," Dr. Salter said. "They kept fresh for three months without refrigeration. Thirty-six pounds of New Zealand canned butter kept well for seven or eight months. The Canvy Islands supplied us with fresh oranges which were just as tasty at the end of the 26-day Atlantic crossing."

Mrs. Salter said her favorite food purchase was nine gallons of long-life milk bought in pint cartons in England. It kept fresh for six months.

They said they learned to use other foods from people they met at stops along their route.



The Salters said they believe thousands of people are traveling as they did, seeking out-of-the-way places to visit.

When they anchored off what they believed was a deserted island in the West Indies, they met an Australian family and a British author.

They organized a goat hunt and served the catch roasted in wine.

They learned to use conch meat, which provides a source of protein for people in isolated islands. Mrs. Salter served it in chowders and ground with onion as a seagoing "steak tartare."

Her husband said: "Jean's conch fritters were mouth-watering."

Court Appeal Lets Ousted MD Practise

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Richard Potter, Ontario minister of health, said Saturday that at least one doctor whose licence was suspended by the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons several years ago is still practising.

The reason, said the minister is that an appeal to the courts is still waiting to be heard.

Dr. Potter, in a speech to the Medico-Legal Society of Toronto, said: "Too often, decisions of the college's disciplinary committee have been appealed successfully in the appeal courts.

"I know of two appeals pending, one of several years standing, and still the individual can, by our law, continue to practice until the appeal is heard."

Dr. Potter said the legal profession has been better able to discipline its members than has the medical profession.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons, the body responsible for licencing and regulating physicians, had a more difficult task because "the public in many instances regards a doctor in a different light and may refuse to appear against him, refuse to subscantiate charges."

Dr. Potter said professions such as medicine and law should govern themselves: "After all, who is better qualified to sit in judgment on an individual than his peers?"

Text of his speech was released in advance of delivery.

Kitimat Workers Quit Steel Union

TORONTO (CP) — William Mahoney, Canadian president of the United Steelworkers of America, said Sunday the decision of Alcan production workers at Kitimat, B.C., to leave the Steelworkers for an all-Canadian union is "a clear warning . . . of the growth of a new and insidious form of company unionism."

The Kitimat workers, in the USWA for 16 years, voted last week to seek certification under the Canadian Aluminum Smelter and Allied Workers' Union.

Mr. Mahoney said he intends to have a complete examination of the Kitimat situation immediately to find out why the group left his union and lay the groundwork for its return.

He said in a statement the Kitimat workers had been "misled and confused" and were "using themselves as the tools" of the company. Their new union had no connections in the Canadian labor movement, no contracts in its name and apparently was totally without assets.

"The narrow nationalistic appeal of the so-called independent union," he said, "is only a cover-up and camouflage to conceal the real aims of placing these workers in an indefensible position. . . .

Legislation Is Planned

VANCOUVER (CP) — Urban Affairs Minister Ron Basford said Sunday he will bring a new housing legislation next year, based on a successful redevelopment of the Strathcona area of Vancouver in which residents took an active part.

"Strathcona has shown us that you don't have to bulldoze deteriorating districts down to make them liveable and enjoyable neighborhoods again," he told members of the Strathcona Property Owners and Tenants Association (SPOTA).

"And it has shown the benefits of getting the people involved so that the neighborhood is rehabilitated along the lines they want to see."

Nader Quotes Records Of Political Leaders

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader released a series of controversial and unprecedented profiles Saturday of members of Congress.

Among them, Senator George McGovern is portrayed as a political realist who tacitly endorsed U.S. involvement in Vietnam in the early stages of the conflict.

The study on the Democratic presidential nominee says the senator voted for funds for U.S. participation in the war, and once spoke—in 1965 in South Dakota—in support of the war.

McGovern bases his presidential campaign on his anti-war position.

The profile says McGovern hardened his opposition to the Vietnam war in 1969 and in March that year became the first senator to break publicly with the White House on the issue.

The profiles, which vary from 20 to 40 pages each on members of Congress, are a sequel to an earlier Nader study on Congress.

In that investigation, Nader charged that Congress had abdicated its power to the executive branch and to vested interests.

The profile on Senator Edward Kennedy (Dem., Mass.) says he, like most of his colleagues, was not "exactly a dove." In 1968, soon after U.S. involvement in the war, Kennedy made a statement supporting "our fundamental commitment in Vietnam."

It also says that in the same year he declined to place his name on a letter sent by peace-seeking senators to former president Lyndon Johnson urging him not to resume U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

The profiles describe a member's position on important issues, floor votes on about 99 matters since the early 1960s, votes in committees and a member's legislative interests.

Robert Fellmeth, project director, said that of the 484 congressmen and senators, 380 had reviewed their profiles and 16 per cent criticized them.

Boggs Is Still Sought

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Rescue airplanes dodged low-lying cloud Sunday in the sixth day of a search for Hale Boggs and three other men.

Two jet reconnaissance planes joined 53 other aircraft, but visual search was partially blocked by clouds over two-thirds to three-quarters of the primary search area," officials said. Four Coast Guard cutters combed the coastline.

The search began last Monday when Boggs, 58-year-old Democratic leader of the U.S. House of Representatives, Representative Nick Begich of Alaska, 40; Russel L. Brown, 37, a Begich aide, and Don E. Jonz, the pilot, disappeared on a flight from here to Juneau, 580 miles to the southeast.

The search has covered about 56,000 square miles of land and sea. Search planes, however, backtracking on old leads, have covered over 102,000 square miles.

French Future Not in North

OTTAWA (CP) — Laurier Carriere, president of the superior council of French-language schools, said Sunday the future of French-speaking people in Ontario is in the central and southern parts of the province.

He told the eighth annual convention of the Franco-Ontarian school principals' council his organization's major effort would be made in these parts of the province.

Mr. Carriere said he was very optimistic about the application of recommendations made by the Symons committee.

The Symons report on French-language education in Ontario was released in March and called for the creation of a permanent committee on French-language schools to be headed by an assistant deputy minister and made up of French-speaking officials of the Education department.

Toronto Park Said Mockery Of Participatory Democracy

TORONTO (CP) — A member of the Toronto Harbor Commissioners said Sunday the federal government has made a mockery of citizen participation by announcing an 85-acre wa- the five-member commission Sept. 27 by city council, said she is unhappy about the way the federal government came in and took over the waterfront" without consulting city officials.

The park was announced last week by External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp who said the government will spend $30 million acquiring land for the park.

"How can anybody plan anything with the government coming in like this," said Mrs. McLaughlin.

She said the $30 million land acquisition estimate is low.

"I think the final cost will be somewhere around $70 million," she said.

Toronto Boy Rescues Five

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — A 15-year-old Toronto boy rescued five members of the Outward Bound Club of Orillia Collegiate from the chilly waters of Lake Couchiching Saturday.

Four of five canoes on an overnight outing were swamped about one quarter mile from shore by four-foot waves.

Ronald Kettle saw the students and teachers floundering in the water. He headed out in a small aluminum boat and brought five of them to shore.

A short time later, Carl Wildman, a marina operator, went out in a larger boat and brought in three more.

Eight of the club members were taken to hospital, treated for shock and exposure.

Man Drowns

DAYTON, Ont. (CP) — Lauchie Draper, 66, drowned Saturday at almost the same spot where four of his relatives drowned 31 years ago.

Police said Mr. Draper was duck-hunting on Bright's Lake, about 70 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, when his boat overturned.

The body was recovered in the area where Mr. Draper's brother and six other people, including three other Draper relatives, crashed through ice and drowned on Christmas night in 1941.

Asks Coalition

TORONTO (CP) — The national leader of the Communist Party of Canada said Sunday the time is ripe for a Communist-New Democratic Party coalition.

"We think the conditions are ripe for election of a progressive bloc . . . of NDP and Communist," William Kashtan told a public meeting. "We see it as a step to a democratic coalition."

Union Ignored

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP) — Trade union studies should be introduced in Ontario's classrooms says J. R. Whitehouse, dean of labor and labor-management studies at Niagara College in Welland, Ont.

Mr. Whitehouse told an education seminar on the weekend that it is possible for a student to graduate from university in Ontario without learning anything about the history or philosophy of the labor movement.

Vitamins Said Cure For Insane

TORONTO (CP) A Dr. Abram Hoffer, a Saskatoon biochemist who believes schizophrenics can be treated more successfully with vitamins than psychoanalysis, said Sunday his work is officially ignored in Canada because governments "just listen to their experts."

Speaking at a lecture sponsored by the Canadian Schizophrenic Association, Dr. Hoffer claimed a 90 per cent success rate in treating patients who had not been placed in institutions for years.

One 13 year-old, he said, had not been responding to treatment in hospital until he took Dr. Hoffer's medication on smuggled-in jam sandwiches. The patient now is a normal adult and there has been no relapse, Dr. Hoffer said.

The doctor's treatment involves the heavy use of various vitamins, including nicoline acid, a member of the vitamin B family, and special diets to correct deficiencies which, he says, bring on mentally schizophrenic symptoms.

"I tell my patients they're not mentally sick, they're physically sick," he said.

Dr. Hoffer attributed part of the government opposition to a Canadian Mental Health Association study which, he said, did not follow his own methods of treatment. The study suggested that his methods didn't work.

Child Slapped

TORONTO (CP) — A two-year-old child was slapped and knocked to the ground outside the Hospital for Sick Children Saturday after a husband and wife argued over a cab fare.

Police said the man and his wife took the child to the hospital and then argued about who would pay the cab driver.

After the child was slapped, the cab driver intervened and police said he was hit and thrown on the pavement.

The child was treated and released with minor injuries.

Michael Eugene O'Brien, 33, was charged with two counts of assault causing bodily harm.

Protests

TORONTO (CP) — Kay Macpherson, an Independent candidate in the Toronto riding of St. Paul's, was denied the chance to participate with Liberal-Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party candidates on a free-time television broadcast, her lawyer charged Saturday.

Richard Gathercole said he has complained to the Canadian Radio Television Commission (CRTC) that Toronto television station CFTO ignored election campaign coverage rules.

Datsun Plans Plants Here

VANCOUVER (CP) — H. M. Miki, president of Nissan Automobile Co. (Canada) Ltd., said Sunday the first of a series of plants his company plans to build in Canada will be built soon in British Columbia.

Mr. Miki said his company, which manufacturers Datsun automobiles, is planning its final stages and announcement of details of the construction of the plants will come before Christmas.

He said jobs created by construction of a plant in B.C. will be filled "100 per cent by Canadians."

Cars Derailed

STURGEON FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Rail traffic on the main Canadian National Railways line north of here has been reduced following the derailment of 25 cars of a freight train Saturday night.

Crews from the Ontario Northland Railway and the CN were not expected to finish the repair until early today.

Church-Based Schools Urged

OTTAWA (CP) — Roman Catholic Archbishop J. A. Plourde has proposed establishment of a religion-based secondary school system in Ontario. He told a meeting of Anglican churchmen Saturday that such a system academic subjects would have to be taught against a religious background. He warned churches would fail unless religious studies were assumed in the educational system. He suggested the schools be staffed by teachers with strong Christian values and open to children of any faith.

Boycott Ships

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Transport and General Workers Union has ordered its members not to handle Icelandic ships and cargo in British ports. The move is in protest against harassment by Icelandic gunboats of British trawlers operating in disputed fishing grounds off Iceland. Iceland's ambassador in Britain, Nells Sigurdsson, said Sunday the ban would not hurt Iceland's economy for the time being, but could seriously cut into Britain's $28.8 million annual exports to the island.

Williams Likes Ring of A's New Title

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oakland Athletics—World Champions.

It has a nice ring to it," said manager Dick Williams, repeating the gold bauble symbolic of a World Series winner.

The trophy belonged to the Athletics because of good relief pitching and clutch hitting—the combination that helped win four of the seven baseball games, including Sunday's 3-2 thriller over Cincinnati Reds.

Rollie Fingers came through with the pitching again and Gene Tenace delivered another clutch hit as Oakland won the final showdown.

"It's a beautiful thing," said Williams in the champagne-crowned Oakland clubhouse at Riverfront Stadium.

Williams, understandably was emotional about his new-found status in the baseball world. He had let Boston Red Sox to the Lennant in 1967, but lost the World Series to the St. Louis Cardinals. Two years later, he was fired.

He was able to take this trophy home to Oakland, even though the Athletic's weren't given much of a chance to win it.

From the start, they were torn with dissension and labeled a patsy for the powerful National League champion Reds.

Pitcher Vida Blue and first baseman Mike Epstein were the most notable of the players dissatisfied with Owner Charles Finley as the series began. Blue verbally blasted Williams and Oakland owner, Charles O. Finley, because he wanted to be a starter, not a relief pitcher. Epstein had a shouting match with Williams after he was taken out of a game early for defensive purposes.

Williams, accused of overmanaging, moved his men around as if he were playing chess. And, for the most part, he made the right moves.

Cincinnati pounded the ball in the sixth game. The Reds scored five runs in the seventh inning as Bobby Tolan and Cesar Geronimo delivered two-run singles en route to an 8-1 victory.

Finley, the eccentric Oakland owner, sat sourly near the Athletics' dugout and took abuse from the Cincinnati fans.

His day came Sunday, however, when Tenace and Sal Bando drilled run-scoring doubles in the sixth inning and Fingers came on in the eighth to get the Athletics out of trouble in the deciding game.

Finley, one of baseball's controversial owners, also was one of the most emotional after the final-game victory.

Bedecked in a rich green jacket and gold pants, the owner elbowed his way through the crowded Oakland dressing room and spilled champagne on everyone within range.

He also kissed Williams on the cheek.

"Neither club is better than the other," said Williams.

Praise came easy from a man who had achieved his goal.

Some questioned Williams' logic in using Tenace in the lineup in place of Dave Duncan, a catcher who had hit 19 home runs during the season. But Tenace, who only hit five out of the park this year, made his manager look like a genius when he hit two home runs in the first game for all the runs in Oakland's 3-2 decision. But, after sounding off the day before, came in to save the game for starter Ken Holtzman.

In the second game at Cincinnati, Fingers gave Jim (Catfish) Hunter ninth-inning help and Joe Rudi hit a home run and made an outstanding catch against the left field wall to preserve Oakland's 2-1 triumph.

Oakland took a 3-1 lead in the Series by beating the Reds 3-2 with a dramatic, two-run rally in the ninth inning. Williams could do no wrong with his replacements and the result was three singles by pinch-hitters, including Angel Mangual's game-winning blow.

"I'm so happy," owner Charles O. Finley told the crowd. "We've had such good fame.

"We brought back the first world championship in the San Francisco Bay area ever had. I'm so proud."

Tenace Switches Tack

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gene Tenace, the obscure, 225 lb. catcher whose new-found home-run power propelled Oakland Athletics to the World Series championship, used another technique to clinch the final game victory over Cincinnati Reds.

He put the "whammy" on the Big Red Machine and particularly on Cincinnati third baseman Denis Menke, who was in a position to blow open the game in the eighth inning.

"I was watching on television from the locker room—John Odom and I," Tenace said between gulps of champagne.

"Johnny Bench was on second and Joe Morgan on third—I knew Menke was going to pop up. It was a strange feeling or something, but I just knew it."

"Pop up!" I yelled and Menke popped to left field. That was the ball game."

Tenace did much more than provide mental machinations.

With the Athletics' big batter, Reggie Jackson, on crutches, the 25-year-old miner's son from nearby Ohio provided the punch that brought Oakland its first baseball championship. He joined a distinguished list of home-run immortals, including Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, as the only players to hit four home runs in a World Series.

He batted .348, knocked in nine of the 26 Oakland runs and accounted for 20 total bases during the series.

"We'd never have passed the fourth game if it hadn't been for Gino," a team-mate said.

Gene Tenace would have had a chance for a fifth home run-making him a baseball immortal—if he hadn't been yanked for a pinch-runner in the sixth inning after he had laced a double to left field, scoring Oakland's second run.

GENE TENACE

in a position to take the lead. As (Rollie) Fingers was pitching to Menke, I had a premonition.

A's Mobbed At Airport

OAKLAND (AP) — Waving signs that read "The Swinging A's Bring Baseball to California," 20,000 fans overflowed the airport terminal Sunday night to welcome the World Series champion Athletics home to Oakland.

A thousand shouting people broke through barricades to spill on to Oakland International Airport, and police had to clear a path to the terminal for the Athletics, who arrived after defeating Cincinnati Reds 3-2 in the seventh and deciding game Sunday of baseball's 69th World Series.

Oakland Head-over-Heels

Were World Series Winners 'Over-managed'?

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oakland's Dick Williams, who virtually wore out a pair of spikes in the World Series, had the last laugh Sunday when he said scrutinized, "I over-managed."

The Athletics manager went against the percentages time and time again in the seven games with Cincinnati Reds—and he always seemed to be right.

"It was beautiful," he yelled to the Athletics' clubhouse after the 3-2 seventh-game victory over the Reds.

With two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning, Athletics reliever Rollie Fingers hit pinch hitter Darrell Chaney, bringing up Reds' star Pete Rose.

"I went to the mound to talk out Rollie," Williams said.

"But, my catcher, Dave Duncan, told me, 'He's throwing the tar out of the ball. Leave him in.'"

Williams, who said "I think I only went to the mound 10 times today," said OK.

Fingers rushed into the clubhouse yelling, "Where's the champagne?" a few minutes later, after getting Rose to fly out.

Williams threw a new lineup at the Reds in the seventh game because, after Saturday's 8-1 look, he decided: "I just had to get some punch in there."

The most drastic move was to bench left-handed cleanup hitter Mike Epstein, even though the Reds were starting right-hander Jack Billingham. The first baseman was 0-for-16 through six games.

Williams against the book moves Sunday included removing starter pitcher John (Blue Moon) Odom with the Athletics ahead 1-0 in the fifth inning. The manager had lifted Ken Holtzman with a 1-0 lead in Game No. 4.

"It was no surprise," said Odom Sunday. "He's the manager, and he was right. We don't worry about getting taken out, because we've got a darn good bullpen."

"We've got the best pitching staff in baseball," Odom added, "and Rollie Fingers is the best relief pitcher in the world."

was a pitchers' series and the Athletics hitters were the first to admit it.

"We didn't exactly overpower them," third baseman Sal Bando said. "Their pitching was good, too. But they didn't have to face Reggie Jackson. If they held us down with Reggie in the lineup, I'd be willing to give them more credit."

Finley, who bought the Athletics 12 years ago in Kansas City and moved the team to Oakland in 1968, was red-faced and hoarse after the seven-game ordeal.

He wished me luck before the game and told me he wanted the championship back," Odom said. "I told him it would get it."

We're staging a mini snowmobile show right here in our showrooms . . . all because we're so excited about the revolutionary new Johnson line for '73. There'll be free refreshments, free favours and a chance to win door prizes.

And here's your chance to see and test drive The Phantom . . . so smooth and quiet with the first 35 H.P. rotary combustion engine built specifically for a snowmobile.

Your chance to hear The Golden Ghost . . . quite simply the quietest snowmobile you can buy . . . quieter than other snowmobiles have to be two years from now.

There are six others in the golden fleet and you'll see them . . . along with the knockout new Johnson snowmobile fashions that are just as revolutionary as the snowmobiles you wear 'em with.

We're ready to make a deal with you if you keep it quiet with a Johnson.

It's all here . . . and there couldn't be a better time to trade in your old model. This is the year Johnson makes your present snowmobile obsolete.

Wings Have Flying Start

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit Red Wings used Toronto Maple Leafs during the weekend to launch themselves to giddy heights atop the National Hockey League's East Division with some surprising company.

The Red Wings, off to the fastest start in their 47-year history, rapped the Leafs twice—3-1 in Toronto Saturday and 4-2 Sunday back home to stretch their win streak to six games.

Buffalo Sabres—on the strength of Rick Martin's four goals in a 7-3 win over Atlanta Flames, also find themselves with 12 points on five wins and two ties to give the co-leaders a one-point margin on Montreal Canadiens who salvaged a tie against New York Rangers. The Sabres are in only their third year of operation.

The Canadiens' unbeaten mark includes four wins and three ties.

Elsewhere Sunday, Vancouver Canucks upset Boston Bruins 5-4 and Chicago Black Hawks gained first in the West with a 4-3 win over California Golden Seals.

In other Saturday contests, Montreal turned back Vancouver 5-3, the Rangers nipped their new city rivals, the Islanders, 3-1, Boston marked the return of defenceman Bobby Orr from a knee injury with a 4-3 win over Pittsburgh Penguins, Buffalo and St. Louis Blues tied 1-1, Atlanta Flames edged Minnesota North Stars 2-1 and Los Angeles Kings upset Chicago 3-1.

Montreal visits the Islanders in one game Tuesday while Vancouver entertains Pittsburgh, Minnesota is at St. Louis and California is Oakland.

Marcel Dionne, who had a record 77 points for rookies last year, set the pace early in Detroit—assisting on Alex Delvecchio's opening first goal and scoring two in the first period.

Al Karlander added two more Detroit goals in the second period. The Leafs, who had much the better of the play Saturday despite the score, continued to have trouble solving veteran goaltender Roy Edwards.

They peppered him with 35 shots in the weekend encore and 39 Sunday night, including 20 in the second period when Ron Ellis finally broke the shutout at the 10:32 mark. The Detroit crowd of 16,115 was the largest turnout ever at the Olympia to watch the Wings.

Martin's four goals gave him one in Buffalo's seven games. Linemate Gil Perreault, who entered the game the league's top scorer with 19 points added six more points on nine goals and four assists.

The Perreault-Martin-Rene Robert line accounted for 16 scoring points against the expansionist Flames.

Mann, Tardif's second-period scorer, with New York playing shorthanded, brought the Canadiens even and goaltender Ken Dryden held the Rangers in check thereafter as he turned aside 35 shots after the 20 handled by Gilles Villemure.

Vancouver limited its comeback with four second-period goals to overtake a 3-1 Bruins lead. Boston's Don Marcotte, Schmautz spearheaded the scoring with two goals as the defending Stanley Cup champions dropped into sixth place in the East and their fourth loss in seven games.

Stan Mikita paced the Hawks at Oakland in a game postponed last Wednesday night by California owner Charles O. Finley whose baseball team, Oakland Athletics, was involved in a World Series game at home.

Mikita scored twice and assisted on another goal by Cliff Koroll.

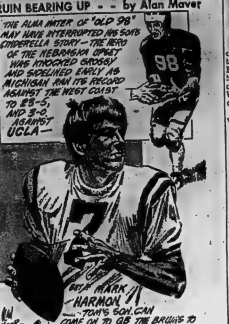
Bordeleau Big Gun For Jets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chris Bordeleau, just another face in the National Hockey League, is the early season scoring necessities in the fledgling World Hockey Association.



The diminutive centre, who scored four goals in an earlier game, tallied twice Sunday night in leading Winnipeg Jets to a 6-3 win over the winless Philadelphia Blazers.

The 5-foot-6 Cree Indian increased his league-leading goals' total to eight as the Jets jumped into a 3-0 lead and were never in trouble. Garth Rizzuto, Ulf Nilsson, Brian Cadle and Al McDonald scored the other Winnipeg goals as 6,153 watched.

Redskins Win Big One, Dolphins Another One

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington Redskins won a big one, Miami Dolphins won another one, Philadelphia Eagles finally won one, and New Orleans Saints didn't win one.

"It was their sticking together as a team: Just staying in there," said coach George Allen of Washington's 24-20 victory on Sunday over Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League.

Charley Harraway ran 13 yards for game-winning touchdown as the Redskins, now 5-1, took the lead in the National Conference East and the Cowboys dropped into the second spot at 4-2.

The Dolphins remained the only undefeated team in pro football with a narrow 24-23 victory over Buffalo Bills.

The Eagles broke a six-game losing streak by upsetting Kansas City Chiefs 21-20 on quarterback Pete Liske's three touchdown passes. Liske played in the Canadian Football League with Calgary Stampeders and Toronto Argonauts.

And the Saints, also winless, tied heavily-favored San Francisco Sers 23-23. Bruce Gossett's 36-yard field goal with three seconds left in the game salvaged the tie for the 49ers.

In Sunday's other NFL action New York Jets beat Baltimore Colts 34-26, Cleveland Browns beat Houston Oilers 27-17, Denver Broncos upset Oakland Raiders 30-23, Atlanta Falcons beat Green Bay Packers 19-9, New York Giants stung St. Louis' Cardinals 27-21, Los Angeles Rams clipped Cincinnati Bengals 15-12, Detroit Lions trashed San Diego Chargers 34-20 and Pittsburgh Steelers crushed New England Patriots 33-3.

Larry Brown ran 34 yards for one Washington touchdown and caught a 19-yard pass from Sonny Jurgenson for still another. En route to the victory, Jurgenson joined football's exclusive "30,000 club." Only he, John Brodie and Johnny Unitas have passed for more than 30,000 yards in their pro careers.

Ticats CFL's Team to Beat

By IAN MacLAINE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hamilton Tiger-Cats firmly established themselves as the team to beat, not only in the East but the West, when they hung an 18-3 loss on the Western Football Conference-leading Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night.

It marked the ninth straight win for the Ticats, who held first in the Eastern Conference with a 10-3 mark to lead Ottawa Rough Riders, who stayed with the Ticats Sunday by knocking over Montreal Alouettes 17-7, by two points. Pass attacked game officials at Montreal, inducing referee Bill Dell to abstain, Ont.

The Tiger-Cats have one more left—at home Nov. 3 against Toronto Argonauts, while the Riders meet the Argos in Toronto Saturday and close out the season Nov 4 at Ottawa against Windsor.

If Hamilton wins its remaining game and Ottawa its two, the Ticats would nail down first in the EFC by virtue of victories over the Rough Riders in their three meetings.

Also in doubt is third place and a playoff berth where the Als' once comfortable cushion has been narrowed to two points over the fast-closing Argos who have won their last three starts behind quarterback Joe Theismann. Toronto has one game to play, the Als one.

Chuck Ealey's play selection, Dave Buchanan's running and Ivor Wynne Stadium established the Hamilton club as heavy favorites to represent the East in the Grey Cup game on home grounds Dec. 1.

Buchanan scored once, a 40-yard run on a third-down gamble late in the first half, and running mate Dave Fleming added two other scores. Ian Sunter converted both and added a field goal. Fleming got credit for a single when he had the ball jarred loose from his grasp while crossing the Winnipeg goal line and Bombers' Mike Law fell on it in the end zone.

Buchanan, who carried the ball 22 times for 161 yards, broke two club rushing marks established by Gerry McDougall. It gave Buchanan 1,129 yards rushing this season and 284 carries with one game to go.

McDougall, the only other Hamilton player to rush for 1,000 yards in a season, did it three times. He held the previous club marks of 1,109 yards, set in 1958, and 320 rushing plays in 1956.

Cutler Boots Out Bad Memory

By MARVIN ZIVITZ

Dave Cutler kicked his way into the Canadian Football League record book Sunday and helped wipe out a bad memory.

Cutler's league record of six field goals in one game propelled Edmonton Eskimos to a 28-23 win over Saskatchewan Roughriders and gave the Esks a share of first place in the Western Football Conference.

Cutler, who has been criticized by Edmonton fans for his erratic kicking, missed a 20-yard field goal with seconds remaining but that would have gained Edmonton a tie with Saskatchewan in a game last month.

"In the back of my mind has been the 20-yarder I missed. The six Sunday were "great for my confidence."

Edmonton's victory sets up a showdown at Winnipeg next Sunday against the Bombers with the winner finishing first in the conference.

Al Fans Attack Refs

MONTREAL (CP) — Officials overseeing Montreal Alouettes last scheduled regular-season Eastern Football Conference home game Sunday afternoon were attacked en route to their dressing room by a mob of fans.

The Alouettes had just dropped a 17-7 decision to Ottawa Rough Riders before a crowd of 11,572.

Referee Bill Dell of Oshawa, Ont., received a punch in the mouth as he tried to push his way through the crowd—mostly young people—that had gathered outside the field house at the west end of Molson Stadium. The officials use the Montreal field house as dressing rooms.

Several Montreal players—Gene Gaines, Ed George, Larry Uteholm and Peter Dalla Riva—went to the rescue of the officials, and managed to extricate field judge Joe Rocchi of Hamilton from the mob unharmed.

Montreal police then stepped in to assist hard-pressed security officials.

The incident was a culmination of bad feeling that had erupted earlier with a fight between Montreal and Ottawa supporters along the edge of the field and in front of the stands.

Eight days ago, the Alouettes entertained Hamilton Tiger-Cats and lost 21 footballs to fans rushing out of the stands.

'Cats Come Back

STOUFFVILLE (Special)—Belleville Bobcats arched their backs in the third period, each scoring Wexford Waxers 4-1 in that space of time, to earn a 6-6 tie and remain unbeaten in four Toronto Metro Junior B hockey starts.

The comeback tie by the Bobcats snapped a two-game second period deadlock with Oshawa. They also remain, along with the first place Peterborough Lions, as the only unbeaten teams in the 10 team league.

Wally Dalnard started Sunday's comeback with Belleville trailing 5-2 after 40 minutes of play. The rookie defenceman's shot from the point deflected into the net of a Wexford defender.

Wayne McGeeachy cut the deficit to 5-4 when he circled the net to tuck the puck behind Waxers' goalie Lindsay Middlebrook. The visitors pulled even at 18:40 when Larry McQuaid scored on a low shot from the right side.

McGeeachy, playing his best game in a Belleville uniform, gave the Bobcats a 6-5 lead less than four minutes later. The rookie centre gave a great second effort as he was tripped when breaking in on the Wexford goal, but still managed to score from a prone position.

Wexford earned a tie with less than four minutes left in the game when Wayne Ormson counted from a scramble in front of the Bobcats' goal.

Belleville goalie Bob Moore played the entire game, despite twice being felled by opposing drives. The redhead faced 47 shots in the contest, compared to only 36 for Middlebrook in the Wexford nets.

The Bobcats' scoring was led by McGeachy with two goals and one assist while John Masterson had a goal and two assists. Dave Dipiet and Rick Meagher tallied the other Belleville scores, while Dave Flesch and Ken Holmes picked up two assists each. Ormson added a goal for the Waxers.

The Bobcats drew 10 of the game's 22 penalties, which included majors to Tim Yohn and Ormson for a battle at 19.15 of the final period.

Flashy Forester

Despite the fact that his Brantford Foresters' team absorbed a 4-2 Sunday loss at the hands of the Belleville Quinte goalie Doug Worsez was the individual star of the OHA Senior A meeting in Belleville. Worsez turned in 33 saves, many of them acrobatic efforts such as this stop on the Quintes' Bob Taylor.

The Quintes who are currently tied for fifth place in the league standings with a 3-3 record, face Gait Hevnets this weekend in a home-and-home series.

BCI Hopes Sliced Despite Goal by Goalie

BCI senior soccer team was in the process of recording a healthy record in the all-Ontario Invitational Soccer Tournament held in Somerset Sunday. At least they were healthy until Dr. Williams Secondary School finished operating.

The Aurora team ousted BCI 4-0 in the finals of the "D" division championships. BCI, who had only 30 minutes rest from their previous match gave up four first-half goals to the division champs.

The Collegians had opened tournament action with a 2-0 win over Barrie Central, getting goals from Dave Van Vliet and Charlie Nesterowski. The shutout was recorded by Phil Soero, but still didn't equal his contribution in the team's scoring.

The BCI goalie wound up scoring the winning goal in their second outing in addition to blocking a Huron Heights scoring attempt for the equalizer. The Belleville team had battled their opponents to a 2-2 tie during regulation play, meaning that the outcome would be determined by a series of five penalty kicks per team.

Soero counted the final BCI goal and then blocked Huron Heights last scoring attempt to give the Collegians a 4-3 edge on free kicks. Gary Donovan, Van Vliet and Nesterowski also counted on free shots. Tony Donovan and Nesterowski counted during regulation play.

Quintes Not Without Some Faults Despite 4-2 Win Over Foresters

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Everybody loves a winner. Well almost everybody.

Belleville coach Wayne Maxner agreed that Sunday's 4-2 win over the Brantford Foresters, "is worth two points," and we'll take them any way we can get them.

Still, he was also willing to candidly point out some team faults which he finds hard to live with, let alone love.

One point that bothered Brown, along with the 800 or so less closely associated onlookers at the Belleville Memorial Arena, was how the Quintes' let a 3-0 lead at the end of the second period dwindle to just one goal before John McConnell's third period tally clinched the 4-2 win.

"It looks like we're not in shape. With just over regular practice a week, it means that everyone is going to have to work at that practice," exclaimed "Mercer".

Does that mean more skating drills for the Quintes during their Wednesday night workouts? "It means more skating, and you can quote me on that," he added with the impish Brown grin.

Something that pleases him about workouts, but not the games, is that, "the guys are hitting in practice, but once we get in the games it seems like they're on cloud nine. What'd we take, three penalties tonight? And some of them were good ones. Nobody's afraid to come into our home rink, because they know they're not going to get hit."

The perplexing question brought to Brown's mind by the win over the Foresters, who had beaten Belleville 6-1 in Brantford Friday night was, "how did we miss that many scoring chances?" After a moment's reflection, the Quintes' coach proceeded to answer his own question. "Sure their goalie played well," he said of Stan Worsez who faced 38 shots, while Belleville netminder Ron Jury was tested only 23 times, "but everybody's taking slapshots, even from the slot, and all he has to do is come out, to cut down the angle. I'd like to see more wrist shots when we get in close."

The coach's criticism was warranted. As one competent senior hockey observer noted, "it was scrambly-hockey — very scrambly."

Certainly every facet of Sunday's victory wasn't a negative one, however, as the team's big scoring line of George Godson, Lorne O'Donnell and Al Ferguson continued to pad their offensive production.

"Fergy" opened the scoring at 1.28 of the first, taking a pass off the boards and breaking into the clear to beat Worsez on the stick side.

O'Donnell raised the ante to 2-0 before the end of the opening frame connecting on a backhand drive, while Ferguson added his fifth goal of the season when he stickhandled in from the faceoff circle to beat the Brantford goalie with a shot to the top left hand corner. Godson drew assists on all three goals.

The Quintes' 3-0 lead failed to withstand more than 22 seconds of play in the third period as Joe Takaga took Bill Robb's centring pass to ruin Jury's shutout bid. John Gin also made it 3-3 at 4.9 when his screened shot from the point caught the corner of the Belleville net.

The Foresters missed as excellent chance to even the scoring when Bill Forrest rang a labelled drive off the goal-post after being allowed to walk unmolested into the slot.

John McConnell finished the scoring when he deflected Dan Creighton's point drive past the talkative Brantford goalie.

Worsez was the individual standout of the game despite being beaten four times. He was especially sharp in the second period when his team was outshot 21-7.

A bright spot for Belleville was the play of Doug Senior, who appears to be finding his skating legs. The Senior A veteran set up Ralph Plante for two narrowly missed scoring chances early in the second period.

ICE CHIPS: It was "old coaches' night" in the Belleville dressing room after last night's game with former captains Gene Poirier and Dave Jones both making appearances. Poirier, a member of Trenton resident who relinquished the coaching duties to Brown, was watching his first senior game of the season. "I've been working a lot of flicks," he explained. "so I haven't had much of a chance to get to the games."

Jones, Belleville's playing coach for the two previous seasons, has also been on hand at a number of the senior practices, but has not signed a players' card to date.

Team captain Ralph Plane sat out the entire third period with a bruised side.

The Quintes' next encounter will be a 9 p.m. Friday night game with the Gait Hornets, returning Saturday to champions in Galt.

Bulls Get West's Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry West saved his best for the last and it was the worst thing that could have happened to Chicago Bulls.

West pumped in 33 of his 35 points in the final period as Los Angeles Lakers defeated Chicago 104-99 in the National Basketball Association Sunday night.

In other NBA games, Milwaukee Bucks defeated Cleveland Cavaliers 104-94 and Seattle Supersonics edged Portland Trailblazers 130-119 in overtime.

In Saturday's action, New York Knicks tripped Philadelphia 76ers 111-85, Milwaukee took Buffalo Braves 81-63, Boston Celtics trimmed Baltimore Bullets 106-101, Kansas City-Omaha Kings toppled Atlanta Hawks 108-101, Detroit downed Cleveland 102-95, Chicago trimmed San Diego 130-97, Detroit Pistons won 103-98 over Cleveland, Golden State Warriors beat Portland 104-97 and Phoenix Suns romped 129-117 over Seattle.

Liverpool Up

LONDON (CP) — Liverpool, recovering from a first-half goal, bit back to beat Stoke City 2-1 Saturday and stayed one point ahead of Arsenal at the top of the First Division of the English League soccer standings.

THREE-AND-OUT RULE OUT

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The World Boxing Council has ruled that in future championship fights under its jurisdiction the fight will not be stopped automatically after a boxer is floored three times in one round. In making the change Saturday night at its annual convention, the WBC said the decision as to a fighter's ability to continue will be left to the referee.

Allison Drops Duel Behind

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Bobby Allison broke out of a duel with Richard Petty and four other drivers shortly after the halfway point Sunday and won the American 200 stock car race before a near-capacity crowd of 42,000.

Allison, 36, wheeling Junior Johnson's red and gold Chevrolet to his 10th major win of the season, completed the 425 turns around the 1.17-mile North Carolina motor speedway in just over four hours for an average speed of 118.573 m.p.h.

Allison led for the final 119 miles and had an advantage of more than two miles over Petty's Plymouth at the finish.

Knudson Ends Drought

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — "How sweet it is," Canadian George Knudson chortled after breaking a two-year victory drought Sunday in the final round of the $150,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

"Now," the 35-year-old Toronto golfer said, "I'm gonna play one week then go home for two months.

"And," he said with a wink, "I just might win at Tahoe."

That event in Las Vegas, Nev., next week will be Knudson's last start of the season.

Knudson, winner of eight tour titles, but whose last previous victory was the 1970 Robinson Open, fashioned a front-running 67, two under par for a 271 total and a three-stroke decision over big Bobby Nichols and Hale Irwin, tied for second at 274.

The Canadian had rounds of 68, 68, 68 and 70 for his $30,000 victory.

Nichols, a former PGA champ and now a club pro at the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio, scored a hole in one on the 197-yard seventh hole en route to a one-under record 64, eight under par. Irwin put a 69 on the heels of his 65 in Saturday's third round.

Teachers Oppose Limiting Talks

TORONTO (CP) The executive council of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) Saturda to oppose recommendations of a government-appointed committee that would limit future teacher contract negotiations to money issues.

Dari Hodgins, OSSTF president, said in a press release the council was unanimous in its belief that other factors such as teacher workload must also be considered.

The Reville report, released by Ontario Education Minister Thomas Wells Sept. 13, contained 22 recommendations for new bargaining guidelines. Mr. Hodgins said the most controversial recommendation to limit negotiations to compensation the public time to react to the report before any legislation is passed.

He said if the recommendation is put into force teachers could find a salary increase followed by an increase in teacher workload on a reduction in supplies as a way to recover the money.

Mr. Hodgins said the federation will suggest that the province give the public time to react to the report before any legislation is passed.

Watkins Says All Party Chiefs Evade Ownership Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Melville Watkins, a founder of the Waffle movement, said Sunday all party leaders in the Oct. 30 federal election campaign are evading discussion of the relationships between plant layoffs, unemployment and foreign ownership in Canada.

Mr. Watkins, a member of the University of Toronto economics department, made the statement at a public meeting sponsored by the Ontario Waffle Movement for an Independent Socialist Canada.

He said that David Lewis, federal New Democratic Party leader, has failed to deal with foreign ownership of the Canadian economy, although his attacks on "corporate welfare bums" are closely related.

Mr. Watkins said political leaders should tell citizens that foreign ownership of the Canadian economy is destroying, rather than creating jobs in Canada.

He termed as "a kind of blackmail" statements by Prime Minister Trudeau that foreign ownership provides jobs.

United States corporations are increasing ownership of the Canadian economy by reinvesting profits made by their Canadian subsidiaries, Mr. Watkins said.

U.S. government policies and the attitudes of Canadian politicians and businessmen are forcing Canada to export low-labor content products such as natural resources and import high-labor content materials such as manufactured goods, Mr. Watkins said.

Prairies Puzzle Politicians

By GARY FAIRBAIRN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There's a lull in the winds of change on the Prairies and political observers are having difficulty assessing what's on the voters' minds for the Oct. 30 federal election.

Party spokesmen say Prairie voters appear to be sitting back and concentrating on platforms—looking beyond style and personality. Few spokesmen say the national party leaders have made any great impact.

Since the 1968 election, voters in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have changed their provincial governments. But indicators which signalled these turnovers have not been present in the federal campaign.

Several other key political factors also have changed: rookie Liberal members of Parliament have become cabinet powers; the Prairie economy has pharmacized and bounced partially back; bitter feelings among Conservatives over the ouster of John Diefenbaker have subsided; and each party leader has accumulated a parliamentary record to be judged.

There is no evidence of Trudeaumania as in 1968, making it more of a contest at the candidate level.

With so many variables in a complex political equation, party spokesmen speak cautiously, with many qualifications.

Broncos Make Playoffs

ROCKCLIFFE (Staff) — Trenton Broncos' defence were kicking up their heels as they carried the team to second place in the final National Defence Football League standings.

The Trenton defence stymied CFHQ Trojans completely, as well as scoring one of their team's touchdowns, in Sunday's 15-6 win by the Broncos. The Broncs finished the season with a 3-4-1 record, edging out CFHQ and the RCMP Huskies for second spot after starting the day's action in the basement of the four team league. Pennant winning Rockcliffe Raiders knocked the Huskies out of the playoffs with an 8-0 win in the first game of the doubleheader.

The Broncos' defensive unit controlled play on a soggy Rockcliffe Air Base field, forcing the Trojans to turn over five fumbles and picking off two interceptions.

Defensive tackle Larry Chevrier capped his unit's effort by recovering a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown. Quarterback Jim Simpson scored the other Trenton major on a nifty 38 - yard sweep during the third quarter.

CFHQ's only score was recorded against the offensive unit as the Trojans broke through to block Simpson's punt and recovered in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Broncos will meet CFHQ in a sudden death semi-finals match at South Side Field Trenton next Sunday for the right to face Rockcliffe for the league title. Game time is 2 p.m.

Rollins Peewees Educate Kingston

Rollins peewee majors were spreading some hockey lessons around Kingston this weekend as they blanked Port Henry Heights 7-0 Saturday and followed up by edging the Kingston Northmen Bantams 4-3 in a pair of Ontario Minor Hockey Association bouts.

Gary Frederick and Danny Duffy fired two goals apiece to pace Saturday's win, while single goals went to Nick Wilkinson, Gary McIlroy and Andy Plane. Duffy added another pair against the Young Nats with Wilkinson and Plane counting singles. Dan Witheridge scored two Kingston goals.

The Dixie Lee peewee minors also came through with a clean slate by tripping Port Hope 5-3. Mark Crowder counted four times for Dixie while Billy Rowe added a goal and two assists.

In bantam major action, Belleville Kinsmen piled up two easy wins by besting Napanee 5-1 Saturday and bouncing Picton by a 10-1 count the following day. Paul Hipkin, Tony Meagher, Raymond Skelly, Paul Hayman and Rob Chase scored in Saturday's victory. Against Picton it was McBrien and Hipkin with two goals each, while the other scoring was split among Crawford, Weeks, Meagher, Bennett, Lupenette and Skelly.

Western Tire juveniles opened play in the Quinte - St. Lawrence league by playing Napanee to a 2-2 deadlock. Smyke and Ackerman scored for the tiremen.

Tavern Food City novice minors did their part to advance Belleville's fine weekend record by downing Trenton 7-3 Saturday. Hanlon and Harwood split four of the Food City markers with other goals going to Wolfe, Rose and Dorman.

Blake Kerr Imperials suffered their second loss in three outings — St. Catharines starts as they were edged 3-2 by Trenton in a Sunday game. Tim Manley (2) and Brad Reid looked after the winners while goalie Steve Kirby and Mark Foster counted for the Imperials.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

MONDAY, OCT. 23

Aries (March 21 - April 19): Review mutual holdings, pose questions. Personal differences are amenable to settlement.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): At most any plan brings opposition. Stick to routine and reason. Deliberate expression of your feelings is in order.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Resist temptation toward mischief. The news is interesting, awakens speculation.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Travel may be temporary limitations. What you can work alone, do so. Serious study is subtly rewarded.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Formal transactions and legal matters deserve close investigation. Romance may bloom.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Place your efforts to divert pressure, even where you start late (as is very likely). Domestic questions become important, harder to deal with.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Everybody who knows enough of your views now seems to have a firm opinion.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): If there's a way for the story to be garbled, assume it is, check the facts yourself. Special tact with loved ones is needed.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Uncertainty plagues the simplest of negotiations. Collect the best information at hand. Shared projects tend to prosper.

Aquarius (Jan. 20— Feb. 19): The more definitely you assert

Aries (March 21 — April 19): sistance. Keep things simple where you have emotional investment.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Forcing issues produces unexpected results. Let well enough alone, back away from immediate reaction in the doings of others.

See Specialist If Ears Plugged

By G.C. THOMPSON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thompson: I am 60 and have had this trouble for 10 years off and on, but it seems I have it every day now.

When I get up in the morning my ears are clogged up. When I sniff inward it clears them up for about a minute and then it's the same thing over again. When I talk, it seems like I'm talking through a funnel, and it is hard for me to hear the other person.

It makes no difference if the weather is dry or humid. I've been to different doctors, and they told me to put drops in my nose but it doesn't help.—A.R.

You don't mention having seen an ear specialist, but this root of problem is one for a specialist. The symptoms sound as though the eustachian tubes are intermittently plugged for one reason or another. I would not be able to guess at the cause without knowing a good deal more about your condition.

As to the nose drops, were they given any special instructions? Just using the drops in the nose is not likely to be effective in this sort of case.

The action of the drops is to shrink swollen tissues. If swelling in the nasal passages, where the eustachian tubes enter, is responsible for your on-again, off-again hearing, then the drops might be helpful if you apply them to the right place.

The way to do it is to lie down, with head back, introduce the drops in the nostrils, and then you feel them at the back of the nose, roll your head, first to one side and then the other. That way the drops can reach the proper place where they can do some good.

As you probably know from reading this column, there can be too much of a good thing. Using drops to excess. They willshrink not only swollen tissues, and "dry up the nose," but there's a "rebound effect."

That is, the mucous membranes react to this dryness by producing more secretions. So a little while you have the same condition to contend with as before—only more severe.

Therefore, while I offer you the method of using nose drops, I am not recommending that you use it for any length of time. You may need more specific treatment than that. So that's why I want you to see an ear specialist.

Dear Dr.: Thestesen: This may sound silly, but is there any danger if the pilot light of a gas stove goes out when everyone is in bed and asleep?—J.Q.

It can be hazardous if the room is small and poorly ventilated—and there's also the risk of enough gas accumulating and being set off by a spark. Have the pilot adjusted.

Dear Dr. Thesteesen: For constipation, you have mentioned producing more moisture, as in a little while you have the same condition to contend with as before—only more severe.

I am a bit shy about calling D.S.S. a "drug," because it gives some people the wrong idea. It is a "stool softener" kind of particular help in elderly people.

It is the main ingredient of a score or more preparations, and I can't honestly say that one is better than the rest. Some individuals may have a preference for one or another. Either ask your druggist to suggest one that he thinks will suit you best, or ask your druggist for one of the various "stool softeners" containing dioctyl. Plus making use of the other suggestions in the booklet, of course.

Contract Bridge

By B. Jay Becker

(Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

Famous Hand

East dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

6NT	5NT	6♠	6NT
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

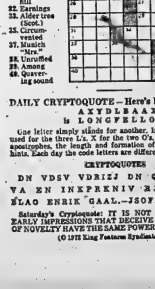
Opening lead—king of clubs.

One swallow doesn't make a summer and one bad deal doesn't prove a theory, but here is a hand played in the finals of the 1971 Spingold team of four championship that demonstrates the danger of the light opening bid.

When Kaplan and Kay—one of the outstanding pairs in the world — were North-South, the bidding went as shown and Kay become declarer at one club doubled.

West led the king of clubs, forcing out the ace, and Kay played a spade, losing the nine to the ten. East returned the ten of hearts. South's jack losing to the queen, and West forced the adverse trumps before returning the jack of spades.

This permitted East to cash four more spades which, in addition to West's four trump tricks and the A-Q of hearts, resulted in declarer's going down five — 1,400 points. The only tricks South made were his two aces.



Kay paid an extraordinarily large penalty for his opening bid. The odds against such a catastrophe ensuing from his club bid must have been well over 10,000 to 1, but in the actual case this frightening long odd came home to roost.

At the second table, the North-South pair stayed out of trouble when the bidding went:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♣	Pass
1♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

West wound up making four notrump for 180 points, so that the Kaplan — Ka team lost 1,220 points on the deal. It was a mighty bitter pill to swallow, and eventually the hand cost Kaplan and Kay the championship.

Tomorrow: A power play.

IT ISN'T TRUE

That only higher income families can afford to buy their own home. If you are in the $5,000 to $7,000. income bracket you can have your own two, three or four bedroom condominium unit. Monthly payments as low as $110.00 which includes interest, principal and taxes.

Let us show you our furnished models.

BEAT THE RISE IN INTEREST RATES

See our many houses financed with mortgage bearing 8% interest. With a forecast of increasing interest to 10%, the purchase of one of our units could save you thousands in future payments. We have new houses in the West side in a furnished sub-division. Even the roads are already paved. Possession by 15th of December. East side houses available in November.

TWO NEW SUB-DIVISIONS

Now is the time to select your lot for spring construction in one of our new areas. One is on the West side, the other in the East. Each has a couple of lots with large frontages. Act fast if you are serious about a bigger lot.

Wedded Bliss

Caught in an affectionate moment at their home in Arlee, Mont., are Louis and Vivian Nine Pipe, whose recent marriage culminated a romance by mail. Louis, a Piebend Indian, admits to 74 years, and his bride, a native of England is 23. (AP Photo)

Vancouver Policeman Playing New Role on Staff of School

VANCOUVER (CP) — You're on the wrong trail if you connect Vancouver police constable Scott Mears's role as policeman-in-residence at a local school with the terrors of the blackboard jungle.

Actually, he's a full-time resident instructor and counsellor at Killarney secondary school and an emissary to a cluster of six nearby elementary schools, part of the city police force's growing concern with community relations.

His function is to show school children that cops aren't necessarily the bare-handed, baton-wielding authority figures they're often portrayed to be.

Constable Mears, 36, a 15-year veteran of the Vancouver force, is working out of Killarney in an experiment which began last May and which will continue through the current school year, with an evaluation by the school board in June.

And, getting back to that blackboard jungle idea—Constable Mears wasn't put in the Killarney school because the institution has a reputation for tough kids.

"If the school was chosen because it's a good average school with a 2,000 enrolment that covers people from all ethnic groups and all strata of society in this area," Constable Mears said.

Of his relationships with the students, he said: "I'm not trying to sell me to the kids. I'm trying to sell—sell is a poor word—the uniform and the department."

Where students come to him for advice, Constable Mears said, "I don't ask a student his name. If he volunteers it, fine. But I don't write it down.

"As I tell the kids, I'm not here to enforce the school rules. I'm not here to enforce any of the laws of our country within the school. This is not my function.

"But I am a policeman. I use an example that if I see one of you guys going to punch your teacher in the nose and take off, I'll grab on to you. But I won't be the investigator. I'll turn it over to somebody else."

Constable Mears,"who doesn't carry a gun on the job, also doesn't wear a full uniform, although the badges on his shirt clearly identify him as a city policeman. He has abandoned his jacket and hat in a bow to informality suggested by the students council.

The concepts on which the experiment is based have the whole-hearted support of Principal Eric Kelly.

"I think we should stress that Scott is not here as a law enforcement officer," Mr. Kelly said.

"If we had a youngster who was suspected of theft, I would never use Scott as law enforcement.

"I think a lot of young people are getting a picture of a police officer . . . as a human being, adviser, counsellor and friend."

Malaysia Fighting Low-budget Travellers

PENANG (AP) — Malaysia is pressing a war on low-budget travellers. Some are in jail on drug charges and others are hastily stripping down packs to leave for Thailand or points south.

"Where to go?" asked a remore Frenchman, hair trimmed and combed for an unsuccessful bout with immigration officers.

They say all hippies out, but what is a hippie? They don't know. . . .

Authorities recently started turning away suspected hippies at the borders. They refused to extend visas for those already inside.

Authorities in Kuala Lumpur, the capital, took action after youngsters smoked ganja (marijuana) at a "Woodstock Festival" sponsored by boy scouts. Hippie, they said, were leading Malaysian youth astray.

Action was toughest in Penang, a palm-fringed island in the north, where some leaders have long complained that hippies bring scoffs of richer and straighter tourists.

Until the crackdown, Penang was a four-star stopover on the travellers' Asian circuit, ranking with Bali and Nepal. Hundreds at a time frolicked on the beaches, living for "almost nothing" at dialey homes.

"Now overnight they're gone. like a puff of smoke . . . think God," remarked one resident foreigner.

Some people call the sweeping measures arbitrary, unfair and unnecessary.

Villagers who had built a thriving co-tage industry on making hippie clothes are worried what to do with their piles of flour sacks.

Manufacturers' President Asks For Common Sense in Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerard Filion of Montreal, immediate past president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, made a plea today for sanity and a little more common sense in Quebec.

"It is vitally important that the Quebec economy be revitalized," he told members of the Canadian Manufacturers of Chemical Specialties Association.

"It has suffered greatly from uncertainty these past few years. It is not the boom which have scared investors. It is instead the inability of our own leaders.

"What scares those who save and what makes investors ultra-prudent is the inability of public authorities to set a clear and firm course of action."

Mr. Filion, president of Marine Industries Ltd., said Quebec mes's all requirements for prosperity—plentiful natural resources, an effective work force, an important consumer market, an outlet to the sea and capital reserves.

"What we need in order to succeed in a population which is more aware of economic problems, a ruling class which is less querulous, intellectuals less lost in the cloud and politicians who know where they go. In effect, a little more tranquility and a little more common sense."

Mr. Filion said the vast majority of Quebecers believe that belonging to the "North American economic complex has been and continues to be beneficial."

Some supporting the separatist option, convinced that only a sovereign state can guarantee the political and cultural growth of French-Canadians, even are ready to accept temporary drop in standard of living as their sacrifice.

"They forget, however, that a decrease in the standard of living would soon have the same consequences for all classes of citizen," he added.

Those entrenched in impregnable positions, such as functionaries, teachers, artists, students and the small-town or neighborhood bourgeois, would benefit. Factory workers in the main would lose their jobs as a result of business recession.

The cost of squeezing will not be shaped equally among social levels; some risk nothing, while others will lose everything.

A text of Mr. Filion's speech was released in advance.

Israeli Soldier-farmers Change Conquered Areas

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli soldier-farmers are changing the face of Arab lands captured by Israel in the 1967 war.

Whether the changes will be permanent, or will be erased by the return of the occupied territories to Syria, Jordan and Egypt in exchange for peace is the subject of heated debate both here and abroad.

The government has put about $100 million into planning and establishing 27 civilian and paramilitary settlements which have gone up in the occupied territories in the last five years.

The near-lifeless fields of Golan Heights have more than a dozen outposts reaping a harvest of fruits, vegetables, grain - fattened cattle and tourist dollars. Another dozen settlements have gone up in the arid reaches of Jordan's West Bank along the Jordan River and near Hebron. From them come winter vegetables and fruits for export to Europe.

Even Egypt's Sinai Desert—central battleground of the 1967 war—has 11 new settlements.

Yasrov Eiges, director of settlement for the Zionist Federation officially supervising the colonization project for the government, said: "We build according to government plans. We are building with an eye toward permanence . . . Politics doesn't enter into it."

The gruff, broad-shouldered settlement chief explained several criteria involved in setting up an outpost.

"Almost all the settlements have to be laid out in such a way that they serve as a second line of defence between the borders and Israel proper," he added.

An example is the Gilgal paramilitary settlement about two miles from the Jordan River ceasefire line. Perched on a slight rise, Gilgal overlooks a pass through the mountains between Jordan and Jerusalem.

Until the October 1967 war, in September, 1970, Gilgal, along with the other border outposts, played a vital defensive role," a military authority confirmed.

"A number of terrorists trying to penetrate Israel proper were stopped at Gilgal."

There are 12 paramilitary, or Nahal, settlements scattered throughout the occupied territories. They are manned by Combat Pioneer Youth—a volunteer branch of the army.

Among our other guidelines are water and property rights," Eiges continued. "We try to build on land previously untended and not owned by anyone in the region."

More than half the settlements in the war-won territories have been turned over to civilians. Their number will be doubled between the kibbutz, or collective, and the moshav, co-operative movements.

Stanfield Replies To Turner

CALGARY (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield had a reply Sunday night to statements by Finance Minister John Turner that Conservative promises would cost Canada more than $1 billion if implemented.

He said at a Conservative rally here he is not interested in the kind of estimates and statistics produced by the government.

"Based on their record, they show a much greater talent for imagination than for accuracy."

He said he was not going to argue with Mr. Turner since he did not know how the minister's figures were produced or who produced them.

They may have been produced by the same experts who underestimated the cost of the unemployment insurance program.

They may have been produced by the 'originator of the fiction" that more than one million new jobs had been found for Canadians in the last four years when the real figure was 800,000 or less.

Mr. Stanfield says he seeks no direct confrontation with Mr. Turner.

That may be necessary in the next federal election, he said, referring to the belief that Mr. Turner would take over from Prime Minister Trudeau if the Liberals did poorly in the Oct. 30 election.

Maritime Potato Harvest Is Good

HALIFAX (CP) — "For the first time in several seasons, potato growers in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island are optimistic over the results of the 1972 production.

Potatoes are the biggest cash crop in both provinces and the producers are hoping increased prices this year will yield somewhat better cash results than in 1971.

New Brunswick farmers planted about 64,000 acres this year and the Prince Edward Island counterparts used 30,000 acres for the crop.

Both harvests were about 80 per cent completed at the end of last week and producers were hoping fall frosts would stay away for the remaining few days needed to get the rest of the crop out of the ground and into storage.

At last report, New Brunswick growers were getting between $2.50 and $3 a bundredweight and "if the market remains unchanged, prices should stay at that level or possibly improve in the months ahead," says Geildard Poitras, an agriculture representative in Victoria county.

Island producers are encouraged by prospects of better prices than in several seasons. According to industry spokesmen, 75-pound bag of potatoes, packaged, loaded in cars on the island, brought only an average worth $1.90 a bag to the producer produced. But that price includes his cost of packaging and delivery to the rail sidings.

Farmers get a higher price their product in bulk to processing plants are getting about $1.50 pre 75 pounds, lower than the price to those who package and deliver to rail cars but which does not include the extra costs to the producer.

One reason for the higher prices seems to be the poor crops of potato producers elsewhere in Canada and in West-ern Europe.

Eskimos Loved German

SASKATOON (CP) — Canada's Eskimos might have received better treatment had German ornithologist Bernard Hantsch survived a trip on Baffin Island in 1911, says Dr. Leslie Neatby of Saskatoon.

Water Loss One Third

TRENTON (Staff) — One of the jobs to be undertaken by the Trenton Public Utilities Commission this winter, will be a search for leaks, in the system, most of which exist in the west hill area.

At its regular monthly meeting Thursday, the PUC learned from manager Douglas Manlow that revenue from approximately 30 out of every 100 gallons drawn from water sources, is lost. This loss results either from leaks, or unmetered water provided through fire hydrants, street cleaning or system backwashing.

If the unmetered water were sold, it would mean $72,000 revenue for the PUC, chairman Charles Hilton argued that since this "loss" resulted in no slowdown in water output, there was no dollar figure involved.

No answer was given to reporters who questioned the cost of operations required to produce this 30 per cent annual loss.

According to Mr. Manlow utilities across Canada experience an average 25 per cent annual loss because of situations similar to those of Trenton's system.

cistic of the Institute for Northern Studies at the University of Saskatchewan, is doing an English translation of Hantsch's 1,400-page handwritten diary.

He said Hantsch, who travelled previously unexplored parts of the island, lived with the Eskimos, knew their culture and felt a great deal of sympathy for them.

"If he had lived to complete and publish his diary, his enlightened attitude might have spread much earlier to others and the Eskimos likely would have received better treatment," said Dr. Neatby.

Hantsch's ship was wrecked in the ice near the island's lower east shore in 1909. Many of his supplies were lost, and after wintering at a trading station, he decided to live with the Eskimos.

In 1910, he went into uncharted territory with two Eskimo families and kept a diary of his travels. He became ill during the spring of 1911 and died in May.

Dr. Neatby says the Eskimos loved Hantsch and preserved his diary, which somehow turned up in Germany 20 years after his death and later was given to the Canadian archives.

During the winter of 1910-11 said Dr. Neatby, Hantsch took some of his diary notes and rewrote them, by hand, into publishable form.

There are 1,000 pages of publishable material and another 400 pages of notes, for a total of 250,000 words.

"It's extraordinary," said Dr. Neatby. "He must have done it (rewriting) in igloos during the winter."

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices on the Toronto stock market moved higher in light mid-morning trading today.

TALBOTVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Three members of Local 1520, United Auto Workers, picketed the official opening Saturday of their own union offices near here.

Chuck Armstrong of nearby London, a chassis department employee at the St. Thomas, Ont., assembly plant of Ford Motor Co. of Canada, said he and two other men were protesting the invitations of a Ford official to the office opening and the fielding later of a luncheon for the union executive and dignitaries.

Medics to Uganda From CFB Trenton

TRENTON (Staff) — Canadian Armed Forces have announced they will fly four medical technicians to Kampala, Uganda, to help in health screening of Ugandan Asians seeking entry to Canada.

Extra staff is needed because the number of persons processed daily has risen to 300. Evacuation deadline is Nov. 7.

A medical assistant and three laboratory technicians are joining a team of eight armed forces personnel and six doctors from the national and health welfare ministry.

Medical screening is now going on round the clock. To date, 4,000 evacuees have received x-rays and laboratory tests. Canada is the only nation with a medical screening team in Uganda. The entire team will return after the evacuation deadline.

Nixon Calls Top Aides For Kissinger's Report

Nixon Reduces Bombing Raids

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has reduced the bombing of North Vietnam, mainly around Hanoi and Haiphong, during the critical peace negotiations that have been underway, it was learned today.

The gesture coincides with the onset of the northeast monsoons over the North, which always reduce American air activity there and divert the thrust of the bombing campaign to the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos, where the dry season has begun.

The U.S. command refused to confirm or deny the reported restrictions, but the 7th Fleet disclosed without elaboration that three of its four carriers had moved from the Tonkin Gulf off the coast of North Vietnam into the South China Sea off the coast of South Vietnam.

Other sources outside the U.S. command confirmed the report, but declined to go into details of the restriction or say whether it was part of some kind of a tacit agreement between the United States and North Vietnam.

U.S. fighter-bombers have been averaging less than 200 strikes against North Vietnam in the last few days. The U.S. command reported about 120 strikes Monday.

A spokesman for the command noted that the northeast monsoons now are under way and added that "weather is a possible factor" in the reduction in the strikes from the previous average of 200 or more a day. But even the bombers flying were staying away from the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex, or what one air force commander called "the vitals of North Vietnam."

The U.S. command also reported that B-52 bombers made no raids in North Vietnam during the 24 hours ending at noon Tuesday.

Think Thieu Blocks Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called in his senior military and diplomatic aides today to hear a report on Vietnam by Henry Kissinger. Some officials expected the report to dwell on a South Vietnamese roadblock to an Indochina settlement.

Kissinger, Nixon's chief national-security adviser, and Gen. Creighton Abrams, army chief of staff, returned Monday night from nearly a week of meetings with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and other officials.

"We made some progress."

Dark Schemes

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told his people tonight that the Communist peace proposals are "dark schemes aimed at taking over South Vietnam."

Kissinger said on arriving in Washington. He met with Nixon for 20 minutes Monday night, the White House said.

Although the U.S. embassy in Saigon described the high-level meetings as having "made progress," there was no sign Kissinger convinced Thieu to agree to some form of coalition government with the Viet Cong.

Tin Song, a South Vietnamese newspaper that generally expresses Thieu's stands, said the talks with Kissinger were held in a "very heated atmosphere in the face of unyielding Vietnamese determination to stand out as its position."

That position as expressed earlier by the official South Vietnamese radio is to "never accept a two-thirds power segment government."

WET WEATHER CHORE is the lot of Dave Middleton, laboratory technician at Belleville's filtration plant, who checks rain gauge during foul-weather fallouts. By this morning 1.6 inches of rain had fallen in Belleville - Trenton area during two-day gloomy spell, expected to finally clear later today.

End Is Expected Of Two-day Rain

By HARRY MULHALL, Staff Reporter

The Quinte district goes dry today — after two days of almost uninterrupted rainfall.

The wet weather overhaul was expected to start clearing later this afternoon, the Canadian Forces Base Trenton duty forecaster reported today.

Its gradual disappearance will mark the end of a two-day gloomy spell during which 1.6 inches of rain fell in the Trenton - Belleville area since Sunday.

The end of the wet weather bout also will bring colder air into the area.

Temperatures were expected to drop to around 30 degrees tonight reaching a high tomorrow of 40-45 degrees, said the forecaster.

But below - freezing temperatures already have been registered in the northern stretches of the Quinte district.

Last night at Bancroft a low of 20 was reported.

THE WEATHER

SYNOPSIS: The storm which gave rain in southern Ontario and snow to central sections for the last two days has begun to move eastwards into Quebec. Cloudy skies will remain over all the south today and some commanities in eastern sections will have drizzle and light snow. Strong north winds behind the disturbance have brought cold air and the highs for today were achieved this morning. In the north a high pressure system will clear out cloud and give northern communities some sun. But another disturbance building in the Dakotas and should move into the north by Wednesday. The high in the north today will move over the south Wednesday bringing mainly sunny skies but cool temperatures.

Just Society:

Don't Like It? Then Go to Hell

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said Monday night the voice of the Liberals' just society is "if you don't like it go to hell."

He said that means if the people don't like the high cost of living, high unemployment, high taxes or being pushed around they can go to hell.

The Conservative leader, speaking to a large audience on his last federal election swing in British Columbia and Alberta, was responding to remarks made by Manpower Minister Bryce Mackasey.

Mr. Mackasey said in Toronto during the weekend that Mr. Stanfield and New Democrat Leader David Lewis had criticized the unemployment insurance scheme in different ways. Then he said, "as far as I'm concerned they can both go to hell."

Backed up by a Conservative poll that is reported to show that the Conservative and the Liberal parties now are on about equal terms in the election campaign, Mr. Stanfield rejected an idea of his seeking just to strengthen the opposition in Parliament.

Trudeau:

Canada Confident

SASKATOON (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau set a breakneck pace on the Prairie Monday, telling voters about the "confident new Canada of today" compared with the "troubled Canada" that faced him when he assumed power in 1968.

In open-line programs and in speeches the prime minister painted a picture of a Canada that has changed "immeasurably" in the last four years — Canada that no longer suffers from the violence of Quebec separatists, alienation of westerners or the doubts of Maritimers.

In those four years, he told some 400 party workers who jammed a small hall in Calgary, Canadians realized "they have just about got it made."

In this home stretch of the election campaign, Mr. Trudeau devoted the day to telling westerners about the "confident new Canada" as he took on 2,000 students at the University of Winnipeg, spoke to 1,000 who packed a downtown Winnipeg theatre at noon, and then fielded questions for an hour on an Alberta-wide television hook-up before giving the city's campaign workers a pep-talk in the evening. Before all that, he flew into Saskatoon for an enthusiastic welcome by several hundred noisy supporters who received help from a blaring band.

Hatted PM

Singing Pays

TORONTO (CP) — Martin Butler of Montreal has been selected winner of the $10,000 first prize in the Hear Canada Singing song-writing contest, it was announced Monday. The contest, sponsored by the Canadian Conference of the Arts and supported by Molson's Brewery Ltd., drew more than 5,000 entries from across the country. The leading entries will be included in a special television show in which Mr. Butler will sing his prize-winning Can't You Hear the Music?

Lewis:— Milking

In Calgary:

Oil Firms Hit

CALGARY (CP) — New Democratic Party Leader David, Lewis thundered against "the corporate welfare system" again Monday, starting the final week of campaigning with one of the largest rallies he has held.

Upwards of 2,000 crammed a hall at the Stampede grounds and roared their approval as Mr. Lewis lit into three more "corporate welfare bums" — all in the oil and gas industry that is the city's economic base.

To his catalogue of corporate welfare bums, which now runs to about 125 firms, the NDP leader added Gulf Oil Canada Ltd., Petrofina Canada Ltd., and TransCanada Pipelines Ltd.

He said Gulf made net earnings between 1968 and 1971 of $338.4 million and paid $41.8 million in taxes, or 9.3 per cent of earnings.

That was about the same tax rate charged a family of four earning $6,000 a year.

He said Petrofina paid no taxes at all between 1960 and 1971, although it had enjoyed profits of $80 million.

And TransCanada hadn't paid any taxes since it had started operating with government aid — in 1956. Between 1966 and 1971 it earned profits of $105.9 million.

Mr. Lewis said the three had escaped taxes by using loopholes and deferrals.

Hijacked Passengers Released

ANKARA (CP) — More than 80 weary Turkish passengers were flown to Istanbul today after the four leaders of their jetliner surrendered to Bulgarian authorities in Sofia.

The hijacked Boeing 707 remained in Sofia temporarily, and Turkish Airlines sent a DC-9 to bring the passengers back.

Bulgaria granted asylum to the four young Turkish leftists who commandeered the 707 jet Sunday and held most of its passengers and crew hostage for 36 hours at the Sofia airport.

The Turkish government made no objection to the granting of asylum, but the Bulgarians were expected to bring charges against the hijackers as they did against four others from Turkey earlier this year.

Defeat Not Studied

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield told reporters he has not considered whether he would step down as leader if his party makes a poor showing in the federal election Monday.

Was Pamphlet Necessary

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau walked virtually unnoticed down a busy Winnipeg street yesterday and was handed a political pamphlet by a Liberal worker who did not recognize him.

Double Attack

CRANBROOK (CP) — David Lewis, NDP leader, made a double attack yesterday on alleged government inaction on food prices in a Cranbrook speech and in a television interview taped earlier this month in Ottawa. On television he said he would control food prices "without batting an eyelash" if he were prime minister.

"Sure Thieu is worry wants peace sweats, doesn't he?"

Health Councils' Aim

Potter to Pare 'Staggering' Costs

The Intelligencer's Toronto Bureau

TORONTO — The aim of Ontario's new health councils is a balanced and economical healthcare service, Health Minister Richard Potter said here today.

"Ways must be found to reduce "staggering" costs of providing health care in Ontario," Mr. Potter, Quinte MPP, said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting in Toronto this afternoon of the Ontario Hospital Association.

The speech also appealed to hospital directors to help in curbing mounting health costs.

The proposed district health councils will bring together health-care delivery agencies, the public and the profession, he said. Council objectives will be to define needs, establish priorities, plan and co-ordinate health-care activities.

Dr. Potter said proposals for the councils will not end functions of such local groups as the hospital board, board of health or other bodies. Councils will remain outside of direct operation of parts of the health-care system.

He said the health council program will be staged as a progressive development over the entire province. It could

Ontario Counties Ask Closer Control of Welfare Payments

TORONTO (CP) — Delegates to the annual conference of the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario passed a series of resolutions Monday calling for stricter distribution of welfare payments.

The 200 delegates attending the conference in nearby Mississauga recommended that welfare payments not be made to those earning a seasonal wage greater than their welfare entitlement for any one year.

They also urged that payment of welfare to students be made only when family financial support is impossible and continued education appropriate.

Other welfare resolutions were:

—Benefits be paid to employable persons only when there is no work available in their own trade;

—Municipalities have the option to put welfare recipients to "useful work" for as many hours as necessary to earn the equivalent of the welfare payment.

Delegates are representatives of county and regional governments across the province.

ARKONA, Ont. (CP) — Robert Welch, provincial secretary for social development, indicated Monday night welfare assistance for short-term unemployed will be reduced in the near future.

The time has come to divide the welfare rolls into two groups—those permanently disabled and those temporarily unemployed, he told a meeting in this community 35 miles east of Sarnia.

And he said the amount of assistance for the temporarily unemployed should be "regulated—so they would not be tempted to remain unemployed. Mr. Welch said there have been some abuses of the welfare system and the best way to overcome this is by taking the jobless off the welfare rolls and putting them on family benefits.

43 Employees

Trenton Plant In Receivership

TRENTON (Staff) — A falling international aerospace industry, coupled with falling sales, has forced a Trenton firm to go into interim receivership, a move that spells a number of changes, the worst of which could be eventual shutdown and laying off of its 43 employees.

The firm, Canadian Flight Equipment, Ltd. of 374 Sidney Street, manufactures defence products for the Canadian and U.S. aerospace industry.

Its vice-president and general manager, Alan Borthwick, Monday afternoon disclosed the company's financial position, which he says has been poor for the past two years.

Interim receivership in general terms, means a company is close to bankruptcy. Either can declare bankruptcy or be put into the position by a creditor, a firm can either turn its operations over to a receiver or apply to the courts to appoint one.

"There are a number of alternatives to such a situation," Mr. Borthwick said in a telephone interview. "We cannot and find new owners; develop a new formula for financing; or close up and liquidate."

The receiver . . . in this case the Clarkson Company Ltd., of Toronto, division of Clarkson, Gordon and Company, Chartered Accountants . . . has taken over control of the Trenton firm. Clarkson will run the business until such time as they are satisfied it is again financially viable or can for good be saved. There is no overt action involved, Mr. Northwick said.

"At the moment the possibilities run all the way from the company continuing in operation or closing right down and throwing all the people out of work," he stated.

He said the aerospace industry has been in a financial slump for the past two years, and Canadian Flight Equipment has been riding the downhill trail with it. "It's been hard to get financing because of our difficulties in the past," he said.

As to the plant's future the vice - president and general manager remains optimistic.

"Until somebody says stop, we'll keep going. The order might come this afternoon, tomorrow, not for several months, or not at all.

"Once a company enters into this state the receiver is an all-powerful individual."

Artist and Art

Walter Sawron prepares to open show of his own work at Belleville's Quinte Public Library yesterday.

First Show for Artist

Among Walter Sawron's abiding concerns is man's inhumane treatment of fellow humans.

Because he is an artist he can graphically display that concern — and it is vividly revealed in a current Belleville exhibition.

The show, which includes lithographs, collages and conte drawings, opened on one week yesterday at Belleville Corby Public Library.

Mr. Sawron, 33, now living and working in the Quinte area, it is his first public showing of his work.

For young artist, now living and working in Quinte area, it is first local public showing of his work.

Students' Holiday Friday

The metric system is fast on its way to replacing inches and ounces in Ontario schools.

To prepare themselves for the changeover, about 120 Hastings county elementary school teachers have been taking part in an in-service training program at King George School Under the direction of Burle Summers, the teachers have been weighing themselves in kilograms, taking their measurements in centimetres and pouring water in and out of plastic containers to learn about litres and millilitres.

During adjournment to a Chinese restaurant, Mr. Summers made his own investigation of egg rolls. The average roll, he found, is 10 centimetres long and weighs 45 grams.

Barbers Seek Late Closing

Belleville barbers are seeking a change in working hours that would allow them to remain open until 9 o'clock on two evenings a week.

Paul Clare, acting as spokesman for what he said was a majority of the barbers, made the request Monday night to council members, who tabled the matter for two weeks.

The bylaw amendment allowing the change in hours was asked to be ready for council at its next meeting.

Mr. Clare told council that of the 30 barber shops listed in the city, 11 were in favor of changing hours, while seven were opposed. A majority vote only is required for a change in the closing bylaw.

Mr. Clare voiced no objection to the two-week delay but said the assenting barbers wanted the new change as soon as possible.

Under the present bylaw barber shops may open at 5 a.m. but are expected to close at 6 p.m. all six days of the week.

But few, if any, barbers take advantage of the allowable 5 a.m. opening and by mutual agreement open about 8 a.m.

Bridge St. Clear In Three Weeks?

Belleville motorists and Bridge Street merchants will have to put up with inertic disruption for only another three weeks hopefully, that is.

This was the anticipated time given at city council Monday for the completion of the downtown paving rehabilitation project which has irked the patience of motorists and merchants alike for the past several weeks.

Response to a question by Alderman Gerald Joyce, City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said the installation was ordered in by council two weeks ago had commenced work — or was to have commenced work if it hadn't been for the rain — on Monday morning.

He said the anticipated completion date for the project was in three weeks.

The Bridge Street project is the smallest of a $300,000 three - way paving project awarded earlier this year by council.

The other two projects are storm sewers in the Avondale district and Dundas sewers on certain streets in the Hillcrest area.

Most of the sewer project on Bridge Street is approximately $40,000.

Dundas Widening Meeting Approved

Dundas Street East property owners will be given the opportunity of seeing alignment plans for the proposed Dundas Street widening between Front Street and Bleecker Ave.

City council yesterday directed the city manager to arrange with engineering consultants for a public meeting to acquaint property owners of what will take place with the widening of their street to four lanes.

Council was told Monday that the consultants were well along with detailed plans for the project and were ready for the meeting.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell advised council that small portions of about 28 different properties will be required for the street widening.

PM in Trenton Friday

TRENTON (Staff) — With only days left in the week prior to the Oct. 30 federal election, Prime Minister Trudeau has selected Trenton as one of his final stopping points in campaign travels across Canada.

Hugh O'Neil, campaign manager for Prince Edward-Hastings Liberal candidate George Cunningham, announced this morning that the PM will land at CFB Trenton at 7 p.m. Friday.

He will be met by George and Rena Cunningham, Hugh and Donna O'Neil, Mayor Duncan McDonald, CFB Trenton base commander, Col. W. G. Post, presidents of the Prince Edward - Hastings Liberal Association Anthony Dalcar, and Dr. and Mrs. Terrance Watts.

From the base, the Prime Minister and party will proceed by motor cavalcade to 6 RD Road, north to Curtis Road, west along Dixon Drive to Marmora to meet with Marmora to Dundas St., West, west on Dundas across the lake as long as two to three years, but he hoped it could be achieved as soon as possible.

The health minister called on hospital directors to aid the provincial government in curbing their health costs by thinking in terms of shorter hospital stays and substitutes for active treatment beds.

"We desperately need your help," he said.

Dr. Potter said directors have the responsibility to assure proper use of facilities and services and prevention of waste of manpower and materials.

He said the trend of the past 35 years towards greater use of the hospital by public and the profession cannot easily be reversed.

Dr. Potter called for re-education and attitude change away from the traditional stay of, a week or two, or more, in hospitals.

He said government attempts to curb rising costs by experimental projects such as home care programs and self-care units have so far merged, resulted in these becoming additional services rather than a substitute for costly active-treatment beds.

(A home-care program and a self-care unit already are operating in the Belleville area.)

Dr. Potter says ways must be found to provide first-rate health care at the same time minimizing "staggering health expenses entailed."

Debentures Sold

The sale of $1,220,80 in debentures in 15- and 20-year issues at interest rates of 8 and 8½ per cent was approved yesterday by city council.

Midland-Osler Securities arranged the debenture sale with two insurance companies, a bank, and a large Ontario urban municipality being the purchasers.

Mayor J. Russell Scott said that in the light of today's money markets the debenture sale was made at a "very good interest rate" which spoke well for the financial position of the city.

Potter to Cut Costs

Advance Votes Few

Fewer votes have been cast in advance polls in Belleville and Thurlow for the Oct. 30 election than in 1968.

The big drop is in Belleville where 638 ballots were cast compared to 621 in the last election. There were 229 ballots in rural polls compared to 225 in 1968 for a total of 857 against 846 in 1968, returning officer Reg. Dunham reported today after the advance polls closed last night.

IN MEMORIAM

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away Oct. 24, 1966.
Oh, my dear husband, I loved you so,
When I would give if I could say,
Hello Dad in the same old way.
To hear his voice and see his smile,
But God in his wisdom thought it best,
To take him home to rest.
In love and cherish and never forget.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Hilda and son-in-law Richard.

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear brother Raymond who passed away Oct. 24, 1966.
Today recalls the memory,
Of a dear brother we loved so well,
Dearly loved and sadly missed,
Are those who loved him best.
The flowers we lay are not for grave,
May winter and decay,
But for a heart of gold, who lies beneath.
Will never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by his brother Doug and family.

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear husband and grandfather Lorne Sharp who passed away Oct. 24, 1966.
We think of him in silence,
We miss him every day,
But still within our aching hearts,
He never will decay.
—Sadly missed by grandson and family.

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away Oct. 24, 1966.
Since you've gone first and I remain,
Only God knows the pain,
Only God knows the pain of desire,
To be with you my dear.
I want to know each day you take,
Each night you lay awake,
You'll hear me call your name,
You'll hear me call your name.
—Loving wife, Mary Sharp.

Births

TULLER — In loving memory of a dear father, Arthur Alfred who passed away October 24, 1971.
The dearest father, the kindest friend,
God took him home,
It broke our hearts to lose him,
But he went home unafraid,
Always willing a kind act to do,
Thankful for blessings he knew,
Our Lord gave and our Lord took.
—Sadly missed by wife Ethel and family.

DAVIS — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother Ada Davis who passed away Oct. 24, 1970.
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How dear to memory still,
But sweeter far the joy awaits,
Beyond the silent hill.
—Always remembered by husband Ross and family.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to everyone who sent cards, flowers, gifts and visited me during my recent confinement at Belleville General Hospital and my home. Special thanks to Dr. Ross and Dr. Ferrel, to the nurses who performed on my behalf by Rev. Bagley, Rev. Dr. Worrell, Rev. Dr. Gordon Worrell, Rev. House Vandals' Target

Glencoe Hogle owns a family heirloom that's maliciously disintegrating around him.

It's happening at the vacant family farmstead on Highway 2, five miles west of Belleville, in the family since the 1850s, and believed by its owner to date back more than a century.

About the only thing still intact is the ownership.

Havoc has been done the house itself.

So much so, Mr. Hogle, Stirling funeral director, figures it's unsalvable — if he ever wanted to sell it — since repair costs would now equal its purchase price.

But the cost seems beside the point. What appears to stun Mr. Hogle is who's behind the wreckage — and why.

He says he's not angry — just baffled.

"It's just unexplainable, inconceivable," he says of the events which first started about two years ago.

His father ran the farm at the turn of the century and Mr. Hogle purchased it from his mother's estate in the 1930s, when he practised in Toronto as a funeral director. For a time, he rented the house as apartments to airmen from the newly - built Trenton air station. Later, he quit renting and kept the house as a summer home, working its 78 acres with mainly hay and grain crops. The practice continued after he moved to Stirling in 1965.

Then the break-ins started and have continued sporadically since, each one marked by a mounting toll of damage.

Furniture, fixtures, plumbing, heating and walls have been wrecked. The debris strewn around rooms and stairs. There's human waste in spots.

The vandalism has extended to machinery in nearby outbuildings.

Nearby residents have not been able to help with information. Police can't be enticed since they'd need to be on the spot when a break-in occurs, he stresses.

He claims uncertainly about the value of the house but figures the damage toll is "several thousands — several big thousands".

But it's not a case of money, but sentiment.

"It's an heirloom," he explained yesterday after touring the shambles with provincial police. "I'm amazed it's still standing. But with what's happened you could expect anything. If they can destroy the contents, they can destroy the building."

But who?

Police have one theory. The house, unused for long stretches now have become known to transient hippie youth, using it as a crash pad on their travels.

"I don't know. I'm just baffled. Baffled entirely," says Mr. Hogle.

New Motel Rises from Ashes

By CAROL PARANUIK

MADOC (Special) — It was 10 months ago that the Whispering Pines restaurant on Highway 7 was burned to the home and possessions of proud, talking with it, the Clark Huffman and his family.

Now on the same site, stands a modern 40 x 80 open span restaurant equipped with kitchen facilities to feed 800 persons in one hour.

Mr. Huffman reported that he was overwhelmed with the tremendous response from the travelling public he has received since recently opening this restaurant and gas bar.

The cafeteria style dining room, which will accommodate 225 persons at any one time, makes for fast, self-service of short orders. Busy weekends make it necessary to carry sufficient food to feed approximately 8,000 people.

Designed by a Toronto firm, the cement block kitchen is equipped to prepare food for 800 people in an hour.

With a total of 17 on the staff, the payroll is estimated to run around $40,000 per annum.

Mr. Huffman, who firmly believes in buying locally, had all contracts for the construction work of the building were local except for the electrical wiring.

It was particularly interesting to note that the shingles on the building were hand split in British Columbia and the veneer and brick for the nearly-all-wood building also came from that western province.

He said that the provincial government and the Ministry of Tourism have both been very helpful in getting the building completed.

When the restaurant was first opened for business a few weeks ago, a quota for the year's sale of 29,000 soft drinks was set. Amazingly, this number was reached after the first 25 days.

Mr. Huffman said the volume of food required is unbelievable. For example, on the last long weekend (which was exceptionally busy) they went through 1½ tons of French fried potatoes, 400 pounds of hamburg (about 4,000 hamburgers), 700 loaves of bread in sandwiches, 300 pounds of roast beef, 250 lbs. of ham, 13 dozen eggs, nearly 45 gallons of milk, and six bales (21 lbs. each) of coffee. Every night, Mrs. Irene Lake of Bannockburn makes between 60 to 65 fresh pies. Extra pies are kept on preserve, and on the long weekend, over 100 of these were brought in from the freezer and sold.

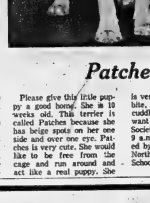
The only piece of equipment yet to come is the massive automatic dishwasher, which is being shipped from the USA.

Whispering Pines is now a regular stop for Colonial Voyageur Bus Lines running between Toronto and Ottawa. Being at the halfway point between the two main centres, the restaurant is the only stop of the express bus.

Each bus stops for a 20-minute break, during which time its passengers must all be satisfied. The peak periods for buses are Friday and Sunday afternoons and evenings. There are 21 schedules every day, with two or three buses often departing on one schedule. Mr. Huffman finds the variety of passengers in the buses most interesting. He said there are a lot of MPs and famed sport teams, some of which have been the Hamilton Tiger Cats, the Toronto Argonauts, several members of Team Canada, etc. During the course of this school year, 800 student exchange tours are expected to pass through on this route.

Besides the Colonial Voyageur, a number of other bus lines from all over the Province also make their stops at Whispering Pines. The Colonial Bus Lines, owned by Canada Steamships, is an aggressive company. In 1973, they expect to carry one quarter of a million people.

At the west end of the restaurant is a magazine counter, which will eventually also be a gift shop.



Mr. Huffman is already making plans for expansion. He hopes to build onto the present motel, for a total of 24 units for next year. (The plans for this are now in the process of being laid out and designed.) He hopes to landscape the yard and put in slides, swings and picnic tables for families. Inside the restaurant, the east end will eventually be curtained off and used as a dining area with a limited menu for full course meals. Planning ahead to make application for a liquor licence, he had the building built according to LCBOs specifications.

He also plans to expand the present trailer dumping station for travellers as well as his propane supply for mobile campers (which is highly in demand by American tourists).

Mr. Huffman has a diesel fuel tank on the lot for truckers and says up to 60 transports in one night are stopping there now. The restaurant and service station are open 24 hours every day.

Head chef at the restaurant is Kelly Wellman, who came to Whispering Pines with seven years' experience as head banquet chef at the Cenoaka Hotel in Oshawa.

A grand opening ceremony was held Saturday morning at 10 when Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings, was on hand to cut the ribbon. Other dignitaries and special guests were also invited to participate. Free coffee and special prizes were offered to those attending.

Patches

Please give this little puppy a good home. She is 10 weeks old. This terrier is called Patches because she has beige spots on her one side and over one eye. Patches is very cute. She would like to be free from the cage and run around and act like a real puppy. She is very playful and does not bite, so she will make a cuddly pet for you if you want her phone the Humane Society at 967-1423 between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sponsored by the grade 3 pupils at North Trenton Public School.

On Keeping Fit

Yesterday we were discussing Prime Minister Trudeau's national fitness plan. He was lamenting the fact that too many of us are watchers rather than participants and consequently not in very good physical shape generally.

That may be so, but we are happy to note there are exceptions. We recall seeing a show by the students of Belleville Collegiate — Kampus Kapers if we remember rightly — and it was an excellent couple of hours of music, dancing, comedy skits, not least, an exhibition by members of the gymnastics teams.

It was an impressive performance and while it took place a year or more ago we are sure the standard is just as high today.

Meanwhile, fitness is not being neglected in the primary schools. Indeed it is there that the necessary interest is first encouraged and kinks nock. An example are the six Queen Victoria students who have received Canada Fitness awards and who were pictured in Saturday's paper going through terms of their routines. Four boys and two girls, they are to be congratulated and we hope more students will be encouraged to follow their example.

Propagandists Active

The news of the left wing and, at the same time, a strong flavor of anti-American jam are no strangers to either the editorial or correspondence columns of The Globe and Mail.

A recent letter to "Canada's national newspaper" is eloquent of this assertion. The letter is from Miriam May of Toronto who describes herself as being from the Ontario Voice of Women and she is referring to CTV reporter Michael Maclear's eye-witness report of the bombing of the French diplomatic mission in Hanoi by United States aircraft.

Noting Maclear's statement that there was no possibility of pilot error, the letter adds, "Are we finally going to believe that the United States is bombing indiscriminately?" The writer also goes on to quote a woman member of the North Vietnamese National Assembly who told of U.S. bombs dropped on schools in Pen Phu province three weeks before.

Whatever the veracity of these statements, it should be remembered that the Voice of Women is well known as a left wing "peaceniks" organization and that Maclear, independent Maclear, before going to CTV, was a regular visitor to Hanoi on behalf of the CBC, sending back reports for Canadian consumption that showed up the Americans in a distinctly unfavorable light.

In all such comment there is never a mention of executions of village chiefs by the North Vietnamese in territory they have captured, or of the ruthless machine-gunning of defenceless refugees fleeing south before the Communist advance.

In Canada we should beware of these subtle presentations of propaganda that favor a system that is diametrically opposed to our own and to our free way of life. It is all the more disturbing when it appears in the pages of one of our influential journals.

Chile's Troubles

Chile, where small shopkeepers are on strike against the policies of Marxist president Allende, is reported on the verge of serious trouble. There is talk of civil war but then, that could be just another of the media's red herrings.

One thing is certain though, Allende's Marxist experiment is not finding general favor. It will be recalled that Fidel Castro made a much-publicized visit recently. He came from a land which since the 1959 revolution has deteriorated steadily on the economic front, is heavily dependent on the Soviet Union and of course is immersed in the notoriously unproductive concept of what constitutes economic progress: Communist-style.

Chile would appear to be on the same road as Cuba, as witness the spectacle of motorists in endless queues pushing their autos up to filling stations still open, to buy rationed gasoline during a national trucking strike.

The truckers are out, as are small businessmen and shopkeepers. Yes, we are pretty lucky here in Canada. We have democracy, the democratic freedoms that go with it, and a fair degree of prosperity. For some it ever pays better to be out of work.

Women Power at Work in Drumming Up Campaign Support

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — So Prime Minister Trudeau or Conservative leader Stanfield are coming to town.

And if you are a politician, watcher or even an ordinary concerned taxpayer, if you keep your eyes open you may see a lot of interesting types.

They make up the small army of specialists who lay on the arrangements for the big local Personal Appearance of The-Man-Who.

There are the personality packagers from the advertising agencies and the public relations firms; the speech-writers and the idea men who must produce instant new or at least new-sounding — gimmicks, catch-phrases for every major appearance, and the security men.

In and out of town, in preparation for the Great Visitation, have come and gone the Advance Men, the Road Men, the Transport Men and the Job-Me.

These, if you know what you are looking for and where you will likely spot them, are all in view, the big backup apparatus for the Great Man.

What you do not see is the indispensable Invitables.

The women's organizations, the real behind troops of the party.

They are the ones who get out the crowds when the big guns come to town.

It was Otto Diefenbaker who first tapped the political potential of women like an oil driller bringing in a gusher.

Back in the 1962 campaign, he pre-empted on the party pros to run a full-page ad in the local newspaper when Dief was coming to.

Somebody with a flair for inspired public relations — perhaps it was Olive D. since it was basically her idea — decided the ad would be in the form of an invitation to "Come On and All to Meet Olive, John and Please Bring the Kids".

It had the warmth of the personal touch and it brought out the crowds as never before.

And who would spot it and assess its tremendous political but Olive Diefenbaker's great rival, Margaret Pearson, wife of the then Liberal Opposition leader.

What could there be warmer and more personal than an invitation in print, she wondered.

The answer of course: the vocal invitation.

How to issue it?

How to harness the power of a phone and a phone. And so the Phone Blitz was born and remains alive, well and flourishing to this very campaign day.

Since the initial blits of '62, the Female Shock Troops of both parties have been busy through every campaign blitzing the country and preserving Canada's international standing as the world's greatest gabbers.

It had become standard practice by the '63 campaign with Conservative National Headquarters busy getting out a bulletin to constituency chairmen all across the country.

It read: "The leader's visit to your area should be well advertised in advance by placards and weeklies; the copy asking the form of a warm invitation to come and meet and hear him. And experience has shown that a sure way to get a big turnout is to have a good, hard-working committee with phones every single name in the book and issuing a warm personal invitation a few days in advance."

The blitz can start small. And the trick is to build it.

How?

Spot the enthusiasts, the dedicated — women who say, sure, they'd love to make a song — and ask them to phone their friends and bring them, too.

Sort of an electronic chain letter operation.

Like they once sang in South Pacific, "there's nothing like a dame" — especially when it comes and a phone within reach.

It is a kind of female political buckstshop.

Instead of stock sales or a specified list of addresses the phone as the greatest strike since Lake Shore or Hollinger, you have dames yacking all across town talking up the party leader's coming appearance, his hot-line dates, his pancake breakfasts, college confrontations, barbecue picnics, shopping plaza whistle-stops and even those pet platform planks.

The politically - motivated dame; phone-happy and caught the phone company and the party organizer ever had.

Parliamentary Pension A Nice Nest Egg

By FARMER TIDINGTON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—In recent comments about the generous pensions members of Parliament provided for themselves a couple of years ago, little attention has been paid to a new angle.

That is the age at which an MP can qualify for a life-time pension now that the Election Act has been amended to permit 19-year-olds to be candidates and to vote.

An MP who serves for six years can qualify when he is defeated or retires for an annual pension of $3,700. About the only restriction is that the pension cannot be paid if he takes a job in the federal government service.

So it is possible for a young man or woman to be elected at 19, serve six years until 24, retire or be defeated, and start to draw the pension at that age. If he lives to 70, he would receive a total of $173,089 from the public purse for an initial personal investment of under $9,000. Not a bad return.

Of course, not many 19-year-olds are going to run and expect to be elected, but the pension plan is surely generous in the light of the fact the taxpayers who largely provide the fund can't qualify for their own pensions until 6 or 65 years of age in most cases.

There was a time when it was considered vital for a candidate for public office to live in the riding he hoped to represent. Over the years, this requirement has become much less important and the number of candidates who are "parachuted" in has grown more than before own home constituency has been increasing.

Owning a piece of farm land or a summer cottage is sometimes enough reason for choosing a riding. Although there are examples in the current campaign where candidates have no direct personal connection with the constituency at all.

The increasing mobility of Canadians and the large size of many ridings which make it hard for candidates to become known enough reason for choosing a riding. Although there are examples in the current campaign where candidates have no direct personal connection with the constituency at all.

The increasing mobility of Canadians and the large size of many ridings which make it hard for candidates to become known enough, have contributed to this situation. Voters are less concerned about where a candidate comes from or who he is and what he stands for.

The amount of money in the campaign chest is another factor. In fact if there was a man of real promise it almost certainly would be.

Nixon Retains Strong Campaign Lead

WASHINGTON (CP) — About the only obstacle before the Nixon bandwagon as it belts along toward the Nov. 7 presidential election seems to be a potential scandal arising from the so - called "Watergate caper."

Until recent days, aides to President Nixon have been disdainful of any suggestion that the White House was in any way connected with the plot to disrupt Democratic Party campaign efforts.

They haven't wavered but insiders now suggest that the Nixon administration is at last getting a bit tense as a number of newspaper and magazine reporters uncover hints that the Watergate affair may have been only the tip of a big political spy-and-sabotage operation.

In the wake of the June police raid that resulted in the indictment of seven men with Republican ties in connection with the break-in and phone-tapping at the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate Hotel, the White House flatly denied any connection with the escapade.

Those were characterized as misguided amateurs who undertook the alleged mission without the knowledge or consent of the White House or the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Although the Democratic presidential candidate, Senator George McGovern, keeps hammering away at the incident as an example of what he has termed the "corruption" of the Nixon administration, the issue seemed to make little or no impression on the general public.

Since then a number of investigative reporters, notably those of the Washington Post, the New York Times and Time magazine, have kept chipping away at the incident.

Under gold headlines, The Post has nagged at the 20 undercover operatives have been engaged since 1971 in an apparently unprecedented spying and sabotage effort staged by Nixon forces against Democratic presidential candidates."

Nixon himself had said earlier that no person at present employed in the government or White House was involved in the bugging.

Those arrested included a former White House aide and men associated with the Nixon re-election committee, but no link with the White House has been made. However recent newspaper stories have implicated the names of Dwight L. Chapin, Nixon's appointments secretary, former commerce secretary Maurice Stans and others.

Quoting mainly unidentified sources, the stories have suggested that Chapin was a "contact" for spying operations and that Stans, now Nixon's chief fund-raiser, kept a special $700,000 fund for the operation in his safe.

The whole thing is an embarrassment to the Nixon campaign, which otherwise has been a smooth - running operation. Although a number of legal and congressional investigations are in the offing it is most likely they will come up with any more than before the election.

In the absence of formal hearings, the air is heavy with charges and accusations and the Democrats are seeking with increased vigor to keep the issue alive with charges of "police state" tactics and the like.

But so far there is no firm evidence that the potential scandal has had any impact on the voters. The most recent national polls indicate McGovern has inched up a point or two, but Nixon still holds an unprecedented lead.

This time they can't make up their minds when they should elect a new leader.

Robert Nixon, of course, is acting only on a pro tem basis and has made it clear he would like to get rid of the responsibility as soon as possible.

see a convention by spring or perhaps even early this winter. The federal election has been the one obstacle that has been in the way of calling a leadership meeting.

Plans, of course, couldn't be made while it was still up in the air.

But now it is out of the way and Nixon is saying "let's go."

But the bulk of his party appears doesn't go along with him and are for holding off until the last possible moment, which would be next fall.

Under the Liberal constitution a leadership review must be held by then.

One reason influencing the thinking of those who want to hold off would be that to date there has been no sign of any particularly good candidates.

Toronto broker Donald Deacon is the one man who has been campaigning actively.

But though Deacon is a good member and one of his party's best men in the house there is a wide feeling that he lacks political sex appeal and would not go over with the public.

The only other man who has been mentioned frequently at all is Sarnia lawyer James Bullbrook.

Bullbrook probably could pull good support. A lot of his colleagues have respect for his ability.

But he has been playing it on and off and at the moment apparently is definitely not interested.

One possibility is that after the 1974 vote more notably might emerge from the federal ranks.

Perhaps an elected member who isn't too happy with his prospects of getting back to become prominence who has been defeated.

In recent years the provincial party hasn't exactly welcomed those who have tried to move in on the province.

This time, however, the situation could be different, in fact if there was a man of real promise it almost certainly would be.

Shoplifting Troublesome

Hamilton Spectator

Speaking of the so - called corporate rip-off, Canadian retailers reportedly lose about $1-million a day to shoplifters, fraud artists and staff pilferers.

Shoplifting, growing annually at approximately 20 per cent, is by far the retail's rising crime. Fifty per cent of shoplifters are teenagers, 4 per cent housewives and five per cent professional thieves. The temptation is there and the whole thing is so easy. You drop a bauble into your pocket or purse or, you wear a garment under your clothes and out the door and away you body can get away with a belt. So what's the thrill?

It's hard to make sense to say the stores can afford it. If their prices for standard groceries goes up because of shoplifting, they'll be irresponsible if they lose the loonies out of their profits. They'll jack their prices up with the result that all shoppers will suffer.

It's the same story regarding employee pilfering. The company may well afford it if you take the odd pencil or pad of paper or some food you haven't paid for but if everybody does it, only one petty third by 200 and soon there will be less money for salaries.

If the employees deliberately rip off the company for what whatever they can in order to get even for not getting enough pay they're using a fruitless tactic and often a childish rationalization. They'd get more results by speaking to the personnel manager or the boss or the president, organizing other workers or complaining to the Department of Labor.

Any dummy can steal from the open shop counter or company supplies. Intelligent people should find other answers and resist the temptation.

Trustees Want Emphasis on Three Rs

BANCROFT (Staff) — The Hastings County Board of Education gave tentative approval last night to a thorough review of the curriculum in our schools.

Seen by administration as being a way to advance the level of studies and achieve greater relevance, board members in their regular meeting here urged a stress on reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling.

Everett Fairman told the board, "basic skills are not being developed the way they should be . . . I think mathematics should have first priority."

"There is a concern among parents coming through loud and clear," said James Clarke. He said a lot of people want a return to "core skill instruction."

Superintendent of schools Frank Tate spent over an hour with an overhead projector instructing the board on the proposed curriculum analysis that will take an estimated six study teams three years to fully develop. Cost for each team will be about $9,000 in the first year, $5,000 in the second, $3,000 in the third.

Those engaged in the curriculum study will work for four or five weeks during the summer and get time off through the school year.

Said Tate, "It is difficult to ask them to do this after four . . . they need time to develop a curriculum."

Board chairman Donald Williams asked "if it is possible for us to do something about spelling now." He said he did not like the idea of waiting three years for the curriculum analysis before taking steps to ensure that students can spell with competence.

Mr. Tate said "yes" — that action could be taken on an interim basis.

Education director Eric Runacres said the question appears to be: "Will everything go to the dogs during the period (of curriculum analysis) . . .

A call for assistance to primary school teachers came from Everett Fairman. He said it is in the primary grades that the basic skills should be developed, and it is there that the teachers have a crowded curriculum.

Discussion returned again to the spelling problem.

Mrs. Jean Hutchison of Trenton said she had been told teachers do not like to correct spelling mistakes "because it stops the child's imagination if they are corrected."

And Earl Hawley of Bancroft said he knew one businessman who recently had to hire three people before he could get one employee with reasonable spelling proficiency.

Donald Williams concluded "If English is our language, we should be able to spell correctly. Surely, we (the board) can do something about this."

Wherever the new curriculum study leads the education of county children, it became evident from board members' comments last night that greater emphasis will be put on the skills associated with the one-room school, the basics.

Women Promised Break From PCs

"Women of Canada have been fooled by Trudeaumania for the last time," says Hastings Conservative candidate Jack Ellis.

Ellis states "in the Progressive Conservative Party, we may not go round kissing every pretty girl we meet to prove that we have an interest in women."

He charges that the government has been slow in implementing the recommendations of its Royal Commission on the Status of Women.

Among Conservative programs for women, the candidate mentions the intention of PCs to appoint more women to the bench, government agencies and the Senate.

He says Conservatives would make sure women are not discriminated against in employment because of pregnancy.

Free birth control and family planning services would also be launched if the PCs win, he said, adding Conservatives would provide funds for more day-care centres. Educational programs would also be set up for farm women.

On another matter, Canada-United States relations, Ellis says Conservatives would work for a "greater rapport" between the two countries and end the "deterioration" in Canada-US dealings.

"This state of affairs cannot be allowed to go on. And the Progressive Conservative Party, if elected, will see to it that machinery will go into operation to change it."

Sewer Loan Announced By Federal Government

From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A $759,700 loan for the Moira River sewer project — planned also to service Thurlow township — was announced Monday here by the urban affairs ministry.

The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation loan is 25 per cent forgiveable if work is completed by March 1975.

It is the second such loan on the project — the first for $250,000 was approved in August 1970.

Thurlow clerk - treasurer Clare Horton says the funds go to the provincial ministry of the environment which is undertaking the project.

The sewer, running parallel to the river, is planned to service the city's northeast sector, immediately south of the township limits and eventually be extended into the township.

However, says Mr. Horton, a sewer area in the southern end of Thurlow has yet to be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board. The project has yet to be formally advertised to give property owners notice of the scheme so they may lodge any objections. If there are protests, an OMB hearing must be held before an official decision is given.

YOU KNOW ABOUT THE BIRDS AND THE BEES. WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT PEOPLE?

At the risk of insulting everyone over the age of twelve, we suggest that you learn all the facts of life.

For human beings, all the facts of life include the facts about preventing it. Contraception.

Most people think they know all about pregnancy and how to prevent it. But the fact is, most people don't know as much as they think they do.

For instance, can you name eight different contraceptive methods? If you can't, and it's important to you to find out, consult your doctor or local health unit or contact the organization below. We'll keep your call confidential.

One of the eight different methods will be the right one for you.

Half New Ballots May Not Be Cast

By PAUL VASEY
Canadian Press Staff writer

Nearly three million young voters are eligible to vote next Monday for the first time, but political organizers agree that only about half will do so.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that all parties have been wooing the votes of the 2.8 million new voters between 18 and 24 in one way or another.

Some parties are not campaigning directly for youth votes because they feel it would be "patronizing".

All, however, have appointed youth workers they commonly are found—in high schools, colleges and universities across the land.

Party leaders, local candidates and party organizers have found their way into schools, usually on a campus "hangouts" to give speeches, take part in debates, hand out literature and answer questions.

The result?

It's a toss-up, say many student leaders and spokesmen. A New Brunswick student leader said: "For many, it's a vote for tweedle-dum or tweedle-dee."

In Prince Edward Island, young voters may be leaning toward Robert Stanfield, Progressive Conservative leader. In Ontario, the Liberals are a favorite, particularly since Prime Minister Trudeau has the ridings in Metro Toronto. In many say New Democratic Party leader David Lewis will do well.

The survey showed few disturbances during political speeches or debates.

Most party organizers agreed that some students have been left off voters' list because of late enumerations or proxy-vote complications.

In Ontario, Liberal and Conservative spokesmen said they found high-school age voters more apathetic. A Liberal spokesman said "first-time voters sometimes feel the whole process . . . is a little mysterious."

Conservative organizer Ian Green said "The Liberal party will get the largest amount of the youth vote" but said interest generally is not high because of a lack of "real issues."

NDP organizer Barbara Caplan said her party is not aiming specifically at the youthful voter because it would appear "patronizing."

Kathy Robinton, a Liberal spokesman, said the party instituted a "Show You Care" campaign among young voters and is attempting to encourage as many as possible to get to the polls to take advantage of an apparent edge in youth opinion.

B. C. Agrees On $2 Hour

VICTORIA (CP) — All parties in the British Columbia legislature gave approval in principle Monday to legislation raising the minimum wage in the province to $2 an hour from $1.50.

In closing second reading debate of a bill amending the Male Minimum Wage Act, Labor Minister William King expressed his satisfaction at the over-all acceptance of the legislation, which also provides a minimum of $1.60 an hour for employees 17 and under.

The minister said earlier that further increases in the minimum wage, bringing it to $2.50 an hour, would be made over 18 months by order-in-council.

Opposition members applauded the under-17 wage minimum and the legislation's proposal to incorporate the Male Minimum Wage Act with the Female Wage Act, giving the benefit of the increased wages to both men and women employees.

DAVID LEWIS

Wage Controls Unlikely: Lewis

OTTAWA (CP) — David Lewis, New Democratic Party leader, says he doubts Canadians would accept the "terrible" policing that is necessary to put in a really effective price and incomes control system in peacetime."

But he said in an interview on the CBC television program The National Leaders that he is "not ill-disposed" to the idea of wage and price controls.

Mr. Lewis said he would control food prices "without hitting an eyelash" because they have risen sharply.

He said he believed the public had to have some say on rising prices and income. But I would not enter a coalition government.

"If you enter a cabinet, you're responsible for every policy of the government, not particularly for the little things that you're doing or big things you're doing."

The party would support good legislation as it did frequently during the Pearson years when there was a minority government.

The New Democrat leader said that unemployment and poverty allow separation to flourish in Quebec. That was one reason he was stressing social and economic problems

ED SCHREYER

Western Power For NDP?

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Premier Edward Schreyer of Manitoba says the New Democratic Party's federal election campaign in the four western provinces is being helped by the fact that three of the four have elected NDP provincial governments in recent years.

Mr. Schreyer told a news conference Monday the NDP organization, who helped win these provincial elections, now are working for federal candidates.

The Manitoba premier was visiting the Oshawa-Whitby riding to campaign for NDP candidate Edward Broadbent in the Oct. 30 election.

Mr. Schreyer, who returns to Winnipeg today, told reporters that the chief campaign issue is the lack of "meaningful reform in our tax laws" under the Liberal government.

"As a result . . . many industries in resource fields are able to rip off amounts of money which ought to be going to the public purse."

Exit Visas Are Given More Jews

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has told 36 more Jewish families they can emigrate without paying the controversial diploma tax, but it also withdrew the exit visas issued to another family last week, Jewish sources report.

The exemptions Monday brought to 174 the number of Jewish families told they can leave without paying the heavy tax. All were given 10 days to get out of the country, the sources said.

Among those in the latest group is 27-year-old Gabriel Shapiro, who is married to Judith Silver Shapiro of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"I don't believe it! I just don't believe it!" said Mrs. Shapiro when her husband told her during a telephone conversation Monday that he would be permitted to leave the Soviet Union. She had called him during a news conference in Syracuse, N.Y., to call attention to the condition of the Soviet Jews.

The Shapiros were married in Moscow last June in a private religious ceremony, and Soviet officials forced the bride to leave the country soon afterward. She has been waging a well-publicized campaign ever since to get him out.

Shapiro was convicted in July of evading a summer military training session and sentenced a year of compulsory, out-of-prison labor. Jewish sources said he was imprisoned for three days in September for participating in a protest against the diploma tax.

The tax was decreed Aug. 3 and is based on the years the emigrant has spent in Soviet schools. For some doctors and scientists it could run as high a $30,000.

The Soviet government first waived the tax last week about the time Moscow and Washington signed a major trade agreement. It is generally assumed that the Russians are trying to appease members of the U.S. Senate who are threatening to veto the key clause in the agreement granting most-favored-nation status to the Soviet Union unless the Soviet government lifts the diploma tax. But there has been no indication that the Kremlin would repeal the tax.

A young Soviet Jew said he and his mother had their exit visas cancelled Monday after getting them last week when the tax was first waived.

Andrei Dubrov, 22, said he was with his mother at the office of visas and foreign registration clarifying documents when a representative of the military committee for his Moscow district arrived.

The officer summoned him into a room, told him the visas were annulled and that he must sign a draft summons, which he refused to do. No reason was given for the action, Dubrov said.

Radio Time Issue Aired

OTTAWA (CP) — Broadcasters have no obligation under law to include any particular person in any broadcast, a spokesman for the Canadian Radio-Television Commission said Monday.

He was referring to the case of Kay Macpherson, an independent candidate in the Toronto riding of St. Paul's, who said Sunday a Toronto television station ignored election campaign coverage rules by not allowing her to participate in a broadcast with the Liberal, Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party candidates.

As to whether Mrs. Macpherson is entitled to equal time, the spokesman said the question has not yet been put to the commission for a ruling.

PCs Propose Soldiers Act as Arctic Police

OTTAWA (CP) — The Conservative party has proposed using the armed forces to police Canadian sovereignty in the Arctic.

In a policy paper released Monday, the party said the armed forces should be used to police and develop the Arctic regions and, in particular, to "safeguard our interests against the intrusion of any unauthorized oil tankers that threaten our environment."

In a Super on health policy released at the same time, the party said a Conservative government would establish a national health council to represent views of ordinary citizens in developing and implementing federal health policies.

The policy paper on defence and external affairs said that "the failure of the present government to pursue any kind of active foreign policy has greatly undermined Canada's credibility in the world community."

Relations with Britain and the U.S. were at their lowest point in this century.

The Conservatives recommended continuing defence agreements with the U.S. but urged a review of all agreements and greater consultation between Canada and the U.S. on mutual defence problems.

The party also set a goal of one per cent of the gross national product for aid to developing countries.

A review of working conditions in the armed forces with some form of collective bargaining permitted should be considered, but the party would now allow strikes by the armed forces.

The policy document said the party is concerned about low morale and discontent about working conditions in the armed forces.

If Canada was to have an effective volunteer force, members of the armed forces should not be faced with poor working conditions.

St. Columba Women

The Presbyterian Women of St. Columba Church held the monthly meeting at the Church Hall on Monday, October 16. Mrs. Pat Hasselfelt and committee opened the evening with a worship service.

Tables were decorated with an abundance of harvest treats — fruit, nuts and grapes which added energy and enjoyment for the busy work party, which followed a short business session. The big effort was to make decorations to sell at the forthcoming opportunity to man a booth at the Quinte Mall on Friday and Saturday, November 3 and 4. All the women of the church will be asked to help in some small way to make this opportunity a huge success and from the evening's turnout of enthusiastic helpers, it was evident there is already a great start. More work parties will be planned and any willing helpers are asked to call Mrs. Pat Hasselfelt and offer their services.

Members were reminded of the rummage sale at the church hall on Friday, October 20, 7.30 p.m. and gifts of used seasonal clothing will be appreciated — just call Mrs. Marea Devolin if you can help.

Lunch was served by the committee which really added to a most productive but enjoyable evening.

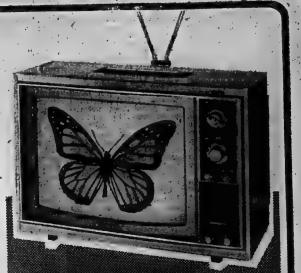
School Will Display Pioneer Crafts.

TWEED. — In this push-button age, when the controls of the kitchen range is more elaborate and complex than those of a World War II training aircraft, one tends to forget the homemade equipment often used by the pioneers who cleared the land and built the early towns and villages in Canada.

In order to demonstrate the use of some of the pioneer tools, and equipment to the students, a series of pioneer days and an open house for the public, will be held at the Tweed - Hungerford Senior Public School from 9.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. October 25 and 26.



Everyone is welcome, according to the teachers who are arranging the program.

Displays of articles and work done in the manner of pioneer craftmen will be part of the program, with students and instructors using hand tools and methods common to the period of their grandparents and great-grandparents.

Nancy Greene Ski Apparel Promoted

In aid of the National Ski Team, Leslie's Ski Den hosted a ski equipment display, movie evening and a first fashion show for the store featuring Nancy Greene ski apparel. Nancy arrived in Belleville yesterday afternoon to promote the ski fashions. All proceeds from the show go towards the National Ski Team of which Nancy's husband, Al Raine is the president.

Mrs. Adele Cooke, a phys-ed teacher, who was commentator for the fashion remarked: "Most of the ski clothes this season have a new design." The seven models, including two males were: nine-year-old, Miss Kim Asselstine, who modelled fashions for the newcomers on the slope; Mrs. Mary Doyle, Miss Sue Leslie, Mark Meiss, Mike Pape, Miss Karen Reid and Miss Terry Wilton.

Mary began the show fashioning the newest in ski-wear — a striking silver jacket and pant co-ordinate in a frost finished high quality nylon. The ski jacket held all features of Nancy Greene jackets: "storm cuff in neck, removable hood and inside pocket, and long sleeves to keep wrists from exposure," said Mrs. Cooke. The ski boots featured a high-action back for warmth and an elastic insert for ease of movement.

This season, ski wear is fashionably and comfortably designed - in brighter colors from gloves to pants.

For the Nancy Greene Little League, Kim donned a sharp red, white, and blue jacket with handy slant pockets and red quilted lined warm-up pants. These ski pants featured an easy fit and heavy duty zipper for trousers or jeans to be worn underneath. This was an ideal outfit for children on the slopes. A red, white and blue tuque gave the final finish for Kim's co-ordinate.

Overall hot pants in powder blue nylon modelled by Karen are a new arrival on the slopes. An ample front pocket, leg pocket for marker bindings, snow cuffs on the legs and elasticized waist add comfort and practicality to this feminine outfit with matching jacket.

"Apres ski boots," as Adele noted, "may be worn for after skiing or curling. The Nancy Greene outfits shown also may be worn for skiing, skating or curling."

Maure, dusty rose, yellow, royal blue, navy blue, green, white with red and blue trim and red are several more colors which will be seen in ski-co-ordinates this winter for men, women and children.

Susan illustrated how stylistic fashion ensembles may be. She fashioned a cosy design in a mauve ski jacket and pant co-ordinate with slant pockets in ideally cover slippers, and patches on the elbows and knees.

Light weight ski jackets have appeared in two basic lengths, short and regular length. Terry modelled a street length double-duty jacket in royal blue which illustrated more slope comforts of Nancy Greene ski jackets and pants: a two-way zip, side zippers, three-way instructor's collar and hidden hood. This light weight jacket was completed by foamlined ski pants.

Goggles have a new design also. Mike wore ski goggles with several new features: a cut-out slot for those who wear specs, and a practical lens for sunshine or overcast. Nancy Greene men's ski pants have pockets and stirrups. Lazy boots, a practical ski apparel for everyone have only two buckles and high back made of factory foam which give a better fit for all.

Mark showed Maur men's ski apparel may be clean-cut and tidy yet warm, as he modelled a red short jacket accented by white zippers, with a flap over the zipper to keep out the snow, and a new cummerbund with a full body cuff for powder-snow skiing. The matching pants had polyurathen fiber lining with storm cuffs.

Mrs. Cooke explained to the packed audience what the Nancy Greene emblems on the ski jackets may be used for: either attaching gloves or tow tickets — an interesting yet practical feature.

Following the show, door prizes were handed out by Mrs. Raine herself, an added highlight to the final show of the evening.

Nancy will continue on today to three other cities in Ontario to promote the ski wear and National Ski Team.

Ski Queen Draws Attention

Nancy Greene gave the finishing touch as she drew the door prizes following last evening's fashion show at Four Seasons Hotel. Assisting her is Don Leslie who provided fashions from Leslie's Ski Den for the show.

The three models are: Soo Leslie, Mike Pape and Margy Doyle.

Ski Styles Unlimited!

This year, ski ensembles on the slope will have a brighter and more stylistic look yet still be as comfortable for this popular sport.

Seen above modelling several of their ensembles seen in the show are: Terry Wilton. Sue Leslie and Karen Reid.

Women's Institutes

WALLBRIDGE WI

Mrs. Amar Chisholm was hostess for the October Women's Institute. Mrs. Gordon Garrison opened the meeting and welcomed everyone.

The roll call was answered by 17 members and two visitors. The two resolutions discussed at the Trent Valley Area Convention held in Peterborough on October 24 and 25 were read and discussed. Mrs. E. Demorest will be the delegate and Mrs. A. Spencer, the alternate. It was decided to purchase "The Ontario Women's Institute Story".

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. E. Phillips, the citizenship convener who spoke on her topic. This was followed by a reading, "Ten Commandments of Human Relations" and the last two paragraphs of Mrs. Fulton's (president of FWIC) address to the delegates to the officers conference in Guelph.

Following this presentation, Mrs. W. L. Johnston, directed a short program and Mrs. W. Hamilton and Mrs. C. Clapp gave several readings.

Mrs. Harrison thanked everyone for their contribution and lunch was served by the hostess and her committee.

Ann Landers

Lab Smear Is Best Test for Gonorrhea

Dear Ann Landers: As a gynecologist and a member of the National Commission on VD I want to thank you for the good you have done through your column. Your recent advice on how to spot VD was excellent. It is possible, will you please return to the subject and emphasize a few points which are not well known, even by many physicians:

In females, gonorrhea may be present without symptoms. It is a fact that the majority of females who have it harbor the GC infection for long periods of time. Patients frequently come to me because their boyfriends have told them they acquired the disease from them. Upon examination the women appear perfectly OK but I take a smear and the lab results indicate they do indeed have gonorrhea. All women who lead active sex lives should have lab smears. It is quick, simple, painless and inexpensive.

Although our hedonistic society has downgraded the old fashioned birth control device the boys used to buy furtively in drugstores, it is still the best way to prevent VD as well as pregnancy. It might also be a factor in preventing cancer of the cervix.

Gonorrhea is the commonest cause for sterility in both male and female. It also may cause arthritis, skin eruptions, prostate trouble, kidney disease, heart disease and even death.—Edwin De Costa, M.D., Chicago

Dear Dr. De Costa: Thank you for providing my readers with what might be life-saving information. I appreciate your interest.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you still give advice or do you just tell people what they want to hear? I read with astonishment the letter from the country lady (garden, woman) who was irritated by city people who were lost and blew their car horns until someone came out and gave them directions. I was even more astonished when you agreed with her that they were boors and clods. What ever became of the milk of human kindness?

I have lived in the country over 36 years on a little tree-lined road. When a stranger stops to ask directions I am happy to help him. It is such a small thing to do, why would anyone resent it?

Please, Ann, don't encourage such lack of concern that we resent doing a favor.—Mrs. Does the Bible not say that in encountering strangers some have entertained angels unawares?—Country Hick And Glad Of It

Dear Glad: "Strangers" aren't what they used to be. Perhaps the fact that folks who wander on to a farmer's property may well encounter something besides "angels." Read on:

Dear Ann Landers: One thing is for sure. You might be from Iowa, but you are a city girl through and through. Your reply to the farm woman who resented it when city people drove on to their property and honked the horn, for someone to come and give them road directions was a dead give away.

I'm a farm person and I favor that sort of farmer who digs in their place for protection. The dogs are not always visible, but they are on the farm family doesn't happen to be at home, your so-called "good manners" could result in disaster.—Country Folk

Dear Folk: Thank you, Country Cousin, for the seasonal counsel. Your letter proves once again that common sense takes precedence over etiquette.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CORWELL

Should a husband resist coddling?

LEFT Man, if he can. That entire attention to his clothes, the hand-baked pies (from scratch, no boxed mixes), his favorite chair (the one with the footstool) out front where he can watch the game light for his newspaper (or drop of it or a restful snooze), those are the outward signs of an insecure wife (who doesn't know about these things?). Just a poor, senile kid himself fails to realize the trap he is in, so he just enjoys being coddled.

Can a child be 'read like a book'?

YES; but what a book! Parents really must be skilled if they think they can "read" their child. He is a lot more inclined than "See Jane Run," or "Watch Johnny Play." You get some idea if you look at a child's drawings of "Flamingos Wake." Valiant as Dow Jones may be trying to explain this work, Yet compared to a child and being able to read him like a book, "Flamingos Wake" is in the same league as "See Jane Run."

Is it noble to be unselfish?

YES, if the generous person disclaims any emotion or reward; selfless altruism is the highest form of human behavior. Only, of course, would be the last one to consider himself as noble. Or, of course, would be the one to consider individual traits in the other sex as "noble." Selfishness, on the other hand, is a part of humanity. It should develop a mere honest appraisal of himself. He might be moved simply to satisfy a deep-down wish-need for the sense of power he derives by helping those who accept his generosity.

'Fun Night' To Be Held

St. Michael's Catholic Women's League are hosting a Hallowe'en Fun Night at Nicholson College Gymn, Saturday evening, October 28 from 7-9 pm. All children, moms and dads are welcome to attend this first Hallowe'en get-together which will be a safe way of enjoying the night.

Convener Mrs. John O'Neill and co-convener, Mrs. Dora Vogler, who are concerned about the devastating mishaps that occur each year to children, hope that there will be a large turnout.

Games in operation will be: a fish pond, dart throw, ring toss, sponge throw, bean bag toss, cupcake walk and surprise barrel. There will also be a lodging of costumes. Students from Nicholson College will be assisting the CWL.

Admission charges are: adults - 2 cents, children over 12 - 15 cents and children under 12 - free.

Couple Honored At Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Yeates of Belleville celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, October 14. The immediate family was present at the dinner.

Many flowers, gifts and cards were received by the honored couple. Mr. and Mrs. Yeates who are originally from Greece moved to Belleville in 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Yeates have five children: Beatrice, Demetre, Linda, Bill and Elaine. There are also nine grandchildren.

Successful Living

A More Active Mind Necessary in Future

By DORIS CLARK

"Training, re-training and re-location of workers displaced by technological innovation will increase, but in itself will not be sufficient, as even now many industrialized countries are 'pulling in order to stand still'."

So said Mr. Reuben Baetz, Director of the Canadian Council on Social Development.

Obviously it is going to be important to us all to keep in touch with what is going on, and to do what we can to keep ourselves equipped for a future we are not too sure about.

Read the newspapers, folks; talk about the affairs of the day rather than gossiping about your favorite neighbor. Find and share a philosophy to meet the day's needs and the future's difficulties.

Keep your mind active to improve the work you do and to make something constructive out of your play hours also. Learn about people, about things, and use your imagination to see just what our fast moving times can mean to us — every one of us.

Dear Doris: I am a boy 15. My father died two years ago. Now my mother's new boy friend doesn't like me and has told me so.

One of the reasons is that I loved my father and talk about him all the time. The other is that I have a young sister who calls him "Dad" and snuggles up to him.

I also happen to know that this man does things behind my mother's back. To get even he makes up stories about me and then I get grounded. Then he sits back and laughs.

Before I could talk with my Mum about everything and now we always has to know what I have to say. — Is That Fair?

Dear Fair: No, not fair. But are you being fair in rubbing in how much you loved your father? Remember, a grown up man can feel pangs of jealousy.

He may be truly in love with your mother, yet he has not made the grade with you and this is a worry.

Perhaps your very precocious makes you suspect him. A talk with him, man to man, wouldn't hurt. He might just turn out to be a friend of yours — and I'm suspecting that he may even want to get over this barrier you have erected.

Confidential to Unsure Of What To Do: At 12 you are still not old enough for dating. Hanging around at the corner store is not putting your time to any good use and you don't want to wind up in some sort of trouble which you didn't suspect.

Running away from home would be sheer folly since you are far too young to be on your own. Right now your parents are responsible to guide you safely through years which are hard for all the teen-agers. They want you to grow up a happy person without a lot of hang-ups.

Your mother wants to communicate; don't be shy about taking the first step and ask permission to go out on specific occasions to definite locations when your homework is done. Then stick to your part of the bargain about coming home on time.

Montreal Author Back Home With Hard-won Inheritance

MONTREAL (CP) — Gitta Cserias Farmalee, who waged a 16-month battle with a British bank about her $50,000 inheritance, says she will never set foot in England again.

"The English cannot seem to understand your money is not their money," Miss Farmalee said in an interview.

The Montreal writer of children's stories spent almost 10 months sleeping under bushes and living on handouts after the Midland Bank refused to let her withdraw the balance of the inheritance.

Miss Farmalee went to England in December, armed with a bank draft for the amount left to her by an aunt.

She withdrew a small part of the legacy, and the bank mailed a copy of the draft showing the reduced balance to her hotel.

But Miss Farmalee never received the draft and the bank refused to issue a duplicate for fear the original draft might still be cashed.

Before a London newspaper took up her cause against the bank in June, Miss Farmalee lived on handouts and slept in London parks.

"Someone gave me a sleeping bag so I went off to a park in Hampton, where they don't lock the gates.

"For a time I had a nice little spot under the bushes." That ended when a youth kicked her in the teeth, claiming he had staked out the spot for himself.

"He injured a nerve in my tooth and I had to have it removed."

Finally she wrote to the London Sunday Express realizing Johann. With the newspaper's help she became a minor celebrity and eventually received another draft.

The Sunday Express criticized the Midland Bank for refusing to provide her with a single penny, for suggesting payment by a five-year instalment plan and for offering her no compensation for her hardship.

At one point the bank insisted someone agree to reimburse them if the original draft was cashed after Miss Farmalee was given the money.

Miss Farmalee returned to Canada early this month.

'Unlegalization' of Pot Hippie Candidate's Aim

TORONTO (CP) — The "unlegalization" of marihuana is the major plank in the federal election platform of one of the candidates in Toronto's Spadina riding.

"Dr." Sydney Stern, a 30-ish Ll-year-old hippie says he is not an independent candidate in the Oct. 30 election but the leader of the Know Party, which will let people know what really goes on in Parliament.

As to the "unlegalization" of marijuana, he explained: "I want everybody to be able to have it and smoke it without fear Grass has got to be as free as apples and roses. But I don't want it legal like liquor, beer and wine, where they tell you where you can buy it and where you can drink it and how much."

Mr. Stern is unemployed and listed his occupation on his nomination as "gentle man." He's proud of a diploma, obtained by Rochdale College, to certify that he has a PhD in Nothing.

"It's not one of those degrees you can buy for $25 at Rochdale," mind," he said. "They bestowed it on me I earned it. I even wrote a thesis for it."

Dressed in faded blue jeans, flowered shirt and suede waistcoat, Mr. Stern told how he made and lost "millions" after he dropped out of school at 16, after four years in Grade 9.

He made his millions, he said, as a gambler, a fight manager, a "legitimate" businessman (selling appliances and clothes) and a ticket hustler. He said he lost it all to "cab drivers, distilleries and girls."

In March, 1965, as the "legitimate" businessman (selling appliances and clothes) and a ticket hustler. He said he lost it all to "cab drivers, distilleries and girls."

In March, 1965, as the owner of a business called Dominion Mod Supply, he was jailed for 2½ years after pleading guilty to a $5,500 fraud charge.

Mr. Stern said he is not really looking forward to Ottawa if he is elected.

"It's too cold there. They should move Parliament to the Canadian Lcna, in Toronto tourist attraction)."

Mr. Stern is running against former Liberal Perry Ryan who crossed the floor of the House during the last Parliament to sit with the Progressive Conservatives.

Minimum Wage May Rise

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the Ontario Government is expected to announce within 16 days that the minimum wage in the province will be increased to $1.80 an hour from $1.65 early in 1973.

The last increase, in April, 1971, pushed the minimum wage to $1.65 an hour from $1.50.

The newspaper says major groups to benefit from an increase would be employees in the services industries, including bore in retail trade, hotels, restaurants and taverns and laundry workers.

The new minimum would provide $72 a week based on a 40-hour work week, The Globe and Mail says.

The newspaper says the government has been sitting for months on a research study on dealing with the minimum wage, but has not yet released it.

Ex-policemen Among UIC Investigators Were Not Hired to Harass Claimants

OTTAWA (CP) — Former policemen and security guards are among a group of 80 new claims investigators the Unemployment Insurance Commission (UIC) will have hired by mid-November, a commission spokesman said Monday.

But Yvon Charlebois, director of inter-agency policy for the UIC, denied Monday that such people were specifically sought to fill positions as benefit control officers.

Mr. Charlebois was commenting on recent criticism by Harry Greene of Vancouver, a provincial official of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE).

In a statement Sunday, Mr. Greene said CUPE's provincial executive planned to protest to Manpower Minister Bryce Mackasey the interrogation by trained investigators of claimants for unemployment insurance benefits."

"For a government agency like the UIC to employ ex-policemen and ex-professional security-guard types-for the express purpose of interrogating unemployed workers and to train them through the use of leading questions, into making statements which lead to their disqualification, smacks of the use of government goon squads to cut down the cost of unemployment insurance and to deliberately distort unemployment statistics," the statement said.

Mr. Charlebois said he thought Mr. Greene's words "were a bit strong" and that he gathered that the attack arose from the experience of one laborer, "his case being the exception rather than the rule."

We are not a police organization," he said, "and we are not trying to harass people.

"Our objectives are to make sure people get the benefits they deserve if they are unemployed and to make sure they get the kind of help that speed their return in the labor force."

The UIC has added 58 inspectors to its local offices across Canada in the last month in a campaign for more intensive control of benefit payments. Eighty should be at work by mid-November-bringing the total number of full-time investigators to 307-with 30 "casuals" supplementing the force during peak unemployment periods in January and February.

Former Panther Quickly Deported

TORONTO (CP) — The lawyer for former Black Panther Edwin Hogan said Monday his client was turned over to the U.S. authorities before the lawyer could launch a federal court appeal of the deportation order.

Charles Roach said Hogan was handed over to FBI officials Monday following a decision by the immigration appeal board Friday to uphold a deportation order and deny a stay in the deportation until Hogan could find "a friendly country" to grant him political asylum.

Hogan, 32, was a fugitive from an Ohio penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence for murder and armed robbery.

Mr. Roach said neither he nor Hogan were notified of the board's decision until Monday morning, and that Hogan now is in Erie County jail in Buffalo, N.Y. He said he appeared in Buffalo court Monday on a charge of jailing flight to avoid confinement and that bail was set at $100,000. The case was adjourned until Oct. 30.

Mr. Roach said the Immigration Appeal Board Act allows him 15 days to appeal to the federal court and he described Hogan's quick transfer to U.S. authorities as a lynching.

Heroin-fighting Drug Soon Ready

CHICAGO (AP) — The director of a federal drug-abuse program said Monday that an as yet unnamed drug with the capability to cancel the effects of heroin in brain cells still be available for the treatment of heroin addicts within two months.

Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, director of the White House special action office for drug abuse, said the new drug, described as a "narcotics antagonist," is completely non-addictive and has no more side effects than aspirin.

Dr. Jaffe said a single dose of the drug will cause an "immunity" to heroin for 24 hours.

Dr. Jaffe said the new drug, which has been under development for 18 months, is intended for use among addicts who do not wish to use methadone, and those who have withdrawn from methadone, and young addicts

Second Rose Trial Starts

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Noel Barbes of Court of Queen's Bench received three defence motions Monday at the opening of Jacques Rose's second kidnap trial. He threw out one and will rule on the other two Wednesday.

The rejected motion contended the trial could not proceed because the date for it was set while an appeal was pending on the first trial.

Can Olympics Be Saved?

by

Eric Emerson

Sports Editor

"There have been shootings in the night . . ."

The place: Munich, West Germany. The time: September 6th, 1972. And the words ushered up an unbelieving world the saddest message of all time. Certainly the saddest in the history of games, where men keep score, and call it sport.

The Olympic flame, a concept of sportsmanship and the lives of two Israeli athletes were extinguished at the hands of man. The following night 15 more lives were lost.

There was grief and concern for the death of 11 members of the Israeli team and horror and revulsion directed to their Arab slayers. Yet, Peter Hirshbiro, Nagasaki, Auschwitz and Mai Lai, how could there be anything more than a moment's sympathy and passing reflection for the death of another 17 human beings?

Were the five Arab guerrillas "mad dogs" or ". . . sick minds who do not belong to humanity," as was written at the time? Was the man who dropped the first atomic bomb insane? Or the man who delivered his orders? Or was it the man who delivered the initial order, or who invented the initial bomb?

The five young Arab men, mistaken as they were, committed fully and irrevocably the acts of suicide and murder in order to draw attention to the plight of their homeless countrymen uprooted to restore Israel to the Jewish people. But it can hardly be written in a history of these games that greater love hath no man than he will lay down his life for his friends, or that mad dogs or sadly mistaken men!

The world's sorrow and the unreasonable hate were triggered by the fact that the murders occurred within a supposed sanctity of the Olympic games.

The games, an event meant to foster the spirit of international brotherhood through sport and exercise five concentric circles symbolize a joining of the world's five popularized continents, had been "used as a stage for political unrest."

And with that act the cosy haven of sports had been withdrawn from itself to face the real world.

How could such terms as sportsmanship, friendly competition, and "it matters not whether you win or lose," have any real meaning when their symbol had been bathed in blood?

The major question that has been raised since the sudden death of Munich's "Happy Olympics" is whether or not the Games should continue . . . ever? Could not the same ends be staged in Montreal in 1976 by ardent Quebec soparatists?

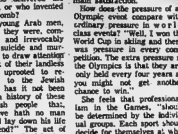
Is the magnificence of a Mark Spitz, the grace and beauty of an Olga Korbut and the agony of a Jim Ryun worth the lives of 17 more people? In short, can the games ever again rid themselves of politics, racism, commercialism and be restored to a perspective where grace, strength and determination are its ultimate measures of success?

I, for one, would be the greatest sort of fool to attempt to answer questions of this magnitude. But surely in a world that has given us heart transplants, laser beams and the internal combustion engine, such answers can be found.

One small part, a tiny surface beginning, perhaps may have been offered by a pert, very blue-eyed Canadian wife and mother as she sat in Leslie's ski den and attempted to answer the question, "should the Olympics be continued?", while at the same time flashing a pretty smile and signing autographs for young admirers.

Nancy Greene Raine has taken part in three Olympics and has, undoubtedly, a better grasp of the feelings involved in such competition than most. She has competed in the games as a youthful team member, a serious but unsuccessful challenger, and a gold medal champion in 1968 on the giant slalom course of Grenoble, France.

She has reaped the commercial benefits of a gold medal performance, went through the hard and often boring training required for world class competition and felt the pressure of an entire nation's expectancy riding on her shoulders when she finished out of the medal standings in the downhill and captured "only" a silver in the slalom event.



In a few brief minutes Nancy offered some insights to Olympic competition and may even have provided a suggestion to be considered if and when collective humanity decides to restore the spirit as well as body of the Olympic games.

"I think that one thing that might be changed about the Olympics is the team sports. It's hard to get a group of people together, such as the Canadian hockey team or the American basketball team without there being nationalism. When you're competing as an individual, you're trying to beat other competitors, rather than other countries, and there isn't the same nationalism involved. You want to beat people from your own country just as much as the other competitors."

What about the satisfaction gained from an Olympic competition? "I think the first time that I was in the Olympics it was just actually being there. The second time, I was among the top 10 competitors, but wasn't able, to win a medal. The third time, after I won the gold . . . it was a feeling of relief rather than elation. It meant that all of those years of work weren't for nothing. That was the main satisfaction."

How does the pressure of an Olympic event compare with ordinary pressure in world class events? "Well, I was the World Cup in skiing and there was pressure there, in every competition. The extra pressure in the Olympics is that they are only held every four years so you might not get another chance to win."

She feels that professionalism in the Games, "should be determined by the individual groups. Each sport should decide for themselves at what level they want the Olympic competition to take place."

NANCY RAINE

Are there any answers, or even beginnings of answers contained in her comments on the Olympic games? Only history and the future course of the Olympics can judge.

However, her most important section may have been this, "If I hadn't won a gold medal, I'd still be married. I'd still have my family and I'd still go on living.

If one individual, who has known the ups, downs and inbetweens of competing in Olympic events can come to realize that it is not a life-and-death struggle, why cannot the all-encompassing political gold struggle between the USA be pushed to the background of a stretch duel between Ryan and Keino? Or why shouldn't the flying feet of Valery Borzov outdistance the flying lips of flag-waving commentators like Howard Cosell?

Could not the ultimate in human competition be rendered just a little more humane?

Finest Hour for Madoc As Seniors Trip Trojans

When the senior Centre Hastings Secondary School football team looks back on Monday's meeting with Moira they can say without much question that, "this was our finest hour."

Centre Hastings wrecked Moira's chances for an undefeated season by tripping the Trojans 16-12 in the final game of the regular Bay of Quinte COSSA schedule.

We're really playing good football, fundamental football now," said winning coach Barry Prear, "this was our best game of the season." The first - year coach took Madoc to a 3-3 record this season after they had finished a disastrous 0-6 campaign in 1971.

Fullback Art Reid provided the winning points in the fourth quarter after Centre Hastings had recovered a fumbled punt on the Moira 24 yard line. Reid scored on a short line plunge, his second such scoring effort of the game. Jim Gayford added a two-point conversion on a play to his two previous singles.

Centre Hastings' defence also was almost assured of a first place finish, having defeated Trenton 8-1. Gery Adams played a fine game yesterday, netting 4 goals, followed by Rungano Mutswairo with 2 and Peter Crawford with one. Trenton's goal was scored by Mike Day.

For Bay junior team to be unseated from first place, with 11 points for their six games, Moira has to defeat Centennial by a score of 6-0.

In other games Monday, Bayside seniors won their first of the year, defeating Nicholson 4-1, while their Juniors played to a scoreless tie. Bayside Juniors, assured of a playoff spot, will meet BCI Juniors in the semi-finals next week.

Bill Lynch and Ed Svoboda were the Stewart Warner marksmen.

Beau led the winners with two touchdowns apiece, while Mike McClelland had a major and a two-point conversion. Rick North added six more Moira points, with a safety rounding out the scoring total.

Soccer Records Intact

The only unbeaten senior teams in the Bay of Quinte COSSA soccer league remained just that as BCI and Trenton battled to a 2-2 tie in Trenton Monday.

Steve Redeer headed in BCI's first goal, which Trenton's Mark Bradshaw answered on a deflection from Ed Mullens foot. In the second half, Gary Donovan put BCI ahead on a penalty shot, but Trenton quickly tied it up with a free shot from Ed Mullens. On another penalty, Tony Donovan's attempt to break the tie was stopped by the Trenton goalkeeper. BCI finishes the season with 11 points from six games, 32 goals for, and 3 scored against.

Meanwhile, BCI's juniors are almost assured of a first place finish, having defeated Trenton 8-1. Gery Adams played a fine game yesterday, netting 4 goals, followed by Rungano Mutswairo with 2 and Peter Crawford with one. Trenton's goal was scored by Mike Day.

For BCI junior team to be unseated from first place, with 11 points for their six games, Moira has to defeat Centennial by a score of 6-0.

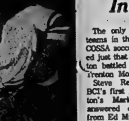
Weston Denies Schmidt Leaving

BOSTON (CP-AP) — Weston Adams, president of Boston Bruins, denied Monday night that Milt Schmidt is leaving as executive director and that the National Hockey League club is for sale.

A Boston newspaper reported Monday that Schmidt is serving his last year with the Stanley Cup champions. He has been with the Bruins both as a player and in the front office since 1977. The paper quoted him as saying his new job makes him "just a glorified scout."

"The story is completely untrue," Adams said, referring to the report the Bruins were for sale.

Adams also said he talked with Schmidt "and he's very upset by the story."



"He told me he didn't have any other plans outside of the Bruins right now and that he didn't know how the story got started."

Schmidt was not available for comment.

The Boston Herald Traveler and Record American reported that Schmidt, a hockey Hall of Fame member who was general manager of the Stanley Cup champions until a month ago, will take a job with another pro hockey team when his contract expires at the end of the current season.

The newspaper also said there were "increasing reports" that the Bruins, now owned by Boston Garden Corp., are for sale to a Canadian syndicate owned by lawyer Alan Eagleson.

In Toronto, Eagleson suggested "some people are trying to make a jigsaw puzzle out of isolated facts."

DAVE RUTHERFORD

The Trojans had held a 12-7 lead at the half thanks to halfback Dave Rutherford. The Moira speedster lugged a punt back 75 yards for a major in the first quarter and returned a kick-off 80 for his second touchdown of the game.

"Except for those two plays, we're outplayed us, we could have certainly pretty well," said Prear whose club rolled up over 200 yards rushing.

Moira finished the season with a 5-1 record to win the Eastern Division title.

The junior Trojans had little trouble duplicating that 5-1 mark as they handed Centre Hastings a 49-6 pasting.

Dan Gulaski and Rick Barnap, Gary Sero, Al Bland, Robert Brownlee and Doug James scored for the winners with Joe Clarke collecting four assists.

Meads Clean Carpets

Centre Ray Summers of Mead Johnson turns on the speed in an attempt to elude defenceman Jim Thompson of Constellation Carpets. The speedy pivot scored one of his team's goals as Meads put Constellation on the carpet 9-0. The game was one of three Gas House Hockey League encounters played at the Belleville Memorial Arena Monday night.

Mead Johnson took Constellation Carpets to the cleaners Monday night by running up a 9 - 0 G a s House Hockey League victory.

The winners got two goals apiece from Fred Bedard and Bob Mulvihill, with single tallies going to Jim Wood, Dave Fox, Alec Beich, Jack Lucas and Ray Summers. The win gave Meads a 2-1 season record.

Meanwhile Jim's Pizzeria was maintaining their grip of first place with a 3-1 win over The Intelligencer. It was the third victory in as many games for last year's champions.

Al Ray, Dave Middleton and Al Ray, Dave Middleton and Bob Mulvihill, with single tallies going to Jim Wood, Dave Fox, Alec Beich, Jack Lucas and Ray Summers. The win gave Meads a 2-1 season record.

Police said they received a call from Robinson's wife at 6:26 a.m. EST, saying he was in bad was very ill. Officers went to the house and administered oxygen. He was taken by ambulance to hospital, where he was dead on arrival.

The late Branch Rickey picked Robinson as the player to break the color barrier in 1947, when he brought him from Montreal Royals of the International League to play in the infield with the Dodgers in their old home grounds at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn.

Robinson helped lead the Dodgers to the National League pennant in 1947. He retired as a player in 1957, and had been in ill health for some time, suffering from diabetes.

Robinson's exploits at first base and at the plate the first year earned rookie-of-the-Year honors. Two years later, he led batting with .342 and was named the National League's most valuable player.

Robinson quit baseball in 1957 rather than go through with a trade to New York Giants. He took a job as vice-president of Chock Full O'Nuts, the coffee and restaurant organization.

JACKIE ROBINSON

During the time, he began devoting free time to the civil rights movement. Touring the country on weekends to make speeches and raise funds for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Since his retirement and in recent years, he also had become active in national Republican politics.

Before Rickey brought Robinson to the Dodgers, the old mentor told him:

"All need more than a great ball player. I need a man who can fly the flag for his race, who can turn the other cheek. If I get a firebrand who blows his top and comes up swinging after a collision at second base, it could set the case back 20 years."

Robinson was the man. He endured verbal abuse and a loosely organized attempt to keep him out of the game.

Black players have saved baseball, kept baseball on top," Robinson said recently. "But I think football and basketball have moved beyond baseball in race relations.

Jackie Robinson Dies at 53

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Jackie Robinson, the first black to play in major league baseball, died today at Stamford Hospital. Officials said the 53-year-old former star with Brooklyn Dodgers suffered a heart attack.

Sabres Still Hold Edge

MONTREAL (CP) — The surprising Buffalo Sabres, almost doormats in their first two years in the National Hockey League's East Division, have forsaken the downtrodden image.

The prime reason for their early-season success is the offensive power displayed by one of the most exciting young forward lines in the league.

The Sabres currently share first place in the East Division with Detroit Red Wings. Both clubs have 12 points and both are unbeaten.

The more mature Red Wings have registered six straight wins, while the Sabres remained undefeated after seven starts with five wins and two ties.

GIL PERREAULT

Centre Gilbert Perreault, 22, right winger Rene Robert, 23, and left winger Rick Martin, 22, have combined for 19 goals, 27 assists and 46 points to lead the Sabres. The trio accounts for 32.2 per cent of the club's total point output.

In three games last week, the trio accounted for 12 of Buffalo's 14 goals and 20 of 34 starting points.

Perreault led all scorers with 11 points—three goals and eight assists—and heads the scoring parade with 19 points. Robert's 1-9-0-1 n t performance—two goals and eight assists—vaulted him into second spot with 15 points, one more than veteran left winger Andy Bathgate of Toronto Bruins.

Bathgate shares the lead in assists—13—with Perreault, while Boston centre Fred Stanfield is fourth in the race with 13 points on five goals and eight assists.

Martin, with seven goals and one assist last week, including the season's first four-goal game, shares fifth place with Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks. Both players have 12 points, but Martin is the goal-scoring leader with nine.

No team can succeed on offensive power alone and it is no surprise that three undefeated teams, Montreal Canadiens, Buffalo and Detroit, have the leading goaltenders so far. All three clubs have permitted the opposition an average of fewer than two goals per game. The Canadiens have 11 points on four wins and three ties.

Ken Dryden has combined with rookie Michel Plasse to lead the league in goaltending. After seven games, the two Montreal netminders have a 1.57 goals-against average and Dryden has two shutouts in six starts.

Buffalo veteran Roger Crozier, who has played in all seven of his club's games, has a 1.71 mark, slightly better than the Detroit pair, Roy Edwards and Denis DeJordy. The Boston goalies have a 1.83 average.

$500,000 Program For Junior Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — A joint meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and Hockey Canada here during the weekend endorsed a major hockey development program costing upwards of $500,000.

Gordon Juckes, CAHA secretary-manager, said Monday night in a telephone interview from Ottawa the plan envisages a variety of training and development aides and materials that will reach "several hundred thousand boys playing hockey in Canada."

Juckes said the initiative for the weekend meeting came from the minor council of the CAHA at its annual meeting and the joint committee of both the CAHA and Hockey Canada agreed at the meeting here on the preparation of the program.

Hockey Canada, he said, would raise the money and provide materials such as films and books and undertake a research program designed by a joint technical committee.

The CAHA, for its part, would get the material to players and coaches in almost every community in the country, using coaching seminars, team and individual teaching methods.

There, Juckes observed, would be arranged through the CAHA's massive base of volunteers.

In effect," he contilued, "we are trying to upgrade the training methods of coaches and players based on their individual skills."

Among those attending were T. B. McCormick of Thunder Bay, Ont., chairman of the CAHA's minor council, and Charles Hay of Hockey Canada.

Other members of the minor council development committee attending the meeting were Ken Cunningham, Vancouver; Bill Ruddick, Toronto, representing the Ontario Minor Hockey Association; George Pashin, Winnipeg; Charlie Hayward, Montreal and L. E. Doucett of Moncton, N.B.

Following the mee ing, CAHA members of the development committee met with representatives of Hockey Canada to review the recent Russia-Canada hockey series.

"We just discussed the series and agreed to meet Nov. 11 and 12 to make a study in the sphere of Canada's participation in international competition," said Juckes.

"Team Canada was represented by Alan Eagleson, executive-director of the NHL Players' Association, Al Scott, Douglas Fisher and Hay.

Celtics Succeed

BOSTON (AP) — Jo Jo White, John Havlicek, Dave Cowens and Boston Celtics' fast break caught up with the undermanned Philadelphia 76ers in the third quarter Monday, and Boston ran its season opening win streak to seven games with a 105-85 victory.

Trailing 61-62 in the seven National Basketball Association game, White hit from the top of the key, then Havlicek and Cowens followed with baskets from outside to give the Celtics a five-point lead they carried into the fourth quarter.

Philadelphia has yet to win in six games.

Cowens led the Celtics with 21 points. Havlicek had 20 and White had 18.

John Block scored 2; points for the 76ers and Fred Carter had 17 in the only NBA game Monday night.

Series Celebration

Oakland A's manager Dick Williams runs in joy as A's Sal Bando, Rollie Fingers and catcher Dave Duncan Sunday after they won the World Series, defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2. At top right is coach Alex Grammas of the Reds. Yesterday it was the city of Oakland's turn to celebrate as they greeted the world champs.

Athletics Return in Style

OAKLAND (AP) — Baseball's world champion Oakland Athletics paraded before thousands of wildly cheering fans Monday to be honored as winners of the 1972 World Series.

The Athletics paraded 15 blocks to city hall in antique autos that matched the mustaches sported by many of the players who beat Cincinnati Reds 3-2 in the Series' seventh game Sunday to bring the San Francisco Bay area its first ever major sports championship.

The crowd, which lined the sunny parade route eight-deep, was estimated by police at 250,000 persons.

Club owner Charles O. Finley rode near the head of the parade to the city hall ceremony, where he received a plaque bearing the key to the city, engraved pictures of a baseball player and Charlie O.," the Athletics' mule mascot, and the legend: "To the Swinging Owner of the A's."

A plaque for manager Dick Williams was inscribed: "To the Genius Manager of the A's."

There was something for everyone—each player got an engraved pewter plate and baiboy Ron Piraldi a 10-inch trophy.

Ticker tape and confetti floated down on to the warm parade scene from buildings along the route from Lake Merritt. The procession included about a dozen bands, drill units, high school cheerleaders and color guards from area to cities.

Changing White Sox Makes Tanner Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Tanner charmed moody Dick Allen into a happy slugger and molded the lowly Chicago White Sox into pennant contenders to be named 1972 Manager of the Year in the American League Monday.

The 43-year-old Tanner outpolled Eddie Kasko of Boston Red Sox in a vote of sports writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press. Dick Williams of the world champion Oakland Athletics finished fir st.

Tanner received 213 votes to Kasko's 140 in the poll, which was based on the regular season and voted upon prior to the opening of league playoffs.

Billy Martin of Detroit Tigers was third with 68 votes, followed by Ralph Houk of New York Yankees with 38 and Williams with 36.

Williams was named Manager of the Year for 1971 when Oakland rolled to a 101-60 record. The A's last two years in this season prior to sweeping the American League playoffs and the World Series.

Tanner, a former Milwaukee Braves' outfielder, was hired by the White Sox three weeks from the end of the 1970 season after managing Hawaii Islanders to minor league power.

Chicago was finishing off a disaster year with a 56-106 record in a year that saw the Sox draw only 592,881 fans, lowest in the majors, amid talk of shifting the franchise

Tanner immediate the showing to 79-83 in 1971 and White Sox attendance rose to 833,901. Then, in 1972, Chicago challenged Oakland in the West Division most of the season with an 87-67 record and finished 5½ games behind Oakland while attendance jumped to 1,186,028.

Tanner's handling of Allen, the powerhouse h itter with a turbulent history in Philadelphia and Los Angeles, was noted often during the summer of '72.

He assumed the fatherly role with Allen and allowed the man once known as Richie to have his way as long as the bat was producing.

Allen responded by hitting .308 and leading the American League in homers with 37 and runs ba ted in with 113.

In addition to the top five managers, also receiving votes were Ken Aspromonte of Cleveland Indians with three, Ted Williams of Texas Rangers with two and Bob Lemon of Kansas City Royals with one. Lemon was fired by the Williams quit after the season Royals.

Chicago Tumbles Hapless Vikings

CHICAGO (AP) — "I don't care who says how lucky we were or how close it was," said Jim Gibron Monday night after his rejuvenated Chicago Bears edged Minnesota Vikings 13-10. "We won and that's all that counts."

The Bears didn't clinch their second straight National Football League victor until a Minnesota touchdown pass from Fran Tarkenton to John Beasley had been called back because of an ineligible receiver downfield and Fred Cox missed a 21-yard field goal attempt with seven seconds remaining.

Minnesota coach Bud Grant, angry but calm, said: "It's too bad the big play had to be made by the officials. There wasn't a flag for some time after the play had been consummated.

"Ask the officials," s a id Grant when asked who the ineligible receiver was. It was guard Ed White who apparently strayed too far while Tarkenton was scrambling before he spotted Beasley.

"We already had our extra point team on the field," said Tarkenton. Then as an afterthought he added:

"But I'm sure the offic's, in their judgment, were right. Beasley was the primary receiver. He decided to shake off his man and run a down and went down the middle. It's very unfortunate for everybody that it was the key we lost."

The loss dropped the Vikings, pre-season favorites, into last place in the Central Division of the National Football Conference while the Bears climbed within 1½ games of Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions who are tied for the division lead.

The Vikings had the ball for only nine plays in the first half, but one of them was a 44-yard touchdown pass from Tarkenton to John Gilliam on a third down situation in Minnesota's first series of play.

Chicago then dominated the first half, running off 41 plays while taking a 10-7 lead on a 21-yard field goal by Mac Percival and a four-yard touchdown pass from Bobby Douglass to Jim Harrison, who carried the ball 11 times and gained 108 yards rushing.

Dick Butkus launched the touchdown drive by recovering an Oscar Reed fumble and then called a fake field goal and a fake punt which helped the Bears immensely.

The fake field goal call came on the touchdown drive with the holder Douglass rolling out for six yards and a first down. The fake punt came in the third quarter when Bobby Joe Green passed to Cecil Turner for 23 yards and a first down. Two plays later, Cyril Pinder fumbled the ball to Minnesota. After the Vikings moved to the Chicago 40, Butkus intercepted a Tarkenton pass which eventually resulted in a 30-yard field goal by Percival to break the 10-10 into a Bear win.

The Vikings have a great rush on the punt and field goal attempts," said Butkus. "I studied their moves all week.

"When I saw them line up in the field goal, I called the fake. It was an audible and it threw Douglass' job to roll out and get the first down.

Cox was not available for comment on his missed field goal but Bear defensive back Ron Smith had it figured out.

"It was a great defensive stand by 11 men," said. Smith about the Bear effort to stop the Vikings in the closing seconds.

"... Cox tightened up and I'm glad he did. He hooked the ball. He also hooked the ball if the field goal he made and he would have missed that one if he had been a few yards farther out."

Cox connected on a 21-yarder with 1:38 left in the third quarter to tie the score at 10-10 and set the stage for the pulsating fourth quarter.

THE MERCURY CHALLENGE: Cold-Start Test.

Merc starts instantly 13 out of 14 days.
For 14 winter days, we cold-tested our Mercury Hurricane for instant starting. We put it in the bitter Wisconsin cold... in temperatures down to 21 below ... and we waited to start each morning. We wanted to see just how dependable that Mercury starting system really was.
Thirteen of those 14 days, our Hurricane fired on the first pull. We tested other stocks too, but none of them could match Merc. In fact, none of them even came close.
Mercury believes dependable starting is important. That's why we give you hot Thunderbolt ignition on both Hurricanes for fast, sure starts—even in the most severe cold. Compare us at the 73 Mercs... Hurricane Mark II... Hurricane Mark I... 440 MAX... for total toughness and total performance.

Buchanan Past 1,000 Mark

TORONTO (CP) — Dave Buchanan has joined the 1,000-yards-a-year rushing club in the Canadian Football League, but the Hamilton Tiger-Cats runner back would just as soon give somebody else the credit.

League statistics compiled after weekend games show Buchanan still leading the Eastern Conference rushers with 1,129 yards on 245 carries in 13 games, a Tiger-Cat record.

But after Buchanan had padded his record with 161 yards against Winnipeg Blue Bombers on Sunday's 16-3 Ticat victory at Hamilton, he had some words of caution for men like himself whose names appear often at the top of the statistical tables.

"Don't get too impressed if you start piling up a lot of yards and getting write-ups in the paper and having folk talk about being an all-star, because without guys like that you're nothing—nothing at all." Buchanan said with a nod toward offensive guard Jon Hobman.

"Every man on the field has a part in every play. The pass receivers run their patterns. Some backs are decoys and others are blockers.

"The line opens up a hole. The quarterback hands off. You run.

"Now there's not one individual more important than another. If the play works, it's because every guy has done his job properly. Some fellows may get the headlines, but any football player knows the real story."

But a number of Buchanan's team-mates have written their own tributes to the statistical tables.

Quarterback Chuck Ealey leads the EFC passers with 2,230 yards gained on 132 passes completed, end Tony Gabriel leads the conference receivers with 46 catches for 644 yards, Dave Harbe and Leroy Peters are the leading kickoff return men, Al Brenner and John Williams lead the interception return department, Bob Krouse leads in fumble returns and Len Sumter is the best convert kicker in the East with 41 good out of 42 attempts.

In the Western Conference, Mark Herrm of Winnipeg Blue Bombers has pushed his rushing total to 1,359 yards on 227 carries and George Reed of Saskatchewan Roughriders is about to rejoin the 1,000-yard club for the eighth time in his career. Reed is second among WFC rushers with 831 yards on 202 carries.

Jim Young of British Columbia Lions has taken over as the WFC leading pass receiver, with 58 catches for 1,220 yards. Winnipeg's Jim Thorpe has 57 catches for 1,051 yards and Calgary Stampeder Gerry Shaw also has pulled in 57 for 884 yards.

Dave Cutler of Edmonton Eskimos, with his record six field goals Sunday against Saskatchewan, leads the Western Conference with 105 points on 31 converts, 24 field goals and 13 singles.

Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders retains the-EFC scoring lead with 114 points on a touchdown, 26 converts, 25 field goals and seven singles.

BUCS WAIVE PAGAN

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates asked waivers on veterans Bill Mazeroski and Jose Pagan Monday. It was a formality in the case of the 36-year-old Mazeroski, who already has announced his retirement and is slated to take over as Pirate third base coach next season. A team spokesman said Pagan, 37-year-old utility man would be offered a managing job in the Pirate farm system if he is not claimed.

Schmidt May Leave Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Herald Traveler and Record American says Milt Schmidt, executive director of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins, will take a job with another professional hockey team when his current contract expires at the end of this season.

The newspaper also says there are "increasing reports" that the Bruins, now owned by Boston Garden Corp., are for sale to a Canadian syndicate owned by lawyer Alan Eagleson.

Neither Schmidt nor the Bruins' management would confirm either report, the papers says.

"I'm still under contract with the Bruins and for any team to be talking with me now would be tampering," Schmidt was quoted as saying.

"I have a contract with the Bruins and I intend to honor it," he said. "They have been good to me."

The report that Schmidt would leave the Bruins was also printed by the Toronto Star.

Schmidt, 57, has been with the Bruins since 1937, many of those years as a player. He was subsequently elected to hockey's Hall of Fame.

Schmidt served as the Bruins general manager until a month ago when he was named executive director and Harry Sinden, who coached the Bruins to the 5 adley Cup in 1970, was named managing director.

Schmidt made no attempt to hide his displeasure at reading of Sinden's pending appointment in the newspapers and was quoted by the Boston paper as saying of his new job: "I'm just a glorified errand."

Sinden was hired on a five-year contract; Schmidt is completing the last year of his current contract.

In Toronto, Eagleson suggested "some people are trying to make a jigsaw puzzle out of isolated facts."

The NHP Players' Association executive director said he has always thought one of his clients, Bruins defenceman Bobby Orr, should have a piece of the Boston action, "just his relationship to the possible structural change in the Boston organization was "all speculation."

"Everyone knows Harry Sinden and I are close friends and some people are trying to put things together. That's all I can tell you."

In addition to being legal adviser to Orr and numerous other NHL players, Eagleson is also associated with Orr in other projects, including Bobby Orr Enterprises and Team Canada Productions.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

TUESDAY, Oct. 24

Aries (March 21-April 19): Ideas flow well—commercial and practical problems find sudden answers. Your creative talent seems directed toward mischief. Beware of a practical joke.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Let well enough alone on financial arrangements. An early start prevents much confusion. Recognize an unusual story as such.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Critical comment is normal for the day. Personal plans advance very little—in short be a very important stepper.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Imagination works overtime; seek constructive channels for its expression. It's a great day to change habits, abandon outworn attitudes.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Despite mixed signals and some duplication of effort, the way ahead clears up for you.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): From far away and long ago comes help and inspiration for today's success.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Guard against misplacing small objects you will need tomorrow. Later hours drift into inconclusive discussions.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): Comments are critical and perceptive particularly among those who care how you thrive. A friend who draws you out in conversation is the most helpful.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be if your mate and friends are doing as well as you are. Diplomacy seems nearly impossible.

Capricorn (Dec. 22—Jan. 19): There's a rush to conclude deals. It's best to wait, get another opinion. Evening events will show you what you save.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Nobody is apt to agree with your schemes. Prepare to do the unexpected as you learn from dissent.

Pisces (Feb. 19 — March 20): Home life and its passing crises encroach on business affairs. Be generous, you get it all back.

To Your Good Health

Grannie's Death Disturbs Child

By G.C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What could cause a child of nine to pull hair out of her head in bunches until she is completely bald? This started after a death in the family (grandmother).

Could this be handled by punishing the girl, which is happening, or should she be taken other way? What could be the reason? — L.F.

This is an emotional reaction and it would appear that the death of the grandmother was the shock that started it.

It may not be loss of the grandmother that is the sole motive. The child may really fear that the loss of someone closer—a parent—may be coming next.

So, of course, punishment is not the way to help her stop the hair-pulling habit. It only makes the little girl's problems that much more difficult for her.

Some hyperactive youngsters also resort to this hair-pulling. Can it be that this child is, to some degree, hyperactive? It at least means she needing even more help.

If the parents of the girl will talk to their family doctor, maybe with some co-operation they can find out what is motivating her. It's worth a try. If it doesn't help, a child psychiatrist ought to be consulted.

She isn't pulling her hair out because of wickedness or meanness. She does it because something is bothering and worrying her.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what "Gram-negative" is. What does it come from? How is it treated? Does it cause any permanent incapacities? Is it a diet deficiency? — J.S.S.

Been peeking at a lab report, haven't you?

Gram-negative is a technical term meaning that certain bacteria and white blood cells do not retain a stain used when examining them under the microscope. It a technique called Gram's method of staining."

It can give the doctor some guidance as to what types of organism he is dealing with, but whether or not the Gram positive or Gram negative has nothing to do with diet.

Opening lead—jack of spades.

A declarer can sometimes wreak havoc on the enemy by running a long suit. There is first of all a chance that the defenders, not seeing declarer's hand, may discard incorrectly as the suit is led.

Second, there is also a possibility that the defenders will find themselves unable to capitalize on their assets as they are progressively forced to part with key cards while declarer relentlessly continues to play his long suit.

Here is a typical case. Superficially it would seem that South must go down one, losing two diamond tricks at some stage of the play, but if declarer reads the situation correctly — as he should — the contract comes marching home.

He wins the jack of spades with the king and plays five rounds of trumps, discarding two diamonds from dummy. East follows to the first three rounds of trumps and discards a diamond on the fourth round, but then finds himself in a difficult situation when the fifth trump is led.

If he parts with a spade or a club, declarer can easily establish his twelfth trick by ruffing the third round in whichever black suit East discards from. So let's assume that East parts with his last diamond on the fifth trump lead.

South thereupon plays a spade and, if West follows low, inserts the eight to effectively put an end to the proceedings. Dummy's nine of spades later becomes trick number twelve.

If West plays the ten instead of the deuce on South's spade lead, the outcome is exactly the same. Declarer wins with the king and leads the nine of spades through East's queen to acquire the same crucial twelfth trick.

Tomorrow: Rule of Eleven.

Frankford

FRANKFORD—The Frankford Public School will be moving into their new part of the building during the last week of December, if all goes well. Industrial arts and home economic programs will then begin for year 7 and year 8 in January.

The Frankford Public School girls' soccer team and boys' soccer team both won area championships Thursday.

Michael Rouse has returned home from Trenton Memorial Hospital.

The Frankford Anglican Church Women are holding a Halloween Tea and Bake Sale this Wednesday from 7-9 pm. in the Parish Hall.

Among the attractions they are working on are: candy, bake table, sewing and a novelty tree for children, as well as a tea table.

The youth have been selling chocolate bars to help contribute towards the ACW funds for future projects.

The Senior Citizens met at the Lion's Centre on Wednesday afternoon for their weekly game of cards. Winners were Mrs. Mabel Free, Frankford and George Slindall, Frankford.

The door prize was won by Lillian Plumpton Frankford.

IT ISN'T TRUE

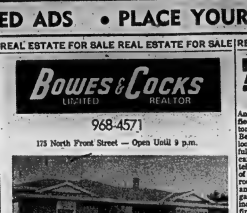
That only higher income families can afford to buy their own home. If you are in the $5,000 to $7,000, income bracket you can have your own two, three or four bedroom condominium unit. Monthly payments as low as $110.00 which includes interest, principal and taxes.

Let us show you our furnished models.

BEAT THE RISE IN INTEREST RATES

See our many homes financed with mortgage bearing 8¼% interest. With a forecast of increases to 10%, the purchase of one of our units could save your nearly $20.00 monthly on payments. We have new houses in the West side in a beautiful sub-division. Even the roads are already paved. Possession by 15th of December. East side houses available in November.

TWO NEW SUB-DIVISIONS



Now is the time to select your lot for spring construction in one of our new areas. One is in the West and the other in the East. Each has a couple of lots with large frontages. Act fast if you are serious about a bigger lot.

Questions And Answers

By The Ontario Motor League

QUESTION: I am going to be driving to Pittsburgh and from there to West Chester, near Philadelphia, and have been advised to take the Pennsylvania Turnpike. I have never driven any of these turnpikes and would like to know if it will require any special type of driving; also what is the amount of the toll for this distance?

ANSWER: Driving on the turnpike is not unlike driving on the Queen Elizabeth Way or Freeway (Hwy. 401). However the speeds involved on the turnpikes and would like to know if it will require any special type of driving; also what is the amount of the toll for this distance?

Turnpike driving requires different driving habits. You must be ever alert at high speeds. Many major driving decisions must be made.

Steady driving can be encouraged only if the driver permits this to happen. Drive with the traffic flow. Do not let your car drive you. Move your eyes and atten-tion. Keep your head on the one area. Drive defensively.

Make sure your vehicle has good tires, lights and brakes. When pulling a trailer be sure that your vehicle and trailer have adequate brakes, tires and buses. For your safety, speed limits are established. Obey the rules, con-ditions warrant, the change. Remember that Ontario Provincial troopers assigned to the turn-pike are professional drivers and know what to be said as noted is the posted speed.

Bulletin boards located at each of the interchanges pro-vide the current weather and road conditions, so that mo-torists may know what to ex-pect when traveling on the system.

To assist you in locating each of the turnpike's 28 in-terchanges, "Trailblazers" are placed along the route at high-ways. These signs are fabri-cated in the design of a ser-vice plaza and are green and white. Beneca "Trailblazers" within five miles of interchan-ges, you will note mileage to the turnpike's entrance.

Every 25 miles on the turn-pike you will find emergency service buildings. These vehicles are connected to the Ontario Provincial system and are dispatched if you require assistance.

There is need of service pull off the main roadway and park within the shoulder with white cloth on the door or ra-dio antenna facing traffic. Raise your car's hood and stay with your vehicle. Do not walk on the turnpike. At night leave your car lights on when in need of assistance.

State police or turnpike pa-trols will observe your plight and call for assistance.

The toll from Pillsburgh (Interchange 6) to West Ches-ter (Exit 23) is $4.85.

Indians Make Stand

RIO DE JANEIRO Reuter) — Brazil's Indians are making their last stand in the Amazon jungle as tough pioneers move in on the heels of federal road gangs.

The primitive bows and arrows, clubs and spears of primitive tribes like the Wasi-Wasis, the Surrus and the Kreo-Akore are no match for the encroaching white men's rifles and sub-machine-guns.

At stake in the uneven contest are lucrative mineral and land riches which the Amazon basin now is grudgingly releasing as a 3,300-mile trans-Amazon Highway is carved through the jungle.

For the Indians the minerals are useless, but for the white man they spell wealth.

Mining and land companies follow in the tracks of the bulldozers, and behind them come unscrupulous fortune hunters and landless pioneers squatting on the best land and regarding the Indian as an enemy, a savage and a beast.

Although professional anthropologists preceded the bulldozers to try to pacify the tribes, many Indians have lost their faith in the white man's word and are gathering for a last showdown which could end in a suit in their extinction.

A war party of 100 Wasi-Wasi warriors, armed with peaceful, their skins painted in red tribal designs, recently raided the jungle early in October in Western Rondonia Territory and stated camp at a former trapper's family.

Scared by the rude warriors, the tapper's wife reached for a rifle. In a hail of arrows her husband was killed, 11 months and two years, died. Her 12-year-old daughter escaped the massacre by paddling a canoe across a river. The woman was seriously injured with an arrow through her eye.

The raid prompted other settlers to call for a vengeance expedition whose aim would be to kill every Indian we can find."

McGovern Urges Repudiation Of Sabotage by Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator George McGovern said today the American people should repudiate campaign sabotage by Republicans by voting President Nixon out of office. Nixon, meanwhile, said his top priority is to hold down prices and taxes.

Both Nixon and Vice-President Spiro Agnew were interrupted by protesters in campaigning Monday. Nixon waited for police to calm things down in a New York Cleveland suburb, while Agnew quieted a loose heckler in Twin Falls, Idaho, with a blast from a whistle.

Agnew's plane was struck by lightning near Salt Lake City but there was no damage.

With only two weeks remaining until the presidential election on Nov. 7, McGovern was back in Washington after a day of campaigning in the New York City area.

He said an attempt by the Nixon campaign to place questions for a television interviewer to ask him on Sunday was "not the only example of episodes in a Republican campaign insulting the very fiber by its audacity than its honesty."

"The only way the American people can change the kind of conduct is to reject the men who engage in it," McGovern said.

McGovern also said that as president he would halt special trade arrangements with the Soviet Union "until they agreed to stop this persecution of the Soviet Jews."

Meanwhile, a presidential spokesman declined comment on a report by CBS television that the Watergate grand jury opened the investigation into the break-in and alleged bugging at the Democratic party headquarters in Washington June 17.

CBS said the inquiry was resumed after President Nixon was cautioned by acting FBI Director Patrick Gray that the agency had validated reports serious direct links to the White House than the president might know about."

Nixon drew the biggest crowds of his 1972 reelection campaign during a 50-mile motorcade Monday. Police estimated that 425,000 persons lined the streets of a dozen normally Republican communities in New York's Westchester County.

The president said in a statement he will veto some spending bills in the next week. "I am going to use every weapon at my command to hold spending . . . as close as possible to $250 billion as I can. We will not have a new wave of crippling inflation and then have to raise taxes for higher taxes," he said.

Police used clubs to subdue several dozen unruly demonstrators who interrupted the president during a rally at the Nassau County Coliseum in Uniondale, N.Y.

Resuming his speech, Nixon made no direct reference to his vocal opponents but said of the policemen: "Give them the backing and respect they deserve." The crowd roared.

A lone heckler interrupted Agnew at the College of Southern Idaho as he criticized McGovern's proposals to cut defense spending. When the heckler applauded his approval of McGovern at one point, Agnew whipped out a steel whistle, blew on it, and shouted "Wrong!" His action was cheered by the audience.

McGovern Monday night repeated his call for post-war amnesty for draft dodgers and contended that his position on that issue is not much different from Nixon's.

Nixon has repeatedly raised the issue and has said amnesty for draft evaders and deserters is "the most immoral thing I can think of . . ."

Answering telephoned questions during a television appearance, McGovern said he considers the differences in his and Nixon's positions "not all as great as has been made out."

"He (Nixon) has said that once the war is over and our prisoners of war are returned that he would consider amnesty for those young men who stood up against the war on grounds of conscience," McGovern said. "That's almost exactly a verbatim statement of my position."

But McGovern based that on a statement Nixon made nearly four years ago. The president has denounced amnesty proposals twice in the last eight days.

McGovern said in his telecast that he never had, advocated or sought while the war continued, and does not favor a general amnesty for military deserters.

But for men who fled the country to avoid the draft, or went to jail for defying it, McGovern said, "I would follow a precedent that has been set by other presidents after previous wars and grant an amnesty but only after the prisoners and the troops are home."

He said that is in order in part because men facing the draft "did not have the option of selective conscientious objection which would have permitted them to avoid service in Vietnam without proving moral or religious objection to all war.

Irving Newspapers Got Into Tugboat Business

FREDERICTON (CP) — Prosecutor William Hoyt wound up his questioning of publisher Ralph Costello at the Irving monopoly trial Monday after seeking an explanation of how Irving newspapers in New Brunswick got into the towboat business.

Mr. Costello, president of New Brunswick Publishing Co. Ltd. in Saint John, said that company and the Moncton Publishing Co. Ltd., of which he was chairman, "invested" $800,055 in two tugs built by the Irving-controlled St. John Shipbuilding and Drydock Co.

The tugs, Irving Beech and Irving Birch, were subsequently chartered to Atlantic Towing Co., another Irving enterprise, earning two paid publishing companies $44,175 in charter fees up to 1968.

The investment was made on the suggestion of industrialist K. C. Irving, Mr. Costello said. The objective was "to strengthen the financial position of the publishing companies and to support a federal incentives program for Canadian shipbuilding."

Mr. Hoyt finished his examination of the publisher of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and Times-Globe after about three days of questioning. Mr. Costello was still to undergo a cross-examination by Harold Gillis, defence lawyer for the four Irving companies charged with violation of combines law.

Monday's questions centered largely on how big a part Mr. Costello played in management of the Moncton Times and Transcript and of The Gleaner, published by the Irving-controlled University Press of New Brunswick Ltd. in Fredericton.

The prosecutor also sought to establish that K. C. Irving sometimes took a hand in the paper policy matters.

Mr. Costello denied this and identified personal notes seized in his home by combines officers, one of which said: "He has exercised no personal direction of the newspapers."

But the hand-written notes, as read in the New Brunswick Supreme Court, also said: "He wished he could use papers for own interests. Politicians going to be more concerned with what could happen than with what has happened. People opposed to this sort of thing."

They also showed that Mr. Costello warned Mr. Irving of the difficulty of defending his newspaper purchases before the Senate committee on the mass media and of the possibility of combines charges.

Costello recommended that Mr. Irving dispose of his latest acquisition, The Gleaner, to "take the sting out" of political pressure. He wrote that the Fredericton paper was bought "in the public interest" to prevent it going to "outsiders." It would be sold in the public interest "to give New Brunswick another strong editorial voice."

No sale materialized, but it was announced last June that Irving papers in Moncton and Fredericton have come under control of Mr. Irving's son, John.

Mr. Hoyt produced correspondence from K. C. Irving aiming to show that the industrialist moved to stop publication in the Saint John papers of an advertisement about government industrial policy that had been prepared by John Park, former president of St. John Ship-building. Mr. Costello said the cancellation order came to the papers from Mr. Park himself.

The Saint John publisher, also president of University Press until last April, testified he occasionally commented on editorials in The Gleaner and the monthly Atlantic Advocate, also published at Fredericton.

He also wrote letters to some "old friends" on The Gleaner staff. But he maintained that he was not concerned with ordinary operations, at Fredericton.

His position with the Moncton papers was similar, he said. However, there was consultation with the Moncton management on such things as raising subscription rates, policy toward television stations CHSJ-television and the Moncton French-language drily.

Mr. Hoyt questioned Mr. Costello about his duties as president of New Brunswick Broadcasting Company Ltd., which with Moncton Publishing Company, was owned by New Brunswick Publishing Company. He also asked about a link between New Brunswick Broadcasting and the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Mail Star. Mr. Costello said he negotiated with federal communications department on a proposal to transmit television signals from Saint John to Moncton over an Irving built micro-wave system. The application was rejected in favor of a telephone-company system.

Mr. Costello's predecessor as president of New Brunswick broadcasting had been Laurence Daley, a Halifax lawyer and director of the Halifax Herald Ltd., the court was told.

Mr. Daley had left the broadcasting company after Mr. Costello became president, Mr. Costello said he understands Mr. Daley has severed his connection with the Halifax papers "in the last six months or so."

Property Tax Alone For Schools Assailed

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The Frontenac County board of education, in a brief to a provincially-appointed committee on the costs of education, said Monday the use of property taxes as the sole source of local financing for education is inadequate and inequitable.

The brief to the committee, holding a one-day hearing here, said property taxes placed a heavy burden on retired persons on fixed incomes.

The board suggested that an income tax, "whereby the people who are making the money pay," might be used as a supplementary source to meet education costs.

The committee, appointed in 1971, is holding a series of meetings in the province to review education costs in relation to aims and priorities in the education system.

Bets Seized

TORONTO (CP) — Thousands of dollars in betting slips on the final World Series baseball game, National Hockey League games, National Football League games and horse races have been seized by three area police forces. Police said Monday that the slips were seized and eight Toronto-area persons arrested on various betting charges Sunday in simultaneous raids by Metropolitan Toronto, Mississauga and York Regional police.

Rimstead Runs

TORONTO CP) — Paul Rimstead, 37, newspaper columnist with The Sun, announced Monday he will run for mayor of Toronto in the December municipal elections. However, Mr. Rimstead, who said he didn't think he will win, said he would withdraw if his campaign appeared farcical or might harm other candidates' chances. Mr. Rimstead, known for his light-hearted approach to problems, added: "I don't want to be a politician. Frankly, I don't even like politicians."

Union Switch Is Called Victory for Canadians

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — R. Kent Rowley, secretary-treasurer of the Council of Canadian Unions, said Monday that rejection of the United Steelworkers of America by Aluminum Co. of Canada em-

Allied Workers, affiliated with the Council of Canadian Unions.

The workers of Canada are fed up with interference and domination from the United States," Mr. Rowley said in a statement. "Millions of dollars of Canadian workers' dues are sent uselessly across the border each year.

"Inefficiency and corruption are sent back in return, along with a denial of the national independent rights of Canadian workers."

Excise Blamed

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — A spokesman for General Motors of Canada Ltd. Monday blamed Canada's excise and sales taxes and the higher cost of doing business in Canada for the higher costs of automobiles in Canada than in the United States.

The spokesman said Canada has an 11-to 13-per-cent excise tax that does not exist in the United States and a five-per-cent sales tax on automobiles.

He was commenting on a statement by David Lewis, federal New Democratic Party leader, who said it was grossly unfair that Canadians must pay higher prices than U.S. residents for the same model cars.

The GM official said the higher cost of doing business in Canada also contributes to the higher price. He cited longer transportation routes, higher warranty costs because of weather and the fact that all written material must be printed in two languages.

The official said there has been a marked reduction in the auto price differential between Canada and U.S. since the auto pact went into effect seven years ago.

Man Killed

STOUFFVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Earlene Totten, 42, of Stouffville, was killed and four persons injured Monday when a car and a tractor-trailer collided near here, and the truck then hit two other cars.

None of the injured was seriously hurt in the accident, which occurred in rain and thick fog.

Friends Made On Hockey Visit to Leave

TORONTO (CP) — Three young Jews whom Toronto Jews met in Moscow during last month's Canada-Soviet hockey series will be allowed to leave the Soviet Union for Israel, a Toronto Jew says.

Wayne Tanenbaum, a member of the Toronto group which attended the series, said in an interview word that the three were going to be allowed to emigrate was received Monday night by telephone from Moscow.

He said the three are Victor Elkind, Roman Rudman and Mikhail Klatchkin, all in their late 20s. They are known to the Jewish families given permission Monday to emigrate without paying the controversial diplomat tax.

Pilots Meet

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — The Corporation of Professional Great Lakes Pilots has scheduled a general meeting here Friday that might tie up foreign shipping for at least 15 hours, an official of the corporation said Monday.

Captain D. C. Patterson said the meeting will discuss current negotiations between the corporation, representing 56 Canadian pilots, and the Great Lakes Pilotage Authority.

Pennies Fatal

MONTREAL (CP) — Baby, La Ronde aquarium's $5,000 star porpoise, has died after swallowing three pennies tossed into his pool.

The seven-year-old 250-pound performer became ill last week, and in his final days lost 100 pounds.

Plan Houses

SASKATOON (CP) — An experimental financing program for 100 houses to be constructed in Saskatchewan was announced Monday by Justice Minister Otto Lang.

Bell Called Voracious

MONTREAL (CP) — Raymond Laliberte, leader of the Quebec wing of the federal New Democratic Party, told a news conference Monday that Bell Canada and its subsidiaries should be nationalized by the federal government.

He said the Bell group of companies is one of the most "voracious" when it comes to obtaining grants and tax concessions from government.

Facts Needed

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hospital Association passed a resolution Monday urging the provincial government to inform immigrants and visitors of the need for health insurance coverage in Ontario.

Sydney Anderson, assistant executive director of Ottawa Civic Hospital, said the problem was not serious, but cautioned that hospitals, by law, are required to accept people needing treatment.

Libbers Lambast Nixon

NEW YORK AP) — Lawyer Florynce Kennedy and feminist Ti-Grace Atkinson were arrested Monday when they refused to move while demonstrating in front of President Nixon's campaign headquarters.

About 50 women's rights activists, protesting the president's position on child care and abortion, appeared in costumes in front of the Madison Avenue offices and threw candy kisses to spectators, shouting, "Kiss off Nixon."

Miss Kennedy, Miss Atkinson and four other demonstrators were charged with disorderly conduct.

The women were dressed in shrouds and carried posters reading "Kiss abortion repeal goodbye with Nixon," and "Nixon kisses Kissinger and bombs children."

Miss Atkinson said she opposed the president because he "is committed to the structure of oppression, and since these structures are built upon the backs of women, Nixon can never be for women."

PM Couldn't Make Debate

TORONTO CP) — The Globe and Mail says that CBC proposals for a bilingual television debate involving the leaders of Canada's four major political parties have run aground because Prime Minister Trudeau's campaign schedule was filled up to election day, Oct. 30.

Dean's Wife Drops in to Office To Breast-feed 10-week-old Son

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Hendrik Gideonse, a dean at the University of Cincinnati, takes his 10-week-old son to work with him and his wife drops in the office regularly to breast-feed the baby.

"I just looked at my schedule and saw I'd be out three or four or five nights a week and said, 'Nuts. I'm not going to see my son only while he's sleeping in a dark crib,' " said the 36-year-old Gideonse, a dean of the College of Education.

Gideonse, a former researcher for the U.S. department of health, education and welfare, said his wife Sarah stops in on schedule the two days a week he takes the infant to the office to feed the baby.

Gideonse said a dominant theme in his studies has been the need to "humanize work so that it does not require such a complete separation from the values, needs and activities which fulfil people emotionally and aesthetically."

Complaints have been minimal, and college president Warren Dennis said his only concern is that Gideonse "give the taxpayers their money's worth."

Gideonse insists that he actually gets more work accomplished when the baby is with him.

That is "probably because I don't want to run the risk of anyone raising just the kind of complaint that was phoned in," he said concerning one charge by a university employee's mother that he was neglecting important things that should be done.

Gideonse's wife said that she is delighted with free time for errands and volunteer work.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch
Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.
A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the inflamed, inflamed tissues.
One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.
This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.
In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.
Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Hemorrhoidal Ointment or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Oil Could Be Moved By Rail

SASKATOON (CP) — The possibility of transporting oil from the Arctic by rail should not be discounted, J. H. Morrish, CP Rail's general manager of market development, said Monday.

While many proposals have been made to ship Arctic crude oil and gas by giant aircraft, "more down-to-earth suggestions, of course, utilize railways, ship and pipelines."

Mr. Morrish, addressing the annual Western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, said a Queen's University study showed that trains of crude oil could be a viable alternative to pipelines and could cause less ecological damage.

Delay Zoning

TORONTO (CP) — A city council committee voted Monday to delay further rezoning for high-rise apartments in the mid-city Yonge Street and St. Clair Avenue area and asked for a traffic-control study of side streets in the area.

The vote supports a campaign by citizens in the 80-block area in which 30,000 persons live.

City Seeks to Clarify Provincial Road Policy

A delegation of Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott and City Engineer Wilbur Purcell will seek an audience with Hon. Gordon Carton, Minister of Transportation and Communications, with respect to possible improvements to West side arterial roadways.

Council has been informed by the minister that with the construction of the proposed Pinnacle Street extension and construction of the new bridge Pinnacle Street will become the link for Highways 14 and 37 through the downtown area of the city.

At the same time, Moira and Coleman Streets would lose their present Highway 14 designation and instead be classed as arterial roads eligible for only 50 percent provincial subsidy.

The decision of council to seek an audience with Mr. Carton was prompted by a report from City Manager J. R. Reynolds regarding the delay in the preparation of plans for the proposed Pinnacle St. extension.

Consulting engineers have done little or no work on the project since the provincial government some months ago decided, as an economy measure, to hold a firm line on highway subsidy payments to the municipalities.

Mr. Reynolds in his report said he did not want city administration officials faulted for the delay in the Pinnacle Street extension project.

He felt that council should either request the Minister to proceed with the Order in Council to allow engineers to get on with plans, or else refer the proposed project to next year's council for consideration.

Mayor Scott said questions of priority for the Pinnacle Street extension should first be answered, as had been asked by Mr. Carton.

First priority, he said, must be the Dundas Street West widening project which is currently under way, while the Dundas Street East project, because of the near completion of plans, must be second priority. The proposed Pinnacle Street extension, then necessarily would have third priority.

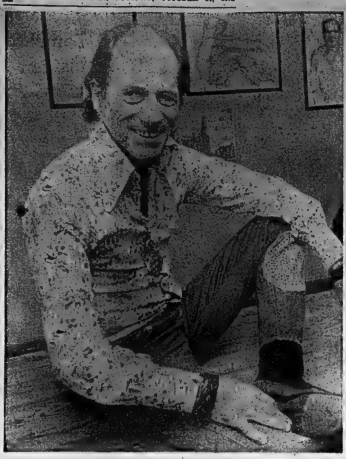
This proposed order of priority brought a question from Alderman Robin Jeffrey, who asked where this put the proposed Cannifton Road grade separation, which she claimed was of equal importance.

Mayor Scott agreed that the Cannifton Road project was important, but said before this could be commenced, another river crossing was necessary. He reminded council also that the Cannifton Road project had already been referred to the 1973 council.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell agreed that the freeway suggested by Mayor Scott was logical as it would provide at least one rebuilt artery through the city.

Alderman Arnold Orr suggested that with the Pinnacle St. extension apparently still two or three years away council should possibly be now thinking of improvements to the Moira and Coleman Street routes.

Alderman Arthur Keegan recommended that the favored 3-C-modified plan for the Pinnacle Street extension be formally approved and that consultants be notified so they could get on with plans.



Mayor Scott, however, while admitting the matter was urgent, suggested that in view of the province's subsidy policy, action now wouldn't speed matters any.

Instead, he suggested that, a delegation from the city meet with the highways minister "to iron things out."

Ald. Keegan withdrew his motion, with council voting to seek a meeting with Mr. Carton.

$100 Damage For $1.50 Loot

Two youths staged an early morning break-in today at the Pioneer Gas Bar at the corner of Coleman and Moira Streets, while being watched by a motorist waiting for gas.

The observer watched as the two smashed an eight by four door and ran off with two cans of oil.

The door was valued at approximately $100. The oil was worth $1.50. City police are investigating.

Trial by Paper Charged

MONTREAL (CP) — Lawyer Antoine Geoffrion said Monday that Montreal police are attempting to try his client, Giuseppe Sepato and Figli Ltd., in the newspapers because th e y cannot prove in court that the company is linked with organized crime.

Mr. Geoffrion told a Court of Queen's Bench hearing on a contempt of court petition against a Montreal police officer, that the police are trying to convict the Sepato firm by stretching city health regulations, because other tactics have not succeeded.

The Sepato firm, which makes cheese, was charged with several health violations including not supplying employees with adequate soap and towels.

The contempt petition claims that a news release written by Constable Antoine Carocchia, at the time the charges were laid, contained assertions which "couldn't have any bearing on the truth or falsehood of the charges," against the Sepato company.

Constable Carocchia testified last August that he wrote the release which contained references to "well-known American Mafia figures."

Mr. Justice James Hugesson said he would announce his verdict on the contempt petition next Tuesday.

French-only Service Units Said Small

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Devoir says only 55 per cent of 14,000 federal civil servants in Quebec have been included in French-language units which work exclusively in French.

The newspaper says these figures are included in a study by Gilbert Langelier, part of a 2,000 page report on bilingualism in the federal government.

Establishment of 330 such units, to be tried on an experimental basis until November this year, was announced in August, 1971. These units included 24,810 civil servants.

Mr. Langelier proposed that the government gradually transform all its Quebec offices into French-language units, except for a small number which would serve the English-language minority.

Britons Protest 'Witch Hunt' Here

LONDON (CP) — A deputation from Britain's National Council for Civil Liberties has issued a renewed protest against what it terms a "Tory-grant intellectual witch hunt" by the Canadian government against a Hungarian-born professor.

Ralph Millband, political science professor at Leeds University and member of the council, told officials of the Canadian high commission Monday that the entire British academic community is appalled by the case of Dr. Istevan Mezsaros.

Mezsaros, a British citizen who left Hungary during the 1956 revolution, had been refused an immigration visa by the Canadian government. He applied for the visa in order to take up a teaching position at York University in Toronto.

The Canadian immigration department recently has been hearing a government case calling for Mezsaros's deportation on security grounds.

Mezsaros, now in Canada, is an acknowledged supporter of the socialist teachings of Karl Marx. But he said recently that "to suggest I am an agent of the Russians or any other foreign power will be recognized as ludicrous by anyone who knows me."

Court Refuses Deportation Stay

TORONTO (CP) — The Federal Court of Canada refused to grant an application Monday that would have halted the federal immigration department deportation hearing of Marxist scholar Dr. Istvan Mezsaros, who has been offered a teaching position at York University.

Mr. Justice W. G. Collier rejected arguments presented by lawyer Paul Copeland, representing Dr. Mezsaros, and dismissed with costs the motion, to halt the hearing, due to resume today.

Anti-socialists Urged to Protest

SANTIAGO (AP) — The political opposition to President Salvador Allende urged the Chilean people to stay home today and observe a "day of silence", to protest his socialist program.

The Democratic Confederation of Centre parties said most activities should come to a halt in the country already beset by strikes against the leftist government.

"With our silence we want he government to hear the loud violce of the malcontents," a confederation spokesman said.

Three radio stations urging participation in the protests were closed down Monday night for disobeying a military order to broadcast only material approved by the government.

The three, which had pulled out of a government-imposed national network, are owned by opposition groups. Authorities said they could not broadcast for six days.

Other Chilean stations continued to transmit music and news sanctioned by the regime, as they've done for the last nine days.

Shortly after the stations were taken off the air, housewives all over Santiago leaned from their windows and began pounding pots, pans and skillets in protest against food shortages.

The wave of strikes by truckers, shopkeepers, students, doctors, dentists, engineer, architect and other professional people entered its 14th day today.

The strikers, grouped in a "command for union defence," are demanding a number of guarantees including "a climate of liberty, democracy and pluralism". The opposition political parties support these demands and accuse the government of totalitarian action.

The government claimed that the strike wave was abating, but said acts of terrorism have multiplied. It cited 53 recorded acts of violence in less than two weeks.

A government spokesman said there have been attacks against offices of the Communist, Socialist and Radical parties, which form Allende's Popular Unity coalition, and against drivers of commandeered trucks, industries and railway facilities.

Thieu's Tough Stance May Handcuff Nixon

Who's in Charge If Peace Comes?

SAIGON (Reuter) — Who will control how much of South Vietnam if a ceasefire is declared?

Hanoi, Saigon and Washington sharply disagree on exactly who now defends how much of South Vietnam's 65,950 square miles and population of 19 million.

Geographically the areas to be held by the Communists could add up to about a third of the countryside, some unofficial surveys say.

However, government sources are more likely to set this figure at less than one-fifth.

What the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong hold in territory they lack in population.

The virtual omnipresence of the Communist forces has led to talk of a "leopard spot ceasefire," which would describe how the military positioning of both sides would look should the whistle finally be blown on the war.

One generalization often heard is that government troops control the cities, towns and main highways while the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dominate big areas of the countryside.

Thousands of square miles belong to no one.

Get Ready for Truce Thieu Tells Nation

SAIGON (Reuter) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has told South Vietnam to prepare for a ceasefire. Although he has deep differences with the United States over the conditions for such a truce.

The president said in a two-hour television address Tuesday night that a ceasefire might come in one or two months.

The government, in a move related to a ceasefire, issued a reminder about the death penalty which faces possible collaborators with the Communists.

Stanfield's Stand

No Cordial Relations If Lands Curb Exodus

WINNIPEG (CP) — Robert Stanfield diverged slightly Tuesday from an all-out attack on failure of the Liberal government to cope with the cost of living to warn that a Conservative government would have something less than completely cordial relations with the Soviet Union.

He said at a news conference here that the government he expects to form after the Oct. 30 federal election will not have "fully cordial relations" with countries that restrict migration of their citizens.

He said in an interview later that that includes the Soviet Union.

But the rising cost of living, food costs and inflation were the main topic of the day as Mr. Stanfield addressed a news conference in Vancouver and spoke to a rally here. As first of the campaign in the city of Winnipeg.

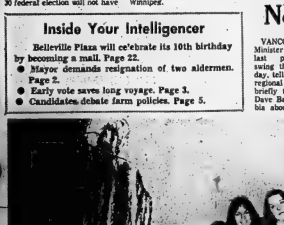
He told an audience that jammed a hotel ballroom—the Conservative head-count was 850—that it is time for Canadians to realize that the Liberal government has no policy, program or plan to halt rising prices.

"It does not even intend to take action to assist those Canadians who cannot help themselves to meet their mounting cost of living."

towards higher pensions.

Mr. Trudeau ended his busy day with a one-hour television show in Vancouver, paid for by the Liberals, during which he fielded questions which, typically, gave him an opportunity to discuss everything from "French power" in Ottawa to employment possibilities for individual callers.

If he didn't break any new ground in the way of announcements, he left ample opportunity, before enthusiastic audiences, to tell voters about the "new confident Canada" as opposed to the "troubled Canada of 1968." Flying in from a hepped-up Saskatoon shopping-plaza rally, attended by more than 4,000, the prime minister said in a packed Victoria theatre that Canadians now are thinking more about the type of Canada they want, than about getting to a duller campaign than in 1968.



To the 1,800 people in the theatre, plus some 500 who stood outside, Mr. Trudeau said that "Canadians are thinking over the kind of country they have and are making their choice on the kind of country they want."

As he had done on earlier occasions, he talked about the new "national consensus" compared with the "troubled Canada" of 1968 when, he said, a series of massive demonstrations had their credibility questioned.

Now, he said, Canadians have "really pulled it all together." Not even the opposition parties were talking about special status for certain provinces or "two nations."

"We have reached closer to that national consensus than any other time in our history."

Sterling Plunges

LONDON (AP) — The pound sterling fell to a record low today for the second straight day.

Foreign exchange dealers said trading was active and selling pressure heavy.

Dealers attributed the sharp drop in the pound to these three factors:

—A report by one of West Germany's leading economic institutes that the pound, which has been floating down since June outside fixed exchange rates, may be eventually repegged as low as $2.25.

—Persistent inflation, labor troubles and other economic problems in Britain.

—Renewed strength for the U.S. dollar from the Vietnam peace moves.

Summit Talks May Be Needed

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — A summit meeting between President Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu might be necessary before a settlement can be reached in the Vietnam war, diplomatic observers said today.

The tough line taken by Thieu in a policy speech Tuesday night require such a dramatic move to win his agreement to formulas worked out with Hanoi during the last month by U.S. presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

The White House has cautiously acknowledged that some progress was made in Kissinger's six meetings with Thieu in Saigon during the last week and before that with North Vietnamese representatives in Paris.

But that is as far as officials have gone in describing the trend of the peace talks, which have assumed greater political urgency as the Nov. 7 presidential election draws closer.

Diplomatic sources said Kissinger was expected to return to Paris for more talks with North Vietnam's negotiators and he could go back o Saigon again.

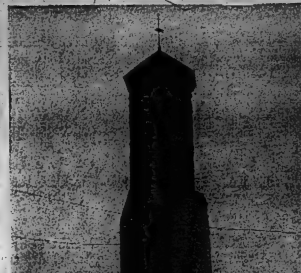
Observers said a return visit to Saigon might be necessary following the South Vietnamese leader's hardline speech in which he denounced some of the conditions believed to be contained in a formula worked out by Kissinger and the North Vietnamese.

The White House has imposed a total blackout on news and even hints about the plan. But it is believed to call for a ceasefire, an end to the U.S.bombing and blockade of North Vietnam and establishment of a three-party government, including the Viet Cong, before new elections are held in South Vietnam.

However, Thieu in a two-hour television and radio speech repeated his opposition to any tripartite government that includes Communists and insisted that North Vietnam must withdraw all its troops from the South.

Observers said if Thieu dug in his heels and restated a ceasefire or any other agreement that fell short of the terms he is demanding, the United States could not conclude a separate stand-down agreement with Hanoi.

They believe his hardline approach could kill the chances of a ceasefire before the presidential election, which would be a giant political plum for Nixon.



Nixon has pledged there will be no election campaign tricks on his part regarding Vietnam and that he will not accept the wrong kind of settlement simply to gain political advantage.

But because North Vietnam and the United States have apparently come close to agreeing on a settlement, observers do not rule out the possibility of a Washington-Saigon summit during which Nixon would try to persuade Thieu that the proposal he has in mind is the right one.

Accident Wrecks Jets On Carrier

SAIGON (AP) — The second major accident aboard a U.S. Navy ship off the coast of Vietnam in less than a month killed four Americans Tuesday night, injured 22 and wrecked nine jet fighter-bombers worth $40 million. Another sailor was reported missing, presumably overboard.

The naval accident occurred aboard the carrier Midway. The landing gear of an A-6 Intruder collapsed as it returned from a mission, and the jet ran wild, plowing into parked planes and crew members on the bow of the ship and starting a small fire.

Lonely Vigil

Like a sentry in a lonely no-man's land, the former Trenton post office tower stands in an ever-widening vacant downtown area. The old federal building was demolished several months ago and this week workmen completed demolition of two three-storey stores to the east of the tower. The Ontario Municipal Board has yet to announce its decision on the future of the old post office site on which the town wants to construct new municipal offices and an overhead parking garage.

Abortion Cheaper Than Birth

Nun Takes Issue With Cost As Health Care Determinant

TORONTO (CP) — A North Bay nun, Sister Margaret Emith of the Sisters of St. Joseph, asked Ontario health officials Tuesday not to let costs determine whether certain kinds of health care are provided.

Sister Margaret was referring to comments to the Ontario Hospital Association convention by Stanley Martin, deputy minister of health, who cited care of the unborn as an expensive service for which the level of priority must be determined.

She said it may cost $60,000 to highly-skilled care to allow a baby to be born, while abortions, which cost little, are destroying healthy fetuses.

"Priorities are not all economic," she said.

Marjorie Baskin, trustee of St. Peter's Hospital in Hamilton, asked if the new health system would require each district council to ensure the availability of abortion in its area.

Mr. Martin replied: "It is the policy of this government that the question of abortion is a matter of voluntary choice for a hospital and well remain so."

Some health experts have argued that this can increase a hardship for women living in areas served only by Catholic hospitals, which refuse to perform abortions.

Lewis Would Aid Industries To Bring Regional Parity

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — NDP Leader David Lewis said Tuesday he is in favor of giving financial aid to industries to achieve regional parity.

"We support in principle what the Manitoba Development Corp. is trying to do in assisting industry — both public and private, or a combination of both — to locate in areas that require economic development," Mr. Lewis told a banquet.

"Corporations have not found it profitable to locate in these areas," he said.

"Why should they change now? The corporations haven't become more philanthropic. They are still here to maximize their profits.

"We support the idea of assisting them if they are willing to come and really develop the area," Mr. Lewis said. "But we should have an equity in that corporation just like any ordinary investment."

Mayor Scott Revives Conflict Issue

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

A conflict of interest charge levelled against Mayor J. Russell Scott six months ago calling for his resignation, has been remade in the demand for the resignations of two city aldermen.

In a public statement Tuesday, Belleville's Mayor Scott labelled the charge as unfounded and untrue and called for the resignation of Alderman Donald Soutter and mayoralty candidate Alderman Robin Jeffrey.

Alderman Soutter initiated the charge in city council last April, claiming there was conflict of interest on the part of Mayor Scott through his part ownership of Sanctuary Developments Ltd. in Belleville.

The charge was that Mayor Scott had held up an easement across his Sanctuary Development property until the Fahey property was ready for draining his property was constructed.

Then in July, Ald. Soutter brought in a motion, seconded by Ald. Jeffrey, calling for a judicial inquiry into Mayor Scott's conduct.

Council turned down the motion for an inquiry by an 8-2 vote and nothing more officially was heard of the matter until the statement this week by Mayor Scott.

In his statement, Mayor Scott said the purpose behind the charges of the past summer should now be apparent to everyone.

"... this dirty politics for self gain of two individuals is of concern to the whole community," the statement said.

He said it had never been a secret in council conversations or outside that he was involved in property west if North Front Street comprising about 37 acres.

The statement said the company was owned by eight persons, Dr. Scott, his wife and their six children, all of whom own one part each.

Neither Marion (Dr. Scott's wife) nor myself are signing officers of this company, and, in law, have no control of its decisions. Young people today have ideas of their own."

The Mayor's statement explained, that when the redevelopment of North Front St. was being designed some years ago, at the demand of the Ontario Department of Highways he had signed a drainage easement to allow roadway storm water to flood over Sanctuary lands.

This, said Dr. Scott was necessary for the city in order for the roadway on North Front Street to be commenced and carried out.

Such an agreement between a member of council and the city is allowable under the Municipal Act, according to Dr. Scott. Otherwise, projects could be held up in communities all over the province.

The charge of conflict of interest regarding the Fahey property was never pursued without foundation claims Dr. Scott.

Reports tabled before all members of council showed that the property "approved" to drain and develop the whole of the northwest area (of the city), comprising over 700 acres.

Dr. Scott said at all times he had disclosed his interest and refrained from voting.

He said it was an old rule of responsible government that members of council could be responsible for their statements and actions.

"Unfounded, untrue and unproven charges and demands for my resignation must now be followed by the resignations of those councillors, who, in fact, made the charges and demands," the mayor's statement read.

"Their position on council now becomes untenable and if they must resign now, and not seek higher or other office.

Today Mayor Scott declined to enlarge on his Tuesday's statement.

"It was, pretty well self explanatory," he told The Intelligencer; "just enough has been said there is nothing more to be said."

For her part, Alderman Robin Jeffrey today said she was pleased that Mayor Scott had finally made a statement concerning the conflict of interest charge and his landholdings in Sanctuary Developments.

However, she said she was astounded that he had asked for her resignation, as at no time had she called for his.

Alderman Jeffrey said when Mayor Scott failed to respond to the original charge, she as a responsible alderman seconded Alderman Soutter's motion asking for a judicial inquiry to clear the air.

"This was the mayor's decision, not mine, through his negative vote on that motion; that helped to prevent the charges from being proven or disproven."

Alderman Jeffrey said it was unfortunate that Mayor Scott chose to make his statement when Alderman Soutter was absent from the city. As the charges were made by Alderman Soutter, she expected he would wish to respond when he returns.

The alderman said the timing of the mayor's statement had forced the matter to become an issue in the coming municipal election.

"I will not duck the issue because it is of major public concern," she said.

"His timing for this release indicates also, that now since he has decided to seek re-election, he appears to be making an effort to "muddy" me with his statement.

"Denied an inquiry and receiving no reply until now, the people of this city are forced to carry a heavy responsibility for the public polls on December 4.

"At that time they must decide whether or not the Chief Magistrate of Belleville is a tainted then fairly and properly.

"I will continue to serve the people of this city as an alderman and I now re-affirm that I will be a candidate for that office."

Sandbanks Hearing Tomorrow

PICTON (Staff) — Charges against Lake Ontario Cement Company Ltd. and Frank Ellis Construction Ltd. under the Environmental Protection Act and the Ontario Water Act will be heard in provincial court here tomorrow at 10 a.m. before Judge J. L. Clendenning presiding.

Because of the large number of spectators expected to attend the hearing, court will be held at the former Prince Edward County jail where Ontario Supreme Court hearings are conducted. Judge Clendenning has set aside two days for the hearings. The charges relating to quarry operations at the Sandbanks Provincial Park were laid this summer by vacationer Agda Rayner, a Toronto secretary, who was holidaying at Sandbanks Beach Resort, adjacent to the dunes.

The LOCL and Triad Trucking Ltd. are charged with the two counts under the Criminal Code of Canada with interfering with the lawful use and enjoyment of personal and private property, both the property applying in July of this year. Prosecutors for the charges will be Toronto lawyer Aubrey Golden, representing David Estrin of the Department of Tal Law Association, and Morris Manning of the Ontario Attorney General's office.

LOCL will be represented by lawyer Charles Dubin of Toronto. Triad Truckways has retained Toronto lawyer Joseph Pomerantz.

IN MEMORIAM

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother and mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Masterson, who passed away October 25, 1969.
Sweet memories, resting at last,
The world's wear troubles and trials are past.
Dearest mother she suffered in patience
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
Sadly missed by son and daughter-in-law, Thomas, Carol and grandson Brian.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Mary Masterson, who passed away October 25, 1969.
This is a picture I tenderly keep,
Of a mother I loved so dear,
Her memory is my treasure,
We meaning your name and speak of you each day.
Sadly missed by daughter Margaret Dorgan.

MASTERSON — In fond and loving memory of our dear sister Marjorie, who passed away October 25, 1969.
Sweet memories of a sister dear,
Forever in our hearts.
Though you ease God broke our chain apart,
Nothing can, a heart of gold,
You suffered so much and never complained,
Now at last all the last she would die.
No better sister ever lived,
Or a kinder friend to all whisper.
God bless you Marjorie we miss you so much.
Sadly missed by sister Rose and brother Clarence, sister-in-law Margaret and family.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear brother, Marjorie, who passed away October 25, 1969.
Always remembered by daughter Mary and son-in-law Bill and grandchildren Robert, Donald and Ruth.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear brother, Marjorie, who passed away October 25, 1969.
Always a smile instead of a frown,
Always a kind word to cheer you down,
Always true, thoughtful and kind,
Always generous to a fault,
Always remembered by sister Mary and brother-in-law Bill and grandchildren.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of our dear brother, Marjorie, who passed away October 25, 1969.
We can hear your voice, we can see your smile,
We cannot forget you, though you've been gone a while,
Twenty lonely years of memories,
Twenty years of deep sorrow.
Sadly missed by sister Lena and brother-in-law, Larry.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear husband, Jim, who passed away October 25, 1969.
This month comes with a deep regret,
The day I lost my dear husband I'll never forget.
You fell asleep without goodbye,
Not even knowing I was standing by,
You left behind a heart that will be broken
Through a year passes, the emptiness will remain.
The tears in my eyes, will wipe away,
But memories of you will always be remembered by his wife Edna.

Sadly missed and always remembered by his wife Edna.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Myrtle, who passed away October 25, 1969.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and honest to the end of her days,
Sincere and true, in her heart and mind,
Generous to a friend.
Left behind the memory of a friend.
— Lovingly remembered by daughter Mary and son-in-law Bill.

CONEY — In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Coney, who passed away Oct. 25, 1966.
Dad's memory is like a golden book,
A link goes from us to God,
A book that is sorted for awhile,
Some day we will look.
Someday we hope to meet you,
Someday we hope to hear you say,
Someday we hope to clasp your hand,
Never to part again.
Sadly remembered by wife Marie, son, daughters Faye, Mary and family.

MILLS — In loving memory of a dear husband, Jim, who passed away October 25, 1968.
Your memory is our treasure,
Your loss we feel each day,
Your memory will be forever,
Dear Jim, we cannot say.
Some day we will see you,
Some day we know not when,
To live in God's home in heaven,
Is our greatest wish,
Never to part again.
Sadly remembered by wife Marie, son, daughters Faye, Mary and family.

Lighthouse Keeper Makes Sure of Vote

PICTON (Staff) — Lighthouse keeper Cole Main last weekend took advantage of an advance election poll in Picton to cast his ballot before returning to his station at Main Duck Island.

Mr. Main's trip to the polls covered approximately 35 miles, since the island lies 13 miles off the southern tip of Long Point in Prince Edward County.

The lighthouse keeper, who will be at work on Main Duck when the election is held on October 30, chose the advance poll in preference to a more dramatic method of exercising his franchise.

All civil service employees must be allotted time to vote and if Mr. Main had waited until election day, he could have been flown by helicopter from his remote post to a mainland polling booth if no other transportation was available.

Although he declined to state his political leanings Mr. Main did say that he has an periodic change to stimulate the political scene.

He and co-worker Kenneth McConnell keep abreast of candidates' platforms and other election news through television and radio broadcasts received on Main Duck.

A light keeper for many years, Mr. Main has spent 13 years on Main Duck Island and also has been stationed at the Point East Shoal and Prince Passage lighthouses in Lake Erie.

He explained a supply boat visits Main Duck when fuel for the light, paint or other equipment is needed.

A 35-foot diesel cruiser is docked at the island as well as a 16-foot fibre glass outboard used as a back up boat.

Both Mr. Main and his coworker, Kenneth McConnell have homes on Main Duck and their families vacation there in the summer months and on holiday weekends.

A highlight of life on the island for Mr. Main is enjoyment of the wildlife sanctuary created there by American Robert Hart.

Deer and a variety of bird species are protected here and the light keepers assist in sorting poachers from the property, once owned by John Foster Dulles.

Asked if island life grows lonesome and boring, Mr. Main replied that both he and Kenneth McConnell have developed hobbies that fill the long hours for them. Main Duck island lies in the midst of traffic lanes in Lake Ontario and is passed by boats heading north and south.

Mr. Main was one of 65 voters who had taken advantage of the advance poll in Picton by mid-afternoon Monday.

His Voting's All Done

Queen Vic Series Now in Full Swing

The community program at Queen Victoria School on Pine St. is in full swing again, with a variety of activities available for adults and children in the school neighborhood.

The family swimming program at Albert College pool is again under way every Monday night from 6 to 8 p.m. The charge is $1 a family and there is instruction for non-swimmers.

A women's fitness program is offered in the school auditorium every Tuesday at 7 p.m. at no charge.

Adult chess is scheduled for Tuesdays at 7 p.m. for both novice and experienced players, with Dick Lovering as instructor.

Square dancing night, with Garnet May as instructor, is held from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Mondays and an upholstery course is conducted by Norma Foster began Oct. 23. The fee for this course is $16.

Beginning Nov. 6 will be a sports program for children from 8 to 10 years old. Held after school from 4:15 to 5:15 p.m., it includes both boys and girls.

Nov. 9 a similar after-school sports program will be offered for children in the 11-to-12 year-old age bracket.

Saturday morning feature length children's movies will again be shown during the winter months, with the dates to be announced later.

Plans are under way to offer gymnastics for girls and boys, ceramics for young people and macrame for adults at a later date.

The highly successful activities program for teenagers may be curtailed this year unless more adult supervisors are available. The school has issued a call for volunteer supervisors to assist with the program.

Anyone interested in taking part in a program at the school or volunteering assistance is asked to call the school office at 968-6350.

Control Said the Answer

BLOOMFIELD (Staff) — Pollution has not been dodged as a political issue this fall and the key to its curtailment lies in controlled growth.

Asked by an elector at Wednesday's all - candidate session if pollution had been skirted as an issue, Richard Lunn, NDP candidate replied he would find it difficult to forward as an election topic.

He suggested there had been an ecological issue last year, "rather a minor one" and stressed he does not want the country ruined ecologically. He asserted politicians have not avoided pollution as an issue in this election.

George Hees termed it "very serious" and said the time is past for uncontrolled growth. "Now is a question of what you do to have growth and control pollution at the same time," he said.

Liberal candidate George Cunningham concurred stating, "The big thing is planned growth."

He said many cleanups, such as that be proposed for the Bay of Quinte, are necessitated at a high cost because of pollution. Incoming industries should be forced to install the proper pollution control equipment.

UNICEF Drive Starts Early

Little strangers may knock at your door anytime between now and Hallowe'en canvassing for UNICEF, United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Some public schools in the city and across the county have circulated boxes in advance of Hallowe'en, giving the children more opportunity to completely canvass their area.

Bernard Wright, principal of Park Dale Public School and chairman of Hastings County UNICEF Committee, said this morning, many parents don't like their children collecting on Hallowe'en because of possible danger.

"We found last year, if children are given the boxes early they can contribute a little themselves and the general picture is an increase in money collected."

Some public school children have had the collection boxes since last Thursday.

More than 7,000 boxes will be distributed for this year's drive, representing an increase of more than 2,000 over last year.

Mr. Wright, describing the boxes, said they were somewhat different from last year's, being lighter in color and pinned to the clothing rather than carried.

With some schools placing their orders early, many children will still be carrying the old box that was circulated last year.

All boxes will still bear the distinctive boy - girl holding hands design.

Last year, the canvass collected $5,858 compared with $5,368 in the previous year.

"Each year the children seem to get more enthusiastic in their efforts and parents are getting more educated in what UNICEF is all about, making the total rise each year," said Mr. Wright.

As important as collecting, educational programs are arranged for youngsters so they know what they are collecting for, said Mr. Wright.

DON THRUSH

For the fourth year, the Town and Country Camera Club is presenting the Toronto Camera Club's International Salon of Photography commencing at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18. Admission price is $1.

Thrush to Run For Board Seat

An auditor with the local retail sales tax branch of the Ontario Department of Revenue, Don Thrush, 145 Victoria Ave., has announced he will run as candidate for election as Belleville trustee to the Hastings County Board of Education.

Mr. Thrush has lived in the city for the past seven years and has been active in community and service club work and feels his experience and mature judgment qualify him to serve on the school board.

He is a member and former director of the Rotary Club, with his chief interest being in youth work. He served for two years as budget committee member with the United Community Fund.

Mr. Thrush is a veteran of World War II with service overseas as an artillery officer. He has now resumed university studies after disruption by the war years and will receive his BA degree from Queen's in the spring.

If elected, Mr. Thrush promises Belleville residents he will be a hard-working, dedicated and objective school board member.

Students' Holiday Friday

Students in Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward counties will have a holiday this Friday while their teachers go back to school.

The annual professional development day for teachers will be held Oct. 27 at Centennial Secondary School in Belleville with the theme concentrating on the changing legal, moral and social status of teachers.

All classes in both elementary and secondary schools in the three counties will be cancelled to allow the teachers to attend the conference, held under the sponsorship of the local branches of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

Gerry Peinds of Prince Edward Collegiate Institute has arranged the program. Guest speakers include Dr. Jim Davis of the University of Waterloo, Dr. Richard Carlton of the University of Guelph and R. S. A. Lamek of the legal profession.

New Title Needed

A letter we have received, although unsigned, makes an interesting point with regard to pensions and the meagre pittance with which senior citizens must get by in these inflationary days.

Why, the writer asks, should the old age pension be classed as "welfare," coming as it does under the jurisdiction of the Department of National Health and Welfare? "The people have been taxed for this and it has been paid for," the letter notes. The writer sees the welfare thing as a reflection on the dignity of recipients and we are inclined to agree.

It is the same of course with family allowances — the baby bonus — and we wonder if in these days of putting the best face on everything, all the way from sanitary engineers to women's liberationists, it would be a good idea for the department to seek a new name.

The "corporate welfare bum" title (without meaning to be facetious) of course is already pre-empted, thanks to NDP leader David Lewis. Then why not leave the nomenclature as simply the Department of National Health, or the Department of Citizens' Affairs. Or National Health and Citizens' Affairs.

But Welfare . . . ugh. We should not be talking to senior citizens, who have served their country well, in terms of welfare.

Missing Persons

The Salvation Army's Missing Persons column in the organization's journal, The War Cry, is a symbol of both heartbreak and hope.

Here are a youngster, born in Toronto in 1951, and being sought by his mother . . . a woman born in Winnipeg, last heard from in 1935, and being sought by her husband . . . another woman born in Toronto in 1910, mother of three children, being sought by her stepmother who had not had news since 1943.

These are extracts from The War Cry of September 1971 and some of the people listed may well have been traced by now. But the point is, every issue of the Army's journal contains similar messages and anyone having information is asked to contact the Man's Social Service Department of the Army at 20 Albert Street, Toronto 1. The brief biographies of these missing people span generations and the continents.

We were reminded of the recent work of the Army's people on reading of a 15-year-old girl from the North Bay area who went missing in Belleville while visiting friends. Fortunately, the girl was found, nevertheless, such disappearances seem to be part of a current phenomenon. They are not uncommon in these days of greater freedom and restlessness among the young. There is the lure of big cities and so on.

Student in Uniform

Belleville Collegiate exchange student Peter Cox, who is studying in South Africa, is becoming a regular correspondent according to Rotary Club bulletin editor Isidore Cooperman.

"There is now a lengthy letter from him dated October 3," writes Mr. Cooperman. "Not only does he continue to get around, but he is also learning how to play cricket. He applauds the wearing of school uniforms."

Interesting.

Autumn Glories

October sunshine has been a little shy this year but the autumn colors are approaching their full glory just the same. This is one of the most impressive sights of our multi-faceted seasons. As the year declines it is a time to take as much advantage as possible of the outdoor scene, for it is gone all too quickly and while winter has its glories too there is in the fall a quality that is all its own. Here is the fabled, ageless scene.

Life's Tragedies

Pat Burke, a 21-year-old American, recently won a $1 million in damages against a railroad. But the handsome young Burke, pictured sitting with his wife in a lawyer's office in Indianapolis, said he would swap the money if he could get up from his wheelchair and do things.

What about those who have been maimed through their own negligence? Some of us have little regard for our own and other's safety — say while driving the car — and how often it can be too late and there is time only for remorse and regrets.

Relations with Cuba Also A Possibility

Four Caribbean Nations Seek Economic Merger

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson Newspapers

It looks as though Castro Cuba's decade-long diplomatic isolation from the other countries of the Western Hemisphere is about to end.

The initiative, like Canada with its recognition of Communist China, is coming from Commonwealth countries in the hemisphere, not from the United States.

If the U.S. finally resumes diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba, broken off in 1961, it will do so only after someone else has made the effort at initial negotiations.

Last week in Port-of-Spain, the premiers of the four Commonwealth Caribbean nations, Guyana, Trinidad and Tobago, Barbados and Jamaica issued a most interesting, and completely unique calling not only for an economic union of the four countries, but also for the early establishment of relations with Cuba, whether economic, diplomatic, or both.

Only two countries in the hemisphere, until Chile voted in a Marxist government in September, 1970, and recognized Cuba have maintained diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba, broken off in 1961. It will do so only after someone else has made the effort at initial negotiations.

Now there's a hodge-podge of local codes which vary widely.

(In Toronto, for example a residence can be built only of bricks.

There is widespread agreement that a uniform code is desirable.

Just one of the points in its favor is that it should lower building costs.

If there were uniform standards there could be more uniformity in building supplies and lower unit costs.

But agreement that a code is good is one thing and getting agreement to adopt one is another.

And the province has never managed to get very far with this hurdle.

If now it thinks it can good luck to it. But it really has to be a case of seeing is believing.

Incidentally, Mr. Winkler's job title is normally not one in which a minister can make much extra.

Management board succeeds the old treasury and does its best to cut it down.

The chairmanship is not a job to endear the holder to his colleagues or to give a chance to make announcements which get him in the news pages.

Mr. Winkler, able pro as he is, seems to get around this.

He has managed to make news consistently. And also to apparently hold the esteem of his fellow members in the government.

Perhaps he will even be able to get us a building code.

Provincial Building Code Is A Possibility

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park Bureau

Chairman of management board Eric Winkler has said the government is considering provincial legislation for house buyers.

The minister didn't give many hints as to just what this would be.

But from these he did offer it appeared as though one of the things he might have in mind could be a provincial building code.

And if this is true all one can say is that we will believe it when we see it.

For at least half a dozen years the government has been talking confidently of putting in a uniform code across the province.

A Tribute to Lee Grills

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Like many of your readers, I invariably read the political column written by your Ottawa correspondent, Richard Jackson, which column also appears on a regular basis in the St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The most recent one, in which he singles out Lee Grills, from among some 79 MPs who are voluntarily retiring from the House of Commons (I'm sure they will be some short-term remorse of a perhaps not so voluntary nature after October 30) for a very on the point and his office records and memories, his reflections on his 13 years as an MP; his continuing concern, even while packing, for "the folks" he has represented over those years; and the personal difficult decision he had to make to retire from public service, seem to me to sum up most accurately the man that I, and thousands of others like me, respect and know so well.

On many occasions during my personal association with the City of Belleville, it was necessary to seek some type of help or assistance or explanation from the Federal Government. Always, we received through our local MP, and, always, we received the utmost co-operation from Lee Grills. I feel sure that everyone else who has had a hand in securing the seek assistance or information from the Federal Government through Lee Grills, has found the same kind of help as I have experienced, and that this would apply when Lee sat on the Government or on the opposition side of the House.

Ever since moving to St. Thomas 3½ years ago, I have had occasion to seek his assistance for information connected with a local promotional event and received the same prompt attention as before.

Mr. Editor, even though I am no longer a resident of the riding, I felt compelled to publicly express to Lee Grills, my "thank you" for his public services and personal courtesies over the years. I'm sure it's an expression which is shared by thousands of others, political friend and foe alike.

Caught in the Middle

By KEVIN DOYLE

LONDON (CP) — The British Army faces the greatest danger of alienation since its last stormy days in Palestine as a result of the latest turn of events in Northern Ireland.

"The danger of losing our support among moderate Catholics and Protestants in Ulster and finding ourselves isolated is at its worst," said a British defence spokesman.

"Until now, our main operation has been against the IRA and their supporters among Roman Catholics. If we have to face active Protestant hostility as well . . . it will be like fighting on two fronts, very tough."

Protestant militancy this week reached a new peak in Ulster, with hardliners accusing the army of murder and declaring the British government and military force a their enemies.

The tough talks from Protestants has been accompanied by street rioting, several deaths and scores of injuries. It follows weeks of growing discontent among Protestants over what many consider the army's failure to control the IRA.

The task of reinstating the army's acceptability lies with the British government, primarily with William Whitelaw, the harried minister saddled with the job of searching for a peaceful solution to Ulster's centuries-old conflict.

Whitelaw's talks on both sides have voiced opposition to local government elections at which Whitelaw proposes to hold.

Protestant extremists, organized in the Ulster Defence Association and the Vanguard Movement, are opposed to the minister's plan to hold the election on the basis of proportional representation, giving the minority Catholics a chance for a greater voice in government.

Militant Catholic leaders have threatened to boycott the elections unless a referendum on the question of joining the Irish republic is held first.

The UDA, accusing the army of murdering four Protestant boys, has prepared contingency plans for an all-out military campaign against the British if necessary. The UDA demands a session of the Northern Ireland Parliament, suspended by British rulers this year.

While no one can be certain how much influence the militants on either side wield, the army emphasized that the crucial point is that "no one is speaking for the middle any more; no one is pledging us their support."

Ontario Planning Enigma

Ottawa Journal

It was a pity that the Ontario government's Design For Development meeting in Ottawa was so badly stage-managed.

A pity because behind a public meeting to discuss plans to develop a draft that might evolve into a workable plan invites useful "public participation."

A pity because municipal leaders came from as far away as Kingston and Pembroke only to find they were at that point to be given no information on which to base a discussion.

But more a pity because the municipal leaders and the prospects for the Eastern Ontario Region" turns out to be a total if abortive sham. Any thoughtful consideration of the area's future promise.

There will be shock at the report's warning of what will happen to Eastern Ontario if it is allowed to develop without overall guidance. Kitchener, Kingston and Brockville will grow rapidly and Cornwall, Hawkesbury and Smiths Falls to a lesser extent, but most other of the 158 municipalities in the region will at best stagnate and at worst decline.

Eastern Ontario doesn't want to become almost solely dependent on government employment for its' economic well-being. While it provides valuable jobs, even undesirable, to think that this area will become another industrial heartland, some selective, specialized development should be aggressively planned. Yet such development should be careful to assure that industry does not come at the cost of spoiling an environment which has been in a mega Ontario's great attraction.

Voting Trends

Owen Sound Sun-Times

Analysts have never been able to determine with any exactness whether or not people vote for the man or the party in elections. In 1968, for example, many believe Pierre Trudeau won the election of Liberals into the House of Commons on the basis of his popularity as a orator. The same held was a John Diefenbaker sweep in 1958. Leadership is the issue. If voters are uncertain as to which party they should be supporting, their decision is probably made on the quality of local candidates. There are many constituencies in Canada which historically vote party, but chances are there are an increasing number in the coming campaign where the personality of the candidate will dominate.

Shakespeare's play Henry V includes the battle and combines two separate expeditions to France. During the latter, Henry married Catherine, daughter of a weak minded French king, and fathered a weak-minded Henry VI.

Candidates Debate Farm Issues

BLOOMFIELD (Staff) An all-candidates meeting among contenders for the Prince Edward - Hastings riding held at Prescott Memorial school in Bloomfield Monday prompted debate focusing on unemployment, agriculture, industry and pollution.

The open discussion attended by Progressive Conservative George Hees, Liberal candidate George Cunningham, and New Democratic Party candidate Richard Lunn was sponsored by local 333 of the National Farmers' Union.

Farming, termed "the bedrock of the country" by Hees is no longer attracting young men.

Mr. Hees noted in the past five years the number of farmers in Ontario has dropped significantly because of a variety of problems encountered under the policies of the present government.

Farmers claim greater markets are required to permit them to sell their produce outside Canada, thus taking the surplus crops to export markets the government can assure a good price for the Canadian farmer.

Ready credit is needed at a reasonable price by the farmer if he is to expand his operations.

A Conservative government would strive to make loans available at a maximum interest rate of 5 per cent.

Mr. Hees noted young men struggling to become farmers often experience difficulty since they may be unable to obtain credit and usually require at least three years to establish themselves before they are able to pay interest on the loans.

He said his government would make loans available at no interest for the first three years, then at an interest rate of five per cent maximum. Expansion loans would be granted if the individual applying were sincere in their efforts to become successful farmers.

If a farm were passed from one member of a family to another, the Conservative government would not charge the capital gains tax. Mr. Hees described this tax as "an increasing hurdle" for young men taking over family farms.

Kenneth Marisett, a Prince Edward County farmer and president of local 333 of the NFU told Mr. Hees the farmer seems forgotten as industry is lashed. He suggested a back-to-the-land move ment and said tourism seems highly compatible with farming, since most summer visitors enjoy watching a field of sheep or a herd of cattle, not abandoned barns and industrial sites.

Mr. Marisett argued a pricing structure is needed to pay the farmer a fair price.

Richard Lunn, NDP candidate for the riding, interjected to observe youth has been leaving the farm since time began and the lure of 5,000 years ago was eager to get from behind his oxen and go to the bright lights.

He said cities were built to drain the country and keeping youth on the farm is "a very difficult problem."

Liberal candidate George Cunningham touched briefly on farming when he commented in his opening remarks that his party has increased loans to agriculture and to small farms.

Mr. Cunningham expressed concern for the unemployment in his riding and across Canada and added many persons who are drawing unemployment insurance are eager to work.

He said welfare, in some cases, is abused and the system should be reviewed carefully.

Jobs are needed in Prince Edward as well as secondary industry to hold school graduates here.

Mr. Cunningham praised the ambition of county residents and said through their efforts to remain employed, Prince Edward has not fallen below the specified level of unemployment which allows grant assistance.

The Liberal candidate said he would strive to help this "depressed" area if elected and also remarked he would support the strengthening of Canada's military forces.

Concerned with pollution, Mr. Cunningham urged revitalization of the Bay of Quinte and the Trent Canal system "instead of the polluted sewers they are at present."

He mentioned today's senior citizens and the importance of granting them dignity through adequate pensions. He suggested medicare could be made in these pensions if a careful review showed a need exists for it but observed such a raise would- confront taxpayers with extra expense.

The 45-year-old NDP candidate, who is vice-chairman of the journalism department at Ryerson Polytechnical Institure, traced his party's history in an effort "to take the Socialist message to Prince Edward."

He observed the NDP and the CCF (Canadian Commonwealth Federation) often have been referred to as the conscience of parliament.

The NDP party was formed in 1961 through the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress. Its goal was to bring a political voice to organized labor.

Mr. Lunn said of the approximately five million workers in Canada only one million is organized into labor unions. The row of the NDP is to assist labor in organizing since a well-paid, intelligent working force is "one of the best things a nation can have."

He said the purpose of the NDP is to attempt to bring political change through labor laws enabling everyone to work with dignity, at a reasonable return, under safe, clean conditions.

Mr. Lunn discussed present unemployment figures, indicating an almost unprecedented high and said only the economic indicators are being considered.

The NDP candidate described the figures as "arithmetic that doesn't take social conditions into account."

He said only interest rates, the crude cost of products purchased, the number of jobs and the average wage rates are handled.

Although many persons claim money is not all important, few are willing to live this philosophy.

Mr. Lunn suggested persons looking at "the arithmetic" have forgotten it has little to do with life.

At present a half million Canadians are unemployed and their pride has been hurt through being idle. A government should be elected to Ottawa broad enough to include "all the indicators, not just the ones you can write down in a column of figures."

ANAF News

At a meeting of the Veterans of Belleville Council last Saturday, plans neared completion for the Remembrance Day Ceremonies to be held on Saturday, Nov. 11. The parade is expected to be one of the largest held in the city in many a year and will fall in on the Armory floor at 10:20 a.m. Three bands, the CFB Pipe Band, the RCSCC Quinte and the Duke of Edinburgh Pipe Band besides the veterans, CFB detachment, the three Cadet Corps and the Regiment, it is expected that a platoon of the Belleville Fire Dept. and several troops of Scouts and Cubs will parade. With a fine combined Color Party and decent weather, a brave showing should be made.

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary will serve one of their delectable dinners, for which they are well known, at the Remembrance Day Banquet and the council has been fortunate to have their invitation to be guest speaker accepted by Brig.-Gen. J. L. Melville, a veteran with over 50 years of service both in peace and two wars, who never lost his sense of humor. His talks are both interesting, informative a n d quite witty. He is well worth hearing. The RCSCC Quinte Band will play dinner music and the Last Post and Reveille.

The Council is very appreciative of a cheque received from the Yardmen's Benefit Fund to help defray the cost of the free admission ticke s that will be sent to all district World War I veterans. Their numbers are depleting fast and, as of today, the count is down to 97. This, of course, includes the Boer War veterans.

Next weekend several members of the executive and unit will be attending the quarterly Provincial meeting at Kitchener.

A tragedy occurred about a week ago that shocked the members when Cde. Fred Andrews and his wife were involved in a car accident. His wife was instantly killed and he was badly injured. On Thursday he also died. The president and all members sincerely extend their deepest sympathies to the doubly bereaved family.

The following comrades are in hospital: J. Carr, room 458; J. R. Boyle, room 726; H. Campbell, room 600; C. Kellar, room 713 and Cde. A. Glew is in room 5 at the Queen's S. C. Unit.

Odd Fellows Installed

STIRLING (Special) - In ceremonies here last week, Hugh McMullen was installed as the new noble grand master of the Stirling Odd Fellows Lodge.

District deputy grand master of Bay of Quinte District officiated.

Ray Sine will serve as the vice grand master. Neil Jensen the warden, George Carter the treasurer, Charles Carter and Don Walker secretaries, Mac Sharp the conductor and Roy Tucker the chaplain.

Quinte Nurse Canada's Rep

A Plainfield nurse was chosen as Canadian representative to the 5th International Congress on Mental Retardation held recently in Montreal.

Mrs. Mildred Mandley, superintendent of Ontario Homes for the Mentally Retarded Inc. Orillia Inc. at Plainfield, was a delegate to the conference from the Psychiatric Nurses Association of Canada.

It was the first time the congress had been held in North America. Attending were 3,000 people from 65 lands.

Site for the next international gathering on retardation will be Dublin, Ireland in 1975 or 1976.

LOL Banquet Attracts 275

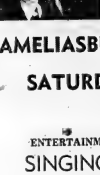
Two hundred and seventy-five people attended the Layal Orange Lodge annual banquet and dance held in the Madoc Kiwanis Centre recently.

Dinner was served by the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association.

Leroy Heaney was guest speaker for the dinner, recalling his experiences and acquaintances with Canadian politicians during his childhood in Ottawa.

Land for Centre To Be Retained

The city will hold on to municipally owned property in the Camelion Road — Adam Street area for a period of at least one year as a possible site for the proposed Belleville Yardmen Olympic Sports Centre.



This was the recommendation of a special council committee named to study and report on the proposed centre after it was officially announced a few weeks ago.

Council yesterday approved of the recommendation to retain the above city property as a possible site for the facility, and also for the special committee to be continued as liaison with the Belleville Yardmen.

Belleville Yardmen, through their benefit fund, propose construction of a rossil-million dollar sports centre on two adjoining sites east of Cannifton Road — now owned by the Yardmen and the other by the city.

It's That Time Again

That time of the year has rolled around again and nine-year-old Lynn Bissillon of Brantford, Ont., rolls her pumpkin home. Lynn got to the fields early and chose what she hopes will be her biggest jack-o'-lantern ever. (CP Photo)

Campaigns Meet in Valley

CAMPBELLS BAY, Que. (CP) — Susan Dyelle sits at a table in the crammed campaign room of Liberal Tom Lefebvre, slaps a rubber stamp on to a red ink pad and then translates to English the French-only election material prepared by the party's Quebec headquarters.

The Liberals and the Conservatives are running two distinct campaigns—one for English Canada, the other for Quebec—and the separate programs meet along the Ottawa Valley.

Susan Dyelle's stamp prints "Together" alongside "En semble," thus forestalling any complaint by the four in 10 English voters in the riding that they are ignored.

Pontiac Conservative candidate Octave Vallee is running a mini-version of the dual national campaigns of his party. In predominantly French-speaking neighborhoods, his campaign relies heavily on the reputation of Claude Wagner.

CP News Roundup

News Suppression Said Impossible

FREDERICTON (CP) — Radio and television competition make it impossible for a newspaper to withhold news, even if it wanted to, says Irving publisher Ralph Costello.

"It is no longer possible for daily newspapers in New Brunswick to monopolize the news," he said in the New Brunswick Supreme Court Tuesday.

It was the 49-year-old newspaper man's fourth day of testimony at the trial of Irving companies in newspaper monopoly charges.

Development of radio and television brought a revolution in mass media, he said. It created serious problems for newspapers in competing for readers and advertisers. But it also spurred newspaper people to produce better papers.

The situation is much more competitive than it was 30 or 40 years ago," he said. "Newspapers today are fighting for their existence all over North America."

In his view, only group ownership saved some papers from disappearing. But no Irving owned paper had ceased publication since industrialist K. C. Irving began acquiring New Brunswick dailies in 1944. And he five Irving papers were far better now than they ever were before.

Prosecutor William Hoyt told the court the content of the papers is not relevant to the monopoly charges being tried.

"At no time are we suggesting anything about the quality of newspapers," he said. "They may be the best newspapers in the world."

Defence lawyer Donald Gillis said he was much concerned with the quality of journalism and hoped to establish that the Irving papers are good for the people of New Brunswick.

Gets Life

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) — Lida Pichette, 30, of Montreal, was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday for the murder last March of 71-year-old Daniel Beaulieu.

Beaulieu, a bus boy, was robbed before his throat was slit, testimony at the trial showed. Pichette pleaded guilty.

Judge Pierre Cote of Superior Court imposed the sentence.

Nabs Sponsor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Senator Richard Schweiker (Rep. Pa.), a sponsor of legislation to require electronic screening of all airline passengers as a hijacking preventive, failed to pass the test Tuesday at International Airport. Schweiker triggered an alarm on the electronic scanner and was removed from line while waiting to board a flight for Pittsburgh. Airline officials searched his briefcase, found no weapons, and permitted him to board. The senator later found what he suspects set off the alarm—a metal shaving mirror.

Mother Jailed

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A 24-year-old mother of four who said she had attempted robbery to support her $45-a-day heroin habit, was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday after pleading guilty in the killing of two policemen during a gun battle at a shopping centre. She was sentenced to two concurrent life terms in prison.

Haul in Robbery Racetrack Take

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Much of the $1.3 million taken in a bank robbery here last December consisted of overnight receipts from a local racetrack, a county court jury was told Tuesday.

Kenneth Elale, assistant manager of administration at the main Windsor branch of Royal Bank of Canada, testified that $1,316,068.59 in cash and $7,660.26 in cheques were taken in the robbery.

Mr. Elale and Bruce Cornish, assistant manager of the bank at the time of the Dec. 16 robbery, were the first witnesses to be heard in the trial of five men charged in connection with the robbery.

Mr. Elale said the bank had established the amount taken by checking its balance on the day before the robbery and Windsor Raceway's own count of the money it had collected.

Charged with conspiracy to rob the bank are George Davison, 42, Donald Deroni, 38, and Neil Garrington, 38, all of Toronto; James MacArthur, 49, of Montreal; and Edna Letebvre, 45, of Mississauga, Ont.

A sixth man facing the same charge, William Ferguson, 48, of Montreal, has been missing since early this month.

Device Releases Hormone

OTTAWA (CP) — An intrauterine contraceptive device, which will release daily doses of a natural female hormone over a one-year period, will be tested in about 50 local women starting before the end of the year, an Ottawa gynecologist said Tuesday.

Dr. Gilles Hurteau, head of the Ottawa General Hospital department of obstetrics and gynecology, said the T-shaped device gives out daily doses of progesterone through a special membrane.

He described the new device at a medical conference.

It is an improvement over conventional intrauterine devices because the progesterone will act directly on the wall of the uterus or womb, he said in an interview later. Hormones used in oral contraceptives act on the whole body.

Dr. Hurteau said the new device would probably be more effective than other intrauterine devices now in use. Failure rate now is about five per cent, although this rate is being reduced with use of other T-shaped, copper-treated devices.

Morning-after Pills Tried at University

TORONTO (CP) — Fifteen students of the University of Toronto were given a "morning-after" birth control pill treatment last year and none became pregnant the head of the school's student health services says.

Dr. Georges Wodehouse said the pill—high doses of synthetic estrogen—is being used in several Canadian universities.

He said the treatment should begin the morning after sexual contact whenever possible.

The usual dosage is five milligrams, five times a day for five days. The side-effects of nausea and vomiting are "not pleasant," Dr. Wodehouse said.

He said the pill deserves to be more widely known in the interest of preventing unwanted pregnancy and demands for abortion later.

Dr. Michael J. Ball, director of the student health services at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, recommended the treatment in a letter to the Canadian Medical Association Journal last year.

A Toronto obstetrician said the drug's effectiveness would be difficult to assess because no one knows whether the woman would have become pregnant if she had no treatment.

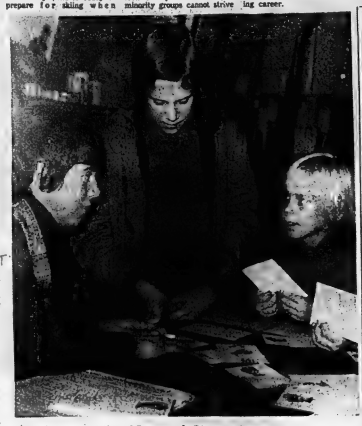
All Uphill for Nancy

Nancy Greene Raine professionally retired from skiing at the age of 24, married her coach Al and is now the mother of twins, Charlie and Willi who will be three in January. While in Belleville Monday afternoon, Mrs. Raine visited OSD and signed autographs for ski enthusiasts and fans, and attended the Ski Show at Four Seasons Hotel.

"From this time on through the skiing season, I'm pretty busy promoting the ski wear for the Canadian National Ski team, and travelling around," said Nancy. "But fortunately it works out perfect for baby-sitters. Al and I live next door to his parents and as there are four younger children in his family, Charlie and Willi have two homes."

Nancy believes every mother should spend one hour a day talking with their child and if there are 14 children, then a mother should still try to spend as much time as possible.



A modest individual, Nancy and her husband Al have a small home at Mount Washington in British Columbia. "It's just got two bedrooms, small but that's all we need." As for her housework, Nancy believes the fastest way of doing domestic chores is the best.

While signing autographs and answering questions for skiing enthusiasts in Leslie's Ski Den, Nancy was slightly hesitant in her children's future on the slope. "Probably next year, when they're three, Charlie and Willi will be on skis — but only around the house. Any child is ready to prepare for skiing when they're toilet trained.

"A lot of women do not realize that raising children is a full-time chore, and that's why we have such a mess in families," said Mrs. Raine. "In regard to women's organizations to further themselves in society, I personally have never had any trouble in securing my rights in my career or elsewhere and I don't think I would join a liberated women's organization." Nancy feels that persons who join minority groups cannot strive on their own to attain their goals.

Nancy and Al are both active in the National Ski Team. Al is the president and Nancy, by promoting ski wear and equipment, is supporting members on the team. Many of these people cannot afford the high cost of skiing from coaches, equipment, lodgings at summer camps and travel expenses.

Nancy has also written an autobiography about her skiing career.

40th Wedding Anniversary Feted

AMELIASBURG — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Watts of 12 Jackson Drive, Trenton, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in the township last weekend.

The well-known couple were the guests of honor at a reception hosted by their son Dr. T. G. Watts and his family residing at R R 1 Carrying Place.

Those attending included many friends and relatives from the Quinte area.

Among the messages of congratulations received by the couple was a telegram from Federal Mines, Energy and Resources Minister Hon. Donald S. MacDonald. For the presentation Prince Edward-Hastings Liberal candidate George Cunningham acted on behalf of the government.

The wedding was solemized in the rectory of St. Peter's Church in Trenton when Isobel Long daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Long was united in marriage to Thomas E. Watts son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watts of Ladysmith, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Father J. J. O'Reilly, 40 years ago.

The bridesmaid then was Miss Jessie Begin and the groomsman was Ross Long.

At the reception on Sunday, tea was poured by the couple's bridesmaid Mrs. Jessie Bernard (nee Begin) assisted by Mrs. Jane Long and Mrs. Marg Halladay.

Ann Landers

Ann Settles Dispute

Dear Ann Landers: A group is our office has been having a small argument about some thing. When it is raining would a person get more wet, less wet or just as wet if he ran instead of walked? We just took a vote and three said "Just as wet, no matter if you walk or run." Six said, "Less wet if you run." Two said, "More wet if you run." Consult your Time and Motion expert and let us know what you come up with.—K. Department (Three Raindrops Falling on My Head)

Dear Head: If you run you will get less wet because you will be out in the rain for a shorter period of time, therefore you would have less exposure to the raindrops falling on your head. (P.S. There's a clever invention that could reduce this problem considerably. It is called an umbrella).

Dear Ann Landers: I buried my husband three days ago. Everyone has been telling me what a wonderful person he was —such a perfect gentleman, so kind and considerate, how lucky I was to have had him for so many years, and how I must now pick up the pieces and carry on without my beautiful helpmate.

What they don't know is that he was a vicious drunk. I spent the last 15 years covering up for him. Just once I'd like to tell somebody what my life was really like. In a word it was hell. I think I'd feel better. I know this is not normal yet the urge is overwhelming. Now that he is gone and I am free, you'd think I'd want to keep my mouth shut, but I don't. Can you help me? I'm on the—Ragged Edge

Dear Edge: You've told me. That's enough. If you feel the need to unload, in detail, write again—say anything that crosses your mind. It will be good therapy for you and I won't mind. I've heard everything.

Dear Ann Landers: When I read that letter about the college kid who informed his parents that he wanted a double bed put in his room so he and his girl could sleep together during vacation, I got so mad I almost wigged out. And that idiot mother has to write to Ann Landers yet to ask what she should do!!!

Another mother who was house-trapped into a similar situation told my husband and me that she was raised by a strict Methodist minister father and an out-of-this world prudish mother and that she was glad her children were honest and open about sex and that she was all for it.

What will these kids be like 10 years from now? Will they be better off or worse off than we were? Can you tell us?—Mind Boggled in Boston Harbor

Dear Boggled: No—and neither can anyone else. Extreme rigidity is as damaging to children as permissiveness. The most difficult part of parenthood is to find the middle ground. If parents can't decide whether to say yes or no, my advice is to say "No." I firmly believe that less damage is done by being too strict than too permissive. Besides, kids don't always want everything they ask for.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONNELL

Do students regret cheating?

PERHAPS not consciously; after all, nothing could be easier than cribbing on a test or buying a term paper already researched and written. No time wasted on study, no pleasure delayed until an assignment is completed. Not only that but the cheating students are cheered on by many who find nothing wrong in denying a pupil the opportunity to do-it-himself—not so much to get a passing mark in class but to strengthen his integrity [illegible] character.

Can jealousy be suppressed?

"S; but denying or suppressing jealousy may do more [illegible] to the emotional state than admitting it first, and then taking steps to correct a jealous nature. If a husband, for instance, cannot stand to see another man paying attention to his wife at social functions he may erode her ordinarily good nature with an inner hostility which he has developed by hiding the jealousy he's trying to suppress.

Are painful memories really painful?

NO, of course not; not physically, at any rate. The memories of some of the things a person would rather not relive trigger the same mental response that he had in reacting to the original experiences. Touching as they do on both the conscious and the unconscious, painful memories can seem more painful if they recall an event or experience that the individual might still have the opportunity to amend or correct.

Successful Living

Writing Should Be Legible

By DORIS CLARK

Someone asks a columnist whether just anybody can I mean ecribble — it is a swer is yes.

I guess we have all suffered ner way through the almost unreadable letters of good friends. We hate to complain, but we find ourselves more than grateful when they buy a typewriter.

Much of it is done by people who are in a hurry. One scrawler is raising a family of three while teaching a classroom of 40 and lending a hand in community work. When she manages to scribble a note to a friend — and I mean scribble — it is a friend, indeed, who will be patient enough to make out the hieroglyphics which result.

If what I have already said has given you guilt feelings, take a look at the next letter you write and see whether you can make it out yourself, before you mail it. It's no fun wading through a mess.

Dear Doris: I read with interest the letter in your column about the "Wet Alarm".

Would you please let me know where they are available? — Anxious For Bedwetter.

Dear Anxious: I have sent you the name of the department store whose catalogue advertizes the "Wet Alarm". It is effective in many cases.

It is a wire covered with cloth and an alarm clock combined like a radio. The child's own sheet goes over it. As soon as one drop of liquid goes through it the alarm sounds off and and the child learns control very fast.

One woman said it was worth a thousand dollars to her since her boy was trained in a few days. The actual price is around about $40.

Dear Doris: I'm 16 and I'm going with a guy 19. When we first went together he treated me like I was someone very special. Then we found out I was pregnant so he wanted to marry me. We told our parents, set the wedding date, and then he seemed to change. He started to drink, and to pay less attention to me.

He doesn't seem to want any responsibilities, yet there are times when he seems to adore me and he really loves children, a lot. Honestly, I think it's just ashamed to take me out because I don't have the figure I used to. Even the baby comes I would really like to be on the right track. What should I do? — Expecting.

Dear Expecting: Do? Run in the opposite direction from that on-again-off-again Romeo. He is far from ready to settle down with anybody.

Can you see yourself going through life with a guy who runs off half the time with his pals? Go to your child care agency to talk it all over; a trained worker will give you the insight to see how very little real love exists between you, and to help you plan your future and the baby's.

And get to a doctor—if you haven't done so already.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GREATRIX

Social And Personal

Previous to her recent marriage, Mrs. James Peoples (nee Linda Whitehead) was honored at a kitchen shower given in the home of Miss Bonnie Burley with Mrs. Faye Morden and Mrs. Hilary Emerson as her co-hostesses. A crystal shower was held in the home of Miss Mildred Wickerson with Mrs. Elaine Scott as the assistant. Mrs. Nancy Whitehead, cousin of the bride, gave a personal shower and a 400-day clock was presented to the bride and bridegroom by the office staff of Mead Johnson Canada, where the two are employed.

* * *

Prior to her recent marriage, Mrs. J. B. Greatrix (nee Nora Hogan) was honored at three miscellaneous showers. Mrs. Irene Smith, assisted by her daughter, Patty, gave a shower for the bride. The staff of Green IDA Drugs Ltd. also gave a shower in the home of Mrs. Diana Dunmire. Mrs. Ella Ray assisted by Mrs. Lazaritak held a shower also.

* *

At the recent Hitchon - Cunningham wedding, Bill Leeman was an usher with John Cuzzo and Bruce Kukor, cousin of the bride.

TWO WEEKS

Vacuum - packed meats will keep fresh 10 to 14 days under refrigeration at temperatures of 32 to 40 degrees.

Greatrix – Hogan

Holy Rosary Church was the setting for the recent wedding of Nora Anne Hogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Hogan of Belleville and John Brice Greatrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Greatrix of RR 4 Belleville. Father George Mullins, assisted by Father Reginald Sweeney, performed the ceremony. Tibor Caesar rendered organ music to the accompaniment of the soloist, Michael Reed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length satin gown which featured a fitted embroidered bodice of guipure lace. Her long puffed sleeves were fitted at the wrists. Guipure lace trimmed the bottom of the gown to which a bouffant train was attached. A four-tier shoulder length silk illusion veil fell from the lace headpiece. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Mary Callahan, Mrs. Donna Hogan and Miss Patty Smith were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Misses Angela and Michelle Hogan, the flower girls wore floor length gold chiffon gowns. They each carried baskets of bronze daisies and yellow mums.

Best man was Rick McLean. Terry Greatrix, Bob Hogan and Keith Lloyd ushered the guests.

For the reception held at Club Canara, the bride's mother wore a rust-tone coat-dress of polyester knit. Brown accessories and a corsage of burnt orange roses completed her outfit.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a floral chiffon dress with brown accessories and enhanced by a rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and points west, the bride donned a two-toned brown dress enhanced by a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Greatrix will reside at RR 4 Belleville.

Church Groups

ST. JAMES' CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE

STIRLING — "Faith was the topic of the October meeting of St. James's Catholic Women's League held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerby.

Rev. Father McGarvey celebrated mass. The roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. John Kerby. The treasurer, Mrs. John Doran gave her treasurer's report. It was noted that a very profitable sum was realized from the recent catering to the livestock sale. Mrs. Stan Meeks extended her thanks to all the women who worked at the salebarn. Father McGarvey added his appreciation and also to those who attended the regional meeting at Picton.

Future plans were discussed for providing lunch for a Senior Citizens meeting and also to conduct an afternoon's entertainment for shut-ins in the nursing homes.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PEOPLES

Peoples – Whitehead

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was the setting for the October 6 wedding ceremony of Linda Anne Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Whitehead of Belleville and James Robert Peoples, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peoples, also of Belleville. Rev. A. L. Sutherland performed the ceremony while Mr. Rudolph Herdman, BA provided traditional organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a short length gown of imported re-embroidered alencon lace. Her dress featured long lilly point sleeves which were trimmed with picot edging and laced with white satin ribbon. An empire waistline accented her dress while the flattering cage-look attachment in matching lace flowed from the back of her dress to a demi-belle skirt. Her headpiece, which was a cluster of daisies with miniature seed pearl stamens and accented by tiny sprays of stephanotis and lily of the valley, fell to the bride's shoulder length, bouffant veil of four tiered silk illusion scalloped along the edges. The bride carried a bouquet of white chiffon and lace centered among a single red rose with red streamers and lily of the valley flowing from the bouquet.

Mrs. Edna Salt, sister of the bridegroom, as the matron of honor, was attired in mint green crepe dress with a matching lace topcoat. Her headpiece was almost identical to the bride's only in one single-tiered silk illusion veil in mint green. She carried a bouquet of yellow and mint green tinted mums, with yellow sweetheart roses, lily of the valley and stephanotis.

Mr. Cyril Salt, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. Dave Whitehead and Mr. Paul Whitehead cousins of the bride ushered the guests.

For the reception which was held at the Four Seasons Hotel, the bride's mother received guests wearing a turquoise blue jacquard polyester coat and dress ensemble. A self-braid trimmed the front bellline and cuffs. Matching turquoise flowers adorned her hair while a corsage of white gardenia mixed with lily of the valley and stephanotis completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a mauve polyester dress which was trimmed with white and completed by a champagne mink stole. Mauve flowers adorned her hair and her outfit was enhanced by a mauve orchid corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Peoples will reside at 16 Fairway Ave., Belleville.

'At Home' Held for Entire Congregation

The parsonage of Bridge Street United Church was the scene of informal hospitality when Rev. and Mrs. George K. Ward held an afternoon and evening 'At Home' for congregation members and friends on Wednesday October 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward received the guests assisted by the chairman of the congregational board Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Deneau and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ord.

The large rooms were tastefully decorated with fall bloom arranged by Mrs J. Anderson and Mrs. Wm. McGee.

Mrs. Burle Summers and Mrs. Robert McKnight convened the event, assisted by the other members of the Centennial unit of the United Church Women.

Guests were invited to the tea room by Mrs. Ross Jefferies, Miss M. Reid, Mrs. N. O'Neill, Mrs. John Parrott and Mrs. Freeman Burrows.

An arrangement of pink roses, carnations and snap dragons in a silver bowl flanked by candelebra with matching pink and green candles adorned the tea table. Pouring tea were Mrs. Stuart Riley, Mrs. James Nelles, Mrs. Burle Summers, Mrs. Wm. McGee, Mrs. Allen Dryden, Mrs. Bob McKnight, Miss Grace Kenny Miss Gertrude Lazier, Miss Myrtle Reid, Mrs. Donald Williams, Mrs. R. E. Marsh, Mrs. Donald Leslie, Mrs. Donald Reid, Miss Olive Root, Mrs. R. E. Berry and Mrs. G. A. Benily

Members of the Centennial unit served and assisted in the kitchen.

The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Alfred Poulter.

Mrs. F. W. Kilcher, Mrs. Ross Burr and Mrs George Moore

Other members of the United Church Women under the general direction of Miss Myrtle Reid, president, contributed in many ways to help make this a most friendly and hospitable event for the large number in attendance

Women's Institutes

Quinte Women's Institute

The October Meeting of Quinte Women's Institute was held in the Institute hall, Dundas St., E. with an attendance of 19 members.

Mrs. E. A. Fleming, president welcomed all the members. She read the highlights of the message of Mrs. Harvey Noblitt, president of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario asking for a challenge of 20 per cent increase in membership for the year 1972-1973 and she also told how important the Pennies for Friendship are and how they are spent.

The next event in the Area Convention held in Peterborough Oct. 24, and 25 in Northminister United Church. Mrs. Fleming and Mrs. Denyes were chosen as delegates.

Mrs. Gladys Lazier, agriculture convener, took charge of the meeting. The motto which was prepared by Mrs. Lazier and read by Mrs. Arnold Mitchell, was most interesting.

Rebekah Officers Installed

The regular meeting of Quinteva Rebekah Lodge No. 133, Belleville, was held recently during which the installation of officers for the 1972-1973 term was held.

The meeting was opened by the presiding Noble Grand, Sister Grace Akey, who welcomed guests from Niagara Falls, Madoc, Tweed and other lodges in the district. A warm welcome was also extended to the members.

After the regular business of the lodge was conducted, The District Deputy President, Sister Alice Adams was introduced by her daughter Sister Elda Sopha, PNG, who presented her with a sheaf of red roses on behalf of her husband. Sister Adams was warmly welcomed by the Noble Grand and all those present.

The retiring Noble Grand, Sister Akey, was presented with her Past Officers' Jewel by the District Deputy President and escorted to her office of Junior Past Noble Grand.

The ceremony of installation of the officers for the 1972-1973 term was conducted by the Deputy Marshal, Sister Elda Sopha, PNG, with a number of others assisting.

The officers for the forthcoming year are as follows: Noble Grand, Anne Haagsma; Vice Grand, Eileen Salisbury; Jr. Past Noble Grand, Grace Akey, PNG; recording secretary, Bettie Anderson, PNG; financial secretary, Leon MacMillan; treasurer, Annis Webb; warden, Ella Mason; conductor, Ruth McMullen; chaplain, Evelyn Calberry; musician, Phyllis Burley, PDDP; color bearer, Barbara Deslio; RSNG, Rhea Mitchell, PNG; LSNG, Jill Eccles, PDDP; RSVG, Helen Miller, PDDP; LSVG, Margaret Nowenski; inside guardian, Winnifred Way and outside guardian, Lillian Williams.

The elected and appointed officers were installed into their respective offices by the Deputy Marshal, Sister Elda Sopha, PNG, through a guard of honor. The guard of honor included: Gladys Bonsor, Marilyn Chalwyn, Judy Sero, Beverley Mckerracher, Phyllis Wing, Ann Kelly, Marilyn Stobbard and Nelda O'Neill.

During and after the ceremony of installation, Dorothy Webber sang three beautiful selections appropriate for the occasion. Doris Clark also contributed a lovely solo during the meeting.

District Deputy President, Sister Alice Adams, expressed thanks and appreciation to Quinteva Rebekah Lodge for the honor of representing the members of the Lodge; also the Lodges in the District. Sister Adams outlined the program for the coming year which the president of the Rebekah Assembly has laid down and hoped that all Members of the Order would help in seeing that it is fulfilled. She thanked the installing team for their excellent work during installation, and conveyed congratulations and best wishes to the incoming Noble Grand and to the officers.

The incoming Noble Grand, Anne Haagsma, expressed her sincere thanks to the members of Quinteva Rebekah Lodge. Her motto for the year is "Peace and Harmony", and with the help and assistance of all members, felt that this goal would be achieved.

Many lovely gifts and good wishes were presented to the Noble Grand, including a sheaf of red roses from her husband and young daughter.

After the close of lodge, a banquet was served by Sister Maud Craig and her group, and the Noble Grand's color scheme of yellow was carried

50th Anniversary Celebrated

CANNIFTON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews of Cannifton celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

There was a dining reception held at Hotel Quinte, where 65 relatives and friends gathered to honor the couple.

Gold mums and a three-tier anniversary cake made by Mrs. Charles Freemantle, only daughter, centred the honorary table.

Stan Hawthorne provided organ music. Rev. D. Hawkins was master of ceremonies and proposed a toast to the honored couple. Mrs. Alma McCurdy, a dear and close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Mathews', was a special guest for the evening.

Many gifts, cards and flower arrangements were received from family, friends and relatives. There were also telegram congratulations received from England.

Another highlight of the evening was the attendance of a great niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. T. Somerville of Portsmouth, England who have arrived in Canada on their honeymoon. They were presented with suitable gifts from relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews were married on Sept. 25 in London, England. Mrs. Mathews was the former Rachel Cannons. After their marriage the couple moved to Canada and have lived here since Oct. 13, 1922.

Mr. Mathews' is a retired employee from H. Corby Distillery, where he was employed for 33 years. The honored couple have one daughter Mrs. Charles Freemantle of Cannifton and four grandchildren.

CRTC Right to License Cable TV Challenged

OTTAWA (CP) — A court action challenging the authority of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission to license cable television companies has been launched in the Federal Court of Canada.

Launched by Teleprompter Cable Communications Corp. of New York, it is the first suit initiated by a cable system against the commission and is regarded as a test case.

The commission obtained authority for regulating cable under the Broadcasting Act in 1968. Many cable operators opposed regulation by the CRTC before the commission took over, and some still object. The jurisdiction issue has been argued before in lower-court actions initiated by the CRTC against cable operators.

Teleprompter alleges that the CRTC sent a letter, dated July 20, ordering the company's Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., system to close down because it had been operating without a licence since April, 1959. The prompter was given 30 days from July 30 to shut down the operation.

Teleprompter says the system receives television signals from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and distributes them to its subscribers along with programs originated in its own studio.

The cable company argues that it is a closed circuit operation not involved in radio communication under the Broadcasting Act.

Teleprompter says the CRTC letter constitutes a threat which would affect negotiations to sell the cable system, and asks for Federal Court to declare that it isn't a broadcasting undertaking and isn't required to obtain a CRTC licence to operate.

The CRTC is appealing a ruling by Federal Court, Judge Louis Pratte allowing Teleprompter to go ahead with the suit. The commission had sought to stop the court action on the grounds that the CRTC is not an entity that can be sued.

Quebec Separation French Catastrophe

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec separation would have a catastrophic effect on French-speaking communities elsewhere in Canada, historian Mason Wade said Tuesday.

Mr. Wade, recently-retired senior history professor at the University of Western Ontario and author of a book called The French-Canadians, told a literary society meeting that while Quebec has traditionally ignored other French-speaking communities in Canada, these communities credit Quebec with recognition of the French fact in Canada and the establishment of federal bilingualism policies.

Mr. Wade, who has spent 17 years studying the French-speaking Acadians in the Maritimes, said French-speaking Maritimers had been isolated from Quebec since colonial times and had developed a tradition of accomodation rather than confrontation.

Still Divided

Map locates Pakistan, which is still fighting to quell separatism, subdue bitter language divisions and forge a new federal system following the breakaway of Bangladesh, once East Pakistan. Two small and poor provinces, Baluchistan and North West Frontier, are stepping up their demands for greater freedom from central control, while summer language riots in Sind, were tied to the provincial rights issue. Punjab, which holds 65 per cent of Pakistans population and supplies a disproportionate number of its business and government leaders insists on a strong central government. (CP Newsmap)

Welch Did Not State Welfare Would Be Cut

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Welch, Ontario provincial secretary for social development, said Tuesday that welfare assistance for short-term unemployed should be paid at a level which encourages recipients to return to the work force.

He said the time has come to divide those on municipal welfare rolls into two groups—the temporarily unemployed and those considered to be unemployable.

Mr. Welch said there have been some abuses of the welfare system and the best way to overcome this may be to take the permanently unemployable off the municipal welfare rolls and put them on family benefits.

He said rash generalizations are not the answer to the problem and that he does not favor the idea of forcing welfare recipients to work for their money, but would rather provide incentives to ensure that the temporarily unemployed return to the work force as quickly as jobs are available.

In reporting an address by Mr. Welch in Arnaud, Ont., Monday night, The Canadian Press erroneously said Mr. Welch indicated that welfare assistance for short-term unemployed would be reduced in the near future.

To Restore Old Fort

QUEBEC (CP) — Artillery Park, located inside the old walls of the city, will get an extensive facelifting thanks to a $16 million restoration program announced Tuesday by Jean Chretien, federal minister of Indian affairs and northern development.

Mr. Chretien said the area, which includes fortifications dating back to 1693 and soldiers' barracks built in 1749, is to be turned into a national park during the eight-year restoration program scheduled to get under way in 1973.

The project calls for construction of a centre detailing the history of the French regime in Canada, a reception area for visitors and a park, as well as low-rental housing, federal government offices, boutiques, restaurants and parking facilities for 1,000 cars.

McKeough Ponders Leaving Politics

TORONTO (CP) — Darcy McKeough, who resigned in September as provincial treasurer after a land deal controversy, said Tuesday he is thinking of leaving politics.

He said in an interview he has had several 'job offers outside politics, which he is thinking about.

"I am not going to rush into anything," he added.

Mr. McKeough resigned his cabinet post after it was disclosed his department approved plans for a Chatham subdivision in which he had a financial interest.

The incident led to Premier William Davis setting out guidelines for ministers to follow to avoid conflicts of interest.

Mr. McKeough said he has not yet made the transition from cabinet minister to backbencher. He was given the post of the treasurer's second office, but "I expect they will find me another nook somewhere when the session starts."

He said he took a week-long trip to the Arctic as gulest of an oil company after his resignation.

"I paid for it myself," he added.

He has used his spare time to take a trip to Florida, catch up on some gardening, read government reports and work in his hometown area of Chatham in the federal election campaign.

Polling Booth Is Ruled Unsafe

MARKDALE, Ont. (CP) — Officials in this village 25 miles southeast of Owen Sound are in a bit of a quandary about what to do for election night headquarters next Monday.

Their proposed headquarters, which also was to be used for voting booths, was closed Tuesday.

John Black, returning officer for Wellington-Grey-Dufferin-Waterloo, said engineers acting on orders of village council, investigated the Markdale Community Centre and ruled that it was structurally unsafe.

"The building looks as safe as it did 10 years ago," Mr. Black said. He did not know when the brick building was built but said "it is not old."

He said the building's weakness was reported to be in its steel framework.

Mr. Black said officials may try to locate a store for their election headquarters.

Anniversary

GOGAMA, Ont. (CP) — Residents of this North Ontario community celebrate the 50th anniversary of its founding this weekend.

Festivities begin Friday with dances and a fireworks display Saturday evening.

Judge Holds That Shows Exceed Moral Standards

GALT, Ont. (CP) — Judge John McCormick Tuesday fined a theatre owner and two male performers $150 each for staging shows he declared "far exceeded the moral standards of the over-all Canadian community."

The judge said sex was the main purpose of the March 13 show at the Foxy Theatre in nearby Bespeler, featuring a male and female performer.

Theatre owner Wayne Lesser, 24, of Kitchener, was fined $150 and costs for allowing an indecent act.

He was also fined $50 for assaulting Daniel Neath who he struck with a baseball bat when he caught him peering through a window at the male performers.

William Ian Dennison, 21, and Julie Yvonne Holden, 20, both of Kitchener, were fined for performing an indecent act.

University Head Hits Fee Boost

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — B. C. Matthews, president of the University of Waterloo, said Monday that the more than doubled fees for graduate students and further increases of that kind, are moves in the wrong direction.

"As taxpayers, none of us will deny there is a limit to public spending on education," he told a service club. "But instead of numerical limits on enrolment, the government has increased the cost to the individual student.

"That kind of policy will tend to mean money rather than ability will become a question that determines whether students stay in school."

Mr. Matthews also said Ottawa and international agencies should begin concentrated job forecasting studies to solve graduate unemployment problems.

"My plea is for more sophisticated studies for the period four to 10 years hence," he said, adding that universities have been blamed for the problem but can do little about it.

Colleges Recruit Students

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The principal of Queen's University said Tuesday that some Ontario universities now are actively competing for students and such aggressive recruiting could have undesirable effects.

John J. Deutsch told the university's senate that competition for students in the face of declining enrolments "could descend into a numbers game."

Several post-secondary institutions have suffered "financial embarrassment" this year, he said, because the government's operating grants are based on enrolment.

Dr. Deutsch said that such a system of financing was appropriate in the 1960s, a period of rapid expansion of enrolment, but now is unfeasible because the rate of growth has almost ceased at many universities.

OHC Rent Said High

TORONTO (CP) — An association representing low-income apartment residents here called on the Ontario Housing Corp. Tuesday night to fix a minimum of 20 per cent of income instead of the present 25 per cent to go for rent in low-income housing.

The Regent Park Community Improvement Association made the recommendation at a meeting of several hundred low-income tenants.

Neil E. Tanner, an association representative, suggested that people in OHC dwellings are paying "too large a percentage of their income for rent."

He said the average Canadian family pays only 15.9 per cent of income for rent or mortgage purposes.

The 20 per cent, he said, should be calculated from net income after deductions for income tax, Canada Pension and other payments.

Court to Rule If Forces Can Oust Mother

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — The United States Supreme Court agreed Tuesday to decide whether the armed services may continue to discharge women in uniform for becoming pregnant.

Over government protests, the high court agreed to hear the appeal of Air Force Capt. Susan Struck, a nurse who became pregnant in Vietnam in 1970.

When her baby was born, Miss Struck surrendered it for adoption but the air force, citing a long-standing regulation, ordered her honorably discharged. The discharge was held up by court order.

Oxford, Harvard Profs Share Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The 1972 Nobel Prize in economics was awarded today by the Swedish Science Academy jointly to John R. Hicks of Oxford University and Kenneth J. Arrow of Harvard University for their pioneering contribution to general economic equilibrium theory and welfare theory."

The prize, officially called the Alfred Nobel Memorial Prize in Economics, was instituted in 1969. Last year's award went to another Harvard Economist, Professor Simon Kuznets.

The prize was set up by the Swedish National Bank—the world's oldest—in connection with its 300th anniversary in 1968. It carries the same prize money as the other Nobel awards, 480,000 crowns ($98,100).

Course Cut

OTTAWA (CP) — In what appears to be a move to churn out more bilingual public servants, the federal government is chopping nine weeks from its language school programs. The reduction of the 35-week courses to 27 weeks is almost complete, a treasury board spokesman said Tuesday. Last week, the Montreal paper Le Devoir published the findings of a 16-volume government report on bilingualism in the public service which said the government's 1975 goal would not be reached without drastic changes in present programs.

Entry of Britain Into Common Market Seen Loosening Ties with Canada

FREDERICTON (CP) — Britain's entry into the European Common Market has resulted in a loosening of the ties between Britain and Canada, Sir Max Aitken, chairman of the Beaverbrook newspaper group in England, said Tuesday.

Noting in an interview that economic and cultural ties between Great Britain and Canada "have already been loosened," Sir Max said, "I think it is absolutely disgraceful."

"I'm entirely in favor of trade between Great Britain and Europe. I agree with that in every possible way. But, it should not let Britain take its eyes off the Commonwealth or the old Commonwealth countries, because that is where our heritage is, and I believe that is where our trade could be."

Sir Max, chancellor of the University of New Brunswick, is here to preside over the University's fall convocation today. He met with the UNB board of governors Tuesday.

Referring to the fighting in Northern Ireland, Sir Max said he believed the situation there would "simmer down" shortly. He warned, however, that if the British army were withdrawn from Northern Ireland now there would be civil war.

"The problem in Northern Ireland has been a long one. There has been the Irish question for many years. It go a lot tougher and the poor British army had to go in and try and keep the peace between the Protestants and Catholics, which is a very unhappy role."

Sir Max described the war in Vietnam as a "terribly sad episode for America." The American people had entered the war believing they were "stopping communism from coming down into India."

"Whether there will be peace by the time of the (U.S.)-election is hard to say. I would think Nixon wants it very much."

U.S. Cash Said Sent To IRA

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Desmond O'Malley, the Republic of Ireland's Justice minister, said Tuesday night that United States money finances a "campaign of violence" in Northern Ireland and warned Americans not to be duped into giving money which might end up in the hands of the Irish Republican Army.

In a prepared address for the Emerald Association of Long Island, O'Malley said: "Much of the money to finance the IRA campaign of violence (in Ulster) is coming from the United States," and "to contribute money to the IRA is to damage, grievously, the interests of Ireland and the Irish people."

St. Thomas Can't Fill All Jobs

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP) — Business and industry here are facing a shortage of workers and there is a fear the number of jobs available cannot be filled locally, a city official says.

Alderman Donald Hitch, president of the St. Thomas Industrial and Commercial Development Corp., said Tuesday his group is planning "in the near future and in co-operation with Manpower to send teams to high-unemployment areas to seek workers for local job positions."

Ald. Hitch said about 35 local industries are having problems finding workers.

"... There are job opportunities for the unskilled, the semi-skilled and skilled that are going unfilled."

Ald. Hitch said industry representatives, along with Manpower and education officials, are willing to travel to the Maritimes and the Cornwall area to look for workers.

He said there are 700 persons on unemployment rolls in Elgin County, about 2.2 per cent of the work force. Half of them are women. He said there are more than 200 job openings in St. Thomas.

New Jets To Be Used

TORONTO (CP) — Transair plans to begin service between Winnipeg and Toronto using its new F-28 jetliners Oct. 29, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

The company held a pre-inaugural invitational flight using the 65-seat aircraft with stops at Dryden, Thunder Bay, Sault Ste. Marie and back to Toronto.

Robert Scott, eastern services manager, said the new aircraft will be used at least twice a week on the regular flight between Winnipeg and Toronto with stops at Kenora, Dryden, Thunder Bay and Sault Ste. Marie.

On days with heavier traffic, the company will continue to use its 115-seat Boeing 737 jets he said.

Mr. Scott said the F-28 jets cruise at the same speed as the larger jets but have added flight stability, less smoke emission and are quieter.

China to Pay

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said Tuesday that during his recent trip to China Premier Chou En-lai told him China would pay for Canadian goods that had been on order or delivered there before the Chinese revolution in 1949, but has never done so.

In an interview, Mr. Sharp said, the Canadian goods amounted to several million dollars.

Mr. Sharp said he was told by the premier that China always meets its obligations.

THE LUCK OF GINGER COFFEY — Brian Moore

A story about a lovable Irish immigrant who goes to Montreal and collides painfully with harsh reality; jobs are scarce, people are inhuman, his marriage is shaky, and the odds against him multiply with nightmarish force. But Ginger emerges undefeated, a real hero in this funny, sometimes tragic, tale.

RENDEZVOUS — SOUTH ATLANTIC — Douglas Reeman

By 1941 when she became an armed merchant cruiser, the SS Benecula was tired and old. But even she was needed to protect vital sea lanes, and her new captain Commander Andrew Lindsay, had to transform her into a ship of war. Many of his company were green recruits; others were resentful of change and In the wastes of the Arctic and later in the Atlantic, Commander Lindsay had to use all his determination to give his command the one chance she needed to prove herself.

LISTEN FOR THE WHISPERER — Phyllis A. Whitney

A new and spell - binding story of romance and suspense set out on the beautiful and rugged coast of Norway. The characters include a young American girl, fulfilling her dying father's wish to seek out the mother she always resented. A handsome young Norwegian tries to help her, as well as a retired actress, once famous but now haunted by the memory of a terrible evil.

THE INNOCENTS — Margery Sharp

This heavenly English story is set in a small town on the English coast. The narrator, an elderly old maid who has developed from being merely the vicar's daughter into being an apparently sweet and respectable pillar of society, finds herself playing mother to a little girl named Antonette. Antonette is a retarded child who is stranded in England by the outbreak of the Second World War, whilst her parents are in New York. When the war is over, the child's mother arrives to claim her, and a crisis arises that is solved in a very curious manner.

PURE AS THE LILY — Catharine Cookson

This is the story of a family, spanning the years from the depression in the thirties, through the war, and up to the present day; a family fragmented by the frustration and bitterness of one woman, and pieced together again by the love and compassion of another. Mrs. Cookson writes with great perception, honesty and understanding of the people of Tyneside, the setting for this novel.

NOT ALL THY TEARS — Frank Swinnerton

Mr. Swinnerton's new novel concerns an English family, the Hardcastles, Simeon, the temporary head of a publishing firm, his wife, Cynthia, an invalid, and their three daughters, and their confrontation with domestic and business crises.

MAGNIFICAT — Carolyn and Edmund Sheehan

A charming fantasy about an irresistible cat. Nemrod is rescued from a blinding sleetstorm by a bishop and manages to save the life of his master and those of all the worshippers in his Cathedral. But this is only the beginning of the story. For his brave act, Nemrod is transported to a thoroughly automated and computerized Heaven, where his entrance before the Heavenly Throne sets off what almost amounts to war between Heaven and Hell.

Eldorado

ELDORADO — Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blackburn on the arrival of a new baby girl.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Blackburn on the arrival of a new grandson. The proud parents are Harold and Marlene Corfield.

Mr. Bruce Sine of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Brian McBride and Mark of Renfrew spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sine.

Jack Diamond Has Plans

Plaza to Become Mall for Birthday

A new look is in the works for the Belleville Plaza, beginning this winter with construction of a roof over the entire shopping complex.

Coinciding with the 10th anniversary of the plaza, owners have now released plans that will turn the plaza into a mall and could increase its size and range of stores.

The project, slated to begin March 1, will cost between $850,000 to $1 million, providing main entrances at each end of the plaza with several small boutiques near the doors.

Jack Diamond, representing D. J. Whalen Real Estate, property managers of the plaza, said negotiations are proceeding for the inclusion of a large chain store . . . which will be built at either the east or west wall of the plaza."

The company's name could not be released.

Mr. Diamond felt that the business of the 36 stores on the shopping complex would not be disturbed and that most of the tenants were offering their support.

Vandalism, which has in the past been a problem for merchants, will be reduced once the roof is completed.

The entire complex will be locked up over night, with security guards posted about the mall.

Several inquiries have been coming in, concerning the possibility of extra store space and "we feel the project will be a great boost to the plaza," said Mr. Diamond.

Warning Signal Cost Approved

WALLBRIDGE (Staff) — Sidney township council last night approved payment of its portion of the cost for warning lights and bells at the White's Road CP rail crossing.

The crossing, scene of serious accidents in recent years, will require a $14,000 warning system. Annual maintenance cost will be about $633.

Through cost-sharing programs, the Canadian Transport Commission will pay 80 percent of the cost of signals, Sidney 15% percent, and CP Rail 4½ percent.

Half the cost of maintenance will be paid by Sidney.

Not All Toeing Line

By TOM DOUGLAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The various national party headquarters appear to have given local candidates a long tether in the Oct. 30 federal election campaign.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that the Trudeaumania of the 1968 campaign, where most Liberal candidates were happy to cash in on the popularity of Pierre Trudeau, has no counterpart in the current campaign, nor has there been an attempt other parties to emulate it.

In some cases, local candidates have come out strongly on the other side of an issue from the stand taken by their leader.

Controversy over a second Toronto international airport, which the federal government proposes to build near Pickering, Ont., about 30 miles east of the provincial capital, has set both Progressive Conservative and Liberal candidates at odds with their leaders.

A strong anti-airport group called Pickering or Planes has been lobbying for scrapping the airport idea ever since the project was announced last spring.

Earlier this month, Mike Starr, Conservative candidate in Oshawa-Whitby, said his riding was destined to be the fastest-growing area of the province and he could not visualize the predicted growth without the presence of the new airport.

Only two days previously, Conservative leader Robert Stanfield had said that a strong case for a second airport had not been made and he felt the project might well be undesirable.

In Ottawa West, Mr. Trudeau's seat on hand to open the campaign headquarters of Lloyd Francis, but Mr. Francis has been publicly critical of the government's method of implementing its bilingual policy in the federal civil service.

Gordon Blair, Liberal candidate for Grenville-Carleton, avoids mentioning both his party and the prime minister in his newspaper advertising.

In Manitoba, Supply Minister James Richardson, running in Winnipeg South, uses a huge lawn sign that mentions neither Mr. Trudeau nor the Liberal party. It simply says: "Vote for Jim Richardson. He works for us."

Of the four major parties, the New Democrats appear to be the most cohesive, with candidates across the country identifying fairly closely with David Lewis and his attack against "corporate welfare bums."

C. P. (Paddy) Neale, NDP hopeful in the Vancouver East riding, said the British Columbia wing of the party "has been absolutely delighted by Mr. Lewis' campaign."

The campaign put on by David Lewis has been without a doubt the best in the history of the NDP," said Mr. Neale, secretary - treasurer of the Vancouver and District Labor Council, whose own campaign office is festooned with portrait posters of the NDP leader, and a single word: "Lewis!"

Tories Suggest Land Bank

OTTAWA (CP) — A Conservative plan to deal with the rising cost of housing includes federal funds for residential land banks and elimination of the 11-per-cent tax on building materials.

The party also said in an urban affairs policy paper that a Conservative government would provide incentives to encourage mass production of housing materials.

In a transportation policy paper released at the same time Tuesday, the last two papers to be issued before the election, the party said the Trans-Canada Highway should be upgraded and a new roads-to-resources plan implemented.

On housing, the party said land costs have spiralled to the point where home ownership is beyond the reach of many Canadians. A Conservative government would set up a federal fund with provincial participation to help establish residential land bank agencies throughout Canada.

The party also said a Conservative government would review with the provinces the federal role in inter-city transportation. This would be aimed at providing cheaper transportation within and between cities.

Changing Scene

PC's Ad Pensioner Intends to Vote Grit

TORONTO (CP) — Ethel Neilson, an 85-year-old pensioner who appeared in a television commercial prepared for the Progressive Conservatives in the commercial servatives, says she intends to vote for the Liberals Oct. 30.

Miss Neilson, who complained about high food prices, said in an interview Tuesday that she was annoyed about finding herself in a Conservative commercial.

She said she was not told the film shot on a busy downtown street, would be used for political purposes.

"If they'd told me that, I wouldn't have said anything," she complained.

Miss Neilson said she was interviewed outside a department store by a woman who said she was conducting a survey. Miss Neilson talked to the interviewer about pensioners' problems and about the fact food prices had increased.

A Conservative spokesman here said, however, that Miss Neilson had signed a form allowing the party to broadcast the filmed interview.

Miss Neilson admitted signing a paper, but said she didn't read it. She also remembers receiving $1.

Caouette Predicts Minority

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Real Caouette, leader of the Social Credit Party, predicted Tuesday that a minority Liberal or Conservative government will be elected during the Oct. 30 federal election. He also said his party will equal or better its 1965 federal election record when they won 26 Quebec seats.

Mr. Caouette said at a news conference that his party has a good chance of winning seats in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, as well as in Quebec.

He said his party would not join any coalition in the event of a minority government but would support the party whose policies coincided with its own.

Conservatives Claim Metro Boost

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto succumbed to Trudeaumania in 1968 when nearly 800,000 voters elected Liberals in 18 of its 21 ridings.

Only three New Democrats survived that avalanche and no Progressive Conservative came within 4,000 votes of getting elected in what once was known as Tory Toronto.

Now, with a new election five days away, the resurgent Conservatives are laying claim to at least half the 21 seats in the packed ridings of Metro Toronto's two million people.

They have two winners on their rolls but both of these were elected as Liberals in 1968 and since then have switched to the Conservative party.

Paul Hellyer in 1969 swamped his Conservative and NDP opponents in Trinity and went on to become a member of Prime Minister Trudeau's cabinet. He quit the government over housing policy three years ago and this year joined the Tories.

Perry Ryan easily swept a three-man field in 1968 but later left the Liberal party in disillusionment.

Now Mr. Hellyer faces four opponents including Liberal Aileen Nicholson, her party's only woman candidate in Ontario. Mr. Ryan is contending with five opponents.

The ruling Liberals' only concession is that Toronto generally—a total of 25 candidates in 22 ridings—has more than in 1968 six contesting the 21 seats—looks like a good three-party fight. Some tough contests are expected in Scarborough West, Lakeshore and York West.

The NDP is making a strong bid in all three and the battle is expected to be particularly rough in industrial Scarborough West. There Stephen Lewis, former national NDP Leader David Lewis, is campaigning hard for John Harney, a professor and party's leadership. The young Lewis, who holds part of the riding provincially, is the party's provincial leader.

Teacher Terry Grier, a political scientist and former provincial NDP secretary, is campaigning against Kenneth Robinson in Lakeshore. Mr. Robinson won the seat four years ago with Mr. Grier second.

Former Toronto mayor Philip Givens won York West in the last election but quit federal politics to run provincially. Lakeshore Jim Fleming is in a strong chance of holding that seat for the Liberals in the four opponents.

RENE BRUNELLE

Day Care Centres Facing Cutbacks

CHATHAM (CP) — Ontario can expect some "major constraints" next year on capital spending for homes for the aged and day care centres, Rene Brunelle, provincial social and family services minister, said Tuesday.

Speaking to representatives of area social service agencies, he said the reduction in capital spending on homes will be accompanied by an effort to make greater use of the community services available now.

Senior citizens will be encouraged to stay in their own homes, to use meals and health care agencies to help them.

In an interview later, he said he was not sure just how extensive the cut in capital spending might be. The ministry spent $7 million on new homes for the aged during the last fiscal year.

Mr. Brunelle said day care centres also will feel the effects of a federal provincial effort to contain costs. Ontario spent about $50 last year on a program intended to improve care for children and to provide winter jobs.

He said the planned cuts are justified "because people are being taxed now—municipally, provincially and federally—about as far as it can go."

EATS ON SIGHT

The stomach of the Australian emu has revealed such diverse objects as glass marbles, nail, cartridge cases and money.

Ottawa Accused of Financing U.S. War Effort

MONTREAL (CP) — The department of industry, trade and commerce awarded more than $458 million between 1967 and 1971 to 154 companies in Canada producing war materials for the United States government, says a report released Tuesday.

The report—How to Make a Killing—says the federal government supported selected development programs, paid half the cost of modernizing plant and supported establishment of production of components and materials destined for use by U.S. forces in Indochina.

The report says that 45 of the 154 companies were American owned. The companies received 60 per cent of the money granted by the Canadian government.

PAUL HELLYER

Hellyer Offers New Twist

TORONTO (CP) — Paul Hellyer has steered about as sigzag a course as anyone in recent Canadian political history, and one more twist comes up on election day.

The voters of Toronto Trinity, who have sent him to Parliament seven times as a Liberal, now find him on the ballot as a Progressive Conservative. Since they last met him at the polls, he also has been founder-leader of a grouping called Action Canada.

The compass will swing all the way around should tall, personable Mr. Hellyer be elected and the Conservatives reach power. For the 49-year-old candidate, who has held two major portfolios in Liberal administrations, undoubtedly would be called into leader Robert Stanfield's cabinet.

Trinity is the focus of considerable attention from political connoisseurs for another reason beyond the Hellyer national status. It should do something to settle the perpetually intriguing problem—at least to the backroom boys—of whether the electorate votes for the candidate or the party.

However, there are some factors in Trinity, located in west-central Toronto, that could serve to blur a clear-cut decision on this point. One is that the 81,000 persons in the riding are largely "ethnic"—36,000 Italians alone—making it a far from representative Canadian voting bloc.

Another complication is that Mr. Hellyer is running against a Liberal woman, the only one the governing party has nominated in 88-seat Ontario.

She is Aileen Nicholson, a career woman in the social field who has never before run for office but who has already demonstrated that she is an able and determined campaigner. Starting from scratch and with the help of only a handful of friends, Irish-born Miss Nicholson had to fight for the nomination in the face of a distinct lack of enthusiasm from the party establishment.

"I have no complaints against being assisted by the party brass—I think it's pretty well understood that candidates are on their own until hey get the nomination," says Miss Nicholson, a former director of women's prisons for the Ontario government who is connected with several welfare institutions.

The only other candidate of the major parties in the field is Montreal-born Ed Boucher, 36, a New Democratic Party organizer who is distinctly an outsider. The NDP polled only about a third of Mr. Hellyer's 13,125 in 1968. For that matter, the Conservatives got less than half.

Smelter Threatens Neighbors

TORONTO (CP) — A family living next to a battery-crushing plant have high lead levels in their bodies, the Ontario environment ministry said Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Nachocki and her daughter, Angela, 5, have "elevated normal" amounts of lead in their bodies and the soil in their backyard contains 6½ times the normal amount of lead, the ministry said.

The figures were released following tests last summer of conditions at homes on Niagara Street next to Toronto Refineries and Smelters Ltd. The company was ordered to shut down its operations in July.

Environment Minister James Auld said Tuesday the plant would not be allowed to resume its battery-crushing operations for the present.

Last summer, 29 other Niagara Street residents, adults and children, volunteered to have their blood tested for lead. Five were found to have lead contents slightly over the normal amount.

Lead affects the brain's nervous system, causing stupor and coma, and also can destroy life-supporting red cells.

Henderson Recalls Emotion Best

NEW YORK (CP) — Three weeks after Moscow, the thing Paul Henderson remembers most vividly about the hockey series between Team Canada and the Soviet national team is the intense, energy-draining emotionism.

"Even when we were behind in the last game, the feeling in the dressing room was that we'd win," he recalled Tuesday at a luncheon here.

For his feat of scoring the winning goal in three of Canada's four victories in the eight-game series, Henderson received a trophy as Life Saver of the Month for Sep ember. He also receives a home-entertainment console.

The 29-year-old Toronto Maple Leafs left winger told reporters he doubted there would be another series in the same format as the one in September in which National Hockey League stars barely edged the Soviet national team 4-3 in victories with one game tied.

"Everything was done the way the Russians wanted it—the rules, the referees, the playing dates. But we beat them, and next time we should set the rules.

The two-referee system is inadequate, he said, and a lot of bolding went unpunished.

"I'm sure if I were to score the winner in Stanley Cup play I would not be more thrilled," he said of his winning goal in the final game.

He expressed appreciation to Canadian fans for picking him as winner in a popularity contest, results of which were announced Monday, and said he is glad teammate Phil Esposito also will get a new car.

"I still would have been my pick," he said.

Henderson also is in the running for a car from the candy company sponsoring the Life Saver awards. Bert Page, a Toronto-born vice-president of Beechnut, pointed out that goalkeeper Ken Dryden of Montreal Canadiens won the car in 1971, as top pick from among 18 mostly winners.

The Toronto forward expressed doubt that the highly disciplined Russian training system would find popularity in Canada.

"The kids will shy away from hockey if you take all the fun out of it," he said.

The North American pro professionals wouldn't put up with such intensive training."

He don't think any body could take it, when you consider we play a 70-game schedule."

Except for the lop-notch Russian Circus, Henderson found little in Europe to enthuse about. He said the Canadians were under constant pressure in a variety of ways and that he was most relieved when he again set foot on Canadian soil.

Keech Counts Twice

Penalties didn't seem to bother Brockville Braves Tuesday night as they downed Hull Festive's 6-4 in the Central Junior Hockey League.

The win leaves Brockville in fourth place, behind Smiths Falls Bears, who lost a bid to move into second place Tuesday, dropping a 4-3 decision to Cornwall Royals in Smiths Falls.

Brockville's first and last goals were scored short handed as they fought back from a 2-1 deficit in the first period and through a scoreless second period, and finally broke loose to score four times in the final 20 minutes.

Steve Keech scored twice in the third period, after Bob Mulcahy had put Braves on the scoreboard in the first period. Marc Brazeau and Perry Hennessey gave Hull the 2-1 lead in the first period, but third period goals by Gilbert Lecavalier and J.P. Menard failed to nail the Brockville tide.

Dave Dal, Steve McCosham and Dave Henry added goals to Keech's pair to put the game away.

TIME TO THINK OF FESTIVE FOODS
Holidays belong to a time-honored custom that makes many people overindulge in food to excess.
We don't want to start thinking of your Christmas cake, pudding and mincemeat, and to be sure, we're not suggesting that you forego your favorite "goodies" forever. But for the time concentrated by the festive season.
We've got a few delicious low-calorie savings baits to keep in mind when you start your Christmas baking. You'll find them, along with two of my favorite Canadian recipes, in the bottom of these pages. Food Mart bring you Helen Down the Week.

Quinte Cross Country Team Wins Second Title

For the second successive year, Quinte S.S. won the Don Bell Trophy for the overall school winner at the Bay of Quinte Cross Country Championships held at the Napanee Golf Course on Monday. Despite the rainfall and the competition from seven other area schools, Quinte won three team championships and placed second in the other two races.

In the girl's one and one half mile race, Henrieke Van Den Bosch of Centennial placed first in a time of 10 minutes 36 seconds, closely followed by Joanne Pelletier and Judy Meeks of Bayside. Quinte, with a team score of 24 (lowscore wins), won the team championship, placing Cindy Ross, Heather Melbourne, Mary Lou Farrell and Iris Bell, fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth respectively.

Paul Hayman of Moira, B. Crawford of BCI, and B. Sinclair of Napanee placed first, second and third in a small handicap race, though the Nicholson team won the championship.

In the closest individual race, Gerald Kennelly of Quinte edged by M. Hannah of BCI, with Mi. Crawford, also of BCI, taking third five seconds behind the winner. The Bayside midget runners, with 27 points won the team championship beating Quinte by four points and BCI by six. Of the 45 runners in the three mile junior race, Quinte again placed well — Barry

JIM THOMPSON

Ray took first. John Shepard third, nosing out Mike Taylor of Napanee. Sandwiched between the two Quinte runners, Bruce Lowry of Trenton took second. Quinte won the team championship with 20 points, followed by Trenton with 28, and Moira with 67.

Jim Thompson, Centennial senior, won the four mile run in a time just under 20 minutes, followed by Gerard Farrell and Roger Ray of Quinte. Tom da Silva of Napanee who came over the line fourth, was the only other runner to break up Quinte's command of the first eight places. In the senior field, Quinte, with 16 points, was very close to the perfect score of 15.

Picton Jrs. Salvage Season

Picton Juniors salvaged some portion of their 1972 Bay of Quinte COSSA football schedule by edging Centennial 7-6 Tuesday in their final game of the season.

Bryce Batter provided the Picton win, scoring their only touchdown on a 25-yard reverse. The local Centennial major came from Kevin Soiseu on a 30-yard conther, but wasn't quite enough to overcome Picton's 7-0 halftime lead.

In the senior contest Centennial closed out their season with a 3-3 mark by downing the winless Picton crew 34-6.

Bob Vanderwaler scored on runs of 50 and 30 yards to help the Chargers to a 20-0 half-time lead. Other majors went to Jeff Fraser, Phil Easton and John Dworsik, while Steve Tilley kicked four of five converts. Linebacker Ed Kafka was a standout for the winners.

Brotherly Love?

At Frontenac Downs in Kingston, there will be little brotherly love between the headliners in the eight horse feature race tonight.

The 11-year-old Earlylakes John, a well - known pacer here, and his 4-year-old half-brother, John's Prince, both sired by Mr. Johnson, have been selected the early favorites by race secretary Bob Morgan.

Also in the featured ninth, Fred Jarrell of Belleville will will be in the bike behind Minado. Other Belleville drivers appearing in the 10 race card will be Larry Zebedee driving Rob Ron Betsy and Flying John in the fourth and tenth respectively; Gerry Walsh behind Lady Violet Direct in the third.

Post time for the card is 7:45 p.m.

Catfish Gets Kingsize Crowd

HERTFORD, N.C. (AP) — Nearly 3,000 people ignored a steady downpour to welcome Jim (Catfish) Hunter back to his hometown Tuesday.

The pitcher for the world champion Oakland Athletics received a hero's welcome complete with parade, fish fry and an awards ceremony at Perquimans County high school where he once was a star pitcher on the baseball team.

The signs on the stores read, "Welcome Home Jimmy."

Before his triumphant ride through town in the parade, Hunter lingered on his father's farm, dressed in old clothes and boots, greeting old friends and talking baseball.

"Winning the series was the best feeling I've ever had in my life," admitted Hunter. "Yes, it meant more than the perfect game (1968)."

Fast Service

Hotel administration student Bill McDougall (left) should know a few of the finer points of speedy service. He, along with partner Don Fuller combined to win the Ontario Collegiate Athletic Association's men's doubles championship in Ottawa last weekend, giving the four man tennis squad the honor of providing Loyalist College with its first-ever OCAA title. The pair have been playing as a team for only a month and a half.

Loyalist Wins First OCAA Championship

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Editor

Authorities have yet to check into illicit sports recruiting practices at Loyalist College, but maybe they should. After all, even Notre Dame can't boast a split end from Peru, Nova Scotia or even an Egyptian placekicker.

Actually, it was academics rather than athletics that drew Loyalist tennis recruits from these distant points to Belleville, but whatever the reason, the result was the first Ontario Collegiate Athletics Association title in the school's four year sports history.

Bill McDougall of Nova Scotia and Belleville's Don Fuller gave Loyalist their initial provincial championship by combining for the men's doubles title.

Despite having played together for only one and a half months the pair managed to blend their individual skills well enough to eliminate 11 other retires in the weekend tournament at Ottawa's Algonquin College.

"Bill's net play and Don's service were a pretty good combination," explained athletics officer Bruce Cameron, who coached the tennis team. "I don't think that Don had to go to the net once."

"Once" corrected the team's Belleville member.

Cameron also felt that the completion of Loyalist's gymnasium had a great deal of bearing on their success. "They worked really hard. Don was in here just about every night. I taped a mark on the wall the same height as a net so he could practice his serves."

The twosome augmented their gym workouts with weekend practice sessions at the Quinte tennis club. McDougall, a first year hotel administration student, has been playing the game six years, while Fuller, in his last year of business admin., has been at it for two and a half years.

The Loyalist team was forced to eliminate Fanshawe and Seneca Colleges before meeting Humber in the provincial finals. They lost the first set by a 7-6 count but rebounded with 6-3 and 6-1 decision to take the title.

Rounding out the Loyalist team were Fouad Farez of Egypt and Belleville's Ron Boudreau. They were eliminated in the consolation round.

Fraser Boosts Wilsons

Last night, for the second time in three games, Wilson's goal tender Vern Fraser kept all of Rollins' shots out of his net, giving the Wilson's first place in the Gas House Hockey League.

While Fraser was keeping them out, Vaughn Cunningham, Pete Enright, Mike McDermott, Harold Babcock and Dave Millar (2) were putting goals into the Rollins' net.

In the other Gas House league game last night, Hospital and Rosebush Fuels ended in a 1-1 tie. George Jacklin scored for Hospital while John Holland put one in for Rosebush.

Towers Trip

Belleville's Towers - Food City Novice Majors of the OMHA were defeated by their Kingston counterparts in a 3-2 decision at the Memorial Arena last night.

Belleville's goals came from Louis Crawford and Larry Hanlon, while Kingston's tallies came from S. Janiper, R. Demerais, and T. Hobbs.

Sparky Catches Managers' Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — George (Sparky) Anderson, molder of the Cincinnati Reds, today was named Manager of the Year in the National League.

Anderson's Reds won their second pennant in three seasons and he beat Pittsburgh skipper Bill Virdon in an Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters for results.

The margin was 371 to 179 for

SPARKY ANDERSON

Anderson, in balloting conducted before the National League playoffs and World Series. Montreal's Gene Mauch was a distant third with seven votes.

Cincinnati lost in seven games to Oakland Athletics in the World Series that ended Sunday. Anderson's Western Division the 1970 series to Baltimore Orioles 4-1.

The Reds won the Western Division of the National League by 4½ games this season while Virdon's Pirates breezed by 11 games in the East. Then, Cincinnati beat the Pirates 3-2 in the playoff for the pennant.

"It feels real good to know awards are won because the team did well," said the 38-year-old Anderson, who once managed Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League.

"I really wanted this award. I felt everybody I appreciate it."

The former second baseman, who spent 18 of his 19 playing years in the minor leagues, was sitting in his office at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium when he heard the news.

Anderson, a native of Bridgewater, S.D., broke into baseball as an infielder with Santa Barbara of the California League in 1953. He played in the big majors only in 1959 with Philadelphia Phillies.

Anderson hit .218 with the Phils and earned a trip back to the minors where he batted four seasons at Toronto before turning to managing with the Maple Leafs in 1969.

He bounced around after that, engineering pennant winners at Modesto and Asheville.

Then, San Diego Padres appointed him as a coach in 1970 and he guided the Cincinnati fired Dave Bristol, he was hired to manage the Reds.

He took them to the NL pennant in 1970 before losing in World Series to Baltimore. In 1971, Cincinnati finished fourth in the Western Division.

Then came 1972, and another Cincinnati pennant.

No Action Planned Against Umpires

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — No formal disciplinary action is planned against any of the umpires whose names were found written in a book seized last month during a Baltimore area gambling raid, major league baseball officials said Tuesday.

Richard Butler, supervisor of American League umpires said that on the basis of what he has been told by law enforcement officials, he will not recommend action be taken by league president Joe Cronin.

Butler said 'one minor item' concerning a notebook is still being investigated by baseball officials, but "I anticipate nothing will come of it. . . . This is all but a closed case."

Butler and Henry Fitzgibbon, major league security chief, met with reporters after discussing the situation with Col. Thomas S. Smith, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, and Samuel Green, Baltimore County state's attorney.

"Based on what I know, we should have this wrapped up by the commissioner's hands within two to three weeks," Butler said.

None of the men would reveal the 11 names found in a notebook seized in a raid on the suburban home of Albert Isella, a self-confessed bookmaker now facing charges of bookmaking, lottery and two related gambling counts.

Neither would they comment on published reports quoting Isella as saying the roster was part of "my Christmas card list" and contained the names of at least two retired umpires and one who have died, including Edward Hurley.

Smith and Green reiterated that they found no criminal wrongdoing involving any baseball umpires, although Smith said there was the possibility further checking of other information could involve other sports.

Sport Briefs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali clowned his way through four exhibition bouts Tuesday night, dancing, shuffling and leaning against the ropes while his opponents flailed away futilely. He even fell down once, obviously on purpose.

Afterward, Ali, nearly became involved in a fight with a fan in the crowd. He jumped out of the ring, apparently as a joke, but the fan took it seriously. Policemen kept them apart.

NEW YORK (AP) — Funeral service for former baseball great Jackie Robinson will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Riverside Church here, it was announced Tuesday. Robinson, 53, the first Negro player in baseball's major leagues and a member of the Hall of Fame, died Tuesday from heart disease.

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuter) — Liverpool, the English Soccer League leader, won 3-0 against Greek club A.E.K. Athens in their UEFA Cup match here Tuesday night. The odds were against the Greeks in their second-round first-leg match against a side which has won its last 16 home games and only lost once at home in their last 39 home games.

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes are in search for a backup quarterback continues after one candidate turned up lame Tuesday.

The Eastern Football Conference club had hoped that Jim Chasey, who performed for the Alouettes last season and for part of this year before being cut, would fill the bill. However, he injured his leg while playing rugger at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire and failed to pass a medical examination Tuesday.

The Als, with only one game remaining in their regular-season schedule, a visit to Regina for a game against Saskatchewan Roughriders Sunday, were left with only one quarterback after Sunday's 17-7 home loss to Ottawa Rough Riders.

Sonny Wade suffered a bruised bone in his neck near the end of the game and will be sidelined for the remainder of the season.

The injury to Wade left the Als with only George Mira in the quarterback position.

Sanderson Burns in Box While Blazers Doused

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Derek Sanderson injected a bit of color into professional hockey when he was with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League and it was expected he would do the same with Philadelphia Blazers of the new World Hockey Association.

So far, he has not disappointed the fans.

The controversial centre, who jumped the Bruins this year to join the Blazers, picked up two 10-minute misconduct penalties and a game misconduct Tuesday night as the Blazers were beaten 5-3 by Winnipeg Jets. It was Philadelphia's sixth loss in six games.

In other games, Quebec Les Nordiques defeated Houston Aeros 5-3, Alberta Oilers and Chicago Cougars played to a 3-3 tie and New England Whalers bye-aged Cleveland Crusaders 3-2.

Sanderson, one of 1972 best checkers on the ice, complained earlier Tuesday that he was being checked, repeatedly in the WHA.

"Guys I've never heard of are running around like angry tigers trying to check me," he said. "They don't respect a guy anymore.

Despite the close checking he says he is receiving, Sanderson still managed to score a goal Tuesday night—the first goal in the game — but it was not enough to spark his team.

Although the Blazers were leading 3-3 in the final period, persistent checking and skating paid off for the Jets and Wally Boyer tied the score at the 4:16 mark. Then Norm Beaudin scored two goals, the last at 19:41, to stop the Blazers.

It was Beaudin's goal that caused out-of-step Sanders to, but John McKenzie, the playing-coach and a team-mate with Sanderson on the Boston team. McKenzie, sidelined with a broken jaw, has been known to the ice and was given a bench penalty, while Sanderson argued with referee Art Skov. He received misconduct and a game misconduct. It was his second game of the season.

Besides Beaudin and Boyer, Gary Rissling and Christian Bordeleau scored for the Jets in America, and ever black man is trying to break down racial barriers—in baseball and everywhere."

Robinson will best be remembered for that day in April, 1947, when he played left field for the Dodgers, breaking the ancient color barrier which had blotted the record of the national pastime.

It was called "the noble experiment," and the two key figures were Robinson, the athlete, and Branch Rickey, boss of the Dodgers. Rickey had hand-picked Robinson to be the pioneer, because he knew it would take more than just athletic skill for the experiment to be a success.

"They'll taunt you and goad you," Rickey told Robinson.

"They'll do anything to make you react. They'll try to provoke a race riot in the ball park.

"Robinson, I'm looking for a ballplayer with guts enough not to react."

And Jackie was that ballplayer—because he was an extraordinary man.

Robinson was born Jan. 31,

JACKIE ROBINSON

1919 in the south Georgian farm town of Cairo. His father deserted the five children and Jackie's mother a year later, and the family moved to Pasadena, Calif.

Jackie always was a standout athlete, even on the sandlots of Pasadena. He was so talented, other kids used to buy him drinks and sandwiches just to be on his team.

"I've never slept say." Robinson once quipped, "that I turned pro at a very early age."

Robinson was a star athlete at Pasadena Junior College, then became a standout in football, baseball and track at UCLA.

But baseball was to be his sport.

When Robinson was invited to throw out the first ball for the second game of the 1972 World Series, he let it be known that if he was asked his opinions, he would not hide them.

And when he was presented with a plague at home plate commemorating the 25th anniversary of his entrance into baseball, he said in his acceptance speech, "I am extremely proud and pleased, but I will be even more pleased the day I can look over at third base and see a black man at manager."

David Robinson, Jackie's 29-year-old son, noted that his father was a "black man in America, and every black man is trying to break down racial barriers—in baseball and everywhere."

Baseball World Mourns Death Of First Black Man in Majors

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Jackie Robinson, a man of courage, died Tuesday. The whole world mourns his passing.

Black or white, young or old athlete, politician or plain old sports fan—all were saddened by the news that Robinson, 53, had died of heart disease.

President Nixon, who once called Robinson "the greatest athlete I ever saw," said in a statement: "His courage, his sense of brotherhood and his brilliance on the playing field brought a new human dimension—not only to baseball, but to every area of American life where black and white people work side by side. His example will continue to inspire us for years to come."

"His entire life was one of commissioner of Baseball.

"Courage as the black pioneer of the game, courage as a player, courage in the way he fought for what he believed, courage in the way he faced his final illness."

"I really hope the world will mourn the passing of a man, but I am glad to say that Jackie Black, a team-mate of Robinson on the Brooklyn Dodgers. "I don't want him to be a martyr—but I want people to know that they've lost a hustler."

Jack Roosevelt Robinson was a man whose entire life was a battle, and a man who never gave in—not as a child, growing up in a fashionable home not as a baseball player, where he broke the color barrier in 1947 by becoming the first black player in the major leagues; not after he retired from the sport, as he strove to accomplish something meaningful for blacks and whites alike, whether in business, sports, politics or civil rights, and not in the face of personal tragedy, whether it was the death of his son or his long, lingering illness.

Robinson, silver haired and nearly blind, suffered an early-morning attack at his home and was pronounced dead on arrival at Stamford Hospital at 1:10 a.m., EDT.

He had been plagued by ailments in recent years. He was felled by a heart seizure in 1968, and also was afflicted by diabetes. He lost his sight in one eye, and was rapidly going blind in the other eye.

Nevertheless, he would not give up the fight for what he believed in.

When Robinson was invited to throw out the first ball for the second game of the 1972 World Series, he let it be known that, if he was asked his opinions, he would not hide them.

And when he was presented with a plague at home plate commemorating the 25th anniversary of his entrance into baseball, he said in his acceptance speech, "I am extremely proud and pleased, but I will be even more pleased the day I can look over at third base and see a black man at management."

Robinson was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1962, the first year he was eligible. After Robinson opened the door "in the ruins, many black walked through—including modern-day superstars Willie Mays, Frank Robinson, Bob Gibson and Hank Aaron.

Robinson is survived by his widow Rachel, daughter Sharon and son David. Another son, Jackie Jr., died in a car crash in June, 1971.

Robinson's funeral will be held at Riverside Church in New York Friday at 11 a.m. EDT.

Log Cabin Launched Career

VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP) — The decision to let Jackie Robinson break major league baseball's color barrier was made in a log cabin behind A. B. Chandler's home.

Chandler, commissioner at the time, says he met there with Brooklyn general manager Branch Rickey. "who wanted to talk about this boy he had lined up to play."

The baseball owners already had votes against admitting Robinson and Chandler recalled. "Branch told me he couldn't bring the boy in unless I'm assured of your 100-per-cent backing and support."

Chandler asked if Robinson could play, was told "yes," and "then and there I decided I didn't want it on my conscience that I had deprived anyone of a chance to play."

He told Rickey to "bring him in."

Chandler remembers Robinson as "an explosive man, one with a chip on his shoulder."

"But I could understand that since he was the first one of his race to make the jump.

"Some of the fellows," Chandler continued, "tried to make trouble for Robinson and he went on to mention Ben Chapman, then managing Philadelphia Phillies.

Chandler said he warned Chapman in a telegram that "if you make trouble for him, I'll make trouble for you."

There also was an incident involving Leo Durocher, who Chandler said, once called Robinson an "n-o-b."

He asked Jackie how he handled that." Chandler said, "and he told me that he called Durocher one, too.

"That makes you both even so you can go from there."

to force sudden-death overtime. If the overtime period, both clubs had opportunities to score as defenceman Jack Norris of the Oilers and Jim McLeod of Chicago held off all attackers.

At Cleveland, John French's goal on a rebound at 5:27 of the overtime period gave New England its win over the Crusaders. French also put the Whalers ahead in the second period when a shot by devenceman Ron Ward deflected off him and rolled past Cleveland goalie Gerry Cheevers.

Habs Almost Miss Boat In Win Over Islanders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If coach Scotty Bowman appeared worried Tuesday night after his Montreal Canadiens had played two periods against New York Islanders, he had every reason to be.

The Canadiens were down 2-1 to the Islanders—one of the two new teams in the National Hockey League this season—going into the third period. But three quick goals in the first five minutes of the period gave them a 4-3 victory.

"We probably took them a little lightly," Bowman said of his Canadiens, who remain unbeaten in the NHL, "and just because they are an expansion team.

"I was concerned with the score 2-1. I'm always concerned when we play an expansion team."

Jacques Lemaire scored three goals for the Canadiens, including two of the final three, to give the Canadiens the narrow win.

In other games, Pittsburgh Penguins shut out Vancouver Canucks 4-0, Minnesota North Stars ripped St. Louis Blues 2-1 and Los Angeles Kings blanked California Golden Seals 5-0.

In games tonight, Toronto Maple Leafs play in Minnesota, Philadelphia Flyers are at New York against the Rangers, Boston Bruins visit the Sabres at Buffalo and Atlanta Flames are at California.

Lemaire's second goal of the game at 1:13 of the final period started the Canadiens' comeback. Sixteen seconds later Yvan Cournoyer scored to put Montreal ahead 3-2. Lemaire got his third goal of the game at 4:54 to make the score 4-2.

But Germaine Gagnon scored at 9:38 to narrow the lead to 4-3.

Phil Goyette, the Islanders' coach, said the game had to be considered a victory of sorts, because it was a one-goal decision.

"We are playing better all the time and we are learning," said Goyette, who once played with the Canadiens.

The Canadiens' victory was their fifth in eight games. They have tied three. The Islanders' loss was their fourth straight. They also have a win.

JACQUES LEMAIRE

The Penguins took advantage of a loose Vancouver defence for their victory and a share of first place with Chicago Black Hawks in the NHL's West Division.

Bryan Hextall, Duane Rupp and Syl Apps took advantage of Vancouver mistakes to score goals, but the Penguins were also given flawless goaltending by rookie netminder Denis Herron who recorded his second shutout of the season.

The North Stars used their veterans to stop the Blues in St. Louis. Bobby Nevin and Dean Prentice provided the scoring while goalie Gump Worsley stopped 25 shots en route to the victory.

Nevin's goal was the winner at 11:44 of the third period. A rebound hit his skate and rolled behind St. Louis goalie Wayne Stephenson. Prentice's goal at 12:37 in the first period was unassisted.

St. Louis scored in the second period when Jack Egers scored from close in.

Hull Verdict Still Pending

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — A decision on Bobby Hull's court battle with the National Hockey League reserve clause has been delayed another three days.

U.S. District Judge Leon Higginbotham had promised two weeks ago to hand down a decision to the Hull case by Oct. 24, but the judge's secretary said Tuesday the decision will not be announced before the end of the week.

At stake in the case is Hull's freedom to move to the World Hockey Association's Winnipeg Jets from Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL. The Hawks claim the reserve clause binds him to the NHL and Judge Higginbotham is to rule on the validity of that clause.

Hull has not yet played for the Jets and won't until the court makes a ruling.

WHA Tougher: Derek

WINNIPEG (CP) — Derek Sanderson, the one-time bad boy of the National Hockey League champion Boston Bruins says the fledgling World Hockey Association is tougher than the NHL was last year.

"Let's face it, there were only about four clubs who belonged on the same ice as us," said Sanderson, who abandoned the Bruins at the end of last season for a $2.5 million contract with Philadelphia Blazers.

"Some teams had guys who wouldn't look us in the eye. When we came to town, or they came to Boston, they dogged it. We could fall asleep and still come back and win."

Sanderson said in an interview the Blazers, with a 6-6 record Tuesday are a better hockey team than the NHL's two latest expansion clubs — New York Islanders and Atlanta Flames — as well as California Golden Seals, Los Angeles Kings and Philadelphia Flyers.

With only one goal so far this year, Sanderson says he's being checked repeatedly in the WHA.

"Guys I've never heard of are running around like angry tigers trying to check me. They don't respect a guy anymore."

About 20 more NHL players will jump to the WHA next summer, Sanderson predicted.

"The only thing that makes that league (NHL) look legitimate anymore is the tremendous press coverage it gets. The press makes the NHL what it is."

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 25

Aries (March 21-April 19): Ask for cooperation on the most important projects. Any reasonable request is within reach. Material possessions are better given or sold than purchased today.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Differences of opinion need not hinder your work. People nearby aren't in a mood for chit-chat or idleness.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Projects now underway must continue. Make you plan for big changes. Prayer brings the needed insight.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Expect little of anything or anybody beyond reaction to your actions. Your understanding and tolerance bridge the little gaps of the day.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Listening carefully lets you in on the truth of matters which later become obscure. Older people are susceptible to temporary confusion.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You appear to be the centre of attention for little or no reason. Go along, but avoid temptation.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A combination of minding your own affairs and creative thinking promises surprising productivity. Adding material objects merely clutters your path.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Confidential enterprises prosper. People challenge your ingenuity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Much time can be wasted on trivial issues and diversions. Concentrate your main attention on improving your welfare and that of those you love.

Capricorn (Dec. 22- Jan. 19): Within limits, an experimental day off. Avoid making too much of the results. The bright ideas needs further planning, a little different situation.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 15): Friends see no reason for suppressing your theories. Improve your situation before offering advice.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): It's easy to disagree, somewhat difficult to get back into harmony.

To Your Good Health

Continuing Fever Demands Action

By G.C. THOSTESON, MD.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you give me any information about "fevers of unknown origin?" I have had a fever, now more than 100.4, almost two years now and I feel quite miserable.

All the doctors have told me they know nothing about it, so therefore there is no treatment. Does it "peter out" as I've been told? — Mrs. J. M.

All what doctors said so?

Fever may be of "unknown origin" and that doesn't mean it has no origin. It just means the origin hasn't been found.

If you had written that—"my doctor tells me," then I would say you'd better get a new doctor who will try to find out the cause. But you didn't, so it was your doctor. You said "all the doctors" and I can imagine such terms and suspect that you may, in fact, have taken your problem to no doctor at all.

'Fess up, now. Have you had a thorough physical examination by any physician?

If you don't and you have a continuing fever has to mean something. Your comment that you are "miserable" adds some more evidence.

Most folks are aware that fever can mean infection somewhere in the body. Many don't realize that fever also can result from breakdown of tissue. Lymphoide diseases, certain blood disorders that are not related to infection, yes, and cancer also, can bring on a continuing fever.

Not all of these possibilities are necessarily easy to identify with a casual look, but they aren't the sort of thing that will "go away" automatically, and there is no reason to believe that your fever will "peter out" just by waiting and feeling miserable.

If you haven't been to a physician who will give you a thorough examination, then do so, now. It may be that some special diagnostic tests will be needed—special blood tests, chemical tests for enzyme abnormalities, special x-rays of the digestive and urinary tracts.

In other words, don't expect a doctor to give you a quick once-over and find the origin of the fever. You may (or may not) have to return for subsequent tests. But do it, and find out what is troubling your body.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A relative died of hepatitis and left me all her linens, bed sheets, dish towels etc. I am under the impression that hepatitis is highly contagious and I am afraid to use these linens or even give some to a poor relative. May I have your advice on the safety of using these linens? — Mrs. N.E.

Yes, hepatitis is contagious, but thorough laundering will make these items perfectly safe to use or give.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A lot of people think that eating sweets produces worms in small children. What are some ways small children may contract eggs of these parasites? — J.J.

Sugar, of course, does not cause worms. The commonest worms in the alimentary canal are ingested by mouth. Children get the eggs on their fingers or under their fingernails, swallow them without realizing it, and the eggs hatch into pinworms.

There are, of course, other types of intestinal worms, but not nearly as common, and ordinarily conveyed by undercooked meat.

Opening lead—five of hearts

The Rule of Eleven is generally of greater benefit to the defenders than to declarer, but it is nevertheless a two-edged sword which either side can utilize.

Let's say West leads his fourth best heart, the five, in which case South deducts that number from eleven, which tells him that North, East and South have six cards higher than the card led.

Since declarer sees two higher cards in dummy and three in his own hand, he knows that East has only one card higher than the five.

Declarer follows low from dummy and wins East's ten with the ace. He plays the K-Q of diamonds and West, of course, ducks them.

Dummy has only one viable entry, the king of hearts, and if South uses it to establish the diamonds, he will have no further entry to dummy to cash them.

So, when South now leads the seven of hearts and West follows low, he finesses the nine. The finesse, fortified by the Rule of Eleven, succeeds. Declarer then establishes the heart as a reentry, he makes the contract.

Dec'ver should undoubtedly play this way even if he has never heard of the Rule of Eleven. But if he is familiar with the Rule and employs it judiciously, he will find bridge that much easier to play.

Note that if West is on his toes he can defeat the contract. He should anticipate declarer's planned heart finesse and spike it by playing the jack on the seven. This restricts dummy to one entry and knocks declarer out of the game.

In cold analysis, the jack is clearly West's proper play. He knows South has the queen because East failed to play it on the opening lead. Since the jack is subject to a finesse in any case, West should play it in an effort to deprive dummy of a vital entry.

MRS. JUDD TOOLEY

Mrs. Louise Carlena Tooley, of Pievna, died in Belleville General Hospital, Thursday, Oct. 19.

In her 53rd year, she was born in Providence Bay, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lemke.

She is survived by her husband Judd Tooley.

She is survived by her children Clarence of Kingston, George and Charles of Pievna, James of Kingston, Mrs. William (Marjorie) Lemke, Mrs. Frank (Isobel) Green and Ruth at Pievna, Earl of Trenton and Mrs. Don (Marilyn) White of Tweed.

She is also survived by her brothers Adolph of Pievna and Wilfred of Northbrook, a sister Mrs. Leonard (Freda) Hill of Pievna, 23 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by two sisters and a brother.

She was a member of Holy Trinity Anglican Church and she and her husband owned and operated a tourist lodge in the Pievna district for 40 years.

The body rested at her late residence until funeral service held in the chapel of the Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Monday, Oct. 23.

The service was conducted by Rev. David Sinclair with interment in Carmen Cemetery.

Bearers were sons, Clarence, George, Jim, Charles, Herb and Earl Tooley.

Funeral arrangements were made through the Bush Funeral Home.

MRS. WILLIAM MEEHAN
Marmora

Requiem mass was celebrated October 23 for Mrs. Anna Meehan of 85 Forsyth St., Marmora at Sacred Heart Church, with Father T. G. Scanlon officiating.

She died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, Oct. 20 in her 89th year.

A member of Sacred Heart parish and the Catholic Women's League, the deceased was born and educated in Marmora township. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crawford.

She is survived by her husband, William, and five children, Richard of Chelmsford, William of RR 7, Marmora, Leon of Grimsby, Mrs. Rose Anne Foster of Hamilton and Miss Mary Meehan of Toronto.

Mrs. Meehan also leaves five brothers, Earl, Charles, Crawford and Patrick, all of Marmora, and Thomas of Marmora township. One sister, Mrs. Veronica Forestell of Marmora, also survives.

Interment was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

JOHN WILBERT McNAUGHT
Tweed

Funeral was held October 21 in the chapel of Bush Funeral Home, Tweed for John Wilbert McNaught who died at Belleville General Hospital October 19 in his 88th ear.

Rev. Ian Munro officiated and interment followed at St. James' Cemetery.

Bearers were Clinton Lough, Kenneth Fisher, Aloysius Trudeau, Frederick Stein, Lincoln Elliott and Heath Jones.

One of Tweed's oldest residents, he was a member of the United Church. Mr. McNaught was the village blacksmith for 50 years and a member of the volunteer fire department for 40 years.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. William McNaught, he was predeceased by his wife, Daisy (nee Latham).

Mr. McNaught is survived by a son, Ross of Tweed, and a daughter, Mrs. Leighton (Edith) Ross of Toronto. He also saves a sister, Mrs. Angus (Ethel) Lonsberry of Port Hope, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

THEODORE A. COONEY

Theodore A. Cooney, of RR1 Stirling, died Tuesday, Oct. 24, in Belleville General Hospital.

In his 79th year, he was born in Sir Sandford and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam David Cooney.

He had resided in Stirling for the past 47 years and is survived by his wife, Lyla Ray Cooney.

Surviving are his children Raymond, Marvin and Norman of Stirling, Hilliard of Trenton, Donald of Frankford, Mrs. Donald (Dorothy) McKeown of Foxboro, Mrs. Vohn (Vivian) Haw of Trenton, Mrs. Hugh (Shirley) Lyons of East and Faye Cooney of Belleville.

Also surviving are 34 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and a brother, Ramsay of Frankford.

He was predeceased by five brothers and six sisters.

A retired farmer, he was educated in Madoc and Stirling schools and was a member of Bethel United Church.

Active in the community, he served as a reeve and council member of Rawdon township and was a school trustee in Stirling rural schools.

He rests at his home.

The funeral service will be held in the chapel of Bethel United Church, Friday, Oct. 27, at 1:30 p.m.

Arrangements are being made through the Hogle Funeral Home.

WILLOUGHBY FOX

Funeral service for Willoughby Fox, former resident of Consecon township, was held Tuesday morning from the John R. Bush Funeral Home with Rev. J. M. D. McLeod officiating. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

Bearers were Ralph Redner, Clarence Vanalstine, Melvin Pulver, Donald Spencer, Winston Pulver and Roy Warnemaker.

ERIC A. ROBERTS

Eric A. Roberts, of 158 Victoria Avenue, Trenton, died in Trenton Memorial Hospital, Saturday, Oct. 21.

In his 82nd year, he was born in Aylmer and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts.

He had lived in Trenton for 31 years and is survived there by his wife, the former Jessie Forbes and his daughters Mrs. Arnold (Margaret) Kercher of Oakville, Mrs. Gordon (Jean) Bowland of Brampton and Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Shenton, of Owen Sound.

He is also survived by five grandchildren.

He was predeceased by three brothers and a sister.

A member of the United Church before retiring he was a supervisor with the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The funeral service was held in the chapel of the Weaver Funeral Home, Oct. 23.

Rev. W. McDowell conducted the service and interment was in Mount Evergreen cemetery.

Bearers were Harry Breckner, Don Wright, Harold Gooding, Jack Lucas on, Clarence Meyers and Ernie Sutton.

JOHN ERNEST MARTIN
Desoronto

Funeral service was held Monday afternoon at Christ Anglican Church for John Ernest Martin, with Rev. Cyril Betts officiating. Interment was in Christ Church Cemetery.

Bearers were Victor and Elwood Brant, Sam Maracle, Jerry Morgan, Louie Martin and Chief Earl Hill.

Mr. Martin rested at the White and Morris Funeral Home in Desoronto, prior to the funeral. He died Saturday in Lennox and Addington Hospital following a six-month illness. He was 38.

Born at Desoronto, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Brant and had lived all his life in the area. He worked as a truck driver for the H. J. McFarland Construction Company and was a member of Christ Anglican Church. He had been active in the Mohawk Agricultural Society.

He is survived by his wife, the former Shirley Maracle, four daughters, Mrs. Gene (Margaret) Brant, of Desoronto, and Nancy, Elaine and Lisa, and three sons, Louie, Freeman and Wilfred, all at home.

A brother Wilfred Jr., lives in Desoronto.

EARL LOUCKS

Earl Loucks, a lifetime resident of Napanee, died earlier this month in the Lennox and Hospital.

In his 79th year, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loucks.

He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys Edna Bennett, and his daughters Mrs. Ray (Chris) Reid of Belleville, Mrs. Maurice (Carrie) McCracken of Whitby, and Mrs. Jack (Cecile) Kimmett of Napanee.

He is also survived by 21 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and his brother, Ross Loucks of Belleville.

He was active in the community as past president of the Royal Canadian Legion in Napanee and a past chief patriarch of Mount Arrarat Encampment, No. 16.

During World War II he served with the Light Anti-aircraft 47th Battery and was a drill sergeant at Petawawa.

He was predeceased by a sister Mrs. James (Ethel) Clarke both of Belleville, a stillborn twin brothers Bruce Loucks and Roy Clarke both of Belleville.

A Legion service was held and Legion members served as pall bearers.

The funeral service was held in Grace United Church and was conducted by Rev. Guy Case.

Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

Bearers were Lyon Crossman, Harry Bean, Fred Bush, Ed Pale, James McVicker and Wilfred Steinman.

Montreal Said Major Air Centre

TORONTO (CP) — A brief prepared by Mayor True Davidson of East York borough says the federal government has attempted to conceal its intention to use Montreal as the major centre for international flights and suggests the proposed Pickering airport northeast of Toronto won't have international status.

The document was prepared on instructions by Metropolitan Toronto executive committee which asked for a report indicating the effect of the airport on Metro's $26-million zoological park.

The brief says that without international status the new airport will not serve the interests of the business community and the travelling public.

The Pickering site was selected, the brief said, in the interest of the province in order to support its Toronto-centred region development plan.

The brief also says the airport will tend to create industrial and residential congestion and notes no definite promises have provided for the protection of the zoo.

The brief was received by the executive committee Tuesday and consideration was postponed for two weeks.

Hospital Labor Disputes to Go To Arbitration

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the Ontario labor ministry, in an attempt to speed resolution of labor disputes at hospitals, will appoint one or more arbitrators to deal exclusively with such disputes and abolish the present system of conciliation boards.

The changes will be made by amending the Hospital Labor Disputes Arbitration Act of 1965, the newspaper says.

An illegal strike by the Canadian Union of General Employees at Toronto Western Hospital prompted the proposed changes, the newspaper says.

Unions in the hospital field have complained about delays in disposing of disputes and the time taken by arbitration boards to bring down decisions.

Under the Hospital Labor Disputes Arbitration Act, compulsory arbitration is mandatory when bargaining fails. The act also provides for appointment of a conciliation officer and, later, a conciliation board at the discretion of the labor minister. If they fail, the next step is an arbitration board.

The Ontario section of the Canadian Union of Public Employees proposed in a brief last week to Labor Minister Fern Guindon that the process of negotiation and adjudication be speeded up.

Tolstoy's Doukhobor Link Known

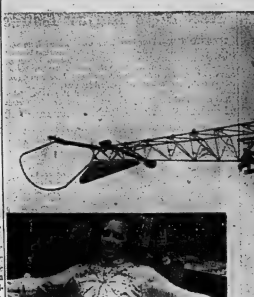
SASKATOON (CP) — A University of Saskatchewan professor is doing research into a little-known sidelight of Canadian history involving Russian novelist Leo Tolstoy and the Doukhobors.

Prof. V. O. Buyniak, a member of the department of Slavic studies, says Tolstoy helped the 7,500 Doukhobors who left Russia because of persecution in the late 19th century to settle in what now is Saskatchewan.

Prof. Buyniak says the author of War and Peace and Anna Karenia accepted the Doukhobors' belief in non-violence and vegetarianism and helped them settle in Canada.

Tolstoy used the money from his novel The Resurrection to help finance the move and a number of friends and his son, SergheI, accompanied the Doukhobors to Canada to help them get established.

The Russian writer's interest in the Doukhobors appeared to decline following a controversial trek eastward toward Manitoba by the Doukhobors in 1202, says Prof. Buyniak. The government illisted members of the group sign individually for their homesteads, while the majority of Doukhobors objected and began moving back west.



Tolstoy died in 1910, but Prof. Buyniak says the author and philosopher, a confirmed pacifist, would never have condoned the activities of the Sons of Freedom sect.

The Sons of Freedom, a militant group in the Doukhobors movement, objected to government control of education and resorted to arson and nudism to express opposition to state authority in the 1950s and 'Sos in Saskatchewan and later in British Columbia.

Prof. Buyniak, who is studying letters Tolstoy wrote from Russia, says the Doukhobors still hold Tolstoy in high esteem and frequently carry his stories and parables in their newspaper published in Grand Forks, B.C.

Warming Trend Rapidly Melting North Pole Ice

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a definite warming trend over the North Pole and it is melting the polar ice cap even more rapidly than meteorologists had expected, Arctic flyer-explorer Bernt Balchen said Tuesday.

Balchen said he personally confirmed melting reports in a series of recent flights over Labrador, Greenland, Norway, the Canadian Arctic and the polar sea.

"We received a fairly clear picture of the whole situation," Balchen said. "There is no doubt about it, the Arctic polar ice is degrading — and maybe faster than had been anticipated.

"We may have an open ocean in another 20 years, or in no more than 40 years," he said.

In articles and speeches, the Norwegian-born Balchen previously had forecast an ice-free Arctic ocean by the ear 2000.

He contends that the warming climate, induced in part perhaps by volcanic activity in the Philippines, eventually may make possible tanker shipments of oil from Alaskan and Canadian fields, and water transport of Far North mineral products such as uranium, nickel, iron, lead and zinc.

Balchen piloted Admiral Richard E. Byrd on the first aerial crossing of the South Pole in 1929.

Two Lawyers Lose Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal upheld a $25,476.80 judgment Tuesday against two Orillia lawyers who were found to have been negligent in preparing a case for a man shot in the stomach by a policeman.

The court upheld the award by Mr. Justice E. A. Richardson to Gary Ferrier, now 23, against William L. Moore and George Clegg, who were partners in an Orillia law firm.

Mr. Justice Richardson found in his decision Dec 3, 1971, that Mr. Ferrier had instructed the firm to sue John Robert Martin, a member of the Bracebridge, Ont., police force, who shot him on Aug. 24, 1969.

However, the judge said Mr. Moore and Mr. Clegg did not take appropriate action and therefore were negligent.

'Exotic' Health Care Hit

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Welch, provincial secretary for social development, said Tuesday that soaring hospital costs reflect "our preoccupation with the most exotic and expensive parts of the health care spectrum."

Speaking to the Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario, he said costs have risen 15 per cent a year in the last decade while the population of the province has gone up only two per cent.

Mr. Welch said that from 2961 to 1970 the cost of running the hospital system in Ontario has jumped from $215 million a year to $756 million.

He said it was time to ask for some justification for the increases.

If other factors in the cost of living showed such sustained growth, he said, public reaction would be massive.

Attention must be turned to raising the standards of non-institutional forms of health care to the level achieved in hospitals, he said.

Baptiste Society Hits PM

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal St. Jean Baptiste Society called on all Quebecers Tuesday to vote against the government of Prime Minister Trudeau, ending 140 years of official political neutrality.

Francois-Albert Angers, president of the French-Canadian nationalist men's club, told a news conference the reason for the appeal is that "the whole policy of Pierre Elliott Trudeau since 1968 has had the purpose of bringing the existence and the rights of the Quebec nation."

"The sovereignist aspirations of Quebec will have no credibility among foreign countries and the United Nations as long as the head of the Canadian government can claim, as a French-Canadian, to be the representative and authentic spokesman of Quebecers."

The Montreal St. Jean Baptiste Society has about 12,000 active members and 3,000 associate ones.

Cigarette Ad Curbs To Change

VICTORIA (CP) — "Cigarettes kill you by inches."

Attorney-General Alex Macdonald told the British Columbia legislature Tuesday the New Democratic Party government intends to bring that message to the people of the province with its proposed tobacco products act.

The attorney-general said billboards advertising tobacco products would be prohibited and all cigarettes sold in the province required to contain warnings on their packages.

The tobacco products act would give the government control over the packaging, labelling, selling, distribution, advertising and promotion of tobacco and tobacco products in the province.

Provinces legislation prohibiting the advertising of tobacco products hit only B.C. publications, he said.

Waving an edition of TV Guide, Mr. Macdonald said it was impossible under the law to penalize that publication for containing tobacco ads because it is published out of the province and mailed directly to homes.

Cigars and pipe-smoking would not be affected by the bill, the attorney-general said, because sufficient evidence has not been presented to show that they are health hazards.

Mr. Macdonald said the provincial government cannot ban tobacco advertising on radio and television because those media come under the jurisdiction of the Canadian Radio Television Commission.

Reward Offered

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Bankers' Association Tuesday offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the five men who staged a $240,959 bank robbery last Wednesday. The men, four of them masked, dropped $27,000 as they fled from the Union Station branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Third Explosion Hits Medical Centre

TORONTO (CP) — The third explosion in the last eight months at the St. Anna Medical Centre Tuesday night shattered two windows and damaged a car belonging to the owner of the building.

A spokesman for the Toronto police bomb squad said it appeared that the explosive device was at least one stick of dynamite.

The explosion left a small crater in the pavement under the front of a car owned by Dr. Olindo Casullo, who is the owner of the three-storey building.

Dr. Casullo, two patients and at least three secretary-nurses were upstairs in the building while druggists worked on the ground floor, but there were no injuries.

Last March, an explosion in the medical centre's air conditioning caused about $1,000 damage. In June, two bystanders were slightly injured when the second explosion caused about $10,000 damage.

Dr. Casullo said he knew of no reason for the bombings.

Swift Deportation Is Termed Shocking

MONTREAL (CP) — William Kashtan, leader of the Communist Party of Canada, told a party rally Tuesday night that the big parties had failed to discuss major issues in the current federal election campaign.

He told a meeting of 60 people that neither the Liberals nor the Conservatives had discussed foreign control of the economy or monopoly capitalism, the real cause of inflation.

"There's nothing fundamentally different between Trudeau's and Stanfield's policies except that "Stanfield's would restrict democratic reform even further than the Trudeau government does," he said.

"The Conservative party is becoming the focal point of a right-wing coalition with Claude Wagner, Paul Hellyer and Social Credit forces," Mr. Kashtan said.

The New Democratic, with its "corporate welfare bums" stance, is just demanding a change in the taxation system, and doesn't criticize the theory of corporate ownership at all, he said.

Mr. Kashtan said his party's 11-point platform calls for nationalization of Canadian resources, inflation controls without wage freezes, and a new constitution emphasizing the equality of French and English peoples within a united Canada.

French Only

MONTREAL (CP) — Le Devoir says the federal government has been told it must install its civil service large groups working only in French if requirements for institutional bilingualism and language equality are to be met.

Red Says Major Issues Ignored

TORONTO (CP) — Four lawyers representing Toronto's black community have labelled the swift deportation of a U.S. convict a "shocking violation of human rights and natural justice."

The group said Edwin Bruckton Hogan, a convicted murderer, who escaped from Ohio State penitentiary, had been denied justice because he was deported from Canada before his lawyer had a chance to further appeal his case.

They said Hogan was taken from his jail cell in Toronto and illegally surrendered to U.S. authorities in Buffalo, N.Y.

The statement issued Tuesday by Hogan's lawyer, Charles Roach, and three others at a press conference at the United Negro Improvement Association, demanded that Canadian authorities request Hogan's return to Canada.

Hogan, 32, escaped last June 19 and was arrested here June 27. He fought deportation proceedings, claiming he was framed on robbery and murder charges because he was a Black Panther.

Food Prices Under Attack

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Opposition spokesmen continued Tuesday their blistering attack on Prime Minister Trudeau's comments about food prices while Mr. Trudeau told a Victoria audience national unity is no longer a political issue.

The sixth day before the federal election also saw the Viet nam war edge into the fringes of the election debate.

In Saskatoon, students hissed the prime minister when he told them President Nixon has been "trying pretty hard to end the war in Vietnam."

The students asked why Canada sells war material to the U.S. and he replied "we don't want bloody hands, but we have to make hard choices."

In Montreal, seven McGill University students Tuesday released a report saying the country department gave more than $458 million between 1967 and 1971 to companies in Canada producing war materials for the U.S. government.

And in Ottawa, informed sources said there is a possibility Canadian troops will take part in a peacekeeping force in the event of U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators agree on a ceasefire.

The food prices controversy was prompted by Mr. Trudeau's appearance on the CTV program Question Period, broadcast Sunday. He said then that recent rises in food prices are not shocking because food prices went up very little from mid-1970 to mid-1972.

And, he added, food price increases are good for farmers.

Those statements brought condemnation Monday from several Leader David Lewis Monday.

Tuesday, Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield jumped into the fray while in Vancouver news conference he is appalled at Mr. Trudeau's attitude.

The Conservative leader said that if he becomes prime minister after the Oct. 30 voting, he will launch an immediate inquiry into food prices and will know within two weeks whether to impose a price freeze.

In Swift Current, Mr. Lewis repeated previous assertions that Mr. Trudeau is misleading Canadians about food prices.

He said Mr. Trudeau is using insensitive flippancy and dancing statistics to conceal his steepness of the rise in food prices.

Moreover, the NDP leader said, farmers get little if any benefit from higher retail prices for food.

Meanwhile, Mr. Trudeau was taking aim at the NDP on another issue.

He told Saskatoon students the New Democrat campaign against corporate welfare bums is a phony.

He said NDP members of Parliament had "dozens and dozens of times" asked for federal aid to corporations in Canada to offset the effects of U.S. excentive programs.

Despite this, Mr. Lewis now is attacking government aid to corporations, Trudeau said in "If you can see anything phoner than this . . . tell me what it is."

In Victoria, the prime minister took a less combative approach, saying Canadians have reached closer to a national consensus than at any other time in our history." National unity no longer was an issue.

He has said this campaign is quieter than usual because Canadians are thinking.

The present campaign was concentrating on issues rather than couple.

Mr. Stanfield also dealt with foreign affairs Tuesday, telling a Winnipeg news conference a Conservative government would not have the diplomatic row with the Soviet Union or any other state that restricts the right of its citizens to emigrate.

In a later interview, Mr. Stanfield said any government he led would make it clear to other countries that "we stand very much for the right of free migration—including the right of migration of Jews or what ever other race." He said his government would have really cordial relations" with any governments that restricted the right of their citizens to leave and go somewhere else (such as Israel) if they desired going to Israel."

The Soviet Union has been under fire from Jewish bodies around the world in the last few years for its restriction on the right of persons educated in the Soviet Union to emigrate, especially to Israel, without repaying the costs of education.

Mr. Stanfield first injection into the Jewish emigration question, during the United States' presidential election, by party leader into the Canadian election.

Mr. Stanfield said the "less a government is in sunlight, exactly the better" and he would not affect such things as trade and mutual exchanges.

In an interview broadcast on CBC television, he also said a Conservative government would improve trade relations with the European Economic Community to offset the economic pull of the U.S.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette, campaigning in Trois-Rivieres, predicted either a Liberal or a Conservative minority government after the Oct. 30 vote.

He also predicted his party will equal or surpass its 1962 record of 26 Quebec seats and said they have a good chance of electing members in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick.

Canadian Is Given 8-Month Term

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Canadian received an eight-month jail sentence Tuesday for planning to fix harness horse races by using a laser beam. Sollie Viner, 45, of Toronto, also directed to leave the U.S., was convicted Oct. 16, of conspiring to promote illegal gambling and of crossing a state line to promote gambling. He admitted that he planned to use a laser beam to sting trotting horses at Canadian tracks, causing them to break stride.

Four Hours to Vote a Must

TORONTO (CP) — Most employees of private companies here will get off work early Monday in order to vote in the federal election. Public service employees are more likely to get time off during their working day.

The Canada Elections Act requires employers to give their employees four consecutive hours in which to vote without docking their pay or making up the time. Violations are subject to a $1,000 fine.

A number of large firms in the Metropolitan Toronto area have announced plans to close their offices at 1 p.m., four hours before the polls close.

However, municipal officials said four-hour breaks will be staggered for public servants to prevent closures of essential services.

Advance polls were held Saturday and Monday for employees, such as railway workers, who will be outside their home constituency on election day.

Election Quiet: Are Canadian Voters "Fat and Happy"

By GARRY FAIRBAIRN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Politicians across the country are in somewhat the same state of apprehension as the veteran scout in the old Western movie who gazes into the night and mutters "It's too quiet."

Does the much-publicized apparent voter apathy mean there will be little change in Parliament after the Oct. 30 election? Or does it mean Monday will bring a surprise rebellion by voters against one or more parties?

A Cross-Canada survey by the Canadian Press shows pollsters, newspapers, radio open-line hosts and other observers divided on the question of voter apathy.

Some, like a Newfoundland Liberal spokesman, say voters are quiet because they are not stirred up over any issue—"they're fat and happy."

Other observers, like Winnipeg Free Press, say voters have been turned off by an election campaign that has been "a transcontinental bore, coast-to-coast yawn."

Virtually all commentators say the Trudeaumania of 1968 has disappeared.

Perhaps related to this is the feeling of some political organizers that only half of the 2.8 million young people eligible to vote for the first time will actually cast their ballots.

But others like Gordon Sinclair, host of an open-line program on Montreal radio station CJAD, say interest is high. When he had a Liberal and a Conservative candidate on the program Monday, "I stopped giving out the call-in number after 15 minutes of a two-hour show and the phone never stopped ringing."

He reports that the most caller reaction has come on the subjects of unemployment insurance abuse and the $2 increase given to old-age pensioners by the government.

In Saskatchewan, New Democrat Les Benjamin, candidate in Regina-Lake Centre, said: "When people aren't saying anything it doesn't mean they aren't interested."

"They may have made up their minds already and just aren't talking about it."

A Conservative spokesman in Quebec asserted that there is "a silent defiance of the government" but he hesitated to predict the result of next Monday's voting.

"It's truly a curious election."

Ted Elliott, campaign manager for Paul Hellyer in Toronto Trinity both in 1968 when Mr. Hellyer ran as a Liberal and this time when he is running as a Conservative, said Trudeaumania is dead.

Plan to Replace Warden Is Denied

OTTAWA (CP) — An official of the federal penitentiary services Tuesday denied any knowledge of plans to replace Donald Clark as warden of the maximum Millhaven penitentiary near Kingston.

The spokesman was commenting on reports that Mr. Clark would be replaced by Nicholas Carss, deputy warden of Haney Correctional Institution in British Columbia.

I. Y. Roy, director of the penitentiary service's information department, said the reports were "rumors" and as far as the department was concerned "Donald Clark is still director of Millhaven."

Kingston Whig-Standard earlier reported that Mr. Clark will become warden at Kingston penitentiary.

The newspaper said it learned of the impending change from prison authorities in Vancouver who said Mr. Carss had left B.C. in preparation of taking over at Millhaven.

Mr. Clark was the centre of controversy after a report, released last week by Douglas Albrechtsen, Progressive Conservative candidate for Frontenac-Lennox and Addington, said the warden's authority at Millhaven had been usurped by incompetent or inexperienced officials that, entrusted him.

Mr. Albrechtsen also said Warden Clark wrote the report which said prisoner control in the new institution has become impossible. Mr. Clark has denied knowledge of the report.

Complaint Procedure For Guards Outlined

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP) — Guards at Millhaven and Collins Bay institutions in Millhaven penitentiary should take their grievances to the superintendent or to the Public Service Alliance of Canada, penitentiary service, officials said today.

They were commenting on a series of tape - recorded interviews in which a number of guards said there are disciplinary problems at Millhaven because of lack of realistic policies, structural defects in the prison, a shortage of correctional staff, insufficient segregation staff, insufficient segregation and control of troublemakers and psychopaths and catering to the prison populations by penitentiary authorities.

The guards, who did not give their names, said complaints to their superiors are ignored and they have no faith in the public service alliance.

Paul Fagny, federal commissioner of penitentiaries, said the guards have proper channels for their complaints.

"I just can't react to every possible statement made by guards and made by different people all over the place."

John Moloney, regional director of penitentiary services in the region, said he would not comment on a "political issue."

Citizens of Commonwealth Will Be Aliens in Britain

LONDON (CP) — After Jan. 1, 1973, Commonwealth citizens wishing to enter Britain will be treated as aliens, for the first time since the origins of the British Empire.

Under new immigration regulations published Tuesday, Commonwealth citizens wishing to live and work in Britain will be permitted entry for a maximum of 12 months for a particular job with a specified employer. They will also require work permits.

At the end of the 12-month period, a Commonwealth citizen may apply for further one-year extensions as is the case now with aliens here.

A home office spokesman said the "nature of employment and continuity of residence" will be crucial factors in the decision for such extensions.

The new regulations, published under existing legislation, take effect at the moment Britain officially joins the European Common Market Jan. 1.

From that time, citizens of the other eight countries in the enlarged community will be free to enter Britain and take jobs here merely by producing passport or identity card.

They will be given five-year renewable residence permits.

Prior to 1962, Canadians and most other Commonwealth citizens could enter Britain without the need for visas or work permits.

Later legislation has made it somewhat more difficult to work in Britain for an extended period but Commonwealth citizens have continued to enjoy special consideration.

Employment vouchers have been relatively easy to obtain for citizens of the old Commonwealth—Canada, Australia and New Zealand—entitling them to work in Britain for an indefinite period.

Recently, however, immigration authorities have insisted more and more on issuing either three-year or 12-month work permits which are renewable.

A home office spokesman said that under the new rules, if a Commonwealth citizen is permitted to stay for four years in the same job by obtaining successive permit renewals, he would then be eligible to apply for removal of all restrictions on his term of employment and residence.

A Commonwealth citizen who has already lived here more than four years can make the same application.

In order for a Canadian based in Britain to take advantage of the relatively free movement of labor among Common Market countries, he would have to take out British citizenship, the spokesman added.

Sharp Says Asians Ousted Because Best

INGERSOLL, Ont. (CP) — External Affairs Minister Michael Sharp said Tuesday that Ugandan Asians are not stealing jobs from Canadians.

"They are being thrown out of their country because they are the best in their country," said Mr. Sharp. "Most of them are better educated than men."

Mr. Sharp said Ugandans are not adding to Canada's unemployment problems because most will be self-employed as professionals.

He was speaking at ceremonies marking the founding of the United Nations which were attended by 500 students at this community seven miles south of Woodstock, Ont., but.

Replying to students' questions, the minister said "we have to fit" abuses of unemployment insurance funds but although there have been cases of fraudulent claims "cheating is not an excuse to attack the Unemployment Insurance Commission."

Jackie's Cigarette Butt for Sale

TORONTO (CP) — Michael MacDonald, 33, of Toronto, who says he has the unused portion of a cigarette smoked by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in 1962, is offering the butt for sale.

He said he grabbed the butt—from a king-sized, filter-tipped and menthol-ated cigarette—when Mrs. Onassis tossed it out the window of a car as she was passing a New York hotel where he worked.

It is as good as new except for a half a dozen drags missing, he said.

He said he is moving back to the United States and wants to sell the souvenir.

Since he put an advertisement in newspapers a week ago, he has had about 300 calls, with offers ranging from $100 to $1.50.

GM Says Lewis Distorts Facts

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. said Tuesday a statement by David Lewis, New Democratic Party leader, about GM profits "contains serious distortion of fact."

The company said in a statement that only by ignoring basic principles of normal bookkeeping could Mr. Lewis have compiled his figures.

The NDP leader, in an election campaign speech in New Westminster, B.C., Sunday, said net earnings of GM in 1971 were $272.6 million and that the company had paid $99.1 million in taxes, for an effective rate of 25.3 per cent. He said that was about half the tax GM should have paid.

GM said Mr. Lewis chose to ignore depreciation, tool amortization and interest expense as recognized costs of maintaining a viable business, which are accepted accounting practices in most countries.

It said its audited financed report, widely distributed last spring, showed that GM of Canada had a net profit of $79,763,402 in 1971 compared with a loss of $26,209,139 in 1970.

Income tax payable in 1971 was $83,023,567.

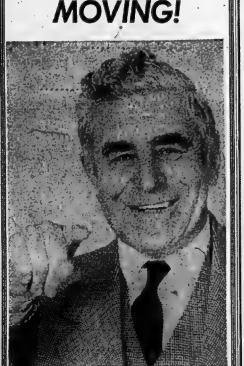
"This represents a rate in excess of 50 per cent rather than the 25 per cent reported by Mr. Lewis."

Spoiled Ballots Urged

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, in a four-column advertisement in Le Devoir, has called on Quebecers to spoil their ballots in Monday's federal election.

The council said that during a meeting last month, it was decided to call on Quebecers to spoil their ballots to avoid "being an accomplice of the turpitudes of federal parties and to demonstrate the desire for their own government in Quebec."

The advertisement Tuesday said the four federal parties are against granting self-determination to Quebecers who have been embroiled in more than 100 years of constitutional complications.



The council voted during a congress last May in favor of Quebec independence and said in today's advertisement spoiling ballots would coincide with the social, economic and cultural interests of Quebec workers.

Peace Pact Torpedoed

PM: Canada Changed

EDMUNDSTON, N.B. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau flew across Canada Wednesday carrying the message that he had left in British Columbia a day earlier—that the Canada of 1972 is a far cry from the Canada he began governing in 1968.

His speech, almost entirely in French, was similar to speeches delivered in Western Canada earlier in the week—that a new consensus has developed in the country, that separatism is on the decline, and that Canadians are no longer in search of themselves.

Stanfield: Face New Frontier

MISSISSAUGA, Ont. (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said Wednesday night that Canadians, who have conquered many frontiers in their history, have a new one to conquer now—the future.

In a speech to a rally in this Toronto-area community he said Canadians "cannot assume that future, we have to assure it."

Lewis: Hard Day

TORONTO, Ont., (CP) — For David Lewis it was the day they put the socialist rally into the business administration auditorium, the day the tire blew, and the day the provincial polls opened.

It was also the day he almost lost his wife, Sophie. Through a mix-up she missed a chartered bus from London to Brantford.

But he weathered the mechanical and human difficulties Wednesday in his drive to increase New Democratic Party membership in Parliament com.

U.S. Had Agreed To Sign Pact Oct. 31

SAIGON (CP) — North Vietnam said today the United States agreed to sign a peace pact next Tuesday, Oct. 31, but then backed off and asked for further negotiations, saying it was having difficulty getting Saigon to go along.

An official North Vietnamese statement on the secret talks in Paris between Henry Kissinger and Hanoi's peace negotiators apparently caught the United States and South Vietnam by surprise.

The North Vietnamese statement, broadcast over Hanoi radio accused the United States of bad faith in putting off implementation of the agreement three times on the grounds that it was having difficulty in obtaining the agreement of the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

In the first Saigon reaction, the government's official radio said:

"A separate agreement between North Vietnam and the United States does not concern us in any way. We in South Vietnam have the right of self-determination."

White House officials were reported meeting after the Hanoi broadcast. The White House declined comment.

The North Vietnamese also read the statement to the Paris peace talks. Afterward U.S. Ambassador William Porter said he thought it "preferable not to make a formal statement at this point."

President Nguyen Van Thieu met for an hour with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, his first with an American since Kissinger's visit ended Monday, when the President's national security adviser failed to get him to agree to new North Vietnamese peace terms.

The U.S. embassy declined comment.

In Paris, the Viet Cong urged the United States to sign the accord to give proof of its good will and good faith." Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief of the Viet Cong delegation, said a U.S. signature would bring the peace every one is waiting for.

The official Hanoi statement said the agreement hammered out in talks in Paris between Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser, and the North Vietnamese envoy, Le Duc Tho, provided for a ceasefire to begin 24 hours after the signing of the pact in the French capital Oct. 31.

Ray Peacock

Hanoi Lists Peace Terms

HONG KONG (AP) — This is North Vietnam's summary of the peace terms it says it and the United States agreed to:

1. The United States will respect the independence, sovereignty, unification and territorial integrity of Vietnam.

2. The United States will stop all bombing of North Vietnam and all mining of North Vietnamese waters. Twenty-four hours after the peace agreement is signed a ceasefire will take effect in all of South Vietnam. All American and allied troops will be withdrawn within 60 days.

3. After signing, steps will be taken for the immediate return of prisoners of war held by both sides.

4. At ceasefire, the two present administrations in South Vietnam and South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong will negotiate with each other to set up elections for a national coalition government. The two administrations will also negotiate with each other on disposition and reduction of the troops of each side.

5. Unification of North and South Vietnam will be "realized gradually by peaceful means."

6. An international committee on military control and supervision will be formed and an international conference on Vietnam will be called within 30 days of the signing of the peace agreement.

7. The sovereignty and neutrality of Cambodia and Laos will be recognized by all parties in the Vietnam War. The United States will end all military activities in Laos and Cambodia, withdraw all troops and remove military troops or weapons into Laos and Cambodia.

8. Ending of the war will create conditions for establishment of relations between the United States and North Vietnam; under which the United States will contribute to reconstruction in North Vietnam and throughout all Indochina.

9. The peace agreement will take effect immediately upon being signed by the U.S. and North Vietnam.

Great River Cleanup

With construction nearing completion of the new trunk sanitary sewer up the Moira River, a crash river cleanup program has been instituted by the general contractor to beat the winter freezeup. Here a mechanical shovel, bulldozer and a fleet of trucks are being used to remove the earth fill coffer dam placed in the river to allow sewer installation.

Millhaven Guards 'Book Off'

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Most of the guards at Millhaven maximum security penitentiary began reporting off sick today in what they described as a protest over the refusal of senior penitentiary officials to listen to their grievances.

A spokesman said a telephone survey indicated 140 members of the penitentiary staff will participate and 25 will not take part in the action.

He predicted the normal 35-man day shift will be cut to less than half with the four watchtowers being manned as well as six cosirol centres within the prison.

A spokesman, who wished to remain unidentified, said only enough manpower will be reporting for work to feed the convicts and keep the institution secure.

The guards' action came after Millhaven authorities met demands of the prisoners Wednesday to allow them free movement within their living units from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. each day after the privilege was cancelled earlier in the week, the guard said.

But the guards' action will confine all prisoners to their cells like the original orders did, with exercise, recreation, visits and classification procedures stopped.

Last week Douglas Allensbrook, PC candidate for Frontenac-Lennox and Addington, produced a report that said the warden's authority at Millhaven had been usurped by incompetent officials who out-ranked him.

It also predicted further trouble among the convicts.

Socred Leader Resigns

EDMONTON (CP) — Harry Strom, a quiet-spoken former rancher who assumed leadership of Alberta's Social Credit party four years ago, stunned the legislature Wednesday with his announcement that he intends to resign as opposition leader.

But although Mr. Strom will be handing over the party reins to someone else, he won't be getting out of the saddle. He'll continue to sit as the member for Cypress, a rural riding in the rolling grassland of southeastern Alberta.

Stanfield, PM Coming On Friday

TRENTON (Staff) — With a federal election four days away, Quinte area riding associations might well be excited by visits here tomorrow of two national party leaders.

But, in the excitement, there has been some confusion among party workers about arrangements for visits by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield.

As enthusiastic as they are about the PM's stopover here, tight RCMP security has prevented Liberals from being able to provide much in the way of detail about the visit which begins when his campaign plane lands at CFB Trenton at 7 p.m.

To be met by Prince Edward-Hastings Liberal candidate George Cunningham, the PM with Cunningham will travel by motorcade to downtown Trenton.

He will stop on Dundas West, meet the people and give a brief address before going on to Northumberland-Durham. However, party organizers here say their targets not being permitted to release the exact location.

Saigon Not Bound By Truce Accord

SAIGON (AP) — The official Saigon radio emphasized tonight that South Vietnam would not be bound by any agreement between Washington and Hanoi that's set up in the air whether Saigon would oppose it.

"We in South Vietnam have the right of self-determination," said a commentator, monitored in special radio. "A separate agreement between North Vietnam and the United States does not concern us in any way."

This was the reaction to a Hanoi announcement that the United States had backed out of an agreement to end the war, withdrawal of U.S. forces and elections for a coalition government.

While the Saigon commentator did not elaborate, official sources in the presidential palace said earlier that President Nguyen Van Thieu would not be averse to a Hanoi - Washington agreement as long as the United States continued its Vietnamization and other military and economic commitments to South Vietnam.

"Hanoi has made a declaration 48 hours after Thieu's speech," Radio Saigon said. "The rude barrage of the declaration reveals the deceitful intentions of North Vietnam. They dare call ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) soldiers mercenaries of the Americans.

"They threaten to engage in separate arrangements with the Americans. They think the South Vietnamese government is composed of servants of the Americans as they are servants of the Russians and China."

Labor Force Growth in Canada Means Trouble Ahead

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's chief statistician predicted today that the country's labor force will continue to grow at a rate outstripping that of other major industrial nations and pose new problems in formulating policies on employment.

Sylvia Ostry said her projection is for 2.6 million more workers in the labor force by 1980 than there were in 1970—a growth of about 30 per cent in the decade or 2.4 per cent a year.

This compares with an expected increase of 1.4 per cent a year in the United States, and less than one half of one per cent yearly in Sweden and Japan.

Canada's rapidly-growing labor force—he fastest among industrial countries for years—has long been part of the employments problem because many new jobs must be created yearly to take care of the new workers entering the labor market.

Miss Ostry, chief statistician for Statistics Canada, cautioned the annual business outlook seminar of the Conference Board of Canada that her predictions were based on many assumptions and projections.

She forecast that males in the 25-54 category will decline as a percentage of the labor force.

This decline by 1980, she said, implies that some of their traditional strongholds in the world of work will be invaded by younger people and by women."

Information Lacking On Licence Request

PICTON (Staff) — Stewart Norval, president of Local 387 of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, today reported a dead end in efforts to discover why no license under the Act and regulations has been granted to the Lake Ontario Cement Company Ltd.

Union representatives met with James Taylor, MPP for Prince Edward - Lennox, in Conservative committee rooms here this month and outlined the importance of a licence to the cement company's continued operations.

Mr. Taylor agreed to investigate the delay and said he would contact the offices of natural resources minister Leo Bernier. Mr. Norval said he has spoken to the MPP this week and was told no concrete information seems available regarding the situation.

The union president said he was dissatisfied with the way in which the situation was handled and noted Prince Edward county is apparently a conservative stronghold.

"Why kick your own people in the teeth?" he said, as he referred to the problems facing LOCL if no licence is obtained.

A court hearing to prove charges against LOCL and Trucklways under the environmental law association protection act and the Criminal Code opened today in provincial court in Picton. Mr. Norval said the union will await the outcome of the hearing and possibly "do something more serious" at its close.

PROJECTS IN PEOPLE

Susan Broll: New Year for LIP

Counsellor Helps Grant Applicants

Got an inspiration for a job-making project that benefits the community?

It could materialize into reality as a Local Initiative Program.

And you can take the personal initiative — as some already have in the Belleville area — by dropping in at the city's Canada Manpower Centre and asking for Susan Broll.

Not letting grass grow, Miss Broll is necessarily that simple but it's a first basic step.

Obviously a posting is something new at the centre. She's a professional counsellor employed with monitoring LIP applications from the Belleville area before they re despatched to Toronto regional headquarters for further study.

Officially, it's felt providing such personal attention as Susan's glance for local LIP applicants should speed up final processing of proposed projects.

Already, about 100 applications for LIP grants have been distributed in the area — and some have been completed and returned, says Susan.

She estimates "is a very short time" she'll have about 15 completed applications on her desk.

Among projects already being prospected or involved:

—A scheme to aid young riters with learning disabilities that would see some 40 people, professionals and para-professionals working at schools;

—A project to renovate substandard housing for persons who can't afford such repairs;

—A community advisory service.

Planned parenthood information service in rural areas.

There's also an application for another grant for the Prince Edward - Hastings area's big recreation complex taking launched with LIP help last year.

Deadline for seeking a grant is the end of the year.

"I'd like to see as many people as possible apply," says Susan, "from all kinds of time. Although, naturally it's best to get applications in early for processing.

LIP is as accessible to an individual as a community group or an official body, like a municipality.

"I think there is a tendency for people to be afraid that they can never get a grant. But sure they could," says Susan.

"Individuals in the community can apply if they have a proposal. It doesn't have to be an organized community group," she emphasized.

For a group of people who are unemployed can get together to create employment for themselves and do something for their community."

Much of Susan's job is given to helping applicants ensure they have properly documented their submissions.

But "the individual does have to be willing to put time and effort into making an application — and it might not get approved. He does have to be willing to sacrifice this initial time."

Frankford Farmer Wins Corn Award

WALLBRIDGE (Staff) — The Loyal Orange Lodge intends to begin the first phase of a 56-unit senior citizens' housing project in Batawa next spring.

Bernard Hollinger, representing the Batawa East Trinangle Court development, said the lodge plans to build four one-storey buildings in the first stage, each having four housing units.

He said this would be followed in the next few years with 10 more buildings and an administration centre.

However, several difficulties face the developer, particularly the problem of securing adequate water service.

Hollinger said the lodge would like to get water from the Bata Industries plant but concerned about the expense of pipes to feed the complex.

Reeve Jack Bush told the representative a water study is being done now on Batawa and he expects some kind of water system to be established there as a result of the study.

Hollinger said he had been advised the provincial government would built a water plant for Batawa by April of 1972.

"You appear to have more information about this than we do," commented Bush.

The developer has already received permission from the ministry of environment to link the first phase of the project into Batawa sewers.

More than 50,000 spruce trees are grown in the Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland counties area last year and the total in 1972 was greater, with the largest average yield to date.

This is the comment of William E. Grant, soils and crops specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, as he announced the results of this year's Belleville Agriculture Society grain corn competition. The quality of entry this year was extremely good.

Seventeen contestants entered the competition w'h'ch is a new high for the AFC. Hereford, judged the winner with a score of 89. Mr. Mallory chose United UH 7 for his crop.

Other prize winners in the order of finish were: Klaus Bertram, RR2, Belleville; Bob Mallory, RR2 Frankford; Lyle Wannamaker, RR1, Consecon; Ivan May, RR1 Foxboro; Gordon Watertouse, RR1 Ameliasburg; Clarence Ketcheson, RR2, Frankford; Harry Van Winkoop, RR1, Foxboro; Mac Rutier, RR2, Belleville; Lorne Jarrell, RR6, Belleville.

Frankford Going to Dogs

FRANKFORD (Staff) — Dogs and pups of every description will abound in the Frankford Community" this weekend when the Belleville and District Kennel Club sponsors an all-breed championship dog show.

Officials anticipate more than 1,400 canine entrants from across Ontario and several U.S. states.

The show should prove a colorful display as the various breeds are put through their paces. Highlight of the Friday-to-Sunday event will be a Saturday competition to be held upstairs in the community gardens here.

Manpower May Cut Counselling

Lack of employment opportunities in the northern area of Hastings County is headed for closer on-the-spot scrutiny in the near future.

The Belleville and District Employment Committee yesterday agreed Canada Manpower Centre manager H. W. Karn be asked to curtail visits of job counsellors to the north end of the county.

Among reasons was poor response from employers in the area in submitting vacancies — thus creating lack of placements through Manpower — and discouragement at inability on the part of unemployed persons.

Manpower now sends two counsellors to Bancroft twice a month. The counsellors are responsible for endorsing cards of welfare recipients.

But employers in the area indicate the service isn't needed by them since they usually hire on a personal basis and can contact them themselves if necessary.

Mr. Karn. Persons needing educational upgrading would be referred to grade 13 through satellite training facilities in the village. Those who have grade 12 needed for some trades means travelling to Belleville which they appear reluctant to do, said Mr. Karn.

At present counsellors seemed only to be stamping welfare cards.
